CHORUS

First you call on the phone and you meet her a-lone That's nice That's First you start holding hands she says I un-der-stand That's nice That's nice Then you see her at nine and you take her to dine That's nice That's nice Then you both heave a sigh steal a kiss on the sly That's nice That's nice She or-ders wine and lob-sters and cares not for the price She nice You're sit-ting on the so-fa you squeeze her once or twice She smiles and calls you hon-ey Makes you think it's fun-ny You laugh and say That's nice — Then the says I'm cra-zy 'bout you Can - not live without you That sure makes you feel nice — Then she man brings the check and he tries to col-lect That's nice That's nice Like the calls you her pet you say I'll get you yet. That's nice That's nice Then you boob in the play you must dig down and pay but still you think it's nice For think you're in right and you turn down the light It seems Like par-a-dise For all the time you're think-ing of — a brand new way of mak-ing love But she you just feel like you're a king You're ex-pect-ing ev-ry-thing But her bids you "Good-Night" and she fades out of sight That's nice That's nice First you nice. D.S. big broth-er Joe steps in and you must go That's nice That's
