CHORUS

You may hold a mil-lion girl-ies in your arms. But there's on-ly room for one down in your heart, — You can al-ways meet quite a few, Who look migh-ty good to you, But there's on-ly one can give your love a start; Ev-'ry day brings a new love, But the old love will ne-ver de-part, — You may hold a mil-lion girl-ies in your arms, — But there's on-ly room for one down in your heart. — You may heart.

A New Song That Teaches a Lesson

It's Not Your Nationality (It's Simply You)

Everybody has a native land in the North, South, East or West,
And it's only right your native land should be the place you love the best.
Now, it makes no difference what you are, don't wait for fame to come,
Just go and get it, and they'll give you credit,
No matter where you're from.

CHORUS:

It's not your nationality,
It's what you do,
It's not your personality that always pulls you through.
Bismarck made his mark in Germany, we know,
And Georgie Cohan was a Yankee in the growin',
But he made a bunch of dough.

Just think of Rockefeller and what he can buy,
He started from the cellar, but he climbed away up high.
So, if you've got the spirit,
Never mind your name,
Folks will hear it if you play the game.
It's not your nationality, it's simply you.
