

VI - 73 E - 29. "Highlights Of The Seventh Herald Book Fair" participants:
Carl Van Doren, Curt Riess, John Goette, Agnes Smedley,
Louis Untermeyer and Alice Dixon Bond. - Boston Traveler,
October 21, 1943. - Battle Hymn of China.

For Ration Book 4

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE SEVENTH HERALD BOOK FAIR were these widely-known writers, who addressed last night's session at Symphony Hall. Standing (left to right): Franklin P. Adams, "Information Please" favorite, who spoke to both afternoon and evening audiences; Carl Van Doren, Curt Riess and John Goette. Seated (left to right): Agnes Smedley, Louis Untermeyer, poet, last night's chairman; Alice Dixon Bond, Herald literary editor, who was master of ceremonies.

TODAY'S PROGRAM AT BOOK FAIR

AFTERNOON AT 3

(Conducted by the Council of Books in Wartime)

Chairman: Chester Kerr.
Jean Hellon, author of "They Shall Not Have Me."

Roi Ottley, author of "New World A-Coming."

Franklin P. Adams, "Information, Please" wit.

EVENING AT 8:15

(Conducted by the Council of Books in Wartime)

Chairman: Louis Untermeyer.
Agnes Smedley, who wrote the Battle Hymn of China.
Curt Riess, author of "Invasion of Germany."

John Goette, author of "Japan Fights for Asia."

Carl Van Doren, historian and critic, author of "Mutiny in January."

TOMORROW AT 3 P. M.

Chairman: Dean Edwin J. van Etten of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Elizabeth Hawes, author of "Wenches with Wrenches."

Pierre Van Paassen, whose newest book, "The Forgotten Ally" will be published the same day.

Roland Hayes, noted tenor.

Edward Weeks, Editor of the Atlantic Monthly.

Marjorie Mills, Herald Household Editor, Author of "Cooking on a Ration."