U.S. Goals Discussed ...

Abolition Of Royal Ball Voted By ASU Executive Council

ASASU's Executive Council voted Monday to abolish the annual Royal Ball.

The Council voted to end the inauguration dance and replace it with a formal dinner. The decision was prompted by a conflict in dates between the Ball and the Payson Leadership Workshop. Both events were scheduled for the April 29 weekend.

Dean W. P. Shofstall first proposed the dinner plan. He said that noted speakers and entertainers could be brought in for the event. Invitations would be issued only to the top student government leaders, but arrangement may be made for other students to attend.

First Vice President Les Miller noted that the proposal would not eliminate the election of the Campus King and Queen, who normally preside over the Ball, since their election is required by statute. But he suggested that the student senate might eliminate that provision requiring election of Campus Royalty.

The free dance has featured big-name bands and entertainment, such as the Limelighters and Les Brown and his Band of Renown.

Ed Manley, a student senator, questioned the legality of the abolition action yesterday. He said that numerous student statutes mention the event and include it as an official ASASU project. He said that senate action is required to abolish the Ball.

Christian Confab Here

ASU will host the Arizona Student Christian Conference on campus Feb. 17-19.

"Is Conversion Necessary?" is the conference theme. Discussion groups will look at the Christian faith in the midst of campus secularism in relation to world cultural religions.

Guest speaker will be R. Caldwell Smith, who is on leave from missionary work in India. Currently, he is serving as principal and director of missionary language schools and orientation centers at Allahabad and Landour, North India.

Smith has worked 21 years in rural evangelism and village church work.

Democratic Attitude Needed In Rededication To Goals

By BILL OVEREND

"Whatever we do, we must do as democrats — or perhaps not do it at all," James Creasman and Dr. Arnold Tilden agreed yesterday at the first discussion of the "Goals for Americans" series.

Kicking-off the new series, Creasman and Tilden joined with Dr. G. Homer Durham, Dr. Ben Gossick of the Physics department, and Dr. Thomas M. Weiss, associate professor of Education, to call for a rededication to the principles and goals that first guided America.

"Americans must seek high goals," Mr. Creasman, executive secretary of the Alumni Association said. "Our best answer to communism is our faith in our own beliefs."

Turning to problems confronting the United States today, Creasman, who discussed "The Individual, Equality, and the Democratic Process," said governments are hard-pressed to lead without becoming tyrannical, and to exercise authority without becoming authoritative.

"But it can be done," he concluded, "as long as our primary concern goes to the dignity and development of the individual."

Creasman also said American democracy illustrated the succeeding of raising American workers' living standards and the irrelevancy of Marxian theories in a class struggle.

"Closer to home," Dr. Tilden told the group, "we are confronted with definite obligations, which we must meet if we are to reach our educational goals. Most important of these is a general expansion of both the quality and quantity of all aspects of education."

Enrollment Totals 10,324

ASU second semester enrollment has increased six per cent, according to Alfred Thomas Jr., Registrar and Director of Admissions.

This semester's total on-campus registration of 10,324 represents an increase of 653 over the second semester enrollment of 1960.

Though enrollment in spring semester classes is usually less than first semester, this year's drop is less than half what it was in 1960, Thomas said.

Enrollment classification now include 8,129 undergraduate and 2,195 graduate students, of which 6,625 are men and 3,699 are women.

"More specifically," he continued, "we need more and better teachers, more than doubled facilities, more emphasis on science, and improved programs and techniques."

The second meeting of "Goals for Americans" will be next Tuesday, at 10:40 a.m., in the MU upper lounge. Discussion will include "The Democratic Economy," "Agriculture," and "Health and Welfare."

Drama Presented By Workshop Group

By BING BROWN

The Drama Workshop has turned out a very enjoyable production with the staging of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," although lines were generally rough.

Some faults may be attributed to "first night jitters."

Outstanding in her performance, was Ruth Beushausen in the part of Elvira.

It is interesting to note, that for the first time in the 1960-61 school year, bit parts lacked some of the usual vitality seen in most productions of the Drama Workshop. Particularly noticeable, was Edith, played by Susan Goldman. She occasionally dropped her "Cockney" accent. It might be better if she used none at all, rather than alternate from "Cockney" to American.

Sets for the play were tastefully done and costumes were pleasantly matched to both the role and the players.

Direction seemed to lack vitality.

ASU Student Nurses Offered Job Program

Juniors and seniors enrolled in ASU's School of Nursing are now qualified to apply for the revised Army Student Nurse Program which offers tuition, fees, higher rank and salary.

Rising costs of advanced education and increased need for professional Army nurses have necessitated the changes made in the program.

Those who enter the program in their junior year will receive $200 per month for room and board and will be given a beginning rank of E-1. They will gradually attain higher rank through their service in the corps.

Six months before graduation the students will be commissioned 2nd. Lieutenants in the Army Nurse Corps.

Captain Betty Lynch will be in the ASU Army ROTC dept. Friday to give further information.

Rush To Begin

ASU men interested in fraternities and desiring to register for informal rush may fill out cards in the Inter-Fraternity Council office, MU 212.

A special two-day fraternity open house program is planned by the IFC for Feb. 24 and 25.

Battle May Be Shaping Up Over Student Guest Tickets

By GARY PETER KLAHR

A student battle with the Athletic Department may be shaping up again this year. Debate at last Wednesday's senate session indicates that many conflicts exist between students and athletic officials over the athletic financial problems.

The current issue involves student guest tickets for football games. Currently, students must pay $3.50-$4 for every non-student guest that they want to bring into the student section of the stadium. Students complain that the price is exorbitant, and that it even prevents some married students from sitting with their wives.

The student senate has been wrestling with the problem for several months. A directive is now pending to ask the Board of Athletic Control for one somewhat minor change. This would permit students to sit free in any general admission section for which their guests have bought tickets.

Jim Chilton, Student Religious Council, reported that athletic officials are "absolutely unwilling" to let guests into the student section for less than regular prices. He said they also oppose the plan to let students sit in general admission free.

The controversy brings to mind last year's squabble over student seats and proposed gate fees. In the summer of 1959, President Tom Hulen signed a memorandum agreeing to give the Athletic Department $10 per student from activity money in return for certain preferred seats for the students.

When football season started, the students found they had lost their good seats. After several weeks of discussion, it was agreed to go ahead with the plan to give the Athletic Department $10 per student this year. However, later in the year, the Board of Athletic Control proposed a 75 cent gate fee for students that drew strong opposition.

The athletic matter was "settled" by the student senate in the general appropriations bill. The senate voted to appropriate the $10 per student, but with a provision cutting off athletic money unless the gate fee was cancelled and the students were given the preferred seats.

Acting President Richardson refused to sign the bill with those restrictions, and the senate agreed to eliminate them. The Board of Athletic Control voted subsequently to comply with the student demands, however.

Drive carefully! The life you save may be that of someone bringing us New Years presents.

Actually, that's just a sneaky way of plugging the National Safety Council, since nowadays, Chinese don't exchange New Year's gifts often, for two reasons: (1) No money; (2) No respect for the ancient tradition.

A long time ago, historians say, it was customary in China to make like Santa Claus on the first day of the new year. Orientals over here had it rough, well what with Chinese New Year's Day so soon after Christmas.

But times switched and gift-giving dropped; the colorful dragon and lion parades have gotten commercial; the first week of the New Year is nothing but food, good words and niceties.

The romance of the East goes modern like-ee the West. All except for one salutation we thought you'd like to add to your foreign vocabulary. It's equivalent to the English "Happy New Year," "Have a nice time" or "Hic!"

Our phrase is Gong (pronounced with a "long" "o"); Hee (as in laughter); Faht (as in past tense of fight); Toy.

Gong hee faht toy! Looks like a series of typographical errors... sounds worse!

... And as long as we're talking about holidays, we'll say birthday best wishes to Abraham Lincoln, who turned 152-years-old Sunday. This late great's birthday honor has become commercial too... means Monday off for some employees whenever it falls on a Sunday.

... And as long as we're talking about birthdays, here's a toast (butter and jelly, naturally) to good ole Arizona, former Baby State (before the ice and hula girls), which became 49-years-old yesterday as a state in the Union.

In addition, here's a day-old Happy Valentine's Day to you also, too. The AWS Blood Drive is today and tomorrow. Why don't we donate some and label our contribution a belated Valentine.

Letters To The Editor

Hopeful Proposal

To the Editor:

Since it appears that the jingoists have the upper hand here at ASU, I propose that something worthwhile be the product of such a hopeless situation: I am referring to the enclosed clipping from the Jan. 7 Arizona Republic:

"Washington (AP) Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) proposed yesterday the establishment of military medical school to serve the armed services and increase the nation's supply of doctors and dentists."

I predict the bulletin boards of the new medico-military school will bristle with notices like this:

"Please leave your rank insignia with the charge nurse—she will autoclave them—and pin them to your surgical gown." or:

"Do not carry stethoscopes in the jacket pockets—this interferes with proper saluting." or:

"There will be a film shown at 1300 today. The title is, 'Operation and Maintenance of the Mark IV Hypodermic Syringe.' Attendance is compulsory for all plebe interns." etc. etc.

Fortunately the Articles of War do not supercede the Oath of Hippocrates.

LETTERS to the Editor

Puzzled

To the Editor:

This letter is not intended as a criticism of anything. I just plain want to know. I am not an art student so I went to the Art department and asked one of the professors there what the connection was between Surrealist art — or any kind of art — and the Diamond Jubilee. He thought a while, then said not to bother him.

I went to the library and looked up Surrealism and it is the art of the unconscious, the irrational, and is full of Freudian symbols mostly of an erotic nature. It was interesting but what does this have to do with 75 years as a school of higher learning?

I think of colleges as a place where the conscious mind is trained and where the rational thoughts are given full due. So now I am more puzzled than ever. By the time this is printed I will have heard the Surrealist artist, Max Ernst. (I hope you will print this — I have heard that you shy away from letters of this kind even when politely written because your policy is so cautious and generally scared.) Perhaps he will tie in the art of the dream world unconscious with the Diamond Jubilee.

Puzzled.

Editor's Note: We think maybe it was an honor to have someone of Ernst's caliber speaking here, on whatever occasion, Also, we hope you enjoyed his talk.

Good Going

To the Editor:

The student-faculty open house last Friday was a tremendous success, in the opinion of this particular faculty member. The program was well planned, most entertaining, and truly enjoyable to those of us who took advantage of this opportunity.

Those who were responsible for the planning and execution of the program are to be congratulated. The fact that there was an activity of interest to any particular group made it something that everyone could enjoy.

Although the event was fairly well attended, it would seem that more should have taken advantage of this function. The State Press for Friday, Feb. 10, made no mention of the date of this event nor any announcement of the same.

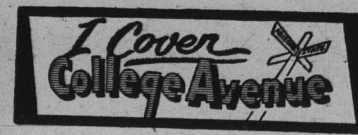

It would seem that a feature article would have been included in the paper. I might suggest that a personal invitation to a faculty member from a student might have caused more faculty members to attend. In the planning for next year some thought might be given to students sponsoring or being special hosts to members of the faculty.

I can only speak for myself, but I am certain that any faculty member who attended would heartily agree with all that I say about this program.

William H. Harris, Ph.D.
Professor of Marketing

Editor's Note: If this is the same Open House we attended last Friday, we would like to refer Dr. Harris to the lead story of last Friday's paper; a picture and five-inch story on page 10, same edition; and a previous story in last Wednesday's State Press, page 6.

By TOM HILTON

There is a little something for everybody along College Avenue, so for one time anyway, something for everybody is going to appear in the "I Cover College Avenue" column. For those of you who only read the State Press to find errors, we will misspell a word or two to please you. If you can not find enough errors here, you may refer to another page.

Our inspiring lawyers

Hilton may find a few libelous passages if they look hard enough.

We have nothing constructive to offer the intellectual-philosopher-truth seeker group, because if they were told the true meaning of all things, they wouldn't believe it. It has been said that if a person's beliefs are destroyed, they must be replaced with something that he can believe.

Something can always be said about the faculty but we have very little to offer them. If we did, we would probably be faculty.

The lovers around campus will be interested in our definition of love. You can either incorporate it into your line or use it to rationalize. Suit yourself.

Love is a condition involving a disturbance in the endocrine glands, which creates a distortion in the operation of the central nervous system.

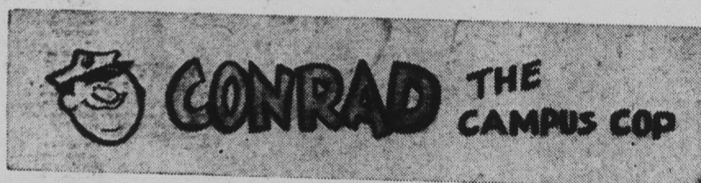

The prognosis in an advanced stage is poor. A cure can be affected if the condition is discovered early enough and if the patient is removed from his environment. This definition would also interest the medical student. In any case, it doesn't help much, does it?

Now we will devote a little space for a public service announcement: If you plan to go sight-seeing in the desert, (the Superstition mountains or Indian ruins around the Valley perhaps) be sure to take along items that would help you in an emergency.

If you should get lost, a compass and a knowledge of the area's landmarks would help. Also plenty of water. At least one gallon of water per person is necessary for safety.

A shovel and a piece of canvas would come in handy if your car should get stuck in a sandy wash.

Women should be especially careful to be properly dressed while traveling in the desert. Any woman who has dug her car out of the sand while wearing a tight skirt would advise against it. It could even be a little embarrassing.

Imps Rout Nellis; Lose First Game Of Season

Coach Fanny Markham's Sun Imp basketball team has gone from one extreme to the other in its last two games.

The Imps won their 17th straight game Saturday night with a 136-57 triumph over outclassed Nellis Air Force Base. It was the highest single-team point total ever for Sun Devil Gym.

Monday night the freshman five ran into a combination of exceptional shooting and a little too much experience by Kerr's Sporting Goods and dropped a 108-88 decision.

Ex-Sun Devil standouts Paul Howard and Paul Denham hit 30 and 27 points respectively to lead Kerr's in scoring.

Art Becker topped Imp scorers with 23 points. He added 23 rebounds but the Imps still missed the rebounding and scoring of Joe Caldwell who picked up four fouls in the first five minutes of the game and was forced to sit most of it out.

Saturday night, Becker had 30 points to lead the Imps in their rout of Nellis. Dennis Dairman was right behind with 29 and Caldwell had 23.

The Imps were scoring at slightly over the hundred pace during the first half of game against Nellis but came through with a 46-point third quarter to reach the hundred mark before the game was three-quarters gone.

After Convincing Wins -

Devils Prepare For Aggie Battle

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Coach Ned Wulk and his varsity cagers have turned their thoughts toward this weekend and a crucial road trip into New Mexico and Texas after resounding wins over Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State.

The Devils dumped Hardin-Simmons 97-78 Saturday night and steamrolled their way to a 108-70 win over West Texas' Buffaloes in Sun Devil Gym Monday.

Monday's victory was the tenth straight for the ASU quintet and the tenth in ten games at home. It also boosted their conference record to 7-0.

Ollie Payne scored a record-tying 37 points Monday night to lead the Devils to their convincing win. He equaled the previous all-time single game scoring record set by Larry Armstrong earlier this season.

Armstrong netted 21 points against the Buffs and led all scorers in the Cowboy game Saturday with 26.

The Devils' winning streak will be in jeopardy Saturday night when they tangle with New Mexico State on the Aggies' home court.

New Mexico State has currently suffered only one defeat in conference play: that at the hands of the Sun Devils here earlier in the season. In that contest the Devils caught the Aggies by surprise and racked up an impressive 86-66 win.

The Aggies are convinced that they will turn the tables this weekend, though, and the tie up the Border Conference title race. If they do, the Devils must win against Texas Western and Arizona on the road to gain a tie with the Aggies.

If ASU can defeat the Aggies, the Devils would only have to split against Western and the UofA to be assured of the conference crown and an NCAA tournament berth.

Payne and Armstrong have been the sparkplugs of the Devils' resurgence from a mediocre early season record of 5-4 to their current 15-4 mark.

The two talented juniors have scored especially well against Border Conference opponents. Armstrong had his record breaking 37 against Texas Western and Payne had 33 in that game.

In his seven BC games, Armstrong has hit point totals of 17, 37, 16, 27, 30, 26 and 21 points for a 24.9 average.

Although Armstrong and Payne have been the most adept at putting the ball through the hoop, they are not the only reason for the fine mid-season showing by the Devils.

Tony Cerkvenik's rugged rebounding and steady scoring, the inspired play of Gerry Hahn and the rapid improvement of guard Raul Disarufino have all contributed greatly to the Sun Devil's success.

Fine reserve showings by Mike McConpell, Bill Pryor,

Don Nelson and Rex Dernovich have also played important parts.

Mile Relay Team Breezes To Win

Arizona State's mile relay team remained undefeated indoors by breezing to victory in the Los Angeles Times indoor meet Saturday night.

The ASU foursome, Karl Schreiner, Mike Barrick, Mel and Mal Spence, won its head by about 30 yards over runner-up Occidental. The Devil's winning time was also better than that of USC and Michigan, among others, in another heat.

In addition to running the third and fourth legs in the relay, Mel and Mal Spence performed brilliantly in individual events.

Mel finished second to fellow countryman George Kerr in the 600-yard run. Kerr one of the world's best quarter and half milers, was clocked at 1:11.3 and Spence's time was 1:11.9.

Mal gained a third place finish in the 500-yard run, placing behind Eddie Southern and Jack Yerman. Pre-race favorite, Olympic Gold Medal Odis Davis, dropped from the race on the final lap.

Freshman sprinter Hubie Watson finished fourth in the 60-yard dash against a good field. Watson has been impressive in two appearances on the boards this year.

ASU hurdler Gaston Green hit the first hurdle and couldn't get back into contention over the short, 70-yard high hurdle course.

The next competition for the Sun Devil trackmen will be the Arizona Relays Feb. 25 in Goodwin Stadium.

ASU Golfers Place In Open

ASU golfers Wayne Breck and Paul Spengler finished among the top amateurs in the Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Breck carded a 72 hole total of 294 to finish third in the amateur division. Spengler's 308 gained him sixth place.

George Boutell of Phoenix was low amateur in the tourney with a 70-75-73-70-228. Billy Nicks of Los Angeles was second with a 290.

Breck and Spengler were two of the standouts on last year's ASU golf team and they will be returning, along with several others, to compete in the intercollegiate season which begins next month.
