I'D LIKE TO BE THE FELLOW

That My Old Girl's Loving Now

SONG

Lyric by LEO WOODMusic by HARRY DE COSTA

PIANO

Moderato

f

Vamp

mf

VOICE

Per-haps you've play'd love's game and lost, That happens ev - 'ry day; —
I nev - er knew un - til too late What her love meant to me, —

p

But I was one who won, then toss'd — My win-nings all a way; — No
For if I had, as sure as fate — My sweetheart still she'd be; — And bet-ter pal than her I ev - er knew, — She's gone, and well I don't mind tell - ing you: — yet I feel if I could see her now, — To win her back I'd find a way some - how; —

CHORUS

I'd like to be the fel-low that my old girl's lov-ing now, — To take his place I'd glad-ly face A life of sor-row, if to mor-row

I could look in - to her eyes, — Feel her kiss-es, hear her sighs, And know that she be-long'd to me; — To have and hold thru all e-ter-ni-ty, — Oh,

Geel I'd give the world to be The fel-low that she's lov-ing now. D.C.
