Business Ethics Discussed

By GEORGE KING

J. C. Penney, founder of one of America's most successful chainstore organizations, spoke here yesterday on "Ethics in American Business".

Looking spry and alert, despite his 84 years, Mr. Penney commented on what he termed, "Christian principals in business."

"There is no hard, fast line between business and ethics . . . We often never show the honesty in business that we profess in our daily lives," Mr. Penney continued, pointing out that business ethics may be likened to the quotation, "Render unto Caesar what is Caesar's and unto God what is God's."

On success in business or any other endeavor Mr. Penney said, "Success is essentially a matter of the spirit . . . People that do more than the required amount but not more than their conscience tells them are on their way to success."

Mr. Penney gave six principles for business success including: preparedness, hard work, honesty, confidence in employees or associates, appealing to the spirit of the individual and practical application of the "Golden Rule."

"Imagine how simple life would be if everybody lived by the "Golden Rule," the tireless executive stated. He referred to the "Golden Rule," Penney stores' "profit sharing" plan and similar plans of other organizations as the major deterrents to the "public-b damned" businessman so prominent today.

Mr. Penney experienced many ordeals and trying circumstances during his early business years. He said these were overcome by seeking and employing God's help. "Church membership is not enough . . . Christian thoughts and ideals have to be practiced in everyday affairs."

In closing Mr. Penney said, "God bless you young people—each and every one," a statement befitting such a man.

J. C. Penney's address was sponsored by Pi Sigma Epsilon, sales-sales management fraternity at ASU and Delta Sigma Pi, business honorary.

Clubs, professional interest groups, religious organizations, fraternities, and sororities must make page reservations for the 1960 Sahuaro on or before March 11 in the office of the ASASU Financial Manager, Room 207, in the Memorial Union.

Sabbatical Leaves Bill Referred To Committee

A bill to abolish state employee sabbatical leaves was introduced in the State Senate Feb. 11 by the Revenue and Finance committee.

If passed, the bill would affect faculty members of ASU and other Arizona institutions of higher learning.

It proposes to abolish sabbatical leaves, with or without salary.

These leaves are earned after seven consecutive years of teaching in one school.

On Feb. 14 the bill was referred to Judiciary, Administrative, State Institutions, and Finance and Revenue Senate committees. No further action has been reported.

Convocation Initiates D-J

"The Remembrance of Things Past," will dominate the spirit of ASU's Founders Day celebration, Saturday, as the university begins its year-long Diamond Jubilee observance.

The Founders Day program will begin with a convocation in the MU Ballroom at 2 p.m. at which Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the hydrogen bomb," will deliver the opening address.

Dr. Teller will dedicate the Life Sciences Building and Physical Science Center during a public dedication ceremony at 3:15 p.m. Both buildings will be open for inspection following the dedicatory services.

Concluding the afternoon activities will be a reception at 3:30 p.m. on the lawn of the President's home in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Teller sponsored by the Student-Faculty committee.

"Diamonds of Distinction" awards will be given by the university during an invitational Founders Day Banquet at 7 p.m. The banquet will also feature a slide presentation entitled "The First 75 Years in Pictures," showing the growth and development of ASU over the past 75 years.

A Founders Day dance, sponsored by ASASU, is scheduled at 9:30 p.m. in the men's gymnasium. Bob Roth's octet will provide music for the event, which is open to students, faculty, staff, alumni, honored guests and friends of the university.

Entertainment during the intermission will include a second showing of the slides depicting the history of ASU, according to John Summers, chairman of the dance.

Students Cast Spring Ballot By Machine

Electric voting machines will be used in primary and general campus elections, March 30 and April 6, according to Barbara Defer, ASASU secretary.

Thirty petitions for student body officers and forty-four for Senate seats have so far been picked up, Miss Defer said. Petitions must be in the ASASU secretary's office before 4 p.m., March 16.

John Marshall, a junior in Applied Arts, has filed a petition for AMS president. He is a resident of Arizona and attended Phoenix West High School. He is presently a student senator; in Pershing Rifles, a military honorary; and is chairman of Greek Week.

Gerald Hicks, a sophomore in College of Education, has filed petition for that Senate seat. He came to ASU from Illinois.

ROTC Study Committee Plans Student Survey

The ROTC study committee has prepared a questionnaire to determine student opinion regarding compulsory ROTC.

The questionnaire, according to Dr. L. M. Myers, committee chairman, was submitted to the Psychology department for suggestions to insure objectivity. All of these suggestions were followed, he said.

The questionnaire will be circulated in selected classes, to get a representative sample of the student body according to class, major, and other factors.

A similar questionnaire, with a few additional questions, has been prepared for advanced ROTC cadets.

One of the basic problems facing the committee is what effect changes in the ROTC programs would have on the compulsory aspect, Dr. Myers said.

Both the Army and Air Force have recently announced changes in their ROTC programs.

The Army's new program, to go into effect next fall, would substitute more tactics for the present crew-served weapons training, in the basic corps.

The new Air Force program, which will be optional to the school, would allow a cadet to elect from certain civilian courses during his first and fourth semesters, instead of the present ROTC classroom instruction.

Both new programs would result in one hour of leadership laboratory (drill) per week, instead of the present two hours, Dr. Myers stated.

The new programs are " . . . not entirely compatible," Dr. Myers said. "We hope some of these differences can be ironed out. However, both new programs are improvements over the present ones," he added.

Board Finds 'Right Time'

Have the campus clocks gone cuckoo?

No, reports the newly formed Education board after considering the problem.

Disparity between clocks was so great that it was hard to find two clocks on campus that agreed. The Board talked with John R. Ellingson, director of the ASU Physical Plant, and found that all clocks do agree at 6 p.m. and at 6 a.m., when they are automatically corrected by a master IBM clock.

But between times, the machinery and electrical systems in various buildings throw the clocks out of kilter.

When the new buildings are completed, Mr. Ellingson assured the board, the master clock will control and correct all ASU clocks when necessary, all hours of the day.

Until then, however, clocks must be corrected by individual calls to the Maintenance department.

Eight Hundred Students See Bach Aria Tour Group In MU

Over eight hundred persons packed the MU ballroom Monday night to see and hear the Bach Aria group.

Eileen Farrell, soprano, Jan Peerce, tenor, Carol Smith, alto, and Norman Farrow, bass-baritone composed the vocal portion.

Instrumentalists included Julius Baker, flute, Robert Bloom, oboe, Bernard Greenhouse, cello, Paul Ulanowsky, piano, and Maurice Wilk, violin. William H. Scheide, who directed, is considered one of the foremost authorities on Johann Sebastian Bach.

The group sings selections from the many Bach cantatas. The only organization of its kind in the United States, it was organized by Scheide to revive a gap for both vocal and instrumental artists which had existed for the past 150 years.

The Bach Aria group presents three concerts in New York's Town Hall and tours one month of the year. The rest of the year they fulfill individual musical commitments.

In Phoenix the group stayed at a local hotel so crowded they had to double-up. "Something we almost never do," commented Robert Bloom.

Next tour stop is Austin, Tex., where a different program will be arranged. Miss Farrell will fly to New York, but will rejoin the group in Beaumont, Tex., the next stop.

The concert was sponsored by the Lyceum Concert and Lecture series. A reception followed sponsored by Cultural Affairs board.

'Six Impossible Things Before Breakfast' Slated

Rehearsals are in full swing for "Six Impossible Things Before Breakfast," an original play by F. R. Byers, director of Drama Workshop.

Prof. Byers has selected Roleen Susselman and Ruth Beushausen as first and second leads. He will direct the play. This will be the Drama Department's contribution to the Arts and Music Festival during the last week of March.

The play opens on the 100th birthday of the Marchioness, played by Miss Susselman. Jokingly, she promises her granddaughter, Miss Beushausen, "six impossible things before breakfast." From this point, the plot thickens.

The play will open Tuesday, Mar. 29, at Payne auditorium and will run through Saturday.

31 MILBA Queen Candidates From Army, Air Force Vie

Thirty-one coeds are primping to try to become this year's Military Ball Queen, but only one will be chosen.

Twenty-one girls from the Angel Flight, AFROTC honorary, and eleven girls from Kayettes, Army ROTC honorary, are candidates for this year's Military Queen. They will be voted upon by their respective corps in preliminary elections. Four candidates from each branch will be chosen from the preliminary elections.

The preliminary voting for the AFROTC candidates will be at 7:30 a.m., March 15 in Cosner Auditorium. Army ROTC cadets will vote for their favorites in Cosner Auditorium at 7:30 a.m., on March 17. After cadets have voted and selected their favorite eight candidates, a final selection will be held in the MU ballroom at 2:30 p.m., March 22.

Judges of the eight girls will be Tom Sherlock, president of the Phoenix Men's Press Club; Don Tuckwood, program director of KTVK-TV; Mrs. Moyca Manoel, editor of "Point West"; and Jack Curtic, Arizona Republic columnist.

They will place the name of their selection in an envelope, to remain sealed until the Ball, March 25.

Candidates from the Kayettes for the Milba Queen are Fran Breslin, Cynthia Patton, Velva Richey, Diane Rose, Jessica Thomas, Linda Rankin, Sue Musfelt, Jerri Smith, Linda Edgar, Marie Burnham and Beth Beirlein.

Angel Flight candidates include Pat Sullivan, Dee Davis, Rita Finn, Carol Truman, Linda Peterson, Liz Ivanovich, Carolyn Burns, Sandra Barnhill, Linda Bradley, Barbara Bulla, Lorri Franco, Diane Huber, Marjie Jaeger, Pat Longacre, Gloria Mudersbach, Jacqueline O'Hern, Noel Owens, Linda Purlia, Linda Stanecker, Sharon Soule and Vicki Therfeld.

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood is asked

Why Are Today's Students More Serious, Dedicated, Industrious?

Dear Dr. Frood: In your day, college students were all rah-rah and raccoon coats. Today's student is more responsible, more dedicated, more industrious. What accounts for this big change?
Studious

Dear Stu: Today's world is more complex, more challenging. Ideologies clash. Our planet grows smaller. The cold war strikes fear into our hearts. There is a shortage of raccoons.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am disgusted with my classmates. All they think about is women and parties. How can I get them to talk about important things?
Serious

Dear Serious: Throw a large party. Invite plenty of women. Then, around midnight, say something important, like "We're out of beer."

Dear Dr. Frood: Modern girls go to college for four years. Then they get married and don't even know how to change diapers. What is this leading to?
Old-Fashioned

Dear Old-Fashioned: Self-sufficient babies

Dear Dr. Frood: Why doesn't everybody smoke Lucky Strike?
Lucky Smoker

Dear Lucky: Why doesn't everybody get straight "A's"?

Dear Dr. Frood: Grandfather's will provided a rather handsome allowance on the stipulation that I showed "the courage and strength of character" to stay in college. Frankly, however, I am tired of college. I have been here 40 years. Is there any way I can quit and still collect?
Senior

Dear Senior: Your question brings up a considerable number of legal problems, with interesting technical ramifications. Having given the matter much thought, I have this suggestion: enter Law School.

Dear Dr. Frood: Here are two portraits of Beethoven. One was done by an old master. The other by a student. Which is the masterpiece?
Art Lover

Dear Art: The one on the left is the master's work. The stroke is deft, clean, authoritative. Every detail is authentic Beethoven, even the gesture of keeping his composing hand warm.

Dear Dr. Frood: Has college ever really helped anyone in business?
Practical

Dear Practical: Of course. Think how college has helped the people who make pennants, footballs, fraternity pins.

Beecher's Book Gets Recognition

John L. Beecher, ASU English lecturer, received word his book, "Morning Star Quarto, No. 3" has been selected to be part of the annual Best Western Books traveling exhibition.

The Rounce and Coffin Club of Los Angeles, an organization dedicated to furthering fine printing, has sponsored the annual competition for 19 years. This is the first time an Arizona publication has won a place in the show.

The book of contemporary poetry by American and foreign poets was edited, designed, and published by Mr. Beecher. Block illustrations were created by Mrs. Beecher.

Besides Beecher's poetry, "Morning Star Quarto, No. 3" contains works by Alden A. Nowlan, Canada; J. Phoenix, well known British poet; Leslie Woolf Hedley, a San Francisco poet, and others. The book is hard-bound and sells for $1.

Mr. Beecher is a poet, essayist, reporter, novelist, and publisher. He and his wife Barbara operate the Rampart Press in Scottsdale's Craft Village, 500 N. Miller Rd.

The Rampart Press is a Coult's Armory Press, an old American press often sought by fine printers, according to Mr. Beecher.

Mr. Beecher says his enthusiasm for fine printing ties in very closely with his work as a teacher of literature. "The creation and communication of poetry helps a person to have an insight, and the best teacher of art is the one who creates art," he said.

Editorially Speaking

Spring Fever

Spring is sprung!

Green buds grace the trees. Heavy clothing is shed in favor of lighter garments. Sunshine warms and tans us Day lengthens and twilight comes later.

Breezes, warmer each day, herald Spring. The earth is waking up.

That's outside.

Inside campus buildings, things take a different turn. Sun streams through venetian blinds. Warm breezes drift into classrooms and offices, and settle there. Students' heads droop and drowsiness pervades the atmosphere. Spring fever has long been blamed for this academic lethargy.

We wonder if it couldn't be partly cured by turning on the cooling system?

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WELL, I GIVE UP TRYING TO DO ANYTHING WITH MY HAIR UNTIL ED GETS RID OF THAT SPORTS CAR."

By GORDON PETERSON

The heavy library doors swung shut behind Jipson Jur as he staggered under the weight of dozens of textbooks, encyclopedias and dictionaries.

"Hi, Jip," a voice sounded from under a tree. Jipson swung around to see his old friend, Garrald, book in hand, happily eating an apple in the shade.

"What's up, Jip?"

"Oh, usual bit, Gar. Just got my books to study for mid-semester. Dang, I get tired of this routine."

"How do you mean, routine?" Garrald yawned.

"Oh, this bit of taking all these books out twice a semester. Geez, study for midsems, study for finals, midsems, finals, ad infinitum."

"Man, you don't know what you're doing. I never go through all that. Shoot, all you have to do is study a little bit all the time — then you don't have to go through all this."

"I make better grades than you do," Jipson snapped back.

"But you don't learn as much," Garrald snarled. "I've been studying right along, ever since I first came to Short Creek Junction Junior College, and I've learned a lot."

"Yeah, you've learned — but I'll graduate before you do. You've got to play ball if you want to get anywhere in this institution. Shoot, all the profs care about is grades. They give tests twice a year — what you do on them is what counts."

"You've got it all wrong, man," Garrald replied sympathetically. "Learning is the thing — not just grades."

"So, if learning is so all-fired important, why don't they grade on that, instead of just giving A's to the guys who can cram the hardest, do the best on the test, and forget it all fast enough to start in for the next text?"

"Oh, I dunno, Jip. Maybe the profs think its better that way. Or, maybe they just don't want to grade tests any oftener."

"Well, gee, Gar, if they don't like to grade tests, why don't they just do away with them all together?"

"Well, heck, I don't know. I guess they have to have something to grade you on."

"Why?"

"Darn it, I don't know. It's just the way our setup is. I mean, you don't have to just work for grades. You can just work for learning. Look, Jip, grades aren't that important."

"Yeah, well, they are if you want to stay in school long enough to graduate. Oh well, I've got to get going. Gotta study — tests tomorrow."

"Yeah. See you around, Jip— And, hey, don't worry about it."

"Yeah. Well, maybe someday they'll work it out so you can get an education and a diploma at the same time . . . S'long."

Gar lazily flipped a page in his book as he watched his friend walk away, staggering under the weight of dozens of textbooks, encyclopedias and dictionaries. Slowly, he took another bite of his apple.

LETTERS to the Editor

Congratulations

To the Editor:

My heartiest congratulations to the newly elected officers of the Off-Campus Men's organization.

Many hours of hard work were contributed by students who believed in the usefulness of the organization.

Special acknowledgment should go to the incumbent O. C.M. Senator Tod Walker. Without his inspirational leadership, this organization would have ceased to exist.

On behalf of the outgoing officers, I wish the new officers a successful and prosperous tenure of office.

Sincerely,
 Theodore J. Zambos
 Outgoing president.

Only 13

To the Editor:

At the vesper service today, which was held in connection with Spiritual Exploration Week, there were thirteen people present.

Perhaps this small attendance was due to the fact (?) that all but thirteen students on campus were attending classes at 4 p.m. Or could it have been due to the fact that students possess an apathy toward all things "religious"?

"Curious"

Thanks

To the Editor:

As basketball season closes, I want to say a big "thanks" to Al, Paul, Gary, Troy, Tom (seniors whom we'll really miss), Ollie, Larry, Bill and Mike; also to coach Wulk, the other coaches and the manager — all for a great basketball season.

Because of the hard work and time that they contributed to basketball, and the loyalty and sportsmanship they have shown, ASU can be very proud!

Incongruous?

To the Editor:

Saturday, March 12, the close of Spiritual Exploration Week, our university bestows its high honor, Diamonds of Distinction, to the "father of the hydrogen bomb." In light of the professed purposes of this school to provide " . . . all who pass through its doors to become better citizens of the state, the nation, and the world, through increased competence, improved moral and ethical standards, and expanded cultural horizons," it seems ironic to bestow this honor on the father of man's potential annihilation.

James Richard Kirkpatrick

Sufferin' Cats

To the Editor:

It was my recent pleasure to attend the Bach Aria group concert on Monday night. That is, it was a pleasure to be able to hear such a fine group of musicians.

However, not so pleasant were the surroundings. A more than capacity crowd was packed into what passes for our "auditorium" — the MU ballroom. The only air that stirred among this crowd was that stirred by the performers. Consequently, midway through the performance, many left a fine show merely because they couldn't breathe.

I was under the impression that the buildings on this campus were air conditioned. Woudn't it be nice if it were used whenever the weather became warm?

At least a blower would help.

Phi Sigma Kappas Rise To Wet, Rude Awakening

Phi Sigma Kappa actives got a "cold treatment" from their pledges recently when the pledges sounded off with trumpets, whistles and noise makers at 4:30 a.m.

Surprised actives rushed from their rooms to see what was the matter; and were greeted with buckets of iced water.

Art Viles and Bob Smith locked their door, but pledges altered the situation with a pass key. Viles sat up groggily in his bed and was rudely awakened by two buckets full of wet coldness.

Smith was caught hiding under a desk and received three buckets.

Phi Sig actives are reportedly planning revenge.

"Some Sums: A Look at Infinite Series," will be discussed by Dr. Lloyd Lowenstein at tonight's Math Club meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Physical Sciences Building, room 100.

Association Purchases Arena

Students interested in any phase of horsemanship have a chance now to be affiliated with a group that is directed to the likes of those who merely enjoy horses . . . to those who make a hobby of roping cattle.

Members of the Sun Devil Rodeo Association have leased 40 acres on Baseline Rd. and 56th St. Each weekend, they work on the roping arena; completion will be in three weeks.

The arena will have a two-fold purpose; students will practice in it, and it will be a rodeo site. For practicing, the Association will purchase roping cattle and bucking stock.

On a hill, surrounded by the 40 acres, is a two-bedroom house that will provide storage and lounging space. Also there will be a western recreation area.

Approximately 100 persons have joined the Rodeo Association, which meets every first and third Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in room 202 of the Agriculture building.

"Horsemanship Goes Forward" will be shown tomorrow night at the meeting. It

BARNE STORMING

By DAVE BARNES SPORTS EDITOR

What could be more pleasant than sitting behind a large desk in your own private office? And, having a good-looking secretary to do your work.

This description has been offered several times, concerning the officers of ASASU.

Investigation of such comments would surely prove differently. But, this column cannot be devoted to politics.

We can however, talk about politicians.

ASASU President, Tom Hulen, is often viewed with pipe smoke curling lazily over his relaxed and slightly overweight figure as his feet are propped upon his desk.

Few people know that our president was once a terror on the Phoenix Union High gridiron, a smashing lineman for the Phoenix College Bears and a standout footballer on the frosh team of USC.

First vice-president Max Richards, is known to ASU as a tall, lanky politician with a "golden tongue," and mastery of Webster's latest edition. Three varsity football letters were awarded Max at Globe High School.

Between meetings, just recently, Richards stepped down to the MU bowling lanes, loosened his tie, rolled a 206 game, straightened his clothes and returned to another meeting.

And the short, well-dressed activities vice-president of ASU, Tommy Meredith, has among his wardrobe an ASU letterman's jacket. This was awarded to Meredith for his past performances on the Sun Devil wrestling team.

Can't help but worry what might happen to a revolutionist who someday might storm into the ASASU offices for a political showdown.

Demons-Pepperdine Tangle In Double Header Thursday

ASU Season Opens At 1:30

By TONY BOND

ASU and Pepperdine tomorrow will meet head on in a double header baseball game to open the season for the Sun Devils. The first game starts at 1:30 p.m.

The team as a whole looks better than last year although it is this reporter's opinion that we are weak in hitting. We should be able to at least split the double header with Pepperdine even though they are considered by many to be a good strong team.

The starting line-up for ASU's first game of the season in batting order is; Ed Littleton, cf., John Regoli, lb., Roger Tomlinson, ss., Gary Linthicum, c., Bob Lefebre, lf., Dick Sanders, rf., John Jacobs, lb., Mario Ramirez, 2b., and John Miller first game starting pitcher. This is John's first varsity start of his ASU baseball career. Another first timer, Mike Tatum, a sophomore, is second game starter. Roger Barnson will be held in reserve by Coach Winkles for relief work in both games.

Coach Winkles feels that Tomlinson and Linthicum have looked the best so far this season and probably have the potential for standout ability.

The Pepperdine Waves come to town boasting four straight wins to date.

Wins over Redlands University, Whittier College and two triumphs over Long Beach State have kept their collegiate record unblemished.

It is reported that the strong Pepperdine club has also tucked victories under their belt in unofficial games with several professional clubs training in the coastal area.

Basketball Season Best Posted Yet

By BOB EGER

Arizona State University's cagers climaxed the most successful basketball season in the school's modern history by topping the University of Arizona 76-71 in Sun Devil Gym Saturday.

The win set the Devils' final season mark at 16-7 and gave them a 7-3 conference record, good enough for second place in the Border loop. It was the sixth straight win for the Demons over the Wildcats in the last three years.

Five ASU seniors saw action for the final time, three of them scoring in the double figures. Troy Neal, in his first varsity starting assignment, topped senior scorers with 13 points. Paul Howard and Tom Hughes each netted ten markers and Al Nealey scored nine. Gary Norton rounded out senior scoring with two points.

Big Ollie Payne, ASU's surprising sophomore, showed promise of things to come as he topped Demon scorers with 16 points. Bill Prior, a junior, turned in his best performance of the season, scoring 11 points, six of them within a 27-second period.

Gymnasts Score At U of Cal Meet

Harvey Plant and Bill Cornelius led Arizona State University's gymnastics team to a sixth place finish in the Pacific intercollegiate gymnastics competition in Berkeley, Calif., Saturday.

Plant copped first in the rebound tumbling event and gained a fourth place finish in tumbling to score 18 points for ASU. Teammate Cornelius finished sixth in the parallel bars event and eighth in rebound tumbling to add eight points to ASU's total.

The Devil's competed against 15 of the top gym teams on the coast. The University of Southern California won the competition with California, UCLA, Washington, San Jose and ASU finishing in that order among the leaders.

Larry Armstrong, second-highest scorer on the Devil squad this year, saw little action due to the presence of seniors in the lineup but still managed five points.

Marv Dutt topped Wildcat scorers with 20 points. Arizona ace Ernie McCray was held to 14 points by Devil defenders.

Devil Golf Team Provisions Poor

By PAUL SPENGLER

"Inadequate golfing facilities", is the cry of many ASU students who are interested in "getting out on the links" a few times during the week. There aren't enough public golf courses in the area to satisfy the number of players. Encanto is the only public eighteen hole golf course in the Valley.

A.S.U. students also have an insufficient funds. Even the other disadvantage and that is short nine Papago course, which should encourage students to play, has a minimum fee of one dollar per nine holes. Tempe should have available student discount cards or a reduction in price with a student activity card. Many universities through-out the country own their own courses or have playing privileges with student rates.

Golf is recognized by faculty and students alike to be relaxing and a means of escaping from weekly classroom grind. Just as there was a movement to bring bowling to A.S.U., there should be the same interest to have better facilities or to obtain student rates at the municipal courses.

ASU head baseball coach Bob Winkles, came to the university after playing professional baseball.

National Record Set By ASU Thinclads

By DAVE BARNES
Sports Editor

Top track athletes from ASU, scored impressive wins this past weekend in the Southern Pacific AAU track and field relays. The event, held in Los Angeles, saw the ASU mile medley foursome establish the fastest time recorded in the nation this year.

ASU thinlies also copped first place in the distance medley relay. Second place in the 880 relay and fifth in the 440 were also added to the Sun Devil score.

Running on the victorious mile relay squad timed in 3:11.06 were Mike Barrick, Carl Schreiner, and Mel and Mal Spence.

Competing against the Devils were such teams as Occidental, UCLA and USC.

In winning the distance medley, the Demons were below their meet - record time of 9:55.06 set last year. ASU turned 10:02 Saturday with George Hershey running the quarter, Dan Roth, the half, Jim McGowan the three-quarter, and Alex Henderson the mile.

Al Coleburn, Hershey, and the Spence twins composed the 880 runners. The second-place Devils ran the event in 1:26.04. This was the best effort of the season for the thinlies but slower than USC who posted first place honors.

Scoring another point of prestige for Arizona was Phoenician Dallas Long who hurled the shot put to a new world's record.

NCAA Basketball Tourney To Determine Nation's Best

ASU's Sun Devil cagers are playing the role of interested observers this week as two of their past season cage opponents compete in the NCAA basketball tournament.

The Air Force Academy, a team the Demons topped by seven points late in the season, fell to DePaul by six, 69-63, in Chicago, Monday.

New Mexico State, twice victors over the Devils, will play Oregon tonight in the first round of the championship tournament.

Defending NCAA champ California was chosen as the number one team in the country for the 1959-60 season by the United Press International board of coaches in Monday's voting.

The Bears edged Cincinnati by a close margin in the voting for the top regular-season team. Both California and Cincinnati finished the season with identical 24-1 marks.

Cincinnati's Bearcats, led by the scoring of Oscar Robertson and Ralph Davis, topped Xavier, 86-68, Monday night to move a step closer to the national title.

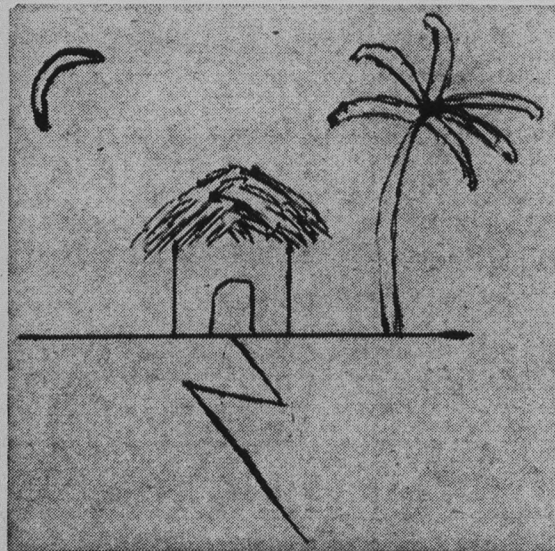

California met Idaho State last night in a first round game but results were not available at press time.

In another important first-round game Utah topped Southern California, 80-73, to move into the second round of the tourney.
