FEMALE VERSION OF
Nothing To Do Until To-Morrow.

Words by JACK DRISLANE.

Music by GEO. W. MEYER.

Geel but I'm a lucky girl, as lucky as can be,
No girl in this town has got a job the same as me;
All the jobs that you have seen are hardships when compared,
With the job that I secured - just listen - don't get scared.

Cho.

I get up at four in the morning, bring in the water and the coal,
Make up the beds, for all the sleepyheads,
I don't quit until I'm told; (How lucky)
Cook the dinner for the boarders,
Then wash the dishes until four;
Then I start into iron after I've done the wash,
By Golly! I've an easy time - and that's no josh,
Geel but I'm a lucky girl,
Nothing to do until to-morrow

Extra Cho.

I get up at four in the morning, make all the cakes and pies and rolls,
Start the furnace and the stove, it's a joke by jove;
The bosses are grand old souls - (God bless them)
Wind the clocks and start in sewing,
Set the table then for forty-five;
I start on the farm, and I follow up the ploughs,
Come in at six o'clock and milk a hundred cows,
Geel but I'm a lucky girl,
Nothing to do until to-morrow
