AS Team Wins Firsts

ASU debaters won six of eight contests in upper division sets and 22 of 24 in the lower division to take first place in the recent Arizona Colleges and Universities Debate contest.

Darla Bowers, sophomore, led ASU debaters with four first place awards in the upper division.

The debates were at Phoenix College. Schools participating included ASU, University of Arizona, Arizona State College, Phoenix College and Grand Canyon College.

Arizona State winners in upper division were first places: debate team, Darla Bowers and Mike McNulty; women's extemporaneous, Darla Bowers; general oratory, men, Arthur Davitch; general oratory, women, Darla Bowers; women's impromptu, Darla Bowers; second place: men's impromptu, Albert Flewelling; and third places: men's debate team, Albert Flewelling and Dick Steiner; impromptu, men, Dick Steiner; extemporaneous, men, Don Reilly.

Lower division ASU winners were: first places: debate, Don Reilly and Bud Bartlett; extemporaneous, women, Roberta Taylor; extemporaneous, men, Bud Bartlett. Second places: debate, women, Roberta Taylor and Edith Moores; impromptu, women, Juleen Merrill; impromptu, men, Bill McBride. Third places: debate, Les Miller and Ron Koch; general oratory, women, Edith Moores.

Students, Faculty Capture Prizes In Religious Exhibit

A faculty member, a special student, a graduate, and an undergraduate student of ASU won four of the nine prizes at the San Xavier exhibit of religious art, held at the San Xavier Parish Hall, Phoenix, last week.

In addition, fully a third of the 78 religious paintings accepted and hung for exhibit were the work of ASU students and faculty members. This event is sponsored by the Xavier Fiesta Religious Art committee, and the judges were Sister Mary Josepha and Sister Mary Paraclita of the Holy Cross, Beverly Hills, California, both well known contemporary artists and art instructors.

Louise Wolff, senior art student, won third of the nine awards with her painting, "Schelomo." Dr. Joseph Massala, a special student, scored fifth with his painting, "Within."

Mrs. Jean Hopkins of the Art department won the sixth award with her canvas, "Into the Woods my Master Went." Seventh award went to Susan Harter, ASU graduate, for a

Annual ASU Event

Aggie Day Is Tomorrow

Arizona State's agriculture students hold their yearly Aggie Day tomorrow at the ASU Farm on South Mill Ave. Highlight of the day will be the second annual "Little International" Livestock Show.

Registration for the day's activities will be from 8:30-9 a.m. at the farm. Judging competition in various phases of livestock, agronomy, horticulture, dairy and poultry will follow.

Three trophies will be awarded, one each for the top judges in livestock and agronomy, and one for high-point participant in the "agathon," a contest based on points accumulated in all competitions.

A pit barbecue lunch will be followed by a baseball game between ASU's agriculture faculty and students.

The "Little International" livestock show begins at 7:30 p.m. on the lawn in front of the dairy barn. Twenty-eight ASU students will compete.

Exhibiting in the beef department are Tom Bond, Fred Diwan, Ron Garlich, Les Kammen, Gus Keeme, Kay Kemp, Michael Mecca, Wayne Peterson, J. R. Stevens and Hank Trass.

Fitting out dairy animals are Art Hussey, Bucky Kent, Bill McDonnell, Ken Palmer, Dick Schafer, Earl Smith and Duane Webb.

King Cooper, Salty Holt, Jim Meeker, Dan Morris and Mike Tarrish are participating in the swine department. Showing sheep will be Glen Grubbs, John Hadlock, Bob Hunt, Gene Miller, Rocky Minster and Don Simpson.

Each individual is responsible for fitting out, grooming and training the animal he received in a recent drawing. Winners will be selected by the way they handle their animal in the show ring as well as the animal's appearance. The animal's conformation and natural type will not be a factor in judging.

Prizes include a cup for the top Angus showman and a belt buckle for the best Hereford exhibitor in the beef division. An outstanding showman will be selected from each of the four divisions and awarded a trophy. The four will then compete for the Grand Champion Showmanship trophy in the final event of the evening.

Alpha Gamma Rho and the agriculture faculty is sponsoring Aggie Day.

Petey Olmsted Is Named Editor; Final Edition Plans Announced

Miss Petey Olmsted will be editor-in-chief of the State Press next semester. The appointment was confirmed Monday by the Board of Publications.

Students Attend Conclave

A four-man student delegation from the ASU International Relations club is attending the 10th annual Model United Nations at the University of Southern California today through Saturday.

The Model UN, a junior replica of the United Nations, has a World Court, Security Council, General Assembly, Secretariat and committees. The eighty colleges attending each represent a country. ASU represents Ireland.

"The Model UN will feature a dynamic study program of present international tension areas such as the Tibet situation, Berlin crisis, Middle East nationalism and the African colonial problem," James R. Kirkpatrick, ASU delegation chairman, explained.

Next Wednesday four ASU professors will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the MU upper lounge to discuss and compare the Model UN's conclusions. Participating are: T. Alexander Votichenko, assistant professor of Philosophy; Wallace Adams, assistant professor of History; Thomas R. Herrick, assistant professor of Political Science, and Dr. Guilford Dudley, assistant professor of History.

The public is invited.

ate editor, will be sports editor.

Julie Patton will leave her assignment editor post to be organizations editor.

Kay Kelm will retain her position as copy editor, where she will be joined by Gordon Peterson, now an associate editor.

New assignment editors will be Jack Ong, now a contributing editor, and Sharon Corn, now an associate editor.

Mike Peplow will assume the new position of feature editor.

Miss Olmsted will be a senior next semester. She and her new staff will publish the May 11 and 13 issues of the State Press, and the old and new staffs will jointly publish the final edition of the semester May 22. This will be a 24-page issue, the largest State Press ever published, and will include awards presented at the honors assembly, a list of graduating seniors, and a special 8-page section summarizing the highlights of the last four years, according to Rochelle Mackey, editor-in-chief.

ASU Students Present Recital Tomorrow Night

ASU student Terry Sheller will present a senior violin recital tomorrow night at 8:15 in the browsing room of Matthews Library.

Accompanist will be Rita Chatwin, and Renee Vanasee will play piano solos.

The program includes "Sonata No. 11," Mozart; "Sonata No. 1," Edvard Grieg; "Andantino," David Murdock; "Blue Lagoon," Felix Winteritz; and "Polish Dance," Edmund Severn.

The recital is open to the public.

Bergendoff To Give Talk In MU Today

"What Do You Think?" will be asked by Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, outstanding Lutheran leader, at 10:40 a.m. today in 218 A, Memorial Union.

Dr. Bergendoff is president of Augustana College, Ill., and the American Association of Theological Schools.

He gave the Dupleian Lectures at Harvard in 1948, and the Hoover Lectures on Church Unity at the University of Chicago in 1953. Dr. Bergendoff also served as visiting professor at German universities under the Religious Affairs Division of the U. S. Military Government in Germany in 1949.

Any faculty member having a class at the hour of Dr. Bergendoff's speech may take the class to the assembly in lieu of regular class session, according to the Reverend Charles C. Crouch, ASU Coordinator of Religious Activities.

Dr. Bergendoff's talk is sponsored by the Student Religious Council and the Danforth Lecture and Counselling Service.

CAMP TONTOZOA . . . in Payson was the scene of this informal workshop meeting of ASU student leaders last weekend. Approximately 90 students attended the conclave.

Korean veterans are given full subsistence allowance for a five-or-six-hour registration in summer school course, V. V. Beltz, veterans advisor announced.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING —

Fun For The Kiddies!

Several weeks ago the editorial staff of the State Press was approached by two students seeking advanced and separate press notices about a "Faculty Egg Toss" which is scheduled in Greek Week festivities. It is supposed to induce faculty participation in the annual Hellenic holiday.

We're all for plans to include faculty in student activities. We highly endorse events such as student-faculty coffee hours, student-faculty family nights, and so on. We highly endorse friendliness between students and faculty. An attitude of this kind is a good, healthy thing.

But a faculty egg toss?

It has been our impression that the faculty strives, even on such an informal campus as this, to maintain a portion of the dignity which they earned along with their various degrees. But how long will the faculty maintain individual and collective dignity if the student body is unwilling to respect it? How long will Arizona State University maintain its position as a leading Southwestern university if its faculty is out tossing eggs and its students are on the sidelines cheering them?

There are a number of ways in which students and faculty could play together as well as learn and work together, if only the committees in charge would investigate the myriad of possibilities.

Faculty-student bridge games, tennis and golf matches, chess, choruses, bowling, theatrical productions, even dances — yes!

But a faculty egg toss — no!

Imagine Dr. Gammage showing up at a meeting of the Board of Regents, saying, "Sorry we're late, Governor, but Dr. Richardson and I had to throw a few eggs at each other. One has to amuse the students, you know."

"Now, could you look just a little less . . . ah . . . dynamic?"

By ROCHELLE MACKAY

Last Friday the State Press carried a letter from Virginia K. Anderson. It was one of the best considered and most provocative we have received this year.

In it she asked pertinent questions and made some excellent suggestions in regard to the State Press. I take this opportunity to thank her.

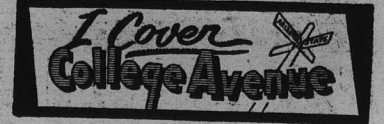

In reply I must first straighten out one point. Miss Anderson calls herself a "stockholder" in the State Press by virtue of the fact she is one of the "students who have put up the money for its publication." This is not quite true. The State Press is owned by Arizona State University, not by the Associated Students of ASU. Thus, Miss Anderson and the rest of us who have paid activity fees are subscribers rather than stockholders.

The administration of the university has assigned to the Associated Students the privilege of budgeting the funds which support the State Press. It is this fact which creates the impression the paper is owned by ASASU. And this fact explains much of the occasion for criticism of the State Press as a newspaper.

We agree heartily with Miss Anderson's suggestions for improving the State Press. Anyone who has the responsibility of editing any department of the paper is all too conscious of the State Press' many shortcomings. I feel Miss Anderson and every other member of the campus community should understand the differences between the way the State Press is operated and the way a professional newspaper is run.

Let me emphasize here that I mean to imply no criticism of the system, nor do I mean to excuse the State Press for its faults. I mean only to report the facts objectively. How I personally feel about the situation is not the point.

The State Press budget for the following academic year is set each spring by the Board of Financial Control, an organ of ASASU. It is predicated on two things: a sum of money representing the State Press'

"All's well that ends well" holds true, according to some "satisfied customers" who attended the Military Ball Saturday evening.

"The place was packed and the music was great," agreed these people, despite the problems that confronted the ROTC cadets in obtaining a band. After planning on Russ Morgan, Hal McEntyre, and Tony Pastor, respectively, the Military Ball sponsors ended up (due to last-minute complications) with a fourth group of musicians — which filled the engagement very pleasingly.

And so another ASU tradition becomes a happy memory until next year. Other happy memories come from the Blue Key Carnival, The Memorial Union birthday party, the Fine Arts Festival — and on and on. We have a fine slate of traditions.

Fortunately, we're not adverse to change either, no matter how firmly entrenched a tradition has become. Change for the better is one of the most important results of the recent Payson student leaders' workshop.

Evaluation there of present campus activities is leading to recommendation for some pretty interesting "renovations" and innovations, according to some people who were at the workshop. For instance, Homecoming Week traditions may be altered considerably. But more of that in a future issue, when their reports are available for publication.

Notice to Spanish-speaking students: Tuesday in Old Main, room 118, at 4:15 p.m., Dr. Mary J. Escudero will have some good news for those of you who would like to earn $5 an hour conversing in Spanish. Valley elementary schools have expressed a need for about 70 such students to teach the language part time. If you're interested, attend the meeting or see Dr. Escudero in her office on the third floor of Old Main.

Judging from past performances and folks who've seen sneak previews this year, the Delta Sig Follies will be a good bet tomorrow Friday, and Saturday evenings, if you're in need of a hilarious time, and who isn't about now? (See story on page 3.)

To The Editor

I wish to extend heartiest congratulations to the Air Force and Army ROTC groups for the successful Military Ball they staged last Saturday night.

I went, feeling apprehensive because of the switches in the band. I don't know which band finally played, but it was good. I think everyone who went will agree with me on that.

Though everyone seemed to have fun, there were no disturbances or troubles that I could see. Everything went smoothly and efficiently. The gymnasium was filled to near capacity, yet there seemed to be enough room for everyone to dance fairly comfortably.

Again I congratulate the military groups on a truly fine dance.

Artistry and Rhythm will be displayed by Bill Druke and Dick Thomas to the tune of "Me and My Shadow".

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (Marlboro, incidentally, has the best tinfoil, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and put them together with the best tobaccos and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treachery sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Crayon de Mon Oncle ("The Kneecap"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meyer reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherette bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrimps and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutzi-San (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he whimsically turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

How To Choose A Good Agent

The personal relationship is important. Your agent should be chosen as carefully as you would choose any other adviser on an important personal matter. The best agents are not salesmen of insurance so much as they are planners of the future for you and your family.

Tracksters Clip Pendleton, Come In Second At Abilene

By BOB LAIRSON

The Arizona State track and field team leaves for Des Moines, Iowa, tomorrow morning to compete in the Drake Relays, one of the biggest intercollegiate relays in the country.

The Devils closed out their home dual-meet schedule last Thursday in commendable fashion, downing the Camp Pendleton Marines 82-42 in Goodwin Stadium. In their most recent performance, the Demons placed second in a quadrangular meet at Abilene, Texas, last Saturday, though they placed first in eight of the fifteen events on the agenda.

Best performances in the Camp Pendleton victory came from Alex Henderson in the mile, Tom Whetstine in the high jump, Jesse Bradford in the 100, Herb Montoya in the javelin and Carol Lindroos in the discus.

Henderson was clocked in 4:08.2, his best 1959 performance in the mile run. Whetstine cleared 6'4 1/2" in the high jump, also one of his best marks this season.

Jesse Bradford turned in another of his consistent 9.7

sprints in the century and won the 220-yard low hurdles to emerge high-point man in the meet with 10 points to his credit.

Herb Montoya continued his undefeated streak in the javelin with a 224'3" toss. Lindroos, third-ranked nationally in the discus, heaved the platter 171' 10" to win.

At Abilene Saturday the Devils grabbed 8 of the 15 first places but compiled only 57 1/2 points to place second behind host Abilene Christian with 73 points. North Texas State scored 16 1/2 and Texas Tech 11 to place third and fourth, respectively.

Mal Spence blazed to a 47.3 440-yard dash victory. But he was aided by a breeze, and it unlikely that the time will be recognized as a new ASU record. Jesse Bradford also took advantage of the wind to sprint his 100-yard specialty in 9.5, but this was only good for third place. The event was won by Abilene's Bill Woodhouse in 9.1. Although Woodhouse's clocking surpasses the world record, it will not be recognized because of the wind.

Other ASU winners in the quadrangular were: Alex Henderson, victor in the mile and two-mile; Joe Rose in the pole vault; Carol Lindroos in the discus; Herb Montoya in the javelin; Mel Spence in the 880 and Jerry Robertson in the high jump.

DETERMINED . . . Dick Fischl, ASU's top hurdler, clears one of the high hurdles enroute to his 14.9 victory Thursday night in Arizona State's 82-42 triumph over Camp Pendleton.

Linksters Lose Trio

By RON CONTRERAS

Arizona State's traveling golf team lost three meets in a row against Fresno State, UCLA and USC last week on the West Coast. The Devils now have a 10-4 record. Fresno beat the Devils Thursday, 16-11, UCLA won by a large margin, 11-1, Friday, and USC defeated the Demons, 14-9, Saturday.

Duff Lawrence, ASU's first man, shot a rare hole-in-one against USC on the second hole. The distance was 140 yards. He ended up with 74. Al Geiberger of USC shot par 72 and was low medalist.

Fresno State recently won the Northern Collegiate Tournament during Easter vacation. FSC's Ray Echols shot a 67, five under par, for low medalist honors Thursday. ASU's Lawrence, Don Boaz, Dave Klein and Rex Wilsen shot par 72's.

Jim Elling of UCLA shot a 73 Friday for low medalist honors. Lawrence was low man for ASU with 74. Wilsen and Boaz shot 78's, and Klein 79.

Lawrence's hole-in-one Saturday was the highlight of the USC meet. Wilsen shot 75, Klein 78 and Boaz 79.

Coach Fanny Markham's linksmen hosted Luke AFB yesterday at Paradise Country Club and will tee off tomorrow against Williams and Luke AFB at Mesa Country Club.

ASU Gymnasts Take Wildcats

Arizona State's gymnastics team defeated the U of A team, 86 1/2-57 1/2, last Friday in a dual meet at Tucson. Long Beach State college from California was to have competed in the meet but failed to appear on time due to a mix-up in scheduling.

ASU's Chuck McMahon scored 25 1/2 points to be high-point man. He was followed by teammate Harvey Plant with 21. Dick Le Beau scored 19 points. Dave Bonham had 10 and Ivan Jennings 8. Tommy McCarty, competing in his first meet, scored 3 points.

Sam Holland was high-point man for the U of A with 14.

Plant won three events: trampoline, tumbling and free exercise. He placed third in side horse. McMahon won flying rings, placed second in trampoline, side horse and tumbling and tied for second in still rings. He was third in free exercise and fifth in parallel bars.

Le Beau won still rings and parallel bars, was second in horizontal bar and placed third in rope climb.

Eleven members of the Border Conference champion Sun Devil track team are listed in the top ten in each of their respective events in the latest edition of the NCAA track and field statistics guide.

Headed by distance star Alex Henderson, who is named first and second in two different events and will be listed second in another in the next issue of the stats, the Devil spikers should show well in the national meets next month.

Henderson is ranked first in the mile with his 4:08.2 time and is second in the 2-mile at 9:07.8, three tenths of a second behind Miles Eisenman of Oklahoma.

The new school record of 1:51.5 in the 880, set by Henderson two weeks ago in the ASC Flagstaff-Phoenix College meet, had not been recognized by the NCAA at the time of publication. The top 880 time in the nation is 1:51.0 by Jerry Siebert of California.

The Sun Devil distance medley relay team, listed first with its top time of 9:55.5, was knocked into second place this week when a Penn State foursome was clocked at 9:51.5. Composed of Mal and Mel Spence, Jim McGowan and Henderson, the Devil team will have a chance to regain the number one position this week at the Drake Relays.

Carol Lindroos is listed third in the discus with his toss of 172'0", only 7 inches behind leading Jay Sylvester of Utah State.

The ASU pole vaulting duo of Joe Rose and Don Jeisy are currently in a third place tie at 14'6 1/2", slightly below UCLA's George Roubanis' 14'7". Jim Graham of Oklahoma State leads with 14'11 3/4".

Herb Montoya is ranked fifth among the nation's javelin throwers with his best throw of 227'9 1/2". Bill Alley of Kansas recently set a new NCAA mark in the javelin, tossing the spear 270'1 1/2".

High jumper Tom Whetstone is in a tie for sixth place with Errol Williams of San Jose State with 6'6 3/4". Whetstone's best jump of 6'10" last year would be the best in the nation this year, since Southern Cal's Charlie Dumas is first with a leap of 6'9 1/4".

Two Sun Devil runners besides Henderson have marks not recorded in the stat guide. Mal Spence ran the 440 in 47.3 in Abilene last week, good for a sixth place rating; and sprinter Jesse Bradford's 9.6 century mark would include him in a seven-way tie for second place. Billy Cannon of LSU, outstanding collegiate running back on the gridiron last season, is on top of the sprinting heap with a 9.5 time.

Devils Take 2 Of 3 From Marines

The Sun Devils swept both ends of Saturday's doubleheader to win a three-game series with the San Diego Marines after dropping Friday's opener.

In the Friday game, plenty of Sun Devil batters were stranded on base. The Marines won, 6-2.

A pair of two-run homers by San Diego didn't help the home cause, and a fifth inning solo blast by John Jacobs was not much compensation.

A brilliant pitchers' duel and slugfest featured Saturday's twin bill, the Devils winning both games, 1-0 and 17-9.

Jim Sims pitched three-hit ball, backed by excellent fielding, as he blanked the Marines, 1-0, in eight innings. The first game of a doubleheader, the contest was slated for seven innings.

The Sun Devils broke the scoreless deadlock in the bottom of the eighth when, with two out, Ev Cope walked, took third when Regoli reached second on an error and scored on Benny Ruiz's timely, slumping single to left.

In the nightcap, the Sun Devils unleashed an 18-hit attack and came up with an 11-run seventh inning to tan the Leathernecks, 17-9.

It was anybody's game until the seventh inning. The score was tied, 6-6. ASU was up with two out. Regoli broke the tie with his third home run of the season. This was followed by six singles, a double, two walks and a hit batsman, good for ten more tallies.

Regoli, Jacobs and Benny Ruiz each had a field day with four hits apiece. Jacobs and Fran Urban knocked in three runs each.
