LIBRARY GIVES OUT YARN
FOR KNITTERS; LOOKS
FORWARD TO NEW BOOKS

Readers delighted with Agnes
Smedley's Battle Hymn

Mrs. Vail is dispensing from our town library moth proof yarn from five big bales. This appeals especially to Red Cross knitters. For Army and Navy use, the yarn is being made into sweaters, helmets, mufflers, gloves and wristlets. Also watchcaps, which are warm caps folded and worn down low—hard to describe and even harder to knit.

Mrs. Vail discerns in the not too distant future, new books for our library shelves.

It's only fair to Miss Smedley to explain that at the Study Club luncheon, she did not, as reported in the Independent book review, say: "Americans have no right to think and act for themselves." Everybody is always as polite as anything at those Club meetings. What Miss Smedley said was, "Asiaties have a right to think and act for themselves."

Mrs. Vail finds that readers are delighted with Miss Smedley's "Battle Hymn of China."
