Ballet Espanol Acclaimed By Audience

BY PETEY OLMSTED

On its first tour of the United States, the Ballet Espanol troupe of Roberto Iglesias drew a near-capacity audience in the ASU Men's Gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

The colorful interpretations of Spanish classical and folk dances were accompanied by vibrant guitar and piano music, and exciting castanet-clicking.

Ten numbers filled the program which lasted almost two hours. Enthusiastic rounds of audience applause indicated more would have been welcome. Two dances had to be eliminated from the program due to lack of proper staging facilities in the gym.

Iglesias, who once aspired to be a matador, formed this company in 1956 after performing with other troupes.

The assistant director and ballet master, Guillermo Keys Arenas, is responsible for much of the choreography.

At a reception in the MU upper lounge, some ASU students had the opportunity to meet the dancers, most of whom spoke little English. Nevertheless, friendliness prevailed and when Guillermo Keys Arenas signaled departure time with "Senoras, senoritas vamos," one of the men quipped, "I don't want to leave. Me gusta mucho aqui!" (I like it very much here.)

The veterans' accounts office says 500 vets have not signed for Nov. checks. Vets must sign before Dec. 5 to receive their checks before Christmas vacation.

OLE . . . Although the scenery of Old Spain was absent, the spirit of its dances was put on display for AS yesterday afternoon in the Men's Gym by Roberto Iglesias and the Ballet Espanol.

FIRST PRIZE — $300 . . .

Civil Service Act Is Contest Subject

An ASU student can win $300 for a 2,000 word essay on "How America Has Benefited Through Seventy-Five Years of the Civil Service Act."

Students from ASU, ASC, and UofA may enter the contest, sponsored by the federal employees of Arizona. One of three prizes will go to an entrant from each school.

As of Dec. 1 there were no entries from ASU. Friday is the deadline.

The first prize, originally $100, has been increased by a $200 award from the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Phoenix. Second prize is $50, with a merchandise gift as third prize.

Entries are to be submitted to the office of Professor Karl Dannenfeldt, Matthews Hall 7. They should be typed double-spaced.

Two essays will be selected from each institution by members of the respective faculties.

Selected essays will be forwarded to the Civil Service Commission in Washington.

Art Masterpieces Presented ASU

Scottsdale philanthropist Lewis J. Ruskin has given Arizona State University seven masterpieces of Renaissance and 17th Century art, conservatively valued at more than $250,000.

An outright gift to ASU, the seven works of Western European art include three sacred paintings, a religious allegory and three portraits.

The collection consists of: "The Nativity," Ambrosius Benson; "St. Helena," Cotignola; "Madonna and Child with St. John," Domenico Puligo; "Lucretia Simonetta De Medici", Alessandro Allori; "The Earl of Pembroke," Cornelius Janssens van Coulen; "Portrait of a Gentleman," Bartholomeus van der Helst; and "King Herod and the Three Wise Men," Franz Francken, The Younger.

In a letter to Dr. Grady Gammage, ASU President, Ruskin mentioned the prospect of additional gifts and said he hoped other paintings would be attracted to the ASU collection so that a Renaissance Department could be built.

When informed of the gift, Dr. Gammage said: "Arizona State University has been the recipient of many outstanding gifts and grants from individuals, private industries and federal agencies, but this magnificent collection of European art is second to none."

Benson's "The Nativity" long has been the most sought-after painting of the seven presented to AS by Mr. Ruskin. It was one of the few privately owned works by the Flemish master. Others are owned by the National Gallery in London and the Louvre in Paris.

"St. Helena" by Marchesi da Cotignola is an oil on wood panel with arch top. "Madonna and Child with St. John" by Domenico Puligo, is considered a representative work of the Florentine masters.

"Lucretia Simonetta de Medici" by Alessandro Allori, is a portrait in oil on wood. The portrait is called a superb example of the classic Florentine style that developed in the period following Michelangelo.

"The Earl of Pembroke" is the work of Cornelius Janssens van Coulen, a colleague and competitor of the Dutch master, Anton van Dyck. "Portrait of a Gentleman" by Bartholomeus van der Helst, is the work of a Dutch society artist of the 17th century.

"King Herod and the Three Wise Men" by Fran Francken, The Younger, is a characteristic work of this Flemish painter, whose work represents Biblical or mythological scenes.

All undergraduate students must have a signed Approved Program of Studies before they will be admitted to the registration hall Jan. 27 and 28, according to an announcement yesterday by Academic Vice President H. D. Richardson.

Undergraduates, excluding engineering students, must see their advisers between Dec. 8 and 20. Friday is the deadline for engineering students to obtain approval of their advisers, according to Dean Lee P. Thompson of the College of Applied Arts and Sciences.

Information regarding curriculum advisers may be obtained at the offices of the deans of the respective colleges.

COTTON QUEEN . . . Coed Sharon Mickle has been chosen by AMS judges to represent ASU in the National Maid of Cotton contest in Memphis, Tennessee. She will make the trip to Memphis if the preliminary judges choose her as one of 20 national finalists. A year of international travel awaits the winner.

Loper participated in a panel discussion of "Radio in the Community." He also explained the function and operation of a radio production center and the placement of educational programs on commercial stations.

The radio-TV bureau of ASU has more than 115 program units per week carried by 36 of the 45 commercial stations of the state this semester.

Band Members To Receive Awards

"Outstanding Bandsman" awards will be presented to three members of the ASU Marching Band at an award banquet this evening.

The banquet, given for members of the band and their guests, will be held in the MU Ballroom at 6:30.

According to Mr. Harold Hines, director, the recipients are chosen on the basis of attitude, appearance, marching and playing ability. Nominations are made by the Band Council and chosen by Mr. Hines and Mr. Ronald Holloway, assistant band director.

The annual awards, initiated in 1955, are donated by George Reyes, an alumnus of the marching band.

Entertainment by the band members will consist of skits given by the individual sections of the band. A traveling trophy will be presented to the winner.

Board Sponsors Ride-Exchange

The Christmas ride exchange will be sponsored again this year by the Memorial Union Board, Mrs. Cecilia Scoular, director of the MU, announced.

Students interested in the ride exchange are asked to submit their names, college addresses and destination to the person at the MU Information desk. Riders will be matched with students having space in their cars to lighten the Christmas travel problem.

"Cars with vacancies are particularly needed during the holiday season," Mrs. Scoular said.

New Teaching Certificate Policy Set For AS Students

A new policy designed to eliminate unnecessary delays in the issuance of teaching certificates has been announced by Arizona State and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Alfred Thomas, Jr., ASU registrar and director of admissions, and Otto Shill, the department's director of certification, said arrangements have been made for students who complete degree requirements in kindergarten-primary or elementary curriculums to receive their certificates with their diplomas in May.

Students may pay the certification fee and file their application at the registrar's office at AS.

Secondary certificates may be received with degrees by those people having completed the required six hours of graduate work by commencement.

Student employees of the university who have not signed the new employe record cards at the Administration building payroll office will not be paid until the cards are signed.

Opportunity In Selling For Local Students

A Utah publishing firm expanding distribution in this area, is seeking several local college students, qualified in sales and promotion, to sell and distribute a new line of accounting forms to local wholesale and retail businesses, stationery stores, banks, etc.

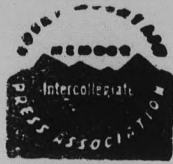

This is an opportunity to work with a progressive company that has a unique and necessary product to provide the American small business man.

This offer should appeal to busy college students that cannot work regular hours, since you may arrange your own sales schedule. Students in Utah and Idaho have averaged $3.00 per hour for their efforts. Moreover, once your original contacts are made, you receive the same commission on reorder business.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING —

No Giving Involved

The State Press ran a front page story two weeks ago that stated in part that ASASU had appropriated $60,000 toward the construction of bowling alleys.

Immediately, ASASU President Warren Sumners said this information was incorrect. What Associated Students proposed, he said, is either a loan of the above amount at suitable interest rates or the outright purchase of the alleys by ASASU as a business venture.

Our story, as were those of several other area newspapers, was written from the news release on the recent Board of Regents meeting in Flagstaff. The story was correct insofar as what the Regents were told but as things unfortunately happen, the report to the Regents was somewhat incorrect.

Members of the ASASU Executive Council are to meet today with Mr. Gilbert Cady, vice president for business affairs, in an attempt to get the situation straightened out.

We agree with the numerous students who have contacted the State Press, that there are worthier uses for the money than straight donation for the construction of bowling alleys. So do Sumners and executive council members.

However, the plan as it was originally intended seems sound. Many Student Union buildings contain bowling alleys. They are not only operated at a profit, but at charges substantially under those of commercial enterprises.

If arrangements can be made along the lines of either alternative, the campus will gain recreational facilities and Associated Students can show a profit. On the surface at least, it appears that more revenue could be acquired by owning and operating the alleys, since bowling is one of the most popular participation sports and always high on the list of campus recreational favorites where alleys exist.

No matter what happens, though, Sumners wishes to assure students that no money is to be given away.

A Time To Remember

Tonight 1,102 Arizonans will attend a banquet honoring 1,102 officers and men entombed in the USS Arizona since the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

Price of the banquet is $11.02, with proceeds going to the USS Arizona Memorial fund.

As the 17th anniversary of the attack which brought the United States into World War II approaches, it might be a good idea for each of us to pause a moment to consider the effect of such needless loss of life.

Unfortunately, not every ASU student remembers Dec. 7, 1941. The interrupted radio broadcast; a near hysterical announcement, "Pearl Harbor had been attacked by the Japanese!"

Few people knew the exact location of Pearl Harbor, but they soon found out.

Tension gripped the U. S. People got mad. They gathered their resources and got into the fight. The outcome is common knowledge. But the next time the outcome might not be in our favor.

Whether it takes construction of memorials or just quiet observance of the attack on Pearl Harbor to remind each of us of our American heritage and the necessity of each of us to work for its preservation is of no consequence.

The important thing is to remember.

If your felings are in agreement with the USS Arizona Memorial Committee, your contributions will be appreciated. They may be sent to the committee, P. O. Box 147, Phoenix, or left with any bank in Arizona.

"Poor little fella, it was those four pink slips that did it!"

BY PHIL FRY

Yesterday, the need for an auditorium able to meet the needs of a modern campus became more apparent than ever before. Thousands of people showed up to watch the ballet troupe of Roberto Iglesias.

The show was held in the Men's Gym and after the performance, Iglesias felt compelled to rebuke one of the dancers for marring the gym floor as he executed a step.

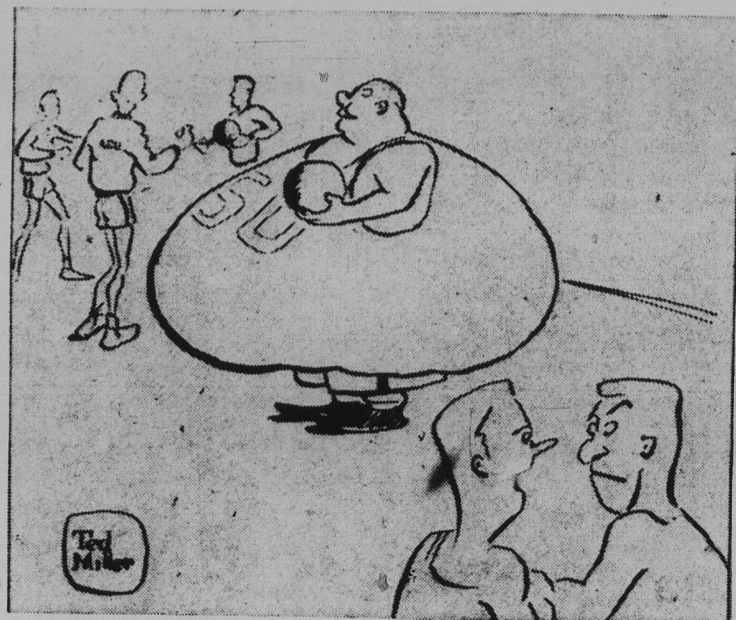

During the performance, from which two outstanding numbers were cut because of inadequate staging facilities, the audience was robbed of a fuller appreciation because gym acoustics and atmosphere are totally inappropriate.

The lack of facilities not only makes it difficult to book good attractions, but discourages the attendance of people who have shown this year as never before that they are ready to appreciate the lively arts.

Any high school worth its salt has an auditorium. Arizona State University doesn't. When will we be able to give top flight professionals a decent arena? When will we be able to give audiences a place where they can watch and hear drama, ballet and concerts?

"I know it looks funny, but did you ever try to guard him?"

By ROCHELLE MACKEY

Wow! I just get to feeling normal after a huge and delicious Thanksgiving dinner and a delightful four-day vacation to find a Christmas party on the agenda this week. Either time flies, or Christmas is getting longer; I'm not sure which.

The party mentioned is the annual all-school Christmas party in the Union tomorrow evening, sponsored by the Rally and Traditions board, and this year utilizing the resourceful help of the four class councils.

Plans for the affair include decorating the Memorial Union, inside and out — from top to bottom. Should be an enjoyable evening.

For the past several years, I have had a distant but fascinated interest in the AS Debate Team and the fine job they have done in furthering the good reputation of Arizona State throughout the U. S. during their forensic tournament trips.

The best way, of course, to establish a good reputation for the school is to make a good showing at home and away. This the debaters have done.

Most recent victory of the team was at the Annual Western Forensic Tournament in Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 24-26.

Competing against teams from colleges and universities from 11 western states, AS debaters Gloria Valencia and Penny Albright placed third in the women's division.

The debate topic this year is Resolved: that further testing of nuclear weapons should be abolished. A tough one to handle, the young ladies came through in fine style.

But that isn't all. Miss Valencia reached the semi-finals in oratory with her speech about bi-lingual children.

Congratulations are in order to both debaters.

With the existing crowded condition of AS classroom facilities and the expected future enrollment increases, Regents and Arizona State administrators will be interested in results of an experiment at Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Central has asked the Federal Communications Commission to reserve an ultra-high-frequency channel in the Mt. Pleasant area so that the college may utilize television facilities for instruction purposes.

A story from the Central Michigan Life states, "that television would not replace instructors but would be used to supplement and improve instruction by spreading the competency of teachers.

CMC is tackling the problem of crowded conditions because it anticipates its enrollment will double by 1970 . . . ASU's enrollment is expected to double by 1960!

Arizona State has been participating in similar experiments on a national scale. Now might be the time to bring the programs to campus to relieve crowded classroom conditions.

H-SU Nabs BC Crown, AS Second

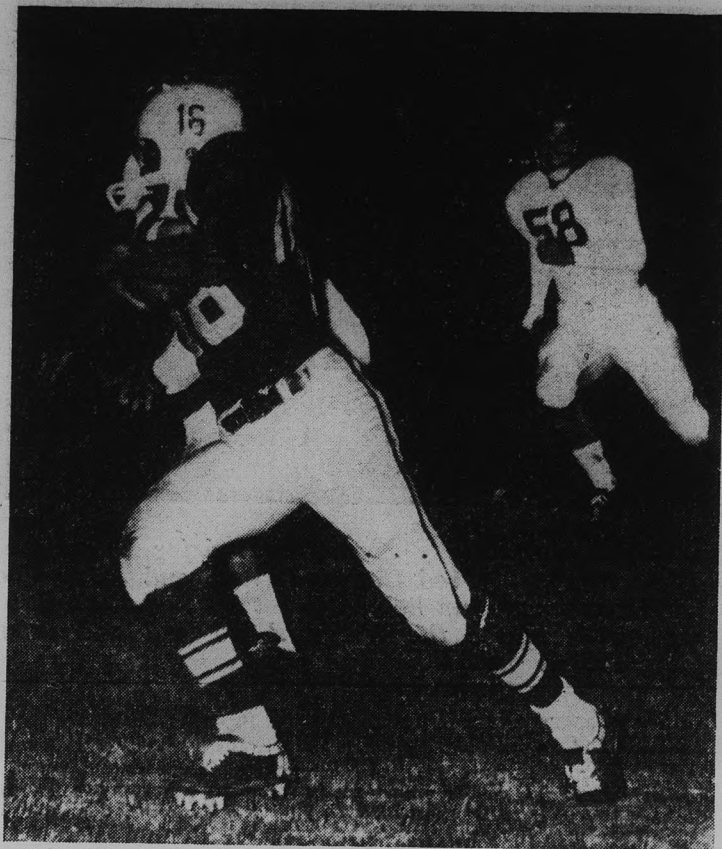

Sammy Baugh's Hardin-Simmons Cowboys became Border Conference football champs for 1958 last Thursday with a 26-20 victory over tough New Mexico A&M.

The 'Pokes thus won their first BC crown since 1946 with a 4-0 loop record, edging out Arizona State, which finished at 4-1.

State's snowballing Sun Devils, growing more powerful each week, made one mistake which cost them the crown. They lost, 14-6, to H-SU in early season play.

Arizona's Wildcats finished with a 2-1 slate, but became the cellar-dwellers because they played only three games, one less than the number required to qualify as a contender.

New Mexico's Aggies were third with a 1-3 record, and West Texas and Texas Western tied for fourth with 1-4 marks.

THE CHASE . . . Marquette's Si Woods (partially hidden) prepares to stop Nolan Jones as the Devil back races along the sidelines. MU's Dennis Ferriter (58) comes in to aid his teammate. Devils won, 42-18.

Devils Blast MU, End '58 Season

By PAUL JACKSON

An overwhelming second quarter attack by the Arizona State Sun Devils told the story Saturday night, as the Devils wound up their 1958 football season with a 42-18 victory over Marquette University.

A temporary first quarter lead of 2-0 by the Warriors from Wisconsin made the 24,000 chilly fans in Sun Devil Stadium nervous, until quarterback John Hangartner started passing.

The Devils drove 89 yards in four plays for their first touchdown of the evening, and Marquette began feeling the power of the ASU offensive. When the halftime gun sounded, the Devils had 28 points on the scoreboard and Hangartner unofficially led the Border Conference in passing. He had completed nine passes against the Warriors for 187 yards and two touchdowns.

Head Coach Frank Kush acknowledged his quarterback's fine performance. "Hangartner was the key," said Kush. He also pointed out that Devil teamwork was the reason for the team's tremendous recovery after a series of early season setbacks.

During the second half Kush threw in the reserves, and although the spunky Marquette team managed to score 16 more points the Devils matched them touchdown for touchdown.

The crowd also was given a preview of the ASU team for '59, and the performances of Nolan Jones, Joe Drake, Ed Ellis and Clay Freney were indications of the tough backfield these youngsters will compose next year.

Yardage statistics alone could tell the story of what happened Saturday night. The Devils gained 258 yards rushing, while the Warriors managed to rack up only 179, mostly in the second half. Devil passing accounted for 210 against the Warriors' 135. It gave the ASU team a total of 461 net yards gained.

THE BEGINNING . . . of the end for Marquette started with this jaunt by Eddie Mitchell. Fred Hawkins (left) and Jerry Cooke (27) pursue the Devil halfback, whose run helped to set up Ron Erhardt's 45-yard TD gallop. That six-pointer erased the Warriors' 2-0 lead and inaugurated the Devils' four-score second period.

Fig's File

If you look at the Arizona State record from mid-season on, those pre-season grid prophets didn't look too bad after all.

What with crippling injuries plaguing the Devils as they struggled to a 2-3 mid-season record, that first half can be said to be "all in the game," or so the ditty goes.

As for the second half of the season, it was just like watching that 1957 team in action, and the '58 crew even outdid them in crowning Arizona, 47-0.

So bring on the orchids for Frank Kush and his 7-3 eleven.

Ned Wulk sat quietly through Monday's first half, watching his cagers build up a 46-30 halftime lead. Early in the second half, however, he flipped over a foul call on Rich Jarvis for charging. Naturally, the Devil mentor was given his first technical of the season.

What did he say? "Aw, make him (in reference to the Whittier player who was fouled by Jarvis) stand still . . . Jeeze!"

We're not sure, but that might have been a sly smile on Wulk's face as he lowered his head and looked ashamed.

Imps Win, 74-73

Cagers Dump Whittier; Denham Hits 21

By JEFF KIEHL

Arizona State's Sun Devils rang up the curtain for the 1958-59 basketball season Monday with an 89-60 triumph over Whittier College before 2,000 ASU partisans.

Transfer forward Paul Denham and returnee Al Nealey scored 21 and 19 points respectively to lead the Devil onslaught. Center Billy Pryor scored 14 points for ASU and led both teams in rebounding.

Denham, who comes to ASU via Hancock JC, played brilliantly throughout the first half, meshing 17 points, and was utilized as a feeder and ball-handler during most of the second half. Nealey started slowly, but came on strong at the close of the first half with 7 and tallied 12 more in the second period.

The Poets were never really in the contest as Pryor and Denham got ASU off to an early 6-0 lead. Whittier came back with 6 points by Chuck Kenly, but never came close after that as the Devils went on to a 46-30 halftime bulge.

Scrappy guards Ed Olson and Paul Howard dazzled both Whittier and spectators with tricky ball-handling and finesse in their passing to the big men up front. Both displayed scoring ability as Howard hit for 11 markers and Olson, game captain for the night, came through with six more on driving layups.

Lanky Mike McConnell's 20-point show, and Harvey Darce's rebounding paved the way for the Sun Imp's 74-73 preliminary win over surprisingly strong Williams A.F.B.
