Till Ready.

An - y time I want a lit - tle kiss from you, -
Some - one must have told your moth - er of our scheme, -

Moth - er's al ways in the way; When our lips be - I think that she's get - ting wise; She just told your gin to pout, - Broth - er Bill walks in and out. - sis - ter Bess, - To take the long train off your dress. -

Fath - er comes in with a smile and says, "hel - lo," - Just to spoil our kiss - ing Dad - dy said your broth - er had a brand new job, - Gate - man on the B. and game;— They think they're smart, but oh! sweet-heart, We'll fool them just the same.—

 O;— The Er - ie line is twice as fine, Be - sides it's twice as slow.—

Chorus.

Meet me at the sta - tion, Where the trains come and go, oh!

Make be - lieve I'm your re - la - tion, And I just came in to see the ci - ty,

Don't you for - get to treat me pret - ty; Greet me, when you meet me, like I've been a - way a year; We'll kiss "good-byes" and kiss "hel - loes," With ev - 'ry train that comes and goes, So meet me at the sta - tion, dear. dear.
