3.

At my initiation into the Elks Lodge,
I was simply treated grand,
Every brother was there with an Indian Club
To give me a helping hand.
I woke up at the doctor's, he thought I'd been hit,
By an automobile on the head,
When I told him I'd merely been joining the Elks,
Then he smiled at me sweetly, and said:

Chorus.

They're the best people on earth, B. P. O. E.,
They are the folks who do everyone good,
Now you're an Elk, you can see what they do to you,
They've broken your arm, they fractured your ribs and knee,
I'll be busy with you, till new members go through in the B. P. O. E.

4.

It was at Piney Ridge, that a big railroad bridge,
To the river took a drop,
In the midst of the mess, then the midnight express
Came along too fast to stop,
Now the engineer bold was an Elk, I've been told,
He was scared and he gave the high sign,
Two brother Elks jumped on the track with a gun,
And they held up the train just in time.

Chorus.

They're the best people on earth, B. P. O. E.,
They are the folks who do everyone good,
When you're an Elk, you can see what they do to you,
They held up the train, they must have been Elks you see,
For they took each Elks grip, and they gave us the slip, singing, B. P. O. E.

5.

Once I started a fight on a Saturday night,
With a man in Buffalo,
But he called the police and they soon made me cease,
And to court I had to go.
Now, the judge was an Elk, so I showed him my button,
He smiled as I gave him the sign,
And said to me kindly, I'll fix you up fine,
For I see you're a brother of mine.

Chorus.

They're the best people on earth, B. P. O. E.,
They are the folks who do everyone good,
When you're an Elk, you will see what they'll do to you,
I winked at the judge, "You've disgraced the Elks," said he,
And he gave me six years and the crowd gave three cheers for the B. P. O. E.
