Aldous Huxley Main Speaker At Honors Day

Aldous Huxley, eminent philosophical essayist and novelist will speak on "Human Potentialities" at the ASU Honors Convocation May 6.

Huxley's "Brave New World," a portrait of the effects of scientific regimentation on human beings, was published in 1932. "Crome Yellow" and "Point and Counter Point," published previously, are also to his credit.

His essays, studies, and poems, widely influential throughout his lifetime, have gained him recognition as a caustic critic of contemporary society and defender and disciple of mystical philosophies and religions.

From a family of "greats," Aldous is brother to Julian Huxley, scientist; son of Leonard Huxley, English author and editor, and grandson of T. H. Huxley, famous English biologist and essayist. The poet Matthew Arnold is his great uncle.

Now living in Hollywood, Aldous Huxley was educated at Eton and Oxford. He began his career as a teacher, later becoming a drama critic. He has lived in the United States since the 1930's.

Dr. Karl Dannenfeldt, chairman of the Faculty Senate committee on academic affairs will introduce Mr. Huxley and also preside at the convocation.

Dr. H. D. Richardson will welcome those attending.

Music for the program will be provided by the ASU Band Ensemble, led by Eugene Chausow, assistant professor of music, and the Collegium Musicum, led by Dr. Phillip Nelson, assistant professor of music.

One of the major events of the ASU Diamond Jubilee year, the honors Convocation will credit all student recipients of fellowships, scholarships, honors and awards.

Classes will be dismissed at 10:40 and 11:40 so students may attend the event.

Unknown Hands Devoid Walls Of Greek Paddles

Students entering the Devil's Den Monday found the Greek paddles, which usually adorn the north wall, were missing. In their place were the Greek letters Gamma Delta Iota and the letter "B" with a small "o" beneath it.

Gayle Shuman, Director of Campus Security, said the paddles were taken sometime between Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. No signs of forced entry were noted.

ASU Coeds Begin Days Of Acclaim

Women's Day at ASU begins today with dismissal of classes at 10:40 for an assembly in the MU Ballroom, followed by a reception in the Upper Lounge. Guest speaker at the assembly will be Dr. Esther Lloyd-Jones, head of the Department of Guidance and Student Personnel Administration at Teachers College, Columbia University. Coeds will observe the special day by dressing up for classes.

Tomorrow the annual awards banquet will be held at 6:00 p.m. in the MU Ballroom to honor women's groups and individual women who have received honors this year. AWS officers will also be installed at the banquet. Trophies will be awarded to the organization with the highest membership present and to the group with the best table decorations. Tickets for the dinner have been sold out, but coeds may check at Dean Nichols' office for cancellations.

Theme of the two-day observance is "Educated Women — Today and Tomorrow."

Yale Speaker To Explore Fission, Fusion

Dr. Harold G. Cassidy, professor of Chemistry at Yale University, will speak on "Fission or Fusion: The Problem of the Sciences and the Humanities," Thursday at 8 p.m., in the Physical Sciences auditorium at ASU.

His research work is chiefly in the field of electron exchange polymers. During World War II, Dr. Cassidy contributed to the Manhattan Project, a primary endeavor in the move toward atomic fission.

During April and May, he will lecture at 19 colleges and universities, under sponsorship of the National Sigma Xi Society for the advancement of scientific research.

WOMEN ARE WOMEN . . . and this is their day. Coeds (l to r) Sue Fortner, Lora Rhodes Hylton and Velva Richey observe the traditional "dress up" for Women's Day today.

Women's Honoraries Tap Pledges At Dawn

Spurs, sophomore women's national honorary, tapped 25 ASU coeds for membership just before dawn this morning. Twenty-two women were awakened early yesterday morning as they learned of their selection to Natani, newly-formed junior women's honorary on campus.

Those pledged to Spurs and honored at a breakfast this morning in the MU are Marjorie Avery, Margaret Bell, Sharon Edwards, Diane Fitzgerald, Kathryn Mangano, Patricia Nelson, Carol Osman, Linda Williams, Mary Dangerfield, Judy Sheppard, Marilyn Spittler and Betty Barclay.

Also, Rosalind Begay, Linda Brown, Janet Elliott, Eileen Fredrick, Jannell Masterson, Margaret Truman, Harriet Whetley, Sandra Corken, Gloria Leitnerman, Claudia McDonall, Anne Okada, Barbara Oliver and Carlene Strand.

Natani (a Navajo Indian word meaning leaders) is designed to foster leadership, scholarship and fellowship among junior women. A committee of 17 outstanding junior women, assisted by Mrs. Edward J. Demson, adviser, chose 22 chapter members.

Those selected for the honor were Barbara Bartlett, Susan Becker, Marilyn Bergen, Carol Coon, Suzanne Frost, Sandra Harsha, Jan Kirk, Carmen Ruthling, Sandra Seyfried, Wanda Watson and Margaret Jo Williams.

Also, Julie Bolinger, Beverly Dawson, Sue DuPree, Cathrine Brimhall, Nancy Hendrickson, Carolyn Stabler, Peggy Stanton, Carol Swadley, Norma Walker, Judith Skinner and Jan Werner.

Editorial

At this time of the year, money is scarce for most students. Few cherish the thought of shelling out a few fins here and there when the need is not absolute.

So goes the story with paying extra to see ASU sports events next year. If nothing further develops concerning the Athletic Board of Control's recent decision, students will pay 75 cents extra to see football, 50 cents per basketball game, plus their regular activity fee.

Formerly, each student's total contribution has been $8.57. Next year students will be asked to pay almost three times that amount if they attend each game.

Comment on campus appears to indicate a dissatisfaction for the proposed plan. Students indicate that they wouldn't mind paying a little extra to see the Devils play classier ball teams. However, many of ASU's opponents are second-rate when it comes to "prestige football."

Another idea sets the male populace back: the thought of shelling out an extra $1.50 for a Saturday-night date. Using the process of "guestimation," the male student who enjoys dating and sports also, will pay close to 25 dollars extra to watch all Demon athletic contests.

The ASASU Senate has offered to increase the ICA budget by $1.43 per student next year. This will mean an increase of about ten thousand dollars over the amount presently allotted athletics by the student budget.

Another problem presented is that of long lines at the stadium gates, with thousands of students waiting to pay the added 75 cents.

We can't help but become amused imagining a line of armored cars full of quarters and half dollars waiting to provide students with their change at the gate.

YOU'RE TAPPED . . . Sue Becker, Mary Olmstead and Nancy Weigle (l to r) awoke Sandra Harsha yesterday morning with news that she was named a member of Natani, junior women's honorary. Miss Becker was also tapped yesterday.

Board Revamping, Payson Discussed

The Payson Leadership Workshop and possible revision of Education Board policy highlighted the Executive Council meeting discussion Friday.

Les Miller, IFC senator, led the discussion on the Workshop to be held April 29-May 1. He suggested a "rumor clinic" be held during the meeting.

Tom Weeks, Organization and Leadership Board chairman, reported 40 students have registered for the 3-day meeting. Weeks also announced plans to publish a textbook for future Board chairmen, funds to come from the regular budget.

John Singleton, Education Board chairman, stated ASU Acting President H. D. Richardson will hear committee suggestions for revision of drop-add and advisory procedures. They will also recommend individual folders for each student and possible faculty evaluation by students.

"The committee has torn down all present programs and is rebuilding them," Singleton said.

A statement issued by ASASU president Tom Hulen and 1st vice president Max Richards, on campus pickets was unanimously approved. The statement, reported in Friday's State Press, indicated picketeers have no grounds for insisting on an apology from Dean W. P. Shofstall. The apology was demanded after students were reprimanded in connection with the Milba

AS Graduate Gets Term And Release

An Iraqi-born, 1959 ASU graduate, Abdul Razzak el Gharary, is now serving a six-month prison term and will be released May 10.

Guarary was jailed for alleged participation in an assassination plot against Iraqi Premier Karim el-Kassem last Oct. 7. Kassem shot Abdul's brother in the unsuccessful attack.

ASU senior Hamed Ibrahim received news of Gharary's imprisonment through a letter from a friend, Sattar Hadithi, also a '59 ASU construction graduate.

According to Hadithi, Premier Kassem freed all the people involved in the shooting. "Kassem is releasing all the people because he thinks his action will give him much-needed support," Ibrahim explained.

Currently the Iraqi government is waging a vigorous campaign against the communists. People are demonstrating against the communists' attempt to take over Iraq and other Mid-eastern countries.

Ibrahim believes Abdul may return to ASU and begin study for a master's degree. "I talked to Abdul many times before he left here, and he expressed a desire to stay here," Hamed said.

State Press's Feb. 3 story on Gharary received coverage in Newsweek, the Arizona Republic and the Phoenix Gazette.

Sheet Rock Load Injures Worker

Construction worker Olen Hale was injured Saturday afternoon while working on the new Liberal Arts building.

Hale, employed by United Wholesale Distributors, Phoenix, was helping load sheet rock on a mechanical lift when a load slipped off and fell on his leg.

Tempe Clinic stated that he was treated for severe bruises and was released Monday.

Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood declares:

Graduation is all a matter of degree

Dear Dr. Frood: I'm working my way through college. I have delivered newspapers, worked as an usher in the local movie theater and rolled bandages for the school infirmary. What can my college life possibly prepare me for?

AS Students Go To Miami For Conclave

Two ASU students will leave tomorrow for a national Arnold Air Society Conclave in Miami, Fla., April 29-May 2.

Representing ASU's Tex May squadron at the conclave will be Joel A. Leerssen and Larry G. Ellis, advanced AFROTC cadets.

In Miami, they will be taken to the Deauville Hotel. Water skiing, boating, swimming, sunning and visiting some of the star-studded extravaganzas of Miami Beach revues will be included in the first day's activities. ASU's delegates will attend the "Blue Yonder Ball."

After debating and voting upon legislation introduced in open convention, the students will return next Wednesday.

Barnes To Head 1960 Graduates

Over 100 ASU seniors were initiated into the "1960 Club" Saturday, at an early morning breakfast sponsored by the ASU Alumni Association. The group elected Dave Barnes as senior class president, Bill Spencer as vice-president, and Susan (Philpott) Sullivan secretary.

Chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service to the school, members of the '60 Club represent the top 10 percent of the senior class, according to Jim Creasman, alumni executive secretary.

Short talks were given by Dr. H. D. Richardson, acting president of ASU, Dr. Charles Stauffer, and Don Dotts, editor of the Arizona Statesman Magazine, who introduced a "heritage fund" plan for increasing the number of scholarships provided by Arizona State.

Max Richards and Bill Spencer were appointed co-chairmen of the "ASU Heritage Fund" program, sponsored by the '60 Club. The project will entail collection of contributions from prominent businessmen around the Valley to provide scholarships for incoming freshmen next fall.

Barnes appointed Al Carr, Mary Boots Watts, Bert Dodson, Pat McDaniel, Bob Scholnik, Kathy Goodwin and the senior class officers to serve on the committee which will handle affairs for the class "golden reunion" in the year 2010.

Seniors at the breakfast joined in the program conclusion by singing the Alma Mater. Charles Parker directed.

In Faculty Poll —

RO Voted Down

A faculty poll on ROTC, released yesterday, shows more than 70 per cent of those polled are opposed to the present compulsory ROTC program.

Some 58 per cent responding to the poll felt the program should become voluntary, while approximately 12 per cent favored abolishment.

The opinionnaires, prepared by the Faculty-Student ROTC Study Committee, were voluntarily completed by 152 faculty members.

If the required ROTC hours were reduced, 64 per cent of those polled would oppose compulsion; 54 per cent would like a voluntary program; and approximately 10 per cent would favor abolishment of ROTC.

Conclusions to the poll drawn by Dr. Merwin Deever, chairman of the Study Committee's sub-committee on polls, were that "disregarding possible elements of invalidity . . .

"(1) Approximately three faculty members in ten of those responding, desire to see compulsory ROTC retained; about one in ten desire to see it abolished; the remainder would prefer an optional program. With the exception that a much larger percentage of instructors than students favor abolishment of ROTC, faculty poll results were similar to student poll results.

"(2) The introduction of a liberalized program would have a significant, but not decisive influence on faculty opinion."

Drama Workshop Presents 'Dr. Faustus' By Marlowe

Devils, demons, and other common and not so common English-speaking "Germans" will cavort on the stage of the Payne Auditorium tonight, as the ASU Drama Workshop presents "The Tragedie of Doctor Faustus" by Christopher Marlowe.

The presentation, to premiere at 8:30 p.m., will be this year's first Elizabethan drama on campus. The drama concerns itself with a highly educated Dr. Faustus, who trades his soul to Mephistopheles for youth, knowledge and magical power.

The play, written about 1591, is the original "Faust" theme.

Budget Bill To Senate

Another heavy calendar awaits student senators as they meet at 3:45 today in the Senate Chambers.

The Education and Advisor Limit bills to be given third readings were voted down last week. They are expected to be defeated on today's final vote.

The Finance bill, SB 146, calls for appropriation of $161,000 for next year. The sum is figured at $23 for each of $7,000 full-time students. The Inter-Collegiate Athletics were given the $10 per student figure agreed upon last Fall. The bill may be debated May 7.

The other new bill, SB 147, will be introduced by Senators Richey, Miller and Rambo. It calls for establishment of a freshman council to provide service, activities and social life for freshmen and the entire school.

All class councils and officers were abolished in a recently-signed senate bill.

Bills up for debate include SB 128, 142, 144 and 145. SB 128 is the controversial and much-amended bill providing for the election of cheerleaders.

Views and Previews

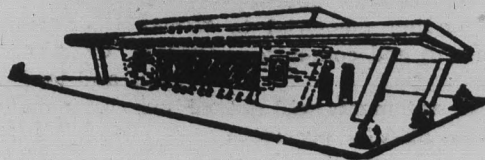

Psychotherapist To Speak Tonight

Coming attractions in the current Views and Previews series are talks by Dr. Milton H. Erickson, noted Phoenix physician in psychotherapy; and Dr. F. O. Cooke, ASU assistant professor of English.

Dr. Erickson will speak tonight in the MU lower lounge at 7:30. According to Life magazine, Dr. Erickson is "one of the outstanding modern pioneer researchers in hypnotic phenomena." He is a fellow of seven medical societies; editor of "The American Journal of Clinical Hypnosis"; associate editor of "Diseases of the Nervous System"; author of more than 90 published scientific articles; and co-author of "Time Distortion in Hypnosis," published in 1954 (second edition, 1959).

Dr. Cooke, who will appear May 4 at 7:30 in the MU lower lounge, has titled his talk, "When the Mask Slips."

To the Editor:

We, as the students involved in the Milba incident of March 25, 1960, submit the following letter as a conclusion to the matter.

We feel, that after considerable discussion with Dean Weldon P. Shofstall and Doctor H. D. Richardson, the matter has been settled to our satisfaction.

We were, as is known, reprimanded by the University Discipline Committee. We accept that a reprimand was the fairest action the committee could take under the circumstances. The committee officially stated however, that "No formal consideration was given to the statement of charges or recommendations made by the Chairman (Dean Weldon P. Shofstall)."

We felt that some insinuated charges within the dean's statement of charges were unfair and unfounded. This, however, has turned out to be merely a misunderstanding.

Dean Shofstall Tuesday explained "I never said, and never meant to say, that I considered you people to be traitors and cowards. I am sorry that some people drew this inference from my remarks. My only use of these words was to indicate that some of the people at the dance could have considered you such. My only reason for pointing this out was to show why I felt there was an inherent danger in the situation — why I believe that some of these people in the dance could have reacted violently to your appearance, had you been admitted and allowed to remain."

Dean Shofstall added that he felt we "did not use the best possible judgment . . ." This we accept as having been well evidenced by happenings since the dance.

In regard to the charges, Dean Shofstall said, "I'm sorry I handled it the way I did. I can guarantee you I won't handle it this way in the future."

We consider the foregoing, plus other discussion with officials, to constitute adequate settlement of any differences we had with administrators in regard to the handling of the Milba incident.

Gordon Peterson

Mike Reilly

We have seen this letter, and consider it correct. Quotes within this letter are accurate.

Dr. H. D. Richardson,

Weldon P. Shofstall,

Chairman, University

Discipline Committee

To the Editor:

I hope student senate and executive officials will carefully note the results of the official poll just announced by the Student-Faculty ROTC committee.

The finding that 71 per cent of the students want ROTC either voluntary or abolished eliminates all further doubt about student opinion. It is now up to these officials to follow the Constitutional mandate to represent the students. By this, I mean these officials should proclaim in the name of student government that ASU students want an end to compulsory ROTC. The student senate should speedily pass the pending memorial to the Regents to end compulsory ROTC.

But these statements will not suffice. The ASASU president and other executives should set up a committee to fight for the end of compulsory ROTC, and to replace SAC-ROTC and other groups. This would be only consistent with the official or semi-official committee of 600 that was set up to push the name change fight.

Student sentiment has been overwhelmingly expressed — it is time for student government to show its worth.

Mr. Hulen — will you fulfill your responsibility and appoint a committee to fight for ending compulsory ROTC? Or is there some difference between recognition of student opinion on the name-change and ROTC issues?

I hope for your answer in the next issue.

Gary Peter Klahr

To the Editor:

This letter is to inform the student body at large that I do not feel complimented by having my "fairness and straight-forwardness" complimented by any of the more devious and toadyistic yes-men of our "student" government.

Today is the last day for students and faculty members to rent caps and gowns from the bookstore. Afterwards, an additional charge of 50 cents will be made for each order.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

There is a need for better communication between the students and the Athletic Board of Control. It should be noted that this Board is made up of both students and faculty, and has the responsibility of planning and carrying on the program of intercollegiate athletics. This includes financing, planning of seating, policy, etc.

Shortly after my appointment as chairman of this Board, we were confronted with the unpleasant episode concerning the location of seating for faculty and students at football games. About two months later I learned of an agreement,

"Seating Arrangement for ASU students and faculty in Sun Devil Stadium for 1959-60 season." This was signed by the present student body president, vice president and chief justice, as well as by the band leader, graduate manager, and executive manager. This agreement was based on careful study and a series of meetings with student leaders. Last fall the athletic staff, in good faith, followed the provisions of this agreement in seating the students, the faculty and the public in the stadium. I am certain that the majority of the students who participated in the demonstration would have honored the agreement if they had known about it.

It should be emphasized that about 87% of the total operating budget of intercollegiate athletics comes from the sale of tickets to the public, while the student contribution amounts to about 13%. The Board is finding it increasingly difficult to operate on a balanced budget because of inflationary costs. For example, if a rain storm had happened during the evening of one of our football games last fall, we could have had a deficit of over $15,000 in our intercollegiate athletics budget. The relatively low annual contribution of $8.57 per student at ASU (national average for universities in our class is $12 per student), is not sufficient to properly operate on our present basis.

In the future, as our student body grows, it is apparent that we will have fewer seats to sell to the public and this, of course, means restriction of income. It should be apparent to everyone that the seating problem cannot be separated from the total problem of operating intercollegiate sports. The assignment of seats from year to year must remain in a state of flux so that we can accommodate not only the growing student body, but also the public, and at the same time achieve a maximum income.

George M. Bateman,
 Chairman
 Board of Athletic Control

To the Editor:

In regard to the elections now being held on campus, it is stated that this is an example of democracy in practice. I would like to suggest that the elections are not a display of democracy, but rather a display of Aristocracy. As far as I can determine all the candidates for the various offices all belong to and are supported by a fraternity or sorority. Members of these organizations comprise about 8% of the student body. Yet it is this 8% which control our student government. Also, with the exception of their organizations, the candidates and their platforms (if they have any) are completely unknown to the remainder of the students.

I would like to suggest that the present form of student body government be disbanded and replaced by representatives of the faculty, who will, at least, be known to the students more than some popular member of a fraternity. It is, also, highly unlikely that a faculty member would resort to the use of llamas, horses, and fire engines to advertise his candidacy. Rather, I would imagine, a faculty member, elected by the student-body, would draw up a platform and advertise via the State Press.

I think it would be well if we all took a hard and critical view of the present situation and seek means to correct it. I have listed only one of many possible solutions. There are, undoubtedly, many more solutions that can be suggested to correct this debacle.

The Spectator

By GORDON PETERSON

"You can fool some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time," Abe Lincoln once said. Seems like the same idea applies to pleasing people. No matter what this column covers, many people call to congratulate us, and a similar number call to say "What did you waste your space on that for? Such-and-such was more important."

So, this time we set out to please as many as is possible in 14 inches.

Campus elections are over and most of the campaign propaganda is gone. We wonder, however, why one lone "flag-pole" yet remains near the corner of College and Orange.

The AMS Water Sports Day Saturday was all wet, and lots of fun.

AWS Women's Day is today. The gals are dismissed from 10:40 classes so they can hear Esther Lloyd-Jones speak. Wish we were women so we could hear her.

Governor Fannin speaks in the MU ballroom this evening at 7:30. Should be very interesting and well worth attending.

We hear two of our flyboys are taking to the wild blue yonder tomorrow to touch down at Miami, Florida for four days at one of the classiest hotels in town. We also hear one of the boys has three dates lined up there already. Ah, ah, keep your mind on the Air Force.

The student leadership workshop is at Payson this weekend. Best of luck to all those attending, and we hope our student leaders will find it beneficial.

The annual Greek sing will be Monday night. One student told us the tradition stems back to ancient days when the Romans would torture the Greeks to make them sing. Oh well, maybe he's an independent and just jealous.

Tickets to the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra concert Tuesday night are available in the Cultural Affairs box office in the MU game room. Cost — one hole punched in an activity card.

Aldous Huxley (author of "Brave New World" and others) will speak Friday, May 6, in the MU ballroom at the honors convocation. Should be outstanding.

The third annual Royal Ball will be in the ballroom (coincidence?) May 6, 9 p.m. King and Queen crowning, big orchestra, semi-formal, sponsored by Social Board, voluntary.

The ASASU student senate continues to meet, with several bills still on the docket for action this semester.

Well, that should do it. Everybody happy? Oooooopps! Nearly forgot somebody. Yep, we're still opposed to compulsory . . .

Nurses Fly East

Two ASU coeds fly to Miami, Fla., this evening for the National Student Nurses Convention at Hotel Fairfax on the beach.

Mickey McLean, president of the Arizona Association for Student Nurses, and Judith Chapman, corresponding secretary, will attend the meeting through Tuesday.

Misses McLean and Chapman are in ASU's four-year nursing program which offers a B.S. in nursing. Good Samaritan Hospital provides facilities for clinical experience during the program.

A GUIDE FOR THE LOVELESS

Gentlemen, take warning. June is almost upon us—June, the month of brides. Have you got yours yet? If not, don't despair. You don't have to be rich or handsome to get a girl. All you have to be is kind, considerate, thoughtful, and obliging—in short, a gentleman.

For example, don't ever call a girl for a date at the last minute. Always give her plenty of advance notice—like three months for a coke date, six months for a movie, a year for a prom, two years for a public execution. This shows the girl that she is not your second or third choice and also gives her ample time to select her costume.

And when you ask for a date, do it with a bit of Old World gallantry. A poem, for instance, is always sure to please a young lady, like this.

*I think you're cute,
 Daphne La France.
 I'll put on a suit,
 And take you to a dance.*

In the unlikely event that you don't know any girls named Daphne La France, try this:

*I think you're cute,
 Winifred Jopp.
 I'll put on a suit,
 And take you to a hop.*

In the extremely unlikely event that you don't know a Winifred Jopp either, try this:

*I think you're cute,
 Isabel Prall.
 I'll put on a suit,
 And take you to a ball.*

If there is no Isabel Prall, Winifred Jopp, or Daphne La France on your campus, it is quite obvious why you've had trouble finding dates all year: you've enrolled in an all-male school, you old silly!

Next let us take up the question of etiquette once you are out on a date with Isabel, Winifred, or Daphne. The first thing you do, naturally, is to offer the young lady a Marlboro. Be sure, however, to offer her an entire Marlboro—not just a Marlboro butt. Marlboro butts are good of course, but whole Marlboros are better. You get an extra inch or two of fine flavorful tobacco—and I mean flavorful. Do you think flavor went out when filters came in? Well, you've got a happy surprise coming when you light a Marlboro. This one really delivers the goods on flavor, and when you hand Isabel, Winifred, or Daphne a whole, complete, brand-new Marlboro, she will know how highly you regard and respect her, and she will grow misty and weak with gratitude, which is very important when you take her out to dinner, because the only kind of coed a college man can afford to feed is a weak and misty coed. Latest statistics show that a coed in a normal condition eats one and a half times her own weight every twelve hours.

At the end of your date with Isabel, Winifred, or Daphne, make certain to get her home by curfew time. That is gentlemanly. Do not leave her at a bus stop. That is rude. Deliver her right to her door and, if possible, stop the car when you are dropping her off.

The next day send a little thank-you note. A poem is best. Like this:

*For a wonderful evening, many thanks,
 Isabel, Winifred, or Daphne.
 I'll take you out for some more merry pranks
 Next Saturday if you'll haph me.* © 1960 Max Shulman

We can't give you rhyme but we'll give you good reason why you'll enjoy Marlboro and Marlboro's unfiltered companion cigarette, Philip Morris. One word says it all: flavor.

Manheim Will Give Paper

Dr. Henry Manheim, assistant professor of Sociology, will present a paper at the annual meeting of the Pacific Sociological Society in Spokane, Wash.

The title of his paper is "Experimental Demonstration of Relationship between Group Characteristics and Patterns of Intergroup Interaction." It concerns the results of experiments conducted on the interaction between small groups.

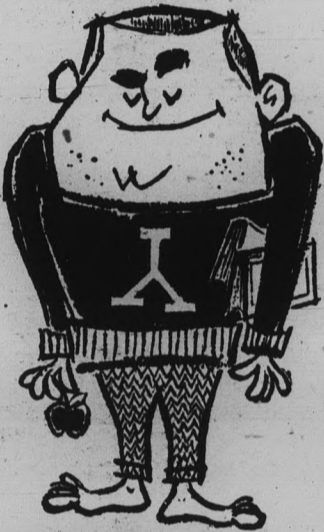

The meeting will be held tomorrow through Saturday.

STAY A WHILE!

Jack Ong . . . Organizations Editor

Seems like this week is one of those rare ones when there's a "lack" of homework. Combine this rarity with Spring and sun . . . you've come up with fun time! Picnics and long drives are perfect. And the water's fine for swimming.

Ask Naiads! They'll tell you they're splash happy. If you don't get a chance to ask, why don't you come to the annual Naiads Water Show, "A Water Circus," this weekend . . . Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. A wet ballet under the stars!

The women's swimming club puts on a production every Spring, but if our capricious weather keeps up, there's a gonna be some gals with colds Sunday.

The "Circus" will be free for the public and will include clown acts, trapeze artists and a seal show, to name a few.

William Acton, vice president of Dee-Williams Construction Industries, Inc., will talk on "How to Enter a Monopoly Market" at tomorrow's meeting of the Student Marketing Club.

The luncheon-meeting will be in MU 218 C. Reservations should be made at BA 102 by noon today. There'll be a question-answer period after Mr. Acton's talk.

Charter Day will be celebrated at a banquet tonight by Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music fraternity. Installation of new officers and new members will be featured. Mrs. King Taylor will speak on the history of the group; Dr. Dendell Ryder, chairman of the department of Music, will be guest speaker. Special music will be provided by Mrs. Agnes Holst and Miss Lynn Bullock.

ONG-AO — "El Matador," latest hit of the Kinston Trio, is featured on their current long play, "Sold Out," and reports have it that the album is nearing that point too. How popular can a group get!

If you've seen "Home from the Hill," you probably want to see it again.

"Five Fingers," starring James Mason, will be shown at Cosner Auditorium tomorrow and Friday evenings at 7:30.

The Finance Club will meet Friday at 7 p.m. in the MU upper lounge. This will be an organizational meet for all business students. . .

Thirteen Selected For Phidelpia

Thirteen coeds were tapped Friday for membership in the Phi Delta Theta fraternity honorary auxiliary, Philadelphia. They were selected by mutual agreement of Phi Delt actives on the basis of service to the fraternity.

Philadelphia is a national organization, but new to this campus. Phi Delt has been planning the program for ASU since September; girls will elect their officers and prepare their pledge program. They will serve as hostesses at Phi Delta Theta functions and work at promoting better relations between the fraternity and campus sororities.

CRISIS IN COLLEGE

"The university in America is not a community of scholars, but an enormous service station . . . where one can be born, go to kindergarten, lower school, high school, meet the girl friend and get married . . ."

"If students were limited to those who were interested in learning to think for themselves . . . approximately fifty per cent of our college and university students would disappear."

You can't afford to miss the shocking report from which these statements are taken. It is written by a famous educator in the new issue of McCall's. It may be the most important—and damning—article ever published on the subject, and every student concerned with her future will want to read it. May McCall's, on sale now.

Golfers Top Navy

Wayne Breck, ASU freshman, shattered the golf course record at Indian Bend Country Club Wednesday with a spectacular five under par 66 in leading ASU to a 17½-8½ victory over the San Diego Navy. The previous course record was 69, held by ASU's Rex Wilsen.

Friday, in a match of the two teams, ASU again defeated the Navy, 17½-8½. Cal Cooke led the Devils with a 70.

ASU season record is now 22 wins, 5 losses and 6 ties.

Friday, five Devil golfers compete against the UofA, Phoenix College and fifteen high school teams in the annual Phoenix College Invitational. The event is a one-day, thirty-six hole, medal play tournament. Prizes will be awarded to the low medalist and to the four-man team with the lowest total score. The tournament should be a warm-up for ASU and UofA who will compete in the Border Conference meet in Las Cruces May 13 and 14. ASU is defending champion.

Devils To Face U Of A

With no track meet scheduled this week, Arizona State's cinder team is gearing its workouts for the coming rivalry against the UofA Border Conference Champs May 7.

In last week's Mt. San Antonio relays in Calif., Mal Spence won the 440 yard dash in :47.1 and anchored the Devil's winning mile relay team in a 3:12.2 clocking.

Alex Henderson placed third in the mile event, running against Bill Dellinger, winner, and Laszlo Tabori. Henderson's time was 4:11.5.

Freshmen ASU pole vaulter John Rose tied for second along with USC's Jim Brewer, ex-North Phoenix High athlete, at 14-6. Ron Morris, competing for the Striders, won at a height of 15-4.

ASU's Carol Lindroos grabbed fifth place as he tossed the discus 182-7. Jim Wade of USC won with 190-6½. During practice warmup, Lindroos tossed the platter over the 190 foot mark.

Arizona State also placed fifth in the sprint medley which was won by USC in 3:26.6.

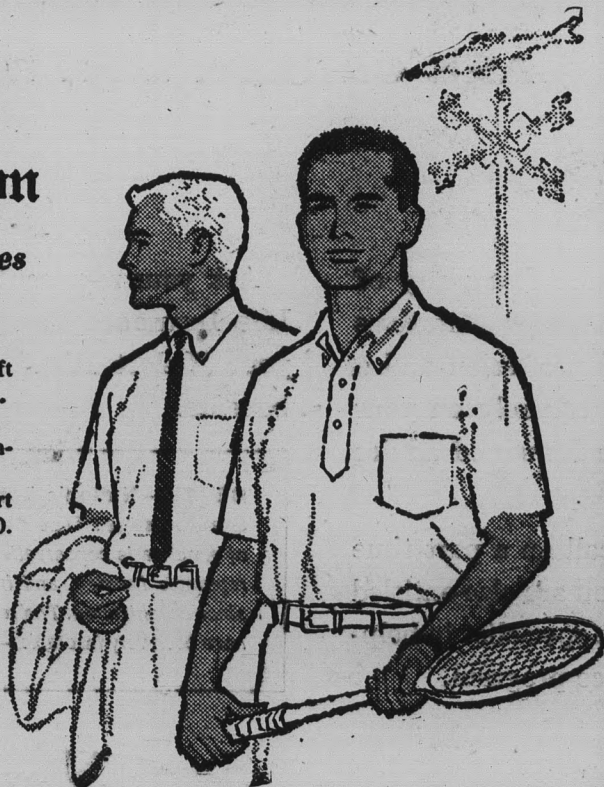

George Hershey replaced injured Mike Barrick and he and Karl Schreiner, Mel and Mal Spence composed the winning mile relay combination. Hershey and Schreiner ran a 220 in the sprint medley, Mel Spence a 440-yard dash and Dan Roth finished the medley with a half mile.

Intramural golf entries and additions to the eligibility lists are due Wednesday, April 27th, by 5 p.m. Entries should be turned in at the Intramural Office. Golf competition will be Saturday, May 27th, at Thunderbird Country Club. Tee-off times will be posted on the intramural bulletin board.

Marines Fall, Wildcats Next Foe

BULLETIN

ASU pounded out a 17-5 victory over the San Diego Marines yesterday afternoon on the Sun Devil diamond.

Roger Barnson allowed only three scattered hits and no runs in his six innings on the mound while winning his seventh game of the season. He has been beaten only once.

The win gives the Devils a 28-10 season record, topping their victory output of 27 last year. It was their eighth win in a row.

ASU and the Marines play at 3:30 this afternoon on the ASU diamond.

A 5-4 win Monday over the rugged San Diego Marines moved ASU's baseball mark to 27-10 and advanced the newest Sun Devil win streak to seven games.

The Demons played the Marines yesterday afternoon, and the two clubs will meet again this afternoon at 3:30.

After today's tilt, the Devils will rest two days before hosting the powerful University of Arizona Wildcats in a Saturday twin bill.

JOHN . . . Jacobs, shown here approaching home plate after a recent home run, was taken to the hospital yesterday after a pitched ball struck him on the head.

The ASU nine topped Arizona State College twice last Friday and Saturday to stretch its streak to six. Monday's victory over the Marines made it seven in a row — the third time this season the Devil's have strung victory strings of seven.

Hard-throwing sophomore righthander Mike Tatum notched his seventh win of the season against two losses Monday. He relieved started Roger Kudron who faltered in the sixth.

Tatum will get the starting nod in one of Saturday's games against the Wildcats. Kudron (5-1) or Roger Barnson (6-1) will probably pitch the other tilt.

ASU outlit the Marines, 8-7, as centerfielder Ed Littleton paced the attack. Littleton led off with a homerun in the first and drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning single. His long sacrifice fly in the second inning drove in another tally.

The Wildcats, Saturday's foe, swamped New Mexico University 16-0 Monday to hike their season record to 35-5.

The opening game of Saturday's double header will begin at 1:30 p.m. on the home diamond. The second game is slated for 8 p.m. at Phoenix Municipal Stadium.

Today's game with the Marines is the fifth meeting of the two clubs this season. The teams split two games in San Diego, and ASU went one ahead in the series with its win Monday. Bob Kavgian (3-2) or John Miller (4-3) will probably start today.
