EXTRA VERSES.

Male Version.

Please match this silk, my best girl said,
Crushed strawberry will do,
I'd have to shop when we were wed,
So to the store I flew;
I tried to rush right out again,
Crowds made a counter-rush,
I yelled, "Give me strawberry plain,
I'll crush it in the crush!"

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
Broke my leg, the pain grew fiercer,
Clerk said, "Crutches top floor rear, sir,"
Gee Whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.

I met the Brown girls, yesterday,
With golf sticks, going out;
Mamma, at whist, had gone to play,
And grandma, too, no doubt;
They said "We think Aunt Kate must be
At tennis, down the path,
But papa's with the baby, he
is giving it a bath."

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
When Brown had it clean and tidy,
He asked me to pass its "diddy."
Gee Whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.

I'd take a wife one time I thought,
But who's wife could I take?
I loved a widow whom I brought
To skate upon the lake.
To break the silence, all in vain
I tried, just once or twice,
To break the news I tried again,
And then I broke the ice.

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
Tried to catch a grip and hallooed,
Caught the grip—pneumonia followed.
Gee Whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.

Female Version.

The more I see of married life,
The less I wish to see.
Now, some men like to take a wife,
And others two or three.
I've had a chance or two at that,
But I refuse to wed,
I'd rather take in washing at
A dollar per instead.

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
I love Charlie as a brother,
But I'll stick to home and mother.
Gee whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.

A girl who's used to ev'rything,
And doesn't have to work,
Will jump right thro' a wedding ring,
Held by some ribbon clerk.
She leaves her happy home to wed,
Her finish then occurs.
An oil-stove and a folding-bed,
And Kidney stew for hers.

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
She does up his shirts and collars,
Runs the place on seven dollars,
Gee whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.

You've children running all about,
And tagging to your skirts,
If one kid falls and gives a shout,
You "kiss the place that hurts!"
You've dinner ready just at six,
A message comes, "don't wait!"
That's hubby at his same old tricks,
I guess he has a date.

CHORUS.

No wedding bells for me,
I'm as happy as can be,
Hubby out upon a frolic,
Baby yelling with the colic,
Gee whiz! I'm glad I'm free,
No wedding bells for me.
