Diamond Jubilee Is Theme

"Diamond Jubilee 1960" will be the theme of this year's ASU Homecoming.

Scheduled for November 5, the event will honor graduates and alumni by depicting the progress of ASU since its founding 75 years ago.

House decorations, replacing floats for the first time last year, will be divided into four categories, each assigned to a particular era within the 75 year period.

These historical divisions, determined at a drawing by the groups' representatives, are as follows: 1885-1900, Special Interest groups; 1901-1920, Sororities; 1921-1940, Dormitories; 1941-1960, Fraternities.

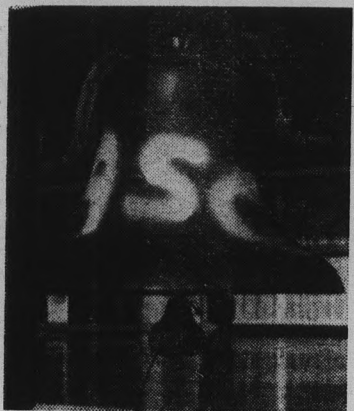

Theme choices will be awarded on a first come, first serve basis, according to decorations chairman, Larry Miller. Trophies will be given to first, second, and third places in each category with an overall sweepstakes winner to be chosen.

The general Homecoming committee started plans for the event at its first meeting yesterday by showing slides of ASU's history; narrated by James Creasman, Alumni association.

General chairman of the affair is Mike Krutz. Steering committee members include Larry Miller, Decoration; Marilyn Fish, Judging; Dennis Rosenthal, Publicity; Velva Richey, King and Queen elections; and Madge Monroe, secretary.

'ASC Was Here,' But Benches Almost Weren't

ASC has struck again! "ASC was here" was painted on the Victory Bell and the bulletin boards in front of the Memorial Union and Matthews library. The slogan was also painted on one of the windows of the MU bookstore.

Legislature Candidate Speaks On Campus

"The right-to-work law is a god-given right of man," commented Jim Holley, Republican candidate for state legislature, yesterday.

Holley addressed a meeting of the ASU Young Republicans club, following adoption of a new constitution by the group. Holley is the GOP nominee from District 4 in Tempe, and he is a senior in the ASU College of Business Administration.

The candidate urged "equalization of taxes in the state, especially on homes." Holley noted that property valuations vary widely within the state. He also proposed that homes worth less than $8,000 be exempted from property taxes. In addition to providing tax relief for small homeowners, the proposal would force state officials to assess property at its real value, Holley asserted.

Defining himself as a "conservative," Holley said he believes in states rights and limited government. However, he noted that the state already receives much federal aid, and that "the schools are completely socialized."

Recently an ASU student organization was denied the use of the MU patio for the purpose of selling tickets for a jazz program.

One week later the U.S. Marines were recruiting students on the patio. Is this in keeping with the intended use of the Memorial Union?

New President States Opinions

"I don't think you can measure a man's education in credit hours," President G. Homer Durham said yesterday.

Dr. Durham said he hoped an ASU student would come to know himself better as a physical organism, the unique creation of nature with mind and body; and as a social being in relation to others: the family, community, state and world.

The new president expressed the desire that a student would have a better appreciation of the world of ideas, the spirit and imagination in order to conceive what is needed and then realize it.

"You would expect a student would appreciate the role a university plays in a society. It is a place for transmitting culture and anticipating the ideas of the future. Here he receives a liberal education which will liberate him to achieve a greater development.

"It (the university) exists to look into the unknown and try to anticipate the problems and questions of the future.

"And the faculty has to ask the important questions. To ask a good question which has not been asked is more important than to ask a good question for which the answer already exists.

"The business of Arizona State University is the unfinished business of mankind," he added.

"Here, after considerable study, I believe there is an opportunity unparalleled in higher education in America to build a first class state University. There is great enthusiasm, vitality, desire and concern for quality. The belief expressed by the community for the hope of higher education here was apparent in the name change," he mentioned.

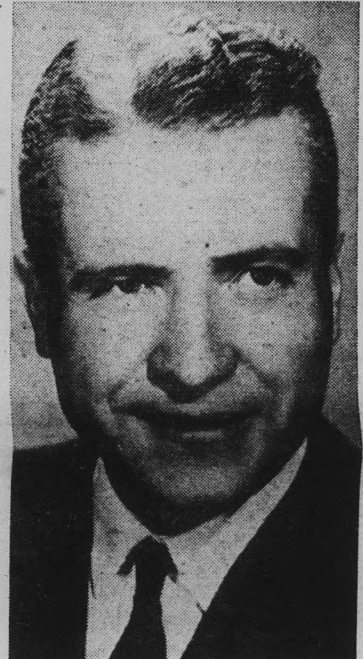

"To realize part of its potentialities, Arizona must realize the potentialities of its schools," Dr. Durham stated.

Looking ahead he said, "in 10 years, to serve this community somewhat adequately, this institution must develop full-fledged programs for graduate studies in the arts and sciences.

"The people of Arizona will not only require this, they will demand it and the University will have to work very hard to meet this demand."

Dr. Durham also touched upon the importance of radio and television in the field of adult education to serve the community in its "life-long" learning process.

"To keep pace with the rapid development of the physical and technical sciences, we must encourage and cultivate the fine arts, the humanistic tradition, in order to use new inventions for the benefits of civilization, not just as tools of materialism and destruction," Dr. Durham warned.

On federal aid to education, Dr. Durham said the need has not yet arisen for the more recent steps toward block grants such as in construction and teacher's salaries.

Concerning compulsory ROTC, he said if demands can be met on a voluntary program it seems rational. He added that the Air Force and

Citation Complaints Scheduled At Traffic Appeals Department

"The first traffic appeals will be heard by the department of Traffic Appeals at 4 p.m., today," said Advisor Mr. E. Hickcox, ASU Housing Office.

"Our regular meetings will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. in the Memorial Union, until further notice," he added.

Any student who is ticketed has the right to appeal. Before filling out an appeal however, he must post bond equal to the amount of the fine within three days of receiving the ticket.

If he does not wish to appeal, he must pay the fine within the same period at the Cashier's office in the Administration building.

After filling out an appeal at the Campus Police Office, he will then appear before the department at their regular meeting to state his case.

Navy were thinking along those lines.

"For my own part," he said, "I'm satisfied with the best thinking we can get out of the Pentagon."

About the student "sit-in" movements against segregated restaurants, Dr. Durham said that the idealism and courage displayed was "laudable."

"I'd hope that the same idealism would carry over to a lifetime. And I hope there is something more behind it than emotion, that is, acceptance of different peoples," he added.

Dean Thompson Named To AEC

Dr. Lee P. Thompson, dean of the College of Applied Arts and Sciences, was recently elected chairman of the Arizona Atomic Energy committee.

"The purpose of the Atomic Energy committee is to make recommendations to the Governor from which legislation may be proposed to make it possible for Arizona to take over certain aspects of the control atomic energy," said Dean Thompson.

However, Dr. Durham expressed concern that too extreme measures may leave scars.

Talent Bureau Sets Dates

Audition dates have been announced by the Entertainment bureau sponsored by the ASU Social committee.

The bureau keeps a file of all students wishing bookings through the school. Campus and outside groups often request talent for shows and various entertainment.

Auditioning will be 3:30-4:30 next Monday and Wednesday and Oct. 17 and 19 in the MU ballroom.

Microphones and lighting will be provided, but other equipment and props should be brought by individual acts.

Those interested in auditioning are required to register at the information desk, where additional information is available.

Co-chairmen of the Bureau are board members Dianne Huber and Al Anderson.

Books Donated

The establishment of the Marcy and Ruth Sussman's book collection at Matthews Library was announced Friday by Harold Batchelor, head librarian at ASU.

"Dr. and Mrs. Sussman have for many years been donors of fine books, both of literary quality as well as recreational interests, to the university library," Batchelor said.

"An attractive bookplate has been designed by the library to identify the Sussman gifts," he added.

Hubbard Chosen

Currently dedicated to commemorating the 100th anniversary is Dr. Paul B. Hubbard, chairman of the department of History.

Governor Paul Fannin has appointed him to the State Civil War Centennial commission, composed of educators and businessmen of Arizona.

An article by Hubbard, "Life in the Arizona Territorial Prison, 1876-1910," was recently published in "Arizona and the West," a statewide periodical.

Pace Picks Up In ASU Senate

Student Senate committees met for the first time this week and Speaker Les Miller met with each to discuss their activities.

Under consideration by committees are proposed new legislation and re-evaluation of legislation vetoed last year by Dr. Richardson.

Speaker Miller said that each bill will be referred to one committee only.

Funds Allocated By ASU Board

More money for Senior Day no additional funds for the ASU Choral Union, and a new company for trophy and medal supplies is the result of action taken by the ASASU board of Financial Control Monday.

A request by the registrar's office for an additional $369.50 to supplement the present $430.50, for Senior Day, was accepted by the board. All administrative costs for the Day will be assumed by the Registrar's office.

The board failed to grant the ASU Choral Union an additional $1500, requested by its director, Professor David B.

Scoular last week. Scoular requested that funds not used by the group in 1959-60 be re-appropriated this year to meet increased costs.

Trophies and medals presented by ASU organizations will be supplied by the House of Trophies. The board voted to use the Phoenix firm since the service of the former supplier was considered unsatisfactory.

Exams Set; To Be Given

The annual Air Force Officers Qualifying test (AFOQT), will be administered by the department of Air Science, Friday, Oct. 21, 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the old gym, room 162.

All qualified Air Science 2 cadets and veterans interested in participation in the Advanced Air Science program are required to take a third test as a pre-requisite for consideration. Those interested in becoming a commissioned officer in the United States Air Force, and have not signed-up to take the test, will have until Oct. 18.

Each student taking the AF-OQT will receive a letter of explanation for absence from scheduled classes. For further information, contact the department of Air Science.

Welcome

During half-time ceremonies at Saturday night's football game, Arizona State University welcomed its newest freshman.

His name: Dr. G. Homer Durham.

His position: new Arizona State University President.

Although a newcomer to ASU, Dr. Durham is no "freshman" in the circles of American higher education.

The former vice-president of the University of Utah, Dr. Durham has achieved recognition in the last two decades as a scholar, author, lecturer and college administrator.

In this, Arizona State University's Diamond Jubilee Year, we welcome President Durham as the man who will uphold ASU's promise: "A tradition of growth — a commitment to quality."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Who does your esteemed political cartoonist Moore expect? Kennedy? Nixon? . . . No one, I'm sure, could expect such peoples unless (until!) this campus develops a little more political enthusiasm. What better way to start than offering an attractive setting. Janet Leigh indeed made an attractive one for several representatives of candidates-for-office. Too bad a good part of the audience (which apparently included one Michael Barrett) left when she did.

Barrett says, in his column, that no opinion should be disregarded. Yet he seems to do a very good job of disregarding that of Miss Leigh.

I wonder where old Abner "Singleminded" Singleday does his studying. In left-field? There is a fitting saying that he should consider. Namely: "If you haven't tried it, don't knock it."

Clint R. Ford

Letter to the Editor:

I find your editorial position on the desirability of the diplomatic recognition of Communist China to be extremely odious. If the "Press" were consistent, it would take a similar stand on renewing our severed relations with the Dominican Republic, a nation which has shown itself to be a true friend of the U.S. With the typical illogical thinking of the day it seems as if the Press finds nothing wrong with breaking relations with a proven friend, but wishes to establish diplomatic ties with the worst type of tyranny in the world today. Chinese Peoples Republic is nowhere near being the de facto government of the Chinese people, and this is proven by the simple counting of the tens of millions who have left China since the "Agrarian Reformers" came to power in 1950, or the counting of the mass graves of the estimated twenty million Chinese who have been liquidated for owning too much property.

Yes, I am in favor of the recognition of China, but first let them show their sincerity by releasing the one thousand American soldiers who have been held in China since the close of the Korean War in 1953. Let them offer apologies for the execution of John Birch, the American Baptist missionary. Let them free the American Bishops, Ford and Walsh, who have been sentenced to life imprisonment for "espionage." Let them offer some explanation for the brutal killing of over 100,000 Tibetans since those people revolted a year ago.

What the United States needs now is not expediency or cheap jockeying for diplomatic advances but more integrity, honor, and a belief in the sacredness of our own position. Last year, when we offered a state invitation to Khrushchev, our listening audience to the "Voice of America" fell to 15 percent of its former number. When those people of eastern Europe shut off their radio sets in disgust at the pious hypocrisy of the United States, they were right in doing so. They will do so again if they learn that we have offered diplomatic recognition to an enemy avowed to destroy us. This may be the type of nation the State Press hopes we will receive an ambassador from, but if that day ever comes, I will be heartily ashamed.

Richard T. Thornton

To the Editor:

So a 2.00 average is required of "kings," "queens" and campus politicians? But not cheerleaders, according to A Concerned Student? Well A.C.S. ought to examine the validity of the 2.00 average on most campuses today. With today's generous and charitable system of grading (there are doubtless exceptions) 2.00 is a low average. I should guess it is closer to 2.50-3.00. Well the cheerleaders at least have to be enrolled.

CONRAD The Campus Cop

EDITOR'S Scratchpad

"Be specific," our journalism instructor tells us.

"Your column in Wednesday's paper was awfully vague. If you want to knock the MU rules, say why and tell how things could be improved."

Well, we think that's good advice, and we'll take it.

In our "home away from home" we are not to wear Bermuda shorts. Why? Is it because they are undignified? So much so that the Army (and in some places, police forces) issue them. Because they aren't sufficiently formal? What better place to be informal? Suggestion for improvement: Repeal the rule.

We are not to eat in the halls, meeting rooms or offices. Why? The MU board chairman told us this rule "is to make it easier for the janitors." Do we sacrifice student convenience simply to make someone else's job easier for him? If so, mightn't we outlaw food in the Den and corral too, and really make it easier?

Does the MU board think the ASASU officers, deans and others who use offices and meeting rooms in this building are too immature, irresponsible and/or stupid to avoid throwing Cokes, chocolate malts and other foodstuffs on the walls, floor and furniture? Suggestion: Amend the rule to outlaw food and drink only on carpeted areas. (Come to think of it, the MU board allows food and drink in the "lounges" when someone has a reception.)

We are to leave the building by 10:30 at night (unless a special group has something scheduled). Yet, the lounges would be a nice place to study at night, and some officers would like to continue their work.

We are not to lie down, sleep, study, put our feet up, etc., etc. in the lounges (depending on which rule the MU board happens to be trying to enforce at any given time). We believe that these things are what the lounges are for. If not, perhaps we should change their names to the upper and lower "sitting rooms," and confine our positions to proper sitting.

As for outside groups using the lounges—we goofed! We should have said "any" group. If we are to have lounges, let's keep them as such — not as meeting rooms for anybody to the exclusion of those who want to lounge.

We cannot receive phone calls in any office after 9 p.m. weekdays, after noon on Saturdays, or anytime Sundays. This, however, is not the MU board's fault, but the fault of those who control our private phone system.

And, last but certainly not least, is the space allotted to various deans. We are told they are in the student building because there is not enough room in the administration building.

Be that as it may, we hear the old "president's house" is considered inadequate for our new president, Dr. G. Homer Durham. Fine. We think it only fitting to provide the president with good living quarters. But what about the old house? It could make some mighty nice offices for the deans.

What next? We don't know . . . But we do know that a good many people contributed a huge chunk of money to build the union for student use. We do know that Mrs. Cecelia Scoular, Mrs. Ellen Bell and a few others have done their best (and a good job it is) of making this "home away from home" just that—and then more.

These people may not agree with all the details of everything we've said, but we can be sure that, with all the work they've put in, they want the union to be a place students can use and enjoy.

That's all we want, too, and we hope the above suggestions will help make it so.

Many other people have some good suggestions, too. So, let's hear 'em.

By JACK ONG

It's rare to have some of our friends on campus get together, add musical instruments, sing, and come out sounding almost like that other trio (Kingsmen, Queenston . . . something like that).

So if you haven't heard The Balladeers, you should hear 'em. They presented entertainment at last week's after-game dance, and were cheered back for four more songs.

The trio, Ted Newman, John Southern and Toby Constance, sing folk songs and don't plan to go into pop tunes. The singers want to work into a "good pro act," entertain around the Valley.

John and Toby have been singing together since school started, and were joined by Ted soon after. They chose folk music for its "universal appeal."

"We have a lot of fun," they agreed; the "we" included their manager, Pat Fay.

Ted and Toby play guitars and John adds variety with a banjo. Newman, known for his hit recording of "Play-thing" several years back, has entertained on American Bandstand, Guy Mitchell Show, and was at the Colorado Broadmoore hotel last summer.

Southern, a member of the ASU concert choir and choral union, played at Harmony Guest Ranch during the summer and was last year's Social committee chairman.

Constance, serving as ASASU Publicity Service head, is from Whittier, Calif., and, Ted added, "is our West Coast man." He has handled campus promotions for the Kingston Trio and Limelights . . . is Phi Sigma Kappa social chairman.

The group provides really pleasant sound in their renditions. They practice several times a week and we hear great results!

SORRY, LADY—We feel for the family who's phone line has been crossed with Sahuaro Hall's. We tried calling the dorm the other day, kept getting this woman insisting I'd dial incorrectly. So the operator checked: several Tempe connections have been loused up somewhere along the way. Also found out the lady had been getting calls (not for her, though) as late (or early) as 2 a.m.

R-E-ALLY! — Watching the World Series in the MU upper lounge yesterday morn., we overheard two coeds:

"Yeah, but the Pirates are still losing."

"Isn't he cute . . . Rocky Nelson, I mean?"

"Umm hmm."

"Talentèd, too. Don't you just love his latest record, 'I'm Not Afraid'?"

"Umm hmm."

Health Plan Registration 10 Percent Increase Noted

"Enrollment for the Associated Students Health and Accident Plan is 10 per cent ahead that of last year for both semesters," stated Charles H. Lock, insurance agent for the American Casualty Co.

Mr. Lock added that the enrollment period has been extended until Oct. 15. Policyholders for the 1959-1960 policies will not receive premium notices.

These policies are now out of date. Policy-holders should have received letters approximately six weeks ago for application of a new policy.

Last year all accidents were covered in full by the plan. The highest sickness claim to be paid last year was $1480.

The plan's benefits include some of the following for sickness and accident:

- 1) $18.50 a day for a period of 90 days or less.
- 2) $300 for miscellaneous hospital expenses such as drugs and X-Rays.
- 3) $300 for surgeon fees.
- 4) $5 per visit per day for doctor's calls.

In the case of an accident, an additional $300 is available, should the accident expense exceed the above listed benefits.

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man on campus named, oddly enough, Oddly Enough who was supple and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in phys ed.

Virginia and Oddly enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddly were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, unruffled course.

"You'll be bald before you're thirty!"

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddly was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said. "And besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddly tried very hard. "Hey," he said to her, "your nose looks like a banana, and your ears look like radar antenna, and your face looks like a pan of worms."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddly tried again. "You're fat and dumb and disagreeable," he said, "and you'll be bald before you're thirty."

"Hmm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with totemism, anagogic trauma, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddly. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"Now, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that pack or flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a full-flavored smoke, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a gas,—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddly and turned on her heel and stormed away.

Oddly brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you with all my heart," he said.

"And Marlboro?" said she.

"And Marlboro even more," said he.

And they kissed and plaited love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitsuntide and smoked happily ever after.

Communist Satellite Subject of Speech

ASU faculty members got a tourist's view of Communist Czechoslovakia Wednesday night in Home Economics room 102.

"Prague (Czechoslovakia's capital) is the showplace of the Communist world," stated Professor Ben Gossick.

"However," he continued, "impressions of Czechoslovakia are often merely superficialities unless one understands the language and customs." To illustrate, he related how several of the airplane passengers on his trip had been disturbed upon landing by low-flying Russian planes. The planes were merely part of a mass Russian Air Force Day exhibition, but the passengers temporarily had their doubts.

Dr. Gossick said his glimpse of life behind the Iron Curtain showed that the Communists are definitely suspicious. He cited how members of his group were followed during their visit, and how he was separated from his luggage (while it was apparently searched). He added how he had attempted to mail a toy accordion to a little girl in the United States. The postal authorities opened the package on the supposition that it was a bomb.

"The Czechs have a lower standard of living," he added. "A comparison of salaries and their earning power indicate that the standard of living is much lower than that of the Americans.

"From my window at the International Hotel, I saw an elderly woman — about 70 — working with a shovel for very long hours in the garden. I also saw other elderly people doing hard manual labor on the highways. I asked a bellboy why this was so, and he said, 'Oh, they just love it.'"

There are more soldiers in Czechoslovakia than we have in Germany," he stated. Czechoslovakia borders Germany. Many of these soldiers are Russian although they claim, "I am Czech." A talkative Czech soldier pointed to some marching men and said to me, "Those are Russian troops."

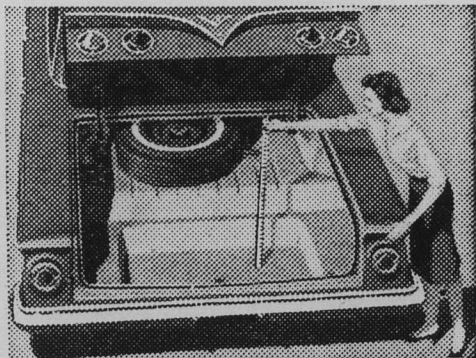

"Compared with the Czechs, we have a higher standard of living, we enjoy greater personal freedom and it is wonderful to be home," he said.

HERE! THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONE DERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14% higher—just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot and the loading height is as much as 10 1/4 inches lower.

Council Chairmen Named

Bill Coffrin was elected the new chairman of the Joint Council of Engineering societies at an Engineering Council meeting recently. At present, Mr. Coffrin is the chairman of the student section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

At the same meeting, Paul Brehm was selected as secretary-treasurer for the council.

In other action, it was decided that funds would be raised ed by sales of automobile window decals. The window stickers will be familiar "Sun Devil Engineer" signs.

The meeting featured plans for an Engineering ball this coming year, although no final decision was made.

Mr. Leland Ax, associate professor of Engineering, asked that "... all engineering societies be encouraged to give their cooperation and help to make this a successful year in any activities sponsored by the Joint Council."

Applications for 'Who's Who' Due in Dean's Office Soon

The deadline for application to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," has been postponed until Oct. 14.

A student must have earned at least 84 hours with a minimum cumulative index of 2.00 to be eligible. "The biggest problem in the selection of Who's Who is to get a good and representative list of nominees," said Karl Dennison, ASASU president.

The names of nominees must be in the office of the Dean of Students, MU 213, by next Friday.

The Faculty Women's Club's annual fall tea will be Wed., Oct. 12, 4-5:30, MU upper lounge.

NEW '61 CHEVY CORVAIR

More space ... more spunk and wagons, too!

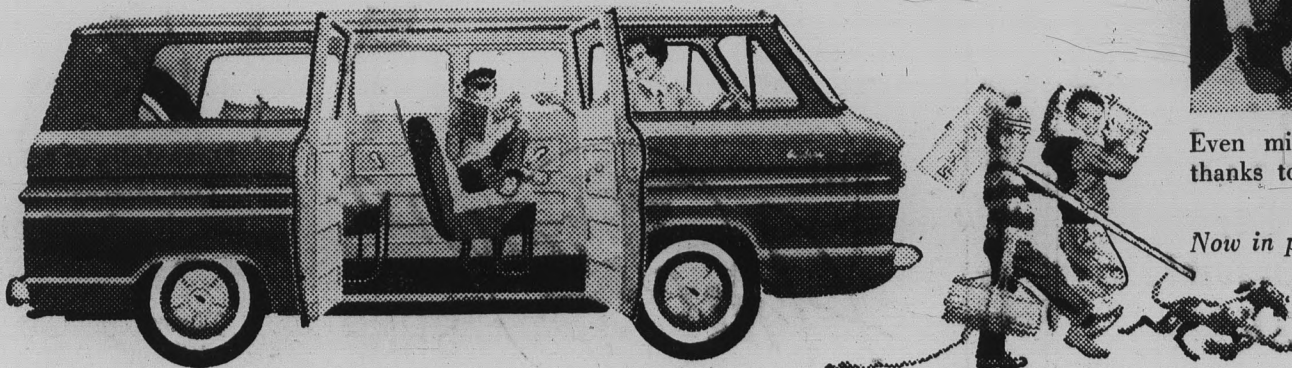

The newest car in America: the CORVAIR 700 LAKEWOOD 4-DOOR STATION WAGON.

CORVAIR 700 CLUB COUPE. Like all coupes and sedans, it has a longer range fuel tank.

CORVAIR 700 4-DOOR SEDAN. Provisions for heating ducts are built right into its Body by Fisher.

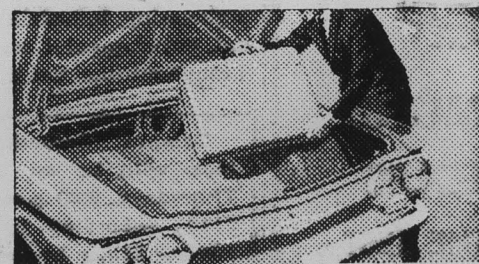

Here's the new Chevy Corvair for '61 with a complete line of complete thrift cars.

To start with, every Corvair has a budget-pleasing price tag. And Corvair goes on from there to save you even more. With extra miles per gallon ... quicker-than-ever cold-start warmup so you start saving sooner ... a new extra-cost optional heater that warms everyone evenly. Riding along with this extra economy: more room inside for you, more room up front for your luggage (sedans and coupes have almost 12% more usable trunk space).

And our new wagons? You'll love them—think they're the greatest thing for families since houses. The Lakewood Station Wagon does a man-sized job with cargo, up to 68 cubic feet of it. The Greenbrier Sports Wagon you're going to have to see—it gives you up to 175.5 cubic feet of space for you and your things.

Corvair's whole thrifty lineup gets its pep from a spunkier 145-cu.-in. air-cooled rear engine. Same rear-engine traction, same smooth 4-wheel independent-suspension ride. See the polished and refined 1961 Corvair first chance you get at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spare tire is in the rear in coupes and sedans—leaving more luggage space up front.

Even middle-seat passengers sit pretty; thanks to Corvair's practically flat floor.

Now in production—the GREENBRIER SPORTS WAGON with up to twice as much room as ordinary wagons (third seat optional at extra cost).

ART, etc.

By MIKE BENSON

Through the mails recently, we received a letter from Southern Methodist University announcing a composition contest (music composition, that is).

It seems that a gentleman donated a sum of money to the school to sponsor a competition for a "university alumnus-type song."

The contest will run until October 1963. Each year prizes will be offered to the three best songs submitted: $1000, $600, and $300 respectively for first, second and third place. At the end of that time the nine prize winning songs will be judged again for a grand prize of $1500. An additional $2500 will be awarded the grand prize winner if SMU should adopt it as an official school song.

The contest is open to all amateur or professional composers in this country and to citizens of other countries studying at accredited colleges and universities in the United States. The deadline for this year's competition is Feb. 10, 1961. Further information is available from: The Caruth Competition, P.O. Box 174, Southern Methodist University, Dallas 5, Texas.

Faculty Facts

ASU's Electrical Engineering department has undertaken a digital device research program.

Sponsored by the National Science Foundation, the project is headed by Dr. Truet B. Thompson, professor of Engineering.

Dr. Thompson says, "Traditionally, research grants are made to develop something from many small unrelated facts, but ours is made to digest and make practical highly complex mathematical formulas, some of which were developed more than 100 years ago."

Mrs. Jean Hopkins, assistant professor of Art, opened a one-man exhibition of jewelry Monday, at the Doris Birkland art studio in Monterey, Calif. Among the 16 pieces of jewelry, eight are produced by the contemporary ceri-perdue process.

An article by Dr. Roy M. Johnson, associate professor of Microbiology, appears in the current issue of the professional journal, "The International Bulletin of Bacteriological Nomenclature and Taxonomy."

Dr. Robert F. Menke, Placement Center director, was elected secretary of the Rocky Mountain Placement Association at a meeting recently in Denver.

Associate professor of Engineering, Peter K. Stein, is co-author of the reference and text book, "Strain Gage Techniques," which has just come out in its 1960 edition. The text, first printed in 1952, is now used by about 8,000 schools of engineering, industrial concerns and governmental agencies throughout the world.

Campus Crusade meetings will be on alternate Thursdays, 6:30 p.m. in MU 218A, according to faculty adviser Elmer Lappen.

Halacy To Speak Saturday

Don Halacy, ASU graduate and writer of teenage fiction, will talk before the newly formed Student Librarian Association at a noon luncheon tomorrow in the MU ballroom.

More than 150 student library assistants are expected to attend the 9 a.m. meeting, which includes lectures, a luncheon, tours of Matthews library, installation of officers and greetings by ASU faculty members and the mayor of Tempe.

The association was organized to aid and acquaint student library assistants throughout the state with the uniform practices of library procedures and to encourage the students in the further pursuit of library careers.

'Selling Yourself' Hardest Of Industrial Engineer's Job

"Selling yourself is the hardest part of the industrial engineer's job," emphasized Mr. Bob Evers, Supervisor of Time Study and Methods division of Motorola, at the American Institute of Industrial Engineers meeting yesterday.

Mr. Evers continued to say that industrial engineering entails more selling techniques than anything else.

"You must sell yourself and make it clear that you are there to help the employees do a better, faster job to make money for the company. Get all the science you can. Be able to talk with the scientists in their language."

Besides selling yourself, you are a consultant. How often you are consulted depends on how you use the knowledge you profess to have."

College Proposes System

DAVIDSON, N.C. (I.P.) — Favoring an unlimited cut system at Davidson College, Dean of the Faculty, Frontis W. Johnston believes that only upperclassmen should have the privilege of unlimited cuts. "Also I think that the twenty-five per cent rule should remain in effect," he added.

According to Dean Johnston, "If such a system were initiated, the students would like to realize that the chips would fall where they would and that we'd lose some customers. It would make the students more responsible for his own education if the coercive restraints were removed, and this would probably result in some fatalities.

"However, I'm not interested in a new system just to remove the chaff from the wheat. I'm in favor of it because I think it would make the student's attitude toward learning fundamentally different.

"Also I think that such a system would be a challenge to the teachers. They would no longer have a captive audience and would therefore have to really be on their toes. The professors and students would be part of a team, both trying to learn.

"The present system is somewhat illogical. It does not realize that there are some classes that a student needs to attend more than others. Also, after quality points have been lost when, in some cases, the student has taken five cuts, no further penalty is inflicted until the student has violated the twenty-five per cent rule.

"Some of my colleagues disagree violently with me concerning my views on this subject. They argue that the typical student is not mature enough to warrant a liberalized cut policy such as I favor. Well, I would agree with my colleagues that students are not mature. But I believe that one way to cultivate maturity is by giving students responsibility. The learning process would be much richer if it came from individual desire."

Marquee Is Assigned

"The Sun Devil marquee has now been assigned to the Activities Coordination board and it will be put to full use as soon as rules and regulations have been drawn up," John Summers, ASU student activities vice president, said.

The marquee, a three by six foot structure bearing the Sun Devil emblem, will be used as a billboard to announce all-school events. The marquee is located at the Sun Devil Hop Inn in the Tempe Center.

"Space on the marquee may be applied for by any organization. It will be given on a priority basis giving the most important events first consideration," said Summers.

ASU has exclusive rights to the marquee for eight years.

Drama Workshop Receives Chairs

The Vista Theater, in the process of remodeling, has given 500 upholstered chairs to ASU. They were removed from the theater and enough installed in the Drama Workshop to provide comfortable seating for future audiences. The remainder of the chairs will be utilized wherever they are needed.

Dr. James W. Yeater of the Drama department summed up the feeling of his department: "This is an extremely generous gesture on the part of the management of the Vista Theater in making these chairs available to the University; we are very grateful."

Dr. Kigin Writes Shop Article

Dr. Denis J. Kigin, assistant professor of industrial Education, at ASU, wrote the article, "What You Should Know About Shop Teacher Liability," which appears in the current issue of Industrial Arts and Vocational Education magazine.

The article reviews the nature and extent of shop teacher liability, considers the causes and remedies of pupil accidents, and analyzes the rights of the pupil, and the school district.

The Tonaires will provide music for dancing from 8:30 till midnight this evening in Clancy's. Refreshments will be served at reduced rates.

Jubilee Exhibit Planned

A Diamond Jubilee exhibit will be at this year's state fair, Executive Manager Dick Finley announced in the Executive Council meeting Monday. He said other public relations projects underway include a mimeographed calendar of events, and a study of campus bulletin boards.

He reported to the Council that many MU room keys given to past years' officers have not been turned in.

Larry Ellis, Education board chairman asked campus organizations to send representatives to the board. The board will be composed of 36 members, Ellis said.

Art Exhibition Lauds ASU; Organizations Faculty, Students Display To Receive Info Sheets

More than one third of the art works included in the second annual exhibition of the Arizona Designer-Craftsmen at the Heard Museum in Phoenix were created by ASU faculty members, students, and former students.

The show displays jewelry, enameled plaques, ceramics, carved wood panels, weavings, stitchery, wall hangings and hand-screen fabrics.

Ceramic bottles, jars and bowls are displayed by Don Schaumberg, associate professor of Art, Myron Webster, James Bacon, Ann Coe, and Roy McCowan. Among the jewelry are original designed pendants, chokers, bracelets, brooches, rings of silver and precious stones, which are the works of Jean Hopkins, assistant professor of Art; Miles Dresskell, professor of Music; Roland Seairight, teacher of Music; and Lathrop Gay, Kathryn Olson, and Mary Soule.

Carved wood wall plaques and carved wooden bowls are included by Ben Goo, associate professor of Art, James Bacon, Ann Coe, and Roy McCowan.

Judges for the exhibition were: Dr. Andreas Anderson, head of the UofA Art department, Bill Wilde, Tucson architect and Donne Puckle of the Phoenix Fine Arts museum.

The exhibition will continue until Oct. 22.

Dean Anderson's office is sending out information sheets to all campus organizations for use in compiling the forthcoming ASU catalogue.

An organization not receiving an information sheet should pick one up in his office.

Many organizations do not check their campus mailboxes in the MU mailroom located by the bookstore. "There are many letters in the boxes of some organizations which have not been picked up since the beginning of the semester. Some of these letters have airmail stamps on them," commented Dean Anderson.

Spanish Club Elects Aguilera

Los Conquistadores, ASU Spanish club, has voted John Aguilera president for the first semester.

Other officers chosen at the first meeting are Octavio Castaneda, vice president; Margaret Campos, secretary; Erna Aparicio, treasurer; and George Canchola, publicity.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., in Old Main.

A western dance sponsored by the Rodeo Club will start at 8 p.m. Saturday on the MU ballroom terrace. Admission is $1 per person or $1.50 per couple. Music will be provided by the "Trail Riders."

Freshman Women Serve As Hostesses

Noticed the new gals behind the MU information desk? They're members of the AWS Freshman Hostess committee, a 90-member group which serves as special hostesses in the Memorial Union.

Also, they serve in the faculty dining room at noon, and will soon begin acting as campus guides for visitors.

Training in personal appearance and social graces will be incorporated into their program, featuring outside speakers at their weekly meetings.

Membership is still open to freshman women.

The committee is composed of freshmen because "a program such as this offers the new coed a basic orientation to all campus activities," said Mrs. Ellen Bell, assistant MU director.

Devils Draw Leader Again

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

If Coach Frank Kush's Sun Devils have a weak spot it's pass defense. They have been receiving a steady diet of teams that deal primarily through the air and have still managed to come out on top in every encounter so far this year. It takes more than an average team to pit its weakness against an opponent's strength and still win.

Last week the Devils dealt with the nation's number one passer, Mel Melin of Washington State. Melin hurt the Sun Devils through the air but not enough to win.

Tomorrow the Demons will have the unusual distinction of facing the top passer in the nation for the second week in a row. Only this is a different guy.

While Melin did his sharpshooting against the Devils, Hardin-Simmons' Harold (Hayseed) Stephens had a hayday against Tulsa, completing 16 aerials.

This week's NCAA statistics show Stephens to be the top passer in the country. Melin slipped to third.

A successful pass defense doesn't depend entirely on smearing the passer. The ability of the defense to contain potential receivers plays a big part.

The Devils have had their work cut out for them here, too. Last week WSU's Hugh Campbell gave Demon defenders fits, grabbing eleven passes, three for touchdowns. He's leading the nation in pass receptions.

But there's another name right beside his in the national rankings. Bill Voss of Hardin-Simmons is tied with Campbell for the top spot.

Facing the top passer in the country on two successive weekends is bad enough. When you have to keep an eye on the top pass receiver two weeks in a row too, things are twice as tough, especially if your main weakness is pass defense.

SMALL THINGS . . . Al Nealey, the guy who rewrote basketball record books at this school, is reportedly doing well in his pro try with the Cincinnati Royals.

Seven rookies have been cut from the Royals and four, including Nealey remain. The other three are Ralph Davis from Cincinnati U., Bob Boozer of Kansas State and a guy who was everybody's All American — Oscar Robertson.

. . . Nolan Jones is second in the nation in scoring and fourth in rushing. The Devils are seventh in rushing offense and 12th in total offense.

Guard Against Letdown —

Devils Face Hardin-Simmons Aerial Game

By BOB JACOBSEN
 For the third week in a row, the Arizona State Sun Devils will face an aerial attack when they encounter Hardin-Simmons Saturday night at Abilene, Texas.

Harold (Hayseed) Stephens, H-SU quarterback, was ranked second in the nation in passing last week and tacked on another 16 completions in a losing cause against Tulsa University. Stephens has hit for 46 of 81 passes for 435 yards.

The Cowboy's leading ground gainer is converted end Sammy Oates. Oates, a varsity letter winner as a freshman end last year, has been moved over to fullback this season and has picked up 123 yards in 27 carries for an average of 4.6 yards per carry.

The leading Cowboy receiver is end Bill Voss, who has grabbed off 21 passes for 195 yards and one touchdown. He and Oates form a potent pair of pass receivers for the strong-armed Stephens.

Although the Cowboys have eight seniors in their starting line-up, they have yet to win a game this season. They fell to Cincinnati 15-14 in the last two minutes, Mississippi Southern 28-0, and Tulsa 21-7. The Cowboys rank next-to-last in the Border Conference in both total defense and rushing defense.

"We're guarding against a letdown Saturday night," ASU

Head Coach Frank Kush commented. "After last week's victory against a team of Washington State's stature, we can't afford to let down against a passing attack like Hardin-Simmons possesses. A couple of individual mistakes and there goes your ball game."

"Dick Locke played an outstanding game last week and the only injury was a minor one to Bob Rembert's arm. Cecil Manning will again be out, but we hope John McFalls will be able to go both ways."

TALENTED TOE . . . Nolan Jones displays form that has made him successful on nine of nine conversion attempts and two of two field goal tries. One of his field goals, a 39 yarder against Washington State, provided ASU with its winning margin.
