

SM 3557

2

Melody Land

Lyric by JOHN L. GOLDEN.

Music by RAYMOND HUBBELL.

Moderato.

Piano.

I know a land — that is well worth know - - ing
Is - n't it strange — but I know I'd nev - - er

And though it's grand — it has got me go - - ing For Long for a change — but be faith - ful ev - - er Un - there is some - one there Who's face and form so fair Just

- to that mag - ic land Where har - mo - nies so grand A -

5548 - 4

Copyright MCMXVII by John L. Golden, Raymond Hubbell & R. H. Burnside, N.Y.
All Rights Reserved. International Copyright Secured.

thrills me and fills me with thoughts of wed-ding bells
-bound all a - round like the flow - ers in the ground

Sweet wed-ding bands— ev - er fas - ci - nat - - - ing
And to each Belle— with her peal ap - peal - - - ing

Out in those lands— where a maid is wait - - - ing, To Fair - ly I'd tell— her the truth re - veal - - - ing, That ev - er - more be near me Her voice to charm and cheer me There's there's just one that haunts me I pray each day she wants me To some-thing in its tune that makes me want her for my own.

 come and claim her soon in that sweet land where all's in tune.

Refrain.

Mel - o - dy land — you are ev - er call - ing

Mel - o - dy land — in a tone en - thrall - ing

Whis-pers of love — as from a - bove — Seem-ing to sigh —

— a prom-ise bye and bye. There'll be a grand-day to spoon right soon— There and hand in hand— to a wed-ding tune—

— There she'll say to-geth-er for-ev-er in har-mo-ny

you and I. I.