Arts Forum Opens SEW

The Student Religious Council will present a special program on "The Arts and Religion: In Perspective" in the MU Ballroom tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Shirley Walkington is chairman.

James Rutherford will be narrator. Musical selections include numbers by the ASU Collegium Musicum, directed by Dr. Phillip F. Nelson, assistant professor of Music; the Woodwind Quartet, directed by Frank Stalzer, assistant professor of Music; and the Concert Choir, directed by Marion Smith, assistant professor of voice.

Dr. Dorothy C. Schilling, chairman of the Humanities department, will read poetry. A discussion on "Expanding the Frontiers of the Human Spirit" will be led by T. Alexander Votichenko, assistant professor of Philosophy.

Works of Eugene Masselin of Taliesin West will be on display in the lower lounge, photographs and prints will be displayed in the cases in the upper hall, and there will be a Dead Sea Scrolls exhibit in the stairway display cases.

Observance of Spiritual Exploration Week begins Sunday and will continue through March 7. During SEW, the ASU campus will have a non-activity week.

The student senate needs applicants for the senior posts.

Any senior interested in serving the rest of the year should see Ralph Segal, ASASU first vice-president, in MU 202 on a weekday afternoon.

Tickets Are Now On Sale For Play's World Premiere

The world premiere of "Dear Liar," starring Katherine Cornell and Brian Aherne, will be held at the Sombrero Playhouse March 3 through 10.

ASU students and faculty may purchase tickets for the March 7 matinee and the March 8 evening performance at Tuesday morning's student-faculty coffee hour or on the 'RAY FOR THE P'RADE . . . clamored Campus Laboratory School first-graders Friday morning in front of the Memorial Union. They collected $12.84 for the school's charity fund.

ARMY AND AIR FORCE

ROTC Cadets Win Awards, Citations

Awards and citations were presented to 20 ASU Army and Air Force ROTC cadets recently.

Distinguished Military Student badges were presented to Army cadets: Ridings L. Hill, Raymond C. McKisson, Robert R. Robinson, and Edward Toporek.

Also William R. Riley, Edgar H. Rugenstein, William M. Stanbaugh, Thomas K. Phifer, and Corwyn M. Cline, Howard E. Sattler, Rash R. Wicker, Jr., Terry L. Scheutiz, and Warren K. Sumners.

Air Force ROTC cadets who received Distinguished Military Student badges are: Gary E. Stevens, Phillip H. Johannes, Robert M. Magid, Raymond E. Eastes, and Gino Della Libera.

Distinguished Military Student awards are presented to cadets who display outstanding qualities of leadership, high moral character, noteworthy academic achievement and exceptional aptitude for military work.

Army cadet James L. Shobe, who has completed his academic and Military Science studies, was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve. He will go on active duty in February.

Air Force cadet Duncan W. Campbell received the Commandant's Award for being the outstanding cadet at the 1958 Air Force ROTC camp conducted at Williams Air Force Base last summer.

Dr. H. D. Richardson, academic vice president, and Dr. Arnold Tildan, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, made the presentations.

The organizations' mail boxes, presently located in MU 211, will be moved to the east side of the campus mail room by the end of the week.

A plea for "effective listening" was made by Dr. Darrell Mase in an address to delegates at the ASU College of Education's annual spring conference and the 12th annual Western Radio-TV Conference.

Dr. Mase, dean of the College of Health-Related Services of the University of Florida, said, "We have lulled ourselves into the false concept that we have to like everything we listen to."

He pointed out that although the average American spends 16 per cent of his time in reading and 45 per cent in listening, our public schools give reading 58 per cent of their attention and listening only 8 per cent. After school, he continued, the well-trained eye has a part-time job, and the poorly-trained ear works overtime.

"In every trial by jury, jurors are expected to listen to the evidence and render a just verdict, even though they are not adequately trained in listening," Dr. Mase stated. He estimated that a 12-week college course could improve listening ability by 25 to 40 per cent.

Petitions Are Available Today For ASU Student Body Elections

Petitions for student government offices may be picked up today in MU 202.

Students running for offices should return the petitions by March 11 at 4 p.m.

On March 12, there will be a compulsory meeting of all candidates in the Memorial Union ballroom at which rules for campaigning and other important election topics will be discussed.

Campaigning starts March 16.

TV Class Textbook Booming

Twelve hundred seventy-five textbooks have been sold for Dr. Quino Martinez's course, "Spanish 101-TV".

Since the course began Feb. 4, the ASU Bookstore has had to re-order eight times. According to Jeff Waneel, assistant manager, students are still buying the $3 book entitled Introduction to Spanish, by Babcock and Trevino.

Growing popularity of the program has been attributed to the dynamic qualities of the course and the teacher, to the uniqueness of television as an education medium, and to Arizona's being situated in the Southwest.

Students who have not purchased textbooks for the course may still do so. Twenty-five copies remain, and more have been ordered from Boston. Students wishing to purchase through the mail may do so by sending their address and $3.25 to the campus bookstore.

To date, sale of the textbooks has surmounted the annual sale of textbooks for other foreign languages.

The elementary Spanish course, sponsored by ASU, offers four hours of credit to students enrolled. The program, featured on KOOL-TV channel 10, runs 7-7:30 a.m. Monday through Friday every week.

Plan Reception To Honor Artist

Eugene Masselin will be honored at a reception Sunday at 3 p.m. in the MU lower lounge.

Masselin, whose exhibition, "Studies and Abstractions for Integral Ornament," is currently being shown in the lower lounge, will show slides and give an informal talk in the ballroom at 4 p.m.

Refreshments will be served in the upper lounge after the program.

MU patio 12 to 1 and 3 to 4:30 p.m. daily until March 5.

Matinee price is $3.75 and the evening performance, $4.40. The Cultural Affairs board is sponsoring the ticket sale.

Lot Restricted For AIA Busses

Campus Security is asking off-campus students not to use the parking lot from Orange and Van Ness to the Sun Angel Gate tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

This space is being reserved for busses that will be here for the A.I.A. basketball tournament.

Garage Shop Personnel 'Jacks - Of - All - Trades'

The task of maintaining and controlling 85 vehicles, filling them monthly with an average of 2500 gallons of gas and 55 gallons of oil, and keeping them fit to be driven a total of some 1700 miles a day can add up to headaches for someone.

Top candidate for the aspirin tablets is Andy Mills, boss of the ASU garage and transportation shop. Aided by a staff of three, he maintains and operates cars, trucks and busses, plus three tractors, four tugs, two ukes (small tugs), four large lawnmowers and an air compressor. (A tug is a compact automotive vehicle with great pulling power.)

Mr. Mills plans all trips taken by ASU students, faculty or staff. If the band, baseball team or business department needs transportation to any part of the state, Andy is contacted. Busses and cars are constantly being manipulated so that everyone will have a ride when he needs it.

"Controlling and dispatching the vehicles is probably our biggest problem," says Andy. "But that isn't the extent of our job. We keep all vehicles in running shape; we arrange for large quantities of fuel to be sent here; we do 75 per cent of the university's welding; and we do some of our own book-work too."

Grinning ruefully, he admits that he and his crew never catch up. "We work constantly, but we enjoy it."

Andy, a native of Mesa, came to the University nine years ago. Since 1953, he has been superintendent. Though the campus has grown rapidly in the last nine years, and the work load has increased 100 per cent, he still lacks sufficient facilities, men, and working space to do the job justice.

KEEP ASU ROLLING... Responsible for the maintenance and operation of different varieties of vehicles used by ASU are the three garage shop employees shown above. The crew is under the supervision of Andy Mills.

State High School Seniors To Test For Scholarships

Scholarship test day will be Saturday at the Business Administration building, room 203. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., followed by testing at 9:30.

Approximately two hundred high school seniors are expected to attend.

Students currently enrolled who wish to apply for the Phelps Dodge scholarship also take the test.

At 10:30 a.m. music students will audition.

Luncheon will be held in the dining hall at twelve.

Dean W. P. Shofstall, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, will officiate.

'Open City' To Be Shown At Cosner Friday

"Open City," will be presented Friday at 3 p.m. in Cosner Auditorium.

Winner of the grand prize at both the Venice International Film Festival and the Cannes World Film Festival, the film also won prizes in Zurich, Rome and New York. It is being shown as part of ASU's foreign film series.

In Italian dialogue with English subtitles, the film tells a story of Italian people during the Nazi occupation. Central character is a leader of the resistance, and his immediate aide is a Catholic priest.

"The Little Match Girl" and "Georgie and the Dragon" are UPA cartoons also on the program.

More About

Garage

"Still, you couldn't find a better group of men to work with than I have now," Andy asserts, referring to Lee Schaffer, who has been at ASU six years; Fred Martinez, just finishing his third year; and Virgil Hubbard, a part-timer for two years, now working full time.

Having driven bus loads of ASU people for nine years, Andy has had his share of apprehensive moments, the most frightening of which occurred a couple of years ago.

"I was driving a '41 bus to Payson with 55 passengers. While I was driving down a steep incline, my brakes went out. The road was narrow, steep and winding. At first I thought of scraping the bus against the canyon wall to slow it down. However, finally, I was able to gear the old crate to a stop. When I got out, I was shaking all over. Never been so scared in my life."

Morris, Radusch Perform Tonight

Janet Morris and Carl Radusch will perform in the Memorial Union ballroom tonight at 8:30.

Miss Morris will play the french horn and Radusch the trombone.

Lella Crandall and Carol Hamilton, members of the ASU Brass Ensemble, will assist.

The program is open to the public.

Applications are being taken for 100 new policemen, Phoenix Police Chief Charles P. Thomas announced.

Men interested should apply at the city personnel department on the third floor of the city hall in Phoenix.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING —

A Big Favor

By requiring a cumulative index of 2.0 for graduation, rather than the present 1.80, and by raising disqualification indices and sorting them by classes, the Arizona State University administration and the Board of Regents are doing the students of this institution and the taxpayers of Arizona a great favor.

Every student on campus costs the State a considerable sum of money. Money spent on students attending a university for the express purpose of serious study and preparation for careers after graduation is more than justified. Those students who attend universities for other reasons are expensive liabilities.

With the new academic standards, it will be possible for ASU to go a long way in eliminating these liabilities and in providing greater opportunity for the serious student.

Strengthening of academic standards follows very effectively on the heels of ASU's upgrading of entrance requirements.

Not A One

"This is the West — right?"

"Yes, it is," we answered.

"We're supposed to be out in the middle of the desert — right?"

"Yes, we are in the middle of the desert, though Phoenix and the Valley of the Sun, including Tempe, are sort of oases," we answered.

"Uh-huh. And cacti are supposed to be present almost everywhere — right?"

"Sure. Don't you see all the different types of cacti . . ." We hesitated, looking around. By George, we said to ourselves as we looked up and down College Avenue. By George, where are all the different types of cacti?

We grinned sheepishly at our companion, who happened to be a tourist and something of a critic as well. "We're sure if we get out of the car and look around, we will be able to find a cactus on campus somewhere," we said.

"That won't be necessary. I just didn't see any cactus on this street, and you told me this was the school's main street. I just thought that if there was a cactus plant here and there the campus would look nicer, that's all."

"What do you want us to do," we asked, "go over to the botanical gardens and dig up a sahuaro for you?"

"No, but somebody should do something, don't you think?"

"What do you have against trees? We have a lot of trees all over the campus. Look at all the pretty trees," we said hastily.

"Trees are nice, but since Arizona State is in part of the desert . . ."

"And this is Palo Verde," we interrupted. "A girls' dorm."

"Oh, yeah?"

We were thankful our tourist had more of an interest in females than he did in cactus. But it did seem rather strange that there was not one cactus on College Avenue.

It would be so — so Western, you know?

Oh, yawn, here we are again, nearing mid-semester. Yawn . . . What are you, bored? Impossible! Oh, you're beat? Depressed, fagged out, tired? Now I understand. You really did stick to your New Year's resolution, and now you have a four-point in the bag for the semester. Nice . . .

But now you're tired of studying, and need a change of pace to enliven your outlook. The excitement of George Washington's birthday and Groundhog's Day is gone, and you can't think of a thing to do, huh?

Your problem is solved, at least for tonight. Two hour's worth of variety-show-type music and dancing is in store, beginning at 7 p.m. in Moeur Activity building. Dormitories and sororities have been practicing for weeks on tap, modern, and folk dances for the WAA Dance Night. Colored lights and costumes will add sparkle to the show. Drop over. It's free and fun.

Still need an outlet for your energy . . . or a diversion from your routine? Chess games are played Thursdays at 6 p.m. in the MU upper lounge. It's a fascinating game, and this is a good opportunity to learn how to play it.

ASU's biggest yearbook ever will be worth the $7 it costs. Final sales for the Sahuaro are March 11, 12 and 13, so start saving your pennies. Four full-color photo pages are among its attractions, as well as a 15-page section on the ASU name-change. Another 50 pages cover university life, activities between freshman week and graduation.

Today's the big day. Do you have your petition for a senate or ASASU office yet? They're available in MU 201, starting this afternoon.

Is the enclosed a practical and good definition of MATURITY? By practical, I mean, could it help students who want to become MATURE make the thousand and one everyday decisions and choices in a MATURE way? By good, I mean that the person who makes his thousand and one everyday decisions and choices according to this definition would be "grown-up" while the ones who do not would still be as children — IMMATURE!

If you are intrigued by this statement, I hope you have space to publish it, for I would like to see what kind of response, if any, is obtained.

MATURITY

A MATURE man is a free man and a brother to his fellow men! A man who chooses selfishly and only the most pleasant is a slave to his physical needs and impulses. Therefore, freedom and fraternity in making choices constitute MATURITY!

Is this definition too general to be practical? Perhaps, there are students who think a person can be selfish and MATURE at the same time. Perhaps, some think you can be free and make choices according to physical needs and impulses or that this has nothing to do with MATURITY.

W. P. SHOFSTALL
 Dean of Students

Arizona State University is an institution of higher learning. Just how much can we learn from football games, Greek organizations and dormitory life? It may be acknowledged that the aforementioned institutions are worthy of praise in the highest sense, but isn't there something else?

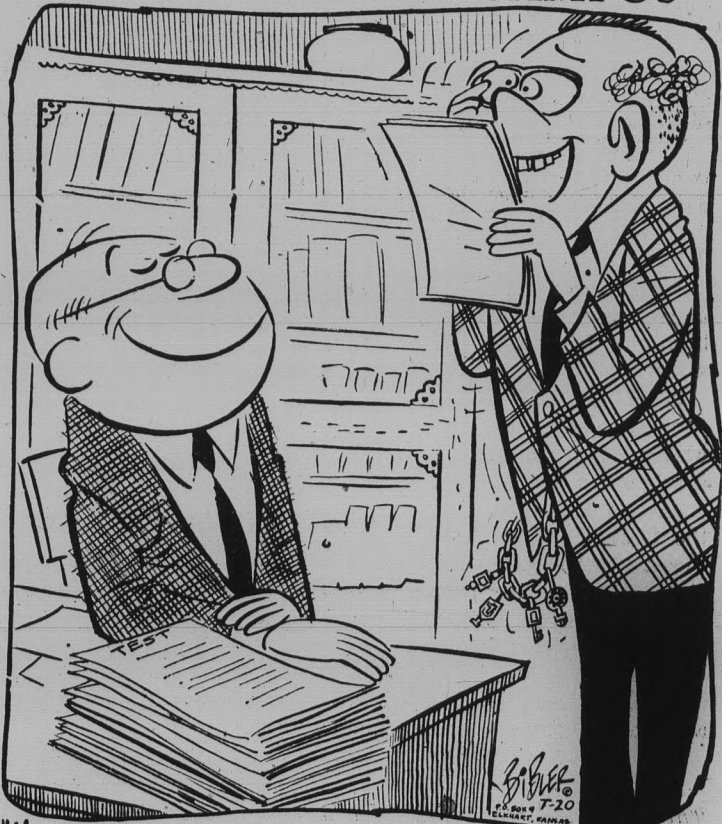

There is no stimulus on this campus for the enquiring mind. Who can discuss existentialism? Who is familiar with the melting ice-cape, the merits of Holst, the theory of gamete replacement for diseased tissue or the work of Kokoschka? How many students have read Camus, Gide, Buber or Gibran? Very few of us are capable of discussing these matters, but the saddest part is, most Sun Devils have never heard of these things, or for that matter, ever will. Furthermore, those students who do seek intellectual stimuli are looked upon with contempt by the majority.

Perhaps our intellectual outlook does not call for a loud cry of indignation, but it at least warrants a stifled sigh of regret.

The Revolutionist (Ed. note: The sweeping generality, "There is no stimulus on this campus for the enquiring mind," quite staggers us. Yet we agree with the sense of the above letter; there should be more emphasis on intellectual stimuli, not only at ASU but everywhere. However, we doubt 'The Revolutionist' has a corner on things intellectual at ASU. What do YOU think?)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"MASTERFULLY WRITTEN PROFESSOR, SNARF — IT'S SELDOM MY PLEASURE TO SEE A TEST WITH SO MANY AMBIGUOUS QUESTIONS."

"Ugly Man" To Be Chosen From Males On ASU Campus

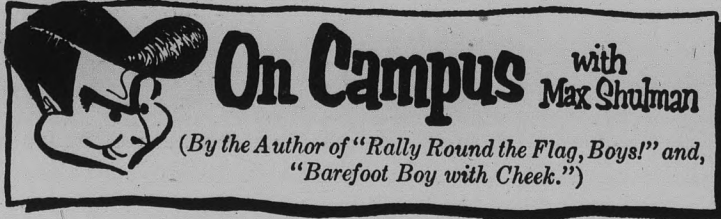

Inter-Hall Council is sponsoring its annual Ugly Man contest.

Each men's dorm is allowed to submit one picture of their ugliest man to the AWS office in the Memorial Union before

4 p.m., March 16.

Officers of AWS will choose the winner.

A trophy will be awarded to the hall, and the ugliest man will have his choice of $10 or a trophy.

POVERTY CAN BE FUN

It is no disgrace to be poor. It is an error, but it is no disgrace.

So if your purse is empty, do not skulk and brood and hide your head in shame. Stand tall. Admit your poverty. Admit it freely and frankly and all kinds of good things will happen to you. Take, for instance, the case of Blossom Sigafos.

Blossom, an impecunious freshman at an Eastern girls' college, was smart as a whip and round as a dumpling, and scarcely a day went by when she didn't get invited to a party weekend at one of the nearby men's schools. But Blossom never accepted. She did not have the rail fare; she did not have the clothes. Weekend after weekend, while her classmates went frolicking, Blossom sat alone, saved from utter despair only by her pack of Marlboros, for even an exchequer as slim as Blossom's can afford the joys of Marlboro—joys far beyond their paltry price: rich, mellow tobaccos, lovingly cured and carefully packed; a new improved filter that works like a charm. Croesus himself could not buy a better cigarette!

However, Marlboro's most passionate admirers—among whose number I am paid to count myself—would not claim that Marlboro can entirely replace love and romance, and Blossom grew steadily moroser.

Then one day came a phone call from an intelligent sophomore named Tom O'Shanter at a nearby men's college. "Blossom," said Tom, "I want you to come down next week for the barley festival, and I won't take no for an answer."

"No," said Blossom.

"Foolish girl," said Tom gently. "I know why you refuse me. It is because you are poor, isn't it?"

"Yes," said Blossom.

"I will send you a railroad ticket," said Tom. "Also a small salami in case you get hungry on the train."

"But I have nothing to wear," said Blossom.

Tom replied, "I will send you one suit of cashmere, two gowns of lace, three slacks of velvet, four shoes of calf, five socks of nylon, and a partridge in a pear tree."

"That is most kind," said Blossom, "but I fear I cannot dance and enjoy myself while back home my poor lame brother Tiny Tim lies abed."

"Send him to Mayo Brothers and put it on my tab," said Tom.

"You are terribly decent," said Blossom, "but I cannot come to your party because all the other girls at the party will be from rich, distinguished families, and my father is but a humble woodcutter."

"I will buy him Yosemite," said Tom.

"You have a great heart," said Blossom. "Hold the phone while I ask our wise and kindly old Dean of Women whether it is proper for me to accept all these gifts."

She went forthwith and asked the Dean of Women, and the Dean of Women laid her wise and kindly old hand on Blossom's cheek and said, "Child, let not false pride rob you of happiness. Accept these gifts from Tom."

"Lord love you, Wise and Kindly," breathed Blossom, dropping grateful tears into the Dean's reticule. "I must run and tell Tom."

"Yes, run, child," said the Dean, a smile wrinkling her wise and kindly old eyes. "And ask him has he got an older brother."

The makers of filter-tip Marlboro, who bring you this column, are also the makers of non-filter Philip Morris, who also bring you this column. Whichever you choose, you're right.

New Chi O pledges Pat Miller, Pat Sullivan and Jo Wagoner joined members of their pledge class in making their "big sisters" beds and treating them to breakfast last week.

Phi Delta Thetas and Alpha Phis went Beatnik last Wednesday night for an exchange at the Phi Delt house.

Initiated recently into Phi Kappa fraternity were Noel Levy, Dave Groeber, Hank Kolb, Fred Cordova, Jim Wilsey, Charley Moraga, Dennis Kennedy, Tony Sandoval, Joe DiStefano, Frank Hernandez and Ray Reilly.

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon journeyed to Tucson last weekend for their annual dis-

Sigma Sigma Sigma pledges began their Help Week Monday night by surprising the actives with a new rug for their living room.

Theta Chi national field secretary Leroy Dybling is visiting the ASU chapter for a week.

A bermuda shorts party is on the fraternity's agenda Friday evening.

Do You Think for Yourself? (THESE QUESTIONS CAN TELL YOU A LOT ABOUT YOURSELF!*)

- When you feel that certain fads are foolish do you talk against them? YES  NO
- Do gadgets such as new cigarette lighters often intrigue you so you want to take them apart? YES  NO
- Do you think that political candidates should write their own speeches instead of using a "ghost writer"? YES  NO
- Given the choice, would you prefer having an apartment of your own to living at home with your parents? YES  NO
- Do you prefer a salesman who is anxious to make a quick sale to one who will patiently answer all your questions about the product? YES  NO
- When arriving late for a party, are you inclined to join a group of close friends rather than attempting to strike up new acquaintances? YES  NO
- If you met somebody with a beard, would you tend to consider him "off-beat" and treat him with reserve? YES  NO
- Are you normally reluctant to go on a "blind date"? YES  NO

9. Do you base your choice of a cigarette on what people tell you rather than doing your own thinking? YES  NO

You'll notice that men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? They've made a thinking choice. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. They know that VICEROY gives it to them! A thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste!

*If you have answered "YES" to three out of the first four questions and "NO" to four out of the last five . . . you really think for yourself!

Devils Make Last Home Appearance

Making their final home appearance of the '58-59 season, the ASU basketball team hosts the Pepperdine Waves in an 8 p.m. contest in Sun Devil Gym tonight.

After closing out their Border Conference schedule over the weekend, the Demons are determined to improve their 16-6 record.

Pepperdine has been a constant harasser of Arizona

State quintets during the past eight years; the Los Angeles team has won ten of twelve contests against the Sun Devils in the series.

Coach Ned Wulk will start his veteran five: Gary Norton and Al Nealey at forwards, Bill Pryor at center, and Paul Howard and Paul Denham at guards.

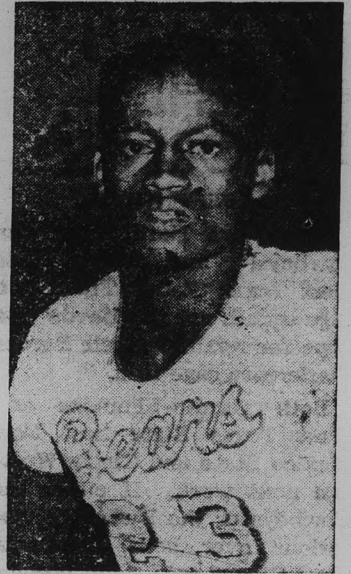

The Devils have had good fortune against California teams during the current season, having compiled a 7-0 record against coast quintets, with three games remaining, including the Pepperdine contest tonight.

The Waves sport a 14-7 record, which includes a 66-50 victory over Whittier, who the Devils downed 89-60, and a 55-41 win over Loyola University, 79-46 losers to ASU. Pepperdine also downed San Diego State 71-69, as compared to the 74-65 score tallied by the Demons, and they beat San Jose State 71-69, and 68-52, compared to the narrow 62-58 victory for Arizona State. Pepperdine twice has met Santa Clara University, 80-58 losers to ASU, losing the first contest 69-84 and winning the second 90-78.

Main pointmaker for the Waves is forward Sterling Forbes, averaging 19.4 points per game.

Imps Meet PC Tonight

The Arizona State Sun Imps make their last home appearance of the basketball season tonight in a 6:15 p.m. game against Phoenix College.

PC Coach Runt Goddard has in his quintet a team that's fourth-ranked nationally among the nation's junior colleges.

The Bruins are sporting a 24-3 record and will play Weber JC in Phoenix early in March for a regional playoff berth in the National JC tournament.

The Bears' leading scorer, Larry Armstrong, is among the nation's top JC scorers, and will need only seven points tonight to crack the 600 points mark.

Coach Fanny Markham's AS quint is one of the three teams to defeat the Bruins, but has also lost to the Phoenicians twice.

The Imps will carry a 12-3 record into the fray. The AS starting five will include Ollie Payne and Harvey Darche, forwards; Mike McConnell, center; and Les Kuhn and Chico Morrison, guards.

WHO SAID IT FIRST?

A column of incidental intelligence by Jockey brand

"GENTLEMAN AND SCHOLAR"
High praise, indeed, for any man! But did you know that the description comes from Robert Burns—who said it first about a dog? Here's the quote: "His locked, lettered, brow brass collar Showed him the gentleman and scholar." You'll find the couplet in Burns' "The Twa Dogs."

"THE MORNING AFTER"

This horrible time was first immortalized by George Ade in "The Sultan of Sulu." Here's the way he put it:

"But, R-E-M-O-R-S-E!
The water-wagon is the place for me;
It is no time for mirth and laughter,
The cold, gray dawn of the morning after!"

"MAN BITES DOG"
That's everybody's definition of news, and we're all indebted to John B. Bogart, city editor of the old New York Sun (1873-90) who first said: "When a dog bites a man, that is not news, because it happens so often. But if a man bites a dog, that is news!"

BASEBALL REPORT

Three Spots Cinched; Rest Open

By RICHARD STEHR

With opening day just two weeks away, Sun Devil Baseball Coach Bob Winkles reports that only three of last year's regulars are sure of retaining their positions.

The three, all infielders, are shortstop Benny Ruiz, last season's leading hitter; first baseman John Jacobs; and second baseman John Regoli.

While none of the other positions is set, Winkles adds that outfield candidates Al Carr, Syl Mabry and George Hanna have been looking "very good."

Also looking good, according to Winkles, have been catchers Bill Gorman, Curt Bryant and Karl Kiefer, battling for starting honors. Another nip-and-tuck contest is between third basemen Don Wilson from last year's freshman team, and senior veteran Bob Reid.

As to the pitching staff, Winkles says he won't be able to determine who his starters will be until the season is well underway. However, he says, his most promising moundsmen so far have been Jim Sims, Joe Kostyk, Roger Barneson, Joe Tipton and Ray Martinez.

Meanwhile, it's been work, work and more work for the Sun Devil baseballers. The team practices every afternoon for almost three hours. "If they don't look too good," asserts Winkles, "I have them work out on Saturdays . . . which is what they've been doing the last two Saturdays."

Coach Winkles, ex-farmhand of the speed-conscious Chicago White Sox, has been putting his boys through rigorous leg-conditioning routines, besides the usual batting and in-fielding practices. This includes his pitchers.

Says the coach: "I don't know how good we're going to be, but we're going to be in condition."

KOACH IEHL'S CORNER

By JEFF KIEHL

"Viva Los Hardin-Simmons Cowboys!" and "God Bless West Texas State!" These two cage squads are the Devils' last hope for retaining their Border Conference cage title.

Both Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State host New Mexico State and Texas Western next week. If either the Cowboys or the Buffs are victorious over both opponents, the BC cage race could become a four-way stalemate.

Texas Western and New Mexico State are deadlocked for the BC lead as a result of defeating ASU in El Paso and Las Cruces over the weekend.

The El Paso fans added somewhat to the Devils' poor showing, with an exhibition of excessive partisan enthusiasm. One Texan got so riled up he fired a rotten potato from the crowd that grazed Sun Devil Head Coach Ned Wulk. Another time, an official called AS guard Paul Howard out of bounds and gave the ball to the Miners. After the game, even Texas Western coaches agreed Howard was at least six inches from the line.

In Las Cruces, the game was nip-and-tuck throughout, even though the Sun Devils failed to score in the first 4 minutes of play and the Aggies jumped to a quick 11-0 lead.

With over 15 minute remaining in the game, and the Devils only 4 points behind, big Billy Price fouled out, and with him out of the contest, unpredictable NMS Coach Presley Askew called for a stall that lasted 14 minutes, similar to the stall by the Aggies here last year.

About the only thing an earnest Sun Devil fan can do is pray that Hardin-Simmons and West Texas will knock off the aforementioned ogres in next week's battles.

Aggies, Miners Beat Devils

Arizona State's cage express, trying for a second straight Border Conference title, chugged into a stone wall Saturday and Monday, losing a pair of foreign court tiffs to Texas Western and New Mexico State.

Western's Miners handed the Devils a 78-66 loss Saturday, and New Mexico State's Aggies dealt AS an 81-71 defeat Monday.

Coupled with weekend victories over Arizona by the two winning clubs, the defeats dropped the Devils into third place, percentage-wise, in the BC.

The game at El Paso was close until the final ten minutes. The Miners' Charlie Brown converted a free throw with 12:30 minutes to play, making the score 52-51, and that was the last of the ASU lead.

Brown was the evening's leading scorer with 23 points, followed by ASU's Paul Denham, who managed 19. TW's Milt Martin canned 19 and teammate Jon Sanders followed with 16. Al Nealey and Gary Norton each scored 15 for the Devils.

NMSU ace Billy Joe Price took his guns to town Monday, but fouled out early in the second half with only 11 points accumulated. However, his Aggie teammates chipped in with 70 more points, went into a 14-minute stall, and came away with their 81-71 victory.

New Mexico State's Charlie Clark took scoring honors with 25 points, Joe Kelly added 18 and Lee Bowen 17.

For AS, Nealey was tops with 16 points and Paul Howard hit seven field goals for his 14-point total. Denham scored 12.

INTRAMURAL Scene

Roger Worsley, Phi Epsilon Kappa, defeated Mick Wolff, Phi Sigma Kappa, last Wednesday, to win the Intramural badminton title.

Worsley managed to squeeze by his opponent in the first set and overpowered him in the last round of play. The scores were 18-17, 15-18 and 15-6.

Bill Skelton of Hayden Hall placed third, and Dave Mecke of Delta Sigma Phi was fourth.

The top ten organizations in point standings through badminton are: Phi Sigma Kappa, 87; Alpha Tau Omega, 68; Delta Sigma Phi, 65; Sigma Nu, 60; Hayden Hall, 59; Sigma Chi Sigma, 48; Sahuaro Hall, 43; Haigler Hall, 39; Phi Epsilon Kappa, 39, and Phi Delta Theta, 35.
