2,500 Attend Key Carnival

An estimated 2,500 people wandered in and out of the annual Blue Key carnival Tuesday evening.

Featured event of the evening was an attempt to pack as many students as possible into a telephone booth. With the booth in an upright position, 19 men managed to cram at least half of their bodies in, but when the booth was laid down, some 50 students succeeded in getting at least a foot in.

Other booths and stands, and their sponsoring organizations were: cotton candy, Sigma Phi Sigma; cake walk, Alpha Delta Phi; popcorn and taffy apples, Hayden Hall; shave-a-balloon, Delta Gamma; slave market, Kappa Kappa Gamma; card toss, Alpha Tau Omega; portrait sketch, Gamma Phi Beta; heavenly fudge, Student Religious Council; ball swing, Los Conquistadores; snow cones, Presbyterians; garter toss, South Hall; H2O dunk, Theta Chi; buckin' bronco, Rodeo Club; goofy golf, Kappa Delta; sponge throw, Wilson Hall; dart throw, Delta Chi; win-a-goldfish, Tau Kappa Epsilon; egg drop, Delta Sigma Phi; salami throw, Alpha Epsilon Pi; candle shoot, Phi Delta Theta; refreshment stand, Lambda Delta Sigma; milk bottle throw, Pi Kappa; fortune telling, Alpha Epsilon Phi; water-filled balloon throw, Chi Omega; tepee-on-wheels, Amerind Club; fun house, Gammage Hall; car smash, West Hall; coke-bottle ring toss, McClintock Hall; and coke stand, Phi Sigma.

SUCH DELIGHT . . . for anyone with destructive tendencies or an extreme dislike for cars. Annually one of the best money-making booths is the "Car Smash." This year it was sponsored by West Hall.

Eleven Are Full Professors

Faculty Promotions Okayed

Thirty-nine ASU faculty members were promoted in rank for the 1959-60 academic year, eleven of them to full professor.

The Board of Regents approved the promotions Tuesday, upon recommendation by President Grady Gammage.

Four associate professors in the College of Liberal Arts will be full professors next year. They are Dr. Edward E. Burgoyne and Dr. Jacob Fuchs, chemistry; Dr. David E. Colin, English; and Dr. Paul G. Hubbard, history.

Dr. Robert A. Heimann and Dr. Joel A. Benedict will be full professors in the College of Education; and Dr. Ralph C. Hook Jr. and Dr. Grant M. Osborn, in the College of Business Administration.

New professors in the College of Applied Arts and Sciences will be James W. Elmore, head of the school of Architecture; Mr. Walter E. Burdette, head of the division of Industrial Education; and Dr. Warren Rice, of the school of Engineering.

Other promotions, by college, include: College of Liberal Arts, from assistant to associate professor, Mrs. Bertha H. Autenrieth and Mrs. Nadine Dresskell, both music; Dr. Franklin O. Cooke and Dr. John D. Ratliff, both English; Dr. Roy M. Johnson, microbiology; Dr. Fred B. Lindstrom, sociology; Dr. Quino E. Martinez, Spanish; Miss Anne Pittman, physical education; Dr. William S. Rawls, physics; Donald Schaumburg, art; and Dr. William H. Stites, speech.

Instructor to assistant professor, John C. Ellis and Lee Shaw, English; Paul F. Luenow Jr. and George B. Beck, mathematics; Eugene Chausow, music; Arthur Jacobson, art; Alexis A. Caron, foreign languages; and Miss Mary Elizabeth Graham, physical education.

College of Business Administration, Dr. Martin T. Farris, from assistant to associate professor, and Max E. Fieser, from instructor to assistant professor.

College of Education, from assistant to associate professor, Dr. Kenneth H. Hoover, Dr. Mack A. Ralston and Dr. Thomas M. Weiss.

College of Applied Arts and Sciences, from assistant to associate professor, Dr. Phil R. Cobb, Robert E. Cron Jr., Paul E. Ruff, and Charles E. Wallace.

WORKSHOP STARTS TODAY

Student leaders of ASU will convene this weekend at Camp Tontoza, Payson, for the annual Leadership Workshop.

Arrangements have been made for 90 students, including old and new ASASU officers, AWS and AMS officers, board members and chairmen as well as faculty advisors and deans of colleges.

The workshop has been organized to acquaint student leaders with the affairs of student government and to plan next year's activities.

Two buses will provide transportation. They will leave from the Quadrangle, across the street from East Hall, at 1:45 and 3:45 Friday afternoon.

All day Saturday and Sunday mornings will be spent in government-procedure workshops and exchanging ideas to better

Applicants Have Set New High

A record 1,419 students have applied for graduation from ASU this semester, President Grady Gammage told the Board of Regents in Tuesday's meeting.

The number includes 130 bachelor of Arts degree candidates, 504 bachelor of Science, 62 bachelor of Science in Engineering, 475 bachelor of Arts in Education, 21 master of Arts, 22 master of Science, 195 master of Arts in education, three master of Science in Engineering, one Education specialist and six doctor of Education.

The appearance of a student's name on the degree candidate list does not necessarily mean that he will receive a degree May 26, Dr. Gammage explained to the board. Graduation is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of all degree requirements.

At the same meeting, the board authorized Regents resident in the Phoenix area to call for bids and award contracts for a central refrigeration system to service the two new science buildings now under construction; a tunnel system for the extension of utilities; street and paving improvements; a Liberal Arts building; an addition to the Physical Sciences building now nearing completion; and miscellaneous small remodeling and renovation projects.

Estimated costs are $1,400,000 for the Liberal Arts building, which would be located east of Matthews Library, and $400,000 for the addition to the Physical Sciences structure.

The regents also authorized the administration and individual organizations to select the architects to design the residence units of the small group housing program.

Tickets for Tuesday's Phoenix Symphony concert are available at the MU information desk at 60c for students and 85c for faculty.

Preparations Are Ready For Gay Ball Tomorrow

Air Force and Army ROTC combine forces to present the annual Arizona State University Military Ball tomorrow night in the Men's Gymnasium at 8:30 p.m.

Open for the first time to non-ROTC students as well as cadets, the dance costs $3 per couple. Tickets are available in front of the Memorial Union and will be sold at the door of the dance. ROTC students attend the affair voluntarily.

The nationally known band of Tony Pastor will provide music for the traditional event. Refreshments will be served. The coronation of a Milba queen annually highlights the dance.

Proceeds go to Pershing Rifles and Arnold Air Society, Army and Air Force ROTC honoraries which sponsor Angel Flight and Kaydettes, the rifle and drill teams and Honor Guard.

KASN Gives Students On-The-Job Training

Radio-TV students at ASU receive more training than classroom lectures. They run their own radio station.

KASN, the radio-TV students' station, broadcasts from 2 p.m. until midnight, five days a week, to five campus dormitories. A variety of news, music and special programs are monitored.

Contrary to common opinion, KASN does not own all the expensive radio equipment in the Engineering Center. The equipment is part of the Radio-TV Bureau, which is concerned with recording ASU programs and instructing ASU students.

KASN got its start as a sidelight in 1952. A group of radio enthusiasts set up a station, using the necessary bureau equipment, and called it KASC. Since then, the station has developed into a working laboratory, operated by the Radio-TV Bureau. It changed its call letters to KASN last year.

According to Jim Loper, faculty advisor, KASN is set up as a small scale broadcasting station. Students get the necessary technical training by using the equipment and the teletype and by filling out daily logs.

"Of course," says Mr. Loper, "we would never get a license to broadcast beyond the campus confines. The public wouldn't tolerate the number and variety of mistakes we may make."

Though a young station, KASN has trained such radio personnel as Bob Eilers of KOY; Jim Topping, KPHO; Nancy Bennett, KTAR; Chuck Allen, KRIZ, and others all over the state.

"The real purpose behind KASN," Mr. Loper said, "is not just the training of disc jockeys. We are also turning out future managers and directors. We feel that the training and experience gained at ASU more than prepares them for the future."

ON-THE-JOB . . . experience is gained by students on KASN, campus radio station. Above, A. W. Skinner prepares to spin a record on his show.

Scottsdale Arena Scene Of Rodeo

There'll be ridin' and ropin' tomorrow and Sunday at the annual ASU Rodeo in the Scottsdale Jaycee Rodeo Arena.

Performances will be tomorrow at 1:30 and 8 p.m. and Sunday at 1:30 p.m. Tickets are $1 for students and $2 for the public.

Teams from ASU, UofA, Washington, Oregon, Fresno, Pierce and the San Luis Obispo and Pomona branches of the California Polytechnical Institute will compete in bareback and saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, ribbon roping, bull-dogging, bull-riding and girls' barrel race and goat tying.

Debators To Vie In Arizona Speech League

Twelve ASU students vie against students from PC, UofA, ASC, and Grand Canyon College, Phoenix, in the annual meeting of the Arizona Inter-collegiate Speech League, today and tomorrow at Phoenix College.

A special feature of the meet, "Peace Extempore," is the state-wide finals for the national contest. ASU's Dick Steiner and Darla Bowers are entered.

Regular divisions of the meet are general oratory, extemporaneous speaking, impromptu speaking, and interpretive reading. ASU students entered in these events are Dick Steiner, Al Flewelling, Darla Bowers, Mike McNulty, Tom Reilly, Bud Bartlett, Edith Moores, Roberta Taylor, Les Miller, Ron Koch and Juleen Merrill.

Gloria Valencia was selected as an after-dinner speaker for the Saturday evening banquet.

Former State Press Editor Nick Salerno Awarded Six Fellowships; Picks Stanford

You'd never convince Nick Salerno, 22-year-old ASU English instructor, that opportunity knocks but once. It's just knocked six times for him.

Salerno, former State Press editor and top ASU senior in 1957 with a 3.96 academic index, recently applied for graduate fellowships at six institutions of higher learning. They all answered yes.

Salerno has offers of $1,000 from Harvard University; $1,820 from UCLA; $1,500 from Claremont Graduate School, Pomona, Calif.; $1,820 and tuition for a teaching assistantship at the University of California, Berkeley; and a $2,500 fellowship from Stanford University. He will work for a PHD in English at Stanford next year and will specialize in Victorian English literature.

Salerno will receive his M.A. degree from ASU in May. His thesis, which received a perfect 4. grade, was on Victorian writer William Makepeace Thackeray.

When Salerno received his B. A. degree in Education from ASU in 1957, he also received the Moeur Award, given annually to the graduating student with the highest index. During his four undergraduate years at ASU, he held a Phelps Dodge Scholarship which paid

$1,000 per year. Salerno majored in English, and minored in journalism.

He served six months with the army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Having taken ROTC training during college, he now holds a second lieutenant's rank in the army reserve.

A 1953 graduate of Phoenix Union High School, Salerno is the son of Mrs. Lucia Salerno, 1012 N. 14th St., Phoenix.

Student Art Show Winners Named

Winners of the annual All-Student Art Show, last Saturday, April 11, in the Arts building, were announced recently.

Timona Pittman won the $100 Al Dorne award, and Woodward Payne received a $100 award from Grumbacher, Inc.

Other prize winners were: Joy Hall, watercolor; Gray Scarborough, sculpture; Timona Pittman, figure drawing; Jim

Judges were Phil Curtis, a painter, and Charles Loloma, a Hopi pottery and jewelry designer.

Dr. Shapiro Talks To Phoenix Club In Westward Ho

Dr. Harold Shapiro, ASU associate professor of Economics, spoke about "Lessons from the Recent Recession" before the Phoenix Exchange Club yesterday.

Dr. Shapiro explained methods used to overcome the 1957-58 recession and lessons learned for avoidance of future recessions. The meeting took place in Phoenix' Hotel Westward Ho.

Swedish Knight To Speak

A knight of Sweden will give a lecture Wednesday morning under the sponsorship of the Student Religious Council and the Danforth Lecture and Counselling Service.

Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., an internationally known author and lecturer, will speak on "What Do You Think?"

He will appear at 10:40 a.m. in the Memorial Union ballroom. The public is invited.

Dr. Bergendoff was knighted in 1944 by the King of Sweden and is a member of the Commission in Relationships with the Federal Government of the American Council on Education. He is also active in the Joint Lutheran Commission on Liturgy and has served as editor of the Lutheran Quarterly.

He has lectured at Harvard and the University of Chicago, and in 1949 he was visiting professor at German universities under the Religious Affairs Division of the US Military Government.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING —

Academic Progress

This week the Regents granted 230 new courses and three new degrees for ASU — which made a large part of the campus community very happy.

At the same meeting the Regents failed to approve other major ASU requests for additions to its academic offerings. And that, of course, made other people unhappy.

There are recurrent cries on campus for academic progress. We need new courses; we should have higher standards; there should be more and more emphasis on things intellectual and academic.

We agree. And yet this week's meeting of the Regents points up one of the problems involved in instituting such courses, et al. Major academic changes must be approved by the Board of Regents. The Regents, in their turn, must answer to the legislature, which has the final say on whether or not the necessary funds will be made available.

That's on one end of the line. At the other end there are the individual members of the faculty who spend uncounted hours studying the needs in their individual sections of their various departments. Scarcely a department exists on campus that feels it has all the courses it would like to offer. A great deal of individual and collective thinking goes into the decision as to which are the more important new courses to be applied for.

Then the courses are outlined, first by individual members of the faculty. Later these outlines are worked and re-worked by committees and department heads. Still later, divisional committees and division heads go over them. Then, before the outlines are finalized, the deans of the various colleges must go over them, check them out for relative importance. And finally, the entire number must be screened by top administration officials before the over-all program is submitted formally to the Board of Regents.

If this sounds like a lot of work, it is! And we can sympathize with those faculty members and students who hoped against hope the new courses they most wanted would be approved.

But keep on hoping. Arizona State University has made amazing progress in the last four years. It will make that much and more in the next four. There are many and involved reasons why everything we want can't be accomplished overnight.

Meanwhile, we thank the Regents, the ASU administration and everyone else (deans, division heads, department heads and individual faculty members) whose combined efforts got us the three new degrees and 230 new courses this week.

The rest will come, just as these did, through the efforts of those same people.

"Cosmo!"

LETTERS to the Editor

To the Editor,
Who should be consulted as to the general policy of a well run newspaper? Possibly it is an old-fashioned, even obsolete, idea, but it seems to me the owner should have some voice. Now, I am an involuntary stockholder in State Press; That is, whether or not I ever obtain a copy of the paper, I am still one of the students who have put up the money for its publication. It may be that I'll be a stockholder for one year only, as your paper suggests. Still, for that year I have an owner-responsibility to my enterprise. The need for staff responsibility does not relieve me of it nor justify a disregard on your part for student concern.

I would like to see certain modifications in policy receive serious consideration. Since this is a university where ideas are presumably of some interest, let us have more emphasis on what is being thought on campus. This does not mean an elimination of "who-what-where" reporting, simply a needed supplement. Has a faculty member written a book? Then give us a knowledgeable review instead of a bare announcement of its publication. Has a student won a scholarship for a competent piece of research? Then give us its content, in addition to the money value of the grant. It seems the earth is pear-shaped now (or was it always?), instead of round. Has a geology student a comment as to the effect this may have on our ideas and our lives? What goes on at these meetings that only 20 persons attend? I understand some 35 men were active in writing the United States Constitution. What's afoot at ASU? If nothing — well, say that too.

Science reporting is a remunerative, growing field in journalism. Does no one aspire to be a Nathan here? And then there's style! Every journalism department is supposed to have one student at least who is striving to become a modern Twain, Ferber or Steffens.

Surely ASU is not the lone exception. Please search out a writer with a feel for words and give him space.

If this kind of approach would have too limited an appeal or be too difficult to maintain every issue, why not set aside every eighth issue for an attempt at it?

Finally, I have no objection to my paper giving news coverage to interesting events that cost money. Many good things do.

Virginia K. Anderson
(Editor's note: We thank Miss Anderson for her unusually well-thought-out letter. There are undoubtedly many segments of the campus community who agree with her point of view entirely, and there is probably none more in agreement than members of the State Press staff.)

Next Wednesday we will discuss Miss Anderson's letter more thoroughly and present facts to explain rather than to defend the situation.)

Dads Honored At Banquet

By KATHY BURKE

Alpha Delta Pis will honor their dads Sunday night in the Liway House at their annual Father-Daughter Banquet.

Officers for 1959-60 elected by Sigma Nu Monday night were: Ed Nowak, president; Chuck Burtch, vice-president; Kent Ryan, recorder; Pat Sanerson, treasurer; Hugu Rainey, chaplain; Ed Navarre, reporter; Don Tuhacek and Gary Clark, alumni contact officers; Duncan MacDonald, marshal; Tom Stabler, sentinal; and Ron Johnson, historian.

Alpha Epsilon Pi has chosen its new officers: Nick Einfeld, president; Les Miller, vice-president; Barry Starr, pledge master; Phil Shaffer, scribe;

Norm Zaslow, treasurer; Joel Adler, historian; and Jerry Solomon, sentinal.

Ron Knott and Murray Goodman will be co-editors of the chapter's award winning Alpha Sig Monitor.

Margaret Dixon has been pledged by Gamma Phi Beta.

Alpha Sigma Alphas joined their alumnae in the chapter room Monday evening for a workshop on planning activities for the coming year.

Dave Pilcher, Lambda Chi Alpha, was not skin-diving in the Old Main Fishpond Sunday evening — his short dip was the result of his pinning Lorie Kier, Chi Omega.

Kappa Delta and Tau Kappa

Epsilon pledges staged a successful walkout on their actives Monday at South Mountain. When a kidnapped TEKE active, Jerry Knowski, escaped and told the actives of the location, the group moved to another spot and remained "uncaptured."

Mr. Frank B. Scott, Grand Prytanis of Tau Kappa Epsilon, was entertained by the local chapter recently. He toured the campus during the day and was honored at a banquet in the evening, at which Jim Creasman, ASU alumni secretary, was speaker.

AS Rodeo Club Sponsors Dance

ASU's annual Rodeo Dance, featuring music by the Sunset Riders, takes place tonight from 9 to 1 at the Mirador Ballroom, 3820 N. Central, Phoenix.

Master of Ceremonies will be Ray Odom, affiliated with radio station KHAT. Carol Truman, ASU Rodeo Queen, will be introduced with her attendants, Sharon Soule and Carla McManus.

Price of admission is $1.50 per person.

Blue Key Elects; Meetings Planned

New officers of Blue Key, junior and senior men's honorary, are: Bert Dodson, president; Bill Sullivan, vice-president; Charlie Parker, recording secretary; Chuck Ditsch, treasurer; Wayne Zimmerman, corresponding secretary; and Jim Kunkel, public relations.

The Lutheran Student Association will meet Sunday at 6:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be a clinical psychologist who will talk on "Preparation for Marriage."

A discussion concerning different types of prayer will be held by the Canterbury Association Sunday at 7 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Newman Club will attend a Communion Breakfast after 10 a.m. Mass at the Newman Center, Sunday. Dr. Walter Becker will speak on "The Catholic in Secular Education." After the breakfast the group will go to Canyon Lake.

At Tuesday's meeting Read Mullen will talk on "The Newman Foundation" at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. C. Kevane, associate professor of Physics, will speak on "Science and/or Religion" at the April 22 meeting of the Philosophy Club at 7:30 p.m. in the MU senate chamber. The public is invited.

New officers installed recently by Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's national honorary, are: Margaret Williams, president; Sandra Harsha, vice-president; Sue Rogers, recording secretary; Kathy Clark, treasurer; Marilyn Davis, corresponding secretary; and Sue DuPree, historian.

Darlene Arthurs, as outgoing president, was in charge of installation and initiation ceremonies. Dr. Catherine G. Nichols, associate dean of students, and Mrs. Jack Herring, adviser, took part in the ceremonies.

Irene Escobedo announced at Sigma Sigma Sigma candlelight ceremonies her approaching marriage May 29 to John Strecker, Sigma Nu.

Chi Omega Sue Philpott is engaged to Bill Sullivan, Phi Sigma Kappa, as is Chi O Jo Ann Dickerson to Martin Wilcox, and Chi O Linda Metcalf to Lou Helser.

Married during Easter vacation were Chi Omega Connie Wagoner to Dave Eastlake, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Chi O Carolyn Blakely to Clifford Fuller.

Don Delany, San Jose State, recently gave his Delta Upsilon fraternity pin to Tamara Cumard, ASU Gamma Phi Beta.

Marilee Spratler, Gamma Phi, is pinned to Don Kenniger, Sigma Nu.

Chi Omega Penny Albright plans to marry Dick Steiner May 30.

Alpha Tau Omega And Sigma Nu To Start Blackfoot - Whitefoot Week

Blackfoot - Whitefoot Week, an annual event between Sigma Nu and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities on campuses throughout the country, will take place for the first time at ASU Monday through Saturday.

Beginning the week-long activities will be a Civic Help Day in Tempe Monday. The two groups will undertake projects to benefit the town. A Campus Help Day will be held Tuesday when the fraternity men will clean dormitory lawns and parking areas of paper and trash.

Wednesday afternoon, all men's halls and fraternities will be challenged by the two groups to compete in various land sports at Tempe Beach. Highlight of the day will be a donkey softball game. Horse-shoe throwing contests and swimming will be included in the events. ATOs and Sigma Nus will serenade all women's dormitories that evening.

All ASU students are invited to a barbecue Thursday at Tempe Beach. Meal tickets or 90c will admit students to the event, beginning at 5 p.m.

A Blackfoot-Whitefoot dance will be held Friday from 9 to 12 at the Riverside Ballroom, with the house band providing music for ATOs, Sigma Nus and their dates.

Closing the week for the two groups will be a water-sports day at Canyon Lake on Saturday.

FIG'S FILE

By VIC FIGARELLI

You may have noticed an article appearing in Wednesday's Phoenix Gazette which said that the Board of Regents had nixed a proposal by U of A President Richard A. Harvill to give a bowling course for credit at the Tucson school.

Too bad the Regents didn't pass the measure because it would have been interesting to see how a thing like that would be graded. I imagine a student would have to bowl an 800 series to pass. If he lofted the ball or rolled six gutter balls in one game, he would be dropped from the course.

Pinboys would probably enjoy a boom in wages, thanks to distraught bowlers who, needing 37,000 pins to fulfill grade requirements, would bribe the pinboys to "take care of that 7-10 split if it comes up while I'm bowling."

Like instructors who switch tests when they believe everybody has a copy of the old exam, wily bowling pros would call for the installation of automatic pinspotters.

Gymnasts Face Duo At Tucson

ASU's six-man gymnastics team leaves this afternoon for the University of Arizona to engage in a triangular meet tonight against the Wildcats and Long Beach State College.

Traveling with coach Norris Steverson are Chuck McMahon, Dick LeBeau, Harvey Plant, Ivan Jennings, Dave Bonham and Don Manville.

McMahon will enter 10 events, and Jennings will enter the all-round, which includes long horse, still rings, free exercise, horizontal and parallel bars. He will also enter the trampoline.

LeBeau, plagued by a shoulder injury since the start of the season, will enter still rings, rope climb and horizontal and parallel bars.

Howard, Olson Get Cage Kudos

A pair of 5'-10" guards won top honors at the Arizona State basketball banquet in the Memorial Union Wednesday night.

Paul Howard was chosen Most Valuable Player, and Ed Olson was named honorary captain for the 1958-59 season.

The Devil team started and ended the '58-'59 season badly, losing three of their first four and four of their last five. In between, however, they won 15 of 16 to finish with a 17-8 record.

The AS crew also tied for the Border Conference championship but missed an NCAA playoff berth by losing to New Mexico State.

Devils, Texans Split

The Arizona State Sun-Devil baseball team meets the San Diego Marines today at 3:30 on the campus field after splitting a two game set with Sul Ross State winning, 9-6 Wednesday and losing, 6-4 yesterday.

The Demons face the Marines again tomorrow in a twinbill, the first game starting at 1 p.m.

In Wednesday's game, the Sun Devils used a six-run fourth inning to salt away the verdict.

The Demons had taken a 2-0 first inning lead, thanks to a 2-run homer by John Jacobs, his fourth of the year, but Sul Ross came up with four unearned runs in the second to go ahead. Then came the explosive fourth frame. A single, five walks, another single and a sacrifice fly brought in the runs.

Starter Roger Kudron gave up a pair of runs to the Texans in the fifth, so ASU coach Bob Winkles lifted him in favor of Jim Sims, who slammed the door for the final four frames.

Winkles was chased from the game after too vehemently protesting a call in the seventh inning, when the Devils scored their final run. Sul Ross 040 020 000—6-9-1 ASU 200 600 10x—9-6-3 Watts, Stockton (4), Dickson (4), Hudson (7) and Martin. Kudron, Sims (6) and Slanoc. Winner-Kudron (3-2) HR-Jacobs, 1st, 1 on.

Yesterday, the free-swinging Texans battered Joe Kostyk for 10 hits and six runs in four and two-thirds innings to beat the Devils, 6-4 on the campus field.

The Lobos went to work on Kostyk in the first inning, scoring three runs on four singles, but ASU tied it in the second on a three-run circuit wallop by John Regoli.

A-State went ahead on an unearned run in the third only to have the Lobos score a pair in the top of fourth on a triple by centerfielder Leldon Hensley sandwiched between two singles. They added an unearned in the fifth frame to finish the scoring.

COLLEGE PUZZLE CONTEST

FOR STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS

2 GRAND PRIZES

Rambler "American"!
Big-car roominess...
small-car economy...
tops in performance!

WIN A RAMBLER STATION WAGON!

LIGHT UP AND LIVE IT UP! 3 great cigarettes offer you 627 chances to win! So pick your pack—save the six wrappers—and get going! It's crossword puzzle fun and real smoking pleasure all the way!

ENTER OFTEN—HAVE FUN—AND WIN! But think carefully! This puzzle is not as easy as it looks. At first the DOWN and ACROSS clues may appear simple. There may appear to be more than one "right" answer. For example, the clue might read: "Many a coed will be given her best date's P.-N." Either "I" (PIN) or "E" (PEN) would seem to fit. But only one answer is apt and logical as decided by the judging staff, and therefore correct. Read the rules carefully. ENTER AS OFTEN AS YOU WISH. Good luck!

25 SECOND PRIZES:

COLUMBIA STEREOGRAPHIC HI-FI SETS
