- The crime rate in Arizona will remain high with vehicle theft and property crime rates among the highest in the nation.
- Homeland security will remain a law enforcement priority.
- Recruitment and retention of skilled, qualified employees will be impacted by changing demographics.
- Arizona's continuing population growth will increase demands for understaffed DPS patrol and criminal enforcement services.
- The state budget priorities will limit opportunities for new programs and restrict acquisition of needed crime fighting technology and interoperable communication systems.
- Increases in full-time positions and equipment acquisitions will lag demand.
- A great portion of the agencies efforts will be associated with problem-solving.
- With the state's population growth, and new trends in traffic safety and criminal interdiction, traditional investigation, arrest, incarceration, and support functions will become more complex and increase in number.

Issue 1: Bring employee compensation to market parity in order to recruit and retain high quality personnel.

With significant competition from other employers, the ability to attract and retain top quality employees is a major challenge.

The agency's workforce in both law enforcement and support positions necessitates highly skilled employees meeting the most stringent standards. Salaries and benefits have to remain competitive with industry, government, and other law enforcement agencies to attract candidates and ensure the workforce reflects the citizens we serve.

Competition for recruits among law enforcement agencies is particularly fierce. Qualified applicants must be continually sought to meet the Department's increasing public safety responsibilities on more than 6,000 miles of highways as well as mounting effective criminal investigations, domestic security, organized crime, and anti-smuggling operations. In addition, qualified applicants will be critical to address the loss of current officers to retirement and career changes.

In recent years, the gap between a DPS officer's pay and that at other state law enforcement agencies has widened impacting the ability to remain competitive. Increasing officer pay must be addressed to attract and retain candidates of the highest quality.

Changing demographics and employee compensation issues also impact retention of skilled employees in support services ranging from information technology, forensic science, engineering, and communications, to facilities design, craftsmen, mechanics, dispatchers, analysts, and administrative personnel.

Issue 2: Increase staffing to keep pace with growing service demands and emerging public safety issues.

With Arizona's rapidly growing population, many DPS functions which serve the state are seriously understaffed.

More patrol officers are needed to meet the Department's increasing traffic safety and enforcement responsibilities on an expanding system of urban freeways and rural highways. Challenges arising from immigration issues, smuggling, organized crime, auto theft, criminal activity, domestic security, and gangs are demanding time and resources from uniform officers as well as investigators. More detectives are needed to fill gaps in violent crime, narcotics, white collar investigations, and support of local agencies created when the FBI redirected its resources to counterterrorism.

A proportionate increase in support positions is necessary to keep department operations functioning effectively. Critical agency functions serving the public, such as the Sex Offender Notification Program and the DPS Crime Laboratory already have workloads exceeding staff capacity.

The DPS Crime Laboratory's forensic services alone impact every law enforcement and prosecutorial agency in the state. Calls for expert assistance at crime scenes and courtroom testimony are growing. Changes to the rules of criminal procedure have shortened the period for laboratory processing with penalties for noncompliance ranging from dismissed charges to release of criminals if scientific reports are not completed on time. In addition, the public and the courts are demanding state-of-the-art analysis as they recognize the vast potential for forensic science to identify criminals and exonerate the wrongfully accused.

These and other legislatively mandated services have a high liability associated with work products intended to protect the public, and adequate staffing is critical to meet public demands for service.

Issue 3: Replace obsolete communication and information systems by taking advantage of current technology.

The agency currently relies on increasingly outdated information systems for both internal functions and external links with criminal justice agencies. In addition, changing technology and interoperability requirements are making DPS communications systems obsolete.

Many of the DPS information systems consist of mainframe-based technology. These must be upgraded to be consistent with new technology using database management, browsers, and Internet, Intranet, and Extranet solutions for performing processes. The need for improvements, which support a comprehensive records management program, is critical to meeting mandates, legal requirements, and public information expectations. Application of newer technologies will increase efficiency internally as well as allow the agency to better serve the state's criminal justice efforts.

The Department also operates the Arizona Criminal Justice Information System which links crime information centers in Arizona to other states and the national system operated by the FBI. In recent years, the FBI implemented technological upgrades to enhance the exchange of criminal information and improve criminal record processing. DPS has been replacing outdated technology used on the state network to enable Arizona agencies to take advantage of the federal enhancements which extend modern crime fighting tools to officers in the field.

Changing requirements, federal regulations, and issues of coverage and interoperability are also making the DPS communication systems obsolete. The September 11th attacks dramatically reinforced the critical need for a statewide interoperable public safety radio system which allows multiple law enforcement agencies and other emergency first responders to communicate directly with each other. Also crucial is the need for a statewide digital microwave system to provide coverage to all areas of the state. Moreover, DPS needs to expand its Mobile Data Computer System outside the Phoenix/Tucson corridor. Expansion will allow more officers to link to the state and national crime information systems and access information on wanted persons, stolen vehicles, and MVD license checks from their patrol cars.

Issue 4: Modernize equipment and facilities.

The Department's mission is heavily dependent on vehicles, capital equipment, and facilities.

Vehicles used for patrol and enforcement operations must be regularly replaced and upgraded as an occupant safety issue. In addition, a vehicle replacement program allows the department to take advantage of improvements in fuel economy, service capability, and reliability.

Mandated services to the criminal justice system such as scientific analysis and air rescue operations require highly specialized equipment with improved capability. Computer applications, which affect the department's ability to deliver public services, are particularly susceptible to changing technology.

The department's state-wide operations requires facilities ranging from public service locations, to remote housing, area offices, service yards, fuel storage and evidence facilities. New facilities are needed to meet statutory mandates and upgrading existing facilities is necessary to meet changing standards. The department has aggressively pursued improvements to help reduce utility costs, comply with environmental requirements, meet federal workplace standards and address security needs.

Strategic Objectives
