Dear Governor Napolitano:

On behalf of the Arizona Medical Board, I submit to you the 2005 Annual Report. In December 2004, I became the Executive Director of an agency that has made tremendous strides in the past few years. I set a number of goals to build on those accomplishments: fair and impartial investigations while shortening the time to complete them; streamlining the licensing process; and keeping the lines of communication open with the citizens, licensees, and stakeholders.

The Agency guides its employees with a management philosophy that emphasizes and promotes ethics, honesty, credibility, accountability and compassion. The Agency has improved the physical environment to be more pleasant and productive.

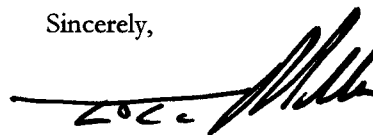

The Agency is working to strengthen ties with the community, licensees, governmental entities and stakeholders. And to further enhance our rapport with licensees, we plan to replace our IT system. The Agency is currently reviewing potential database applications and working with ADOA to secure an updated application that will increase its transparency and availability to all who are interested.

Community services are also providing information and forms on the website on important issues such as advanced care directives. Stakeholders appreciate our efforts to attend their meetings and sit on committees where the Agency can lend its advice in resolving public health issues.

Communication channels with governmental entities work best when the Agency stays in routine contact, so I provide your office and the Legislature with regular updates on the Agency's progress.

The Board is dedicated to meeting its charge to protect the health and safety of Arizona citizens.

Sincerely,

Timothy C. Miller
Executive Director

BOARD REORGANIZATION

The Arizona Medical Board hired a new Executive Director in December 2004. Since January, 2005 the Executive Team has focused on improving the investigative process by improving the quality of investigations and reducing the backlog of cases.

The Board currently has eleven full-time investigators – the largest number of professional investigators in recent history of the Board. Formal weekly training is conducted for all investigators. The focus remains on conducting investigations that are fair, accurate, and thorough.

A new Chief Medical Consultant joined the staff in April. A second full-time consultant and a new part-time consultant will begin work in September, joining two other part-time consultants. The new Chief Medical Consultant contributed to process improvements and has focused on improving the process for case review by medical consultants.

The increasing investigative caseload is overloading a complicated, aging and difficult to use database system. Document management and the need to implement on-line licensing requires a comprehensive and expandable software system that is user-friendly and easy to maintain. The Board is currently working with the Enterprise Procurement Services (EPS) and the Government Information Technology Agency (GITA) in its effort to replace its existing IT system.

The Board took steps to improve its community outreach efforts in March. It hired a Public Information Officer to help maintain a positive relationship with the media, to produce a newsletter for licensees, and to make public speaking appearances.

The Board has contracted with the Department of Administration for business operations and human resources functions. By doing so the Board was able to reduce the number of employees in these areas from five to two.

BOARD ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The Arizona Medical Board has a national reputation for excellence, and licensees agree. They, along with consumer watchdog groups, consistently give the Board a high rating.

◆ LICENSING.

The Board can process an initial medical license application or a license renewal in two days from when the physician submits all the required paperwork.

The average time spent acquiring the paperwork in a routine application is 54 days – shorter than many other states.

◆ RESOLUTION OF CASE BACKLOG.

The Board and its staff have focused their efforts on reducing the backlog of cases, and shortening the average time it takes to open new investigations and complete them.

◆ REDEFINING THE PROCESS.

When a complaint is opened, an investigator conducts a thorough analysis and makes a recommendation on the resolution of a case.

The chief medical consultant reviews the opinion of the outside medical consultant and makes his recommendation.

The Staff Investigational Review Committee checks for accuracy, thoroughness and fairness before the case is ready for resolution.

◆ REBUILDING STAFF.

A change in executive staff has brought with it a new emphasis and commitment to hiring and training experienced staff.

When the Arizona Medical Board takes serious disciplinary action against physicians, it does so because the action is warranted to protect the public’s health and safety - not to compete with other states.

Public Citizen Health Research Group is a Washington D.C.-based consumer advocacy organization that promotes research-based, system-wide changes in health care policy.

The Federation of State Medical Boards is a national organization representing the 70 state medical boards of the United States and its territories. Acting on behalf of its membership, the Federation’s mission is to continually improve the quality, safety and integrity of health care in the United States through the development and promotion of high standards for physician licensure and practice.

LICENSING

The Arizona Medical Board now has more than 17,500 physicians licensed to practice medicine. More than 10,000 have Arizona office addresses.

Arizona began licensing medical doctors in 1903, nine years before Arizona became a state. The Board licensed 198 physicians the first year. The first Arizona doctors each paid a fee of $2.00.

The doctors names were entered into The Great Register, the official record book of licensed Arizona physicians.

Over the passage of time, fees and the way records are kept have changed. Information on licensed physicians is maintained in databases in the Board's computers. The money generated by license fees supports the Arizona Medical Board's licensing, investigative, budgetary and administrative functions.

The Board conducts primary source verifications on educational and training programs and performs national queries to determine if a physician has any professional conduct issues in other states. Although providing the proper documents is the responsibility of each applicant, Board Staff help physicians with the verification process to reduce the overall timeframe for licensure.

REGULATION

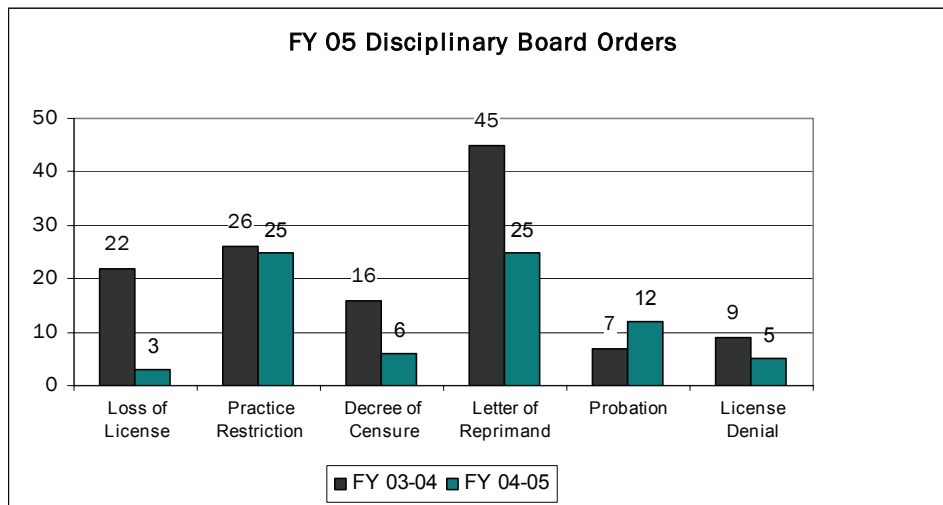

A complaint lodged against a physician triggers a process that the Arizona Medical Board has restructured to ensure a fair and impartial investigation, while striving for a timely resolution.

When an investigation finds a deviation from the standard of care, the Arizona Medical Board uses its authority to discipline those licensees who violate the law.

Disciplinary actions taken against a licensee are public, and the effect these actions can have on a physician are long-lasting. For that reason, the Board takes all complaints against physicians seriously, and the decision to issue discipline is based on a thorough, fair and accurate investigation.

In the end, the Board is bound by its charge to protect Arizona citizens from the unlawful and incompetent practice of medicine. The actions the Board takes are reflective of that mission.

Overall, the Board took disciplinary action in 76 cases (see chart below) during FY 05. In 65 other cases, the Board ordered non-disciplinary measures for physicians, in addition to the 89 cases which resulted in the issuance of Advisory Letters.

REGULATION

The Arizona Medical Board’s regulatory activity begins when a complaint is opened.

Unlike past years, the Board now opens an investigation only when a complaint meets two criteria: it has to be against an allopathic physician and the allegation—if true—must be a violation of the Medical Practice Act.

During the first half of the 2005 calendar year, the Board and its staff worked hard to chip away at a backlog of cases that totaled more than 1,300 in late 2004, while making sure that each case was thoroughly and fairly investigated.

Average Days to Complete an Investigation
Year	Days
2004	152
2005	201*

*The average number of days to complete an investigation for cases opened during FY 05 is 107 days.

Investigations Remaining Open at Fiscal Year End
Year	Number
2004	1,005
2005	1,243

In FY 04, the Board began opening a complaint for every correspondence received. That practice was discontinued in early 2005.

Compliance Monitoring is the Board’s way of knowing that its orders involving practice restrictions, limitations and probation are being followed. The “2005 Compliance” figure represents the number of physicians being monitored for these reasons. Compliance officers conduct random practice audits, review physician records and report to the Board any findings of non-compliance. Failure to obey a Board order can lead to more disciplinary action.

Compliance Monitoring
Year	Cases Monitored
2004	180
2005 Compliance	178

An additional statistic under Compliance Monitoring is the number of physicians who are in the Monitored Aftercare Program, or MAP, for substance abuse rehabilitation. MAP coordinators ensure that physicians comply with the program’s requirements and are safe to practice medicine. Findings of non-compliance are immediately brought to the Board’s attention.

The Board resolved 13 cases with consent agreements. Four were non-disciplinary, and nine consent agreements involved disciplinary actions.

BUDGET

The overall increase in the FY 2005 Budget Appropriation for the Arizona Medical Board represented a two and a half percent rise over FY 2004.

The Board is a 90/10 state agency, a designation that developed as a result of how such boards fund their activities.

Ninety percent of all revenue generated through licensing fees and ancillary billing are retained by the agency and the remaining ten percent is returned to the State and added into the total State budget.

Nearly half of the 2005 fiscal year budget allocation was for the salaries of Board staff, including outside medical consultants who opine on whether or not physicians have deviated from the standard of care.

The number of fulltime employee positions rose to 60.

Money for travel, both in-state and out-of-state was decreased, but funding for Other Operating Expenditures and Equipment was increased.

The Joint Legislative Budget Committee at the Arizona Legislature approves the Board's budget plan.
