

Berlin - Tuesday

1926

Dearest Florence:

A telegram came from you but God alone knows what is in it. There is not one straight word in it and I could not read it. Only the fact that it came from Madrid told me it was from you - and then I had written, as you requested, to ~~the~~ Thomas Cook's Madrid, three days before and I felt certain that you had the letter. Then on Nov. 5 I wrote you to Paris and sent ~~to~~ all the quittungen for the baggage. I also sent through the shipper here the keys - and they at least must be at the Am. Express. in Paris now. The of shippers said that the Am. Express should have the keys - not you, that it might pass your things through the customs when they came. Please get the keys there from the Am. Express.

The things left on the 5th or 6th, by Eilgut, so should be with you now. I have written you twice in detail, and am not up to writing all facts again. Illness (grippe) and the fact that I used up my money in illness, prevented the things from ~~now~~ being sent sooner. The cost was M. 189.⁹⁰; including storage, insurance, shipping, etc. Also M. 6. for "Goethe's Unsterbliche Freundin" - total M. 115.⁹⁰ as I remember. I've sent all quittungen to you with your letters & explanation. I didn't pack the baggage well because I had a fever & just pushed everything to some how. Write me, they said it would take only 10 days the baggage. Love to you & Sam. Eilgut