Devil Cagers Assured Of Conference Tie

Neutral Location Sought For Possible Playoff

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Arizona State assured itself of at least a tie for the Border Conference basketball championship with a 94-75 victory over the University of Arizona Saturday in Tucson.

The Sun Devils then gave home fans a last look at the high-scoring offense that carried them to the conference crown as they thrashed Arizona State College 114 to 80 Monday.

Although they have remaining games against Regis College and the Air Force Academy on the road, they will be paying equal attention to New Mexico State as the Aggies finish their Border Conference schedule.

New Mexico State has remaining games with West Texas State and Hardin-Simmons and must win both to tie the Devils for the Border Conference title.

If they lose to either team, the Sun Devils will be undisputed conference champion and will represent the conference in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship tournament.

If the two teams tie, a playoff game will be necessary to determine the conference representative to the NCAA tournament.

Arizona State Athletic Director Clyde B. Smith in a letter to Dr. Emil L. Larson, Border Conference commissioner, asked that the game be played on a neutral court. In the past a coin toss has determined the site of the playoff game.

In his letter Smith said, "I feel very strongly, as does our basketball coach, that in the event the playoff materializes between Arizona State and New Mexico State, we should go to a neutral floor. . .

"The most important thing is that the team which most deserves to go to the NCAA playoffs go, and that we arrive at who is the best team under the most fair conditions.

"My suggestion is that in the event of a tie between Arizona State University and New Mexico State University the game be played at Tucson with the consent of the University of Arizona."

ASU Stand On Med School 'Prevented'

By BARBARA MARLOWE

"Our interest is vital; in an appropriate manner we have taken every opportunity to demonstrate this."

The interest Dr. Durham spoke of to the Faculty Assembly yesterday concerned the proposed medical school for which ASU is being considered. He also stated that the "feeling of the Regents prevents us from taking an active stand on the issue."

Dr. Durham expressed his personal opinion saying, "If such a study were to show a recommendation (favoring ASU) and were submitted to the legislature . . . there are very few decisions which would rank such high importance." He added, "Such a decision would be a very welcome one. I hope it would also be for you (the faculty)."

In his statement to the faculty Dr. Durham enumerated several steps that are being taken by the medical school survey committee. In them he stated that "the crucial visits are over."

Dr. O. C. Carmichael, head of the sub-committee which will ultimately recommend the location of the medical center, has visited the campus. "Every opportunity has been taken to show the committee the land area expansions and physical potentials of ASU," Dr. Durham added.

The Bureau of Business Services at ASU submitted many facts to the committee. "Now Dr. Volker has to assemble these facts and evaluate them." Dr. Durham also announced that the new 63-man committee will meet on Mar. 17 in Phoenix.

It was again emphasized that Dr. Volker has pointed out the possibilities of having two such centers in the state "in the foreseeable future."

"The decision is not in our hands. The survey is being made with the highest degree of objectivity," concluded Dr. Durham.

12 To 16 More Degrees Seen In Next Decade - - Durham

By SEL ERDER

Arizona State will offer the doctor of philosophy degree in six additional major areas of study, the Board of Regents announced at yesterday's meeting.

New PhDs will be in Chemistry, Psychology, English, Physics, Education and Engineering.

"By 1970 I foresee that approximately 12 to 16 additional fields might be added to the six mentioned," ASU President G. Homer Durham said at the session.

According to Dr. Durham, by granting these degrees the University will take advantage of existing facilities, new buildings, faculty now employed and students now enrolled.

Approval was granted in response to the request of Dr. Durham that the doctoral program, first authorized in 1952 for the doctor of Education degree, be expanded to include six additional fields.

Dr. Durham's proposal was approved with only one dissenting vote, that of Regent Elwood W. Bradford, Yuma. According to Bradford, we are traveling too rapidly.

"I'll have to vote against the motion unless a committee is appointed to study the engineering field," he said. Bradford indicated that he was in accord with the members of the board in connection with the other five fields.

Other major changes in the ASU academic program approved by the Regents were:

Two new master's degrees: master of Music and master of Business Administration;

The new fields of specialization, Music and Humanities, in the master of arts degree program;

A new major, Humanities, in the bachelor of arts degree program;

A new program leading to a bachelor of Music degree, with majors in applied Music, theory and sacred music.

In accordance with the requirements of the North Central Association, all minor teaching fields have been increased from 15 to 18 semester hours.

The Regents also approved the addition of 280 courses to the ASU curriculum and the deletion of 79. Of the 280 new courses, 151 are undergraduate and 129 graduate.

Another change approved was an increase in the late registration fee from $5 to $10.

Party Help Needed; Meeting Set Today

Student workers are still needed to help make the fifth annual Memorial Union Birthday Party an all-campus community project, according to John Sumners, ASASU activities vice president and general chairman of the event.

The party will be staged Mar. 18. In the meantime, props, decoration materials and equipment for special effects must be planned and gathered.

"San Francisco" will be the theme of this year's project, featuring Chinatown, Top O' the Mark, Hungry "i" and other famous points of interest.

Arizona State is getting "full consideration and remarkable assistance from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce," Mrs. Cecelia Scouler, MU director, stated.

Students interested in working on the party can register at the MU information desk. Also, a meeting for those interested will be in the senate chambers at 3:30 this afternoon, Sumners added.

Past themes of the Birthday Party include "Birthday Party U.S.A.," "Around the World in Eighty Days," "South Pacific," and "Alice in Wonderland."

SEW Concludes Activities Friday

Spiritual Exploration Week, annual project of the Student Religious Council, continues through Friday; this year's theme is "Dynamic Faith — Dynamic Society."

The remaining assemblies and buzz sessions are as follows:

WEDNESDAY

6:30 a.m., Breakfast served by the Newman Club at the Newman Center.

10:40, Assembly, "The Future of an Illusion: World Unity," Rex King and Father Paul A. Gopaul, resource leaders.

3 p.m., Faculty tea and buzz session, "Religion on the College Campus," Dean Gary Anderson, moderator.

4:40 p.m., Vespers, Westminster Foundation.

6:30 p.m., Buzz session, "Religious Dimensions of Personality," Dr. Bernon C. Grounds, resource leader.

7:30 p.m., Hillel meeting, MU upper lounge.

THURSDAY

6:30 a.m., Breakfast served by Lutheran Student Association, Presbyterian Church.

9:40 a.m., Assembly, "Religion: Can It Answer Society's Problems?" Elder Edgar Lyon and Rabbi Julian Feingold, resource leaders.

3:40 p.m., Buzz session, "Is Faith A Fad?" Elder Edgar Lyon, resource leader.

Drop Deadline Is March 14th

The deadline for dropping individual courses is Tuesday, March 14.

The ASU Catalog states on page 62, "A student who officially withdraws from a course during the first six weeks of a semester receives the mark of W. After the first six weeks a student may not drop courses from his official semester load."

"Students who wait until the deadline date do so at the risk of not being able to complete on time."

Campus Visitor Escapes Injury In Car Accident

A 48-year-old Winslow man escaped injury Monday, in a one-car accident on the ASU campus.

The car, driven by Donald Vincent Blanford, 314 W. 2nd St., Winslow, went out of control on 8th St. about 2:30 p.m. and backed approximately 100 yards across the lawn in front of Old Main. The car weaved through the trees, hit a tree and stalled.

Students at the scene found the driver unconscious, choking, and in convulsions. Police reported that Martha Gilchrist, Liberal Arts freshman, saved the man's life by inserting a stick in Blanford's mouth to clear it of obstructions.

A State Press reporter notified Campus Security officers, after learning other students had failed to do so. The police called an ambulance.

Placement Interviews

Today — Bell system including: Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph, Bell Labs, Sandia Corporation, Western Electric Distribution House, Western Electric Military Engineering Services, and Western Electric Manufacturing.

Tomorrow — Valley National Bank, Business Administration majors. Shell Chemical Company, Mechanical Engineers in Chemistry.

Educators Begin Meet Tomorrow

"Evaluating Supervision Practices," is the theme of the 13th annual spring conference of the Arizona Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Registration for the two-day public conference will be in the MU, 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. Marie Hughes, professor of Education at the University of Utah, Salt Lake City, will deliver the keynote address at 1:30 p.m. entitled, "New Horizons in Supervision."

Those attending the conference will participate in one of five work-study groups following Dr. Marie Hughes' address.

Groups and leaders are "How Can We Help the Teachers Evaluate Their Work?" — Dr.

Jerald L. Reece, assistant professor of Education at ASU; "How Can Our Work With Teachers Be Evaluated?" — Dixie Dozier, Principal of Post School, Yuma; "What Assumptions Have Caused Supervisors Difficulty?" — M. D. Van Fredenberg, principal of Paradise Valley High School, Phoenix.

Also "How Can We Release Creativity in Teachers?" — Neil Sherman, consultant for Phoenix Elementary Schools, District Number One; and "How Do We Effect Mental Health of Teachers?" — Mrs. Wanda Adams, principal of Davis School, Flowing Wells Schools, Tucson.

A banquet is planned Thursday evening in the faculty dining room at which Dr. Hughes will also speak. There will also be a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. Friday, at the Sands Motor Hotel, Tempe.

A panel of five educators from different universities will present their reactions to the summaries of the work-study groups at 9:30 a.m. They are: Dr. Virgil Gillenwater, Dean at Arizona State College, Flagstaff; Dr. Guy D. McGrath, Dean of College of Education, ASU; Dr. Ernest Melby, professor of Education, Michigan State University; Dr. Hollis Moore Jr., Dean of College of Education, University of Arizona; and Dr. Hughes.

Loyalty Oath Now Must

By LINDA WARREN

A bill requiring all public employees to take a loyalty oath was unanimously passed in the Arizona House of Representatives last Friday.

The requirement affects any person employed, either on a part-time or full-time basis, by the state, county, city, town or municipal corporation, school district, public educational institution or political subdivision, agency, agent or officer thereof.

The oath reads as follows:

"I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I do not advocate, nor am I a member or an affiliate of any organization, group or combination of persons that advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence; and that during such times as I am a public employee I will not advocate nor become a member or an affiliate of any organization, group, or combination of persons that advocate the overthrow of the government of the United States by force or violence."

ASU President G. Homer Durham declined "any statement at this time," when questioned by the State Press as to his opinion of the bill.

Dr. Richard A. Harvill, University of Arizona president said the bill was "unnecessary and discriminatory."

Dr. Harvill stated in last Wednesday's Arizona Republic he is "unalterably opposed" to the bill, which he charged had been "vaguely and loosely drawn, is woefully inadequate in meaning, ineffective and undoubtedly unconstitutional." Further, Harvill declared, "Alexander Hamilton denounced test oaths as a subversion of the presumption of innocence until proven guilty."

Quoting Abraham Lincoln on the subject of loyalty oaths, he said that "many other examples from history could be given to show that this kind of oath is repugnant to the ideals of free people."

Citing the standard pledge of allegiance to the nation, its Constitution and laws as examples of a positive oath, Harvill explained, "I would not offer a word of opposition to the oath that stands for something positive and for what we believe in, rather than emphasizing the negative and what we do not believe."

Harvill's stand was attacked by Rep. Robert Hathaway (D-Santa Cruz) sponsor of the bill.

"I can't understand why any public employee would feel shamed by taking this oath," he said.

Former State Supreme Court Justice M. T. Phelps, also criticized the UofA president.

Defending the doctor's stand were Rep. Douglas Holsclaw (R-Pima) who explained that he could understand the university president's objection although he himself favored the bill.

Rep. James Elliott (D-Cochise) also defended Harvill's views saying, "Dr. Harvill was raked over the coals because he differed. He had no opportunity to defend himself. There are no more loyal people than our teachers."

Dr. Harvill sought to have the oath reworded to read more positively and to delete the felony penalty section.

Yesterday's Arizona Republic reported that 30 faculty members at Arizona State College have endorsed Harvill's opposition.

The bill will now go to the Senate for study and final action.

Magazine Seeks Contributions For Spring Issue

Contributions for the "Prospector", student literary magazine, are now being accepted for the spring issue.

Dr. Richard Landini, editor-in-chief, said, "sales of the fall 'Prospector' were excellent. There are still some copies available in the English department office, University and Varsity bookstores."

All entries in the field of poetry, and fictional and non-fictional prose will be judged by a separate sub-committee of the Editorial board. The boards have set no standards for form or content of any material except that it be good.

Manuscripts may be submitted to any English instructor. Papers must be typed, double-spaced, and must be turned in before April 15. The spring "Prospector" is due to be published early in May.

Hours Reduced For ROTC Units

Required semester hours for the Army and Air Force ROTC programs have been changed from six to five hours for the Army and from five to four hours for the Air Force, Dean Arnold Tilden, dean of the Liberal Arts college announced.

The difference is to be made up in academic course work acceptable to the Army and Air Force.

The change, jointly arranged by the College of Liberal Arts and the ROTC units, will become effective September, 1961.

VI Art Exhibit Rivals 'Village'

Six ASU art students have brought a bit of Greenwich Village to the Varsity Inn patio.

Claire Chene, Carole Aushburn, Renee Luspader, Bobbie Kline, Darlene Goto, and Stephanie Eldridge are sponsoring an art show of their own paintings and drawings.

The exhibit will run all-week and will change every day. About 40 works per day will be displayed. The art works are for sale.

College editors-in-chief throughout our nation have been commenting on President John Kennedy's first days on the "new frontier."

We present examples . . .

"Cornellian," of Cornell College, Iowa, quoting the new head: "We will do what must be done." While this sentence has meaning for every American, it has special significance for men and women of college age who believe tomorrow is too late to do what should be done today.

"Of special interest to collegians was his proposal to form a national peace corps to help foreign lands meet their urgent needs for trained personnel . . . In the few days . . . John F. Kennedy has made absurd the charges of those who pictured him as an untried, inexperienced youth."

"The News," Northwestern U, Boston, on Kennedy's peace corps proposal, explained its meaning: ". . . talented young men willing to serve their country, as technicians, for three years as an alternative to peace-time selective service . . ."

On this subject, "The News" gathered some man-on-the-street views. Samples: "A very good idea, but should be applied to persons older than draft age"; "Will help cement relations with other countries"; "Would put to work potential lost when college-trained men are given menial jobs in the service"; "They must be thoroughly trained in language and customs"; "They'll do more harm than good. Only professional diplomats should represent the U. S."; "Women should be included."

The U of Utah's "Daily Chronicle" believes Kennedy's inaugural speech "may go down in history as a classic statement of American ideals." The editor concludes: "It's a large, tall order Kennedy faces, in his forum, maybe eight years in the White House. Let's hope it's not too big to fill."

We would like to comment; however, one of our advisors' political preference is Republican; another Democrat; the final independent. Can't seem to win . . .

Speaking of politics and other schools, here's some ready-made titles for new campus political parties submitted by the University of Chicago "Maroon" . . .

ANTI: Association of Non-Timorous Individualists; ETC: Edgers Toward Communism; WASP: Working Association of Student Progressives; STEMP: Students to Eliminate Militant Pacifists; and MUST: Militant Union of Student Thinkers.

AFTER-THOUGHT — "One thing about 'The Misfits,'" we heard the other day, "is I'm sure Marilyn Monroe saved the studio's wardrobe department some money on undergarments" . . .

Letters To The Editor Column Condemned

To the Editor:

I was both amused and irritated by the "Me, You, and ASU" column in the Feb. 24 issue.

The young author, Terry Fleenor, can be forgiven much in the name of callow youth, but, in the name of honest writing of poetry to those who can, and confine his journalistic puerile doggerel to his otherwise harmlessly labeled "poem" column.

From prior reading of Flee-nor's column, I should think he had enough trouble writing legitimate prose without hazzarding that which is obviously beyond him.

In short, Mr. Fleenor would be well advised to leave the writing of poetry to those who can, and confine his journalistic puerile doggerel to his otherwise harmlessly labeled "poem" column.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor's Note: ASU President Durham received a letter from Thomas P. Nelson, Worshipful Master, Silver Trowel Lodge No. 29, F. & A. M., last week, concerning a speech Dr. Weldon P. Shofstall, Dean of Students, made to the lodge before 100 Masons. In essence, the letter stated:

... They were all held spell-bound during Dean Shofstall's address.

We know Dean Shofstall has a busy schedule at the university and speaking for our lodge as a whole, we want to express our appreciation to your university for Dean Shofstall giving his evening time to come down and make this wonderful address.

... The way Dean Shofstall presented his talk and the sincerity of conviction in the way he answered the questions, your university should be most proud to have such a person on its staff.

His knowledge of subversive (communistic) influence and the way it is affecting the youth of our nation, as shown in the film "Operation Abolition," and his personal experience as dean of students, was most profoundly brought to our realization in his wonderful address.

I believe you will agree that universities and colleges all over our nation need more men on their staffs as Dean Shofstall, who are as sincere in their convictions concerning this influence and of the welfare of our children, who are the foundation of our nation's greatness. . .

Stuck!

Editor's Note: A letter to the State Press Feb. 17, concerning strict rules governing girls' dormitories, has been answered by letters both of praise and criticism. Last Friday, a letter from "The Satisfied Residents of the Mac 'A' Penthouse" said girls should be mature enough to abide by set rules. This letter in turn criticizes "The Satisfied."

Congratulations! You have been successfully oriented into a culture which allows no one to think for himself and have passed the obstacle course with flying colors.

Since when does it take maturity to accept, without thinking, the regimentation of a system constructed to the limitations of an average 13-year-old mind?

Speaking of marriage, which actually has nothing to do with the issue, what are the "Satisfied Residents" going to do when faced with a situation in which rules are not determined for them?

A true test of maturity is the ability to evaluate a situation for yourself and set your own limits.

The Observers

By TOM HILTON

Congratulations to the "Satisfied Residents of the Mac 'A' Penthouse." Anyone who can stay locked in the closets" of Mac "A" is truly an exceptional individual.

It is incredible that you are allowed to iron your own clothes in your own rooms. What a privilege! On top of that you have crazy activities. Wow! Let's hope they're not too crazy.

You speak of maturity and responsibility. It seems that the girls who are mature enough and responsible enough to take care of themselves would be insulted at some of the nit-pickin' rules that prevail on this campus.

Maybe this is why they have rebelled. Maybe they want to be given a chance to be their own keepers, instead of being pecked at and babied.

They have found fault with the system and have aired their feelings. Thomas Carlyle has written: "The greatest fault, I should say, is to be conscious of none."

What students talk about in the Den: Last night's date — last night's party — tomorrow night's date—tomorrow night's party — classes, pro and con; mostly con — professors, pro and con; again mostly con — drinking, mostly pro — the best fraternity on campus — the worst fraternity on campus — the "Football game," — all con — the "basketball game" — all pro — the drags — ROTC — the possibility of not making it through the semester and the latest edition of Mad.

What students talk about in the V.I.: Truth — relative truth — last night's discussion — tomorrow night's discussion — the ins and outs of chess (rah rah, rah rah rah, king's pawn, king's pawn, king's pawn.) — why Spain won the war of 13-42 (mainly because they were not in it)—the new slogan of the Peace Walkers (walk now or run later) — Art — the "stupid" State Press — the relative philosophies of irrelevant people and the latest edition of the "Realist."

We have often wondered what the Faculty talk about in the faculty dining room, but there hasn't been much of a chance to overhear anything choice. Maybe next year.

We ought to all get together sometime, pool our knowledge and find out where the girls are.

Goals For America Discussed At Confab

By JIM HOLLAND

"To a certain extent we Americans are responsible for much of the revolutionary turmoil in the present day world.

Dr. Karl Dannenfeldt, chairman of the division of behavioral and social sciences, made this statement in the last of the "Goals for Americans" series yesterday.

The discussion concerned "Goals Abroad: Helping to build an Open and Peaceful World."

Dr. Dannenfeldt supported the role of the United States in helping to iron out many of the problems arising among the countries of the world. He quoted President Kennedy as saying: "We must support the United Nations as an instrument to prevent the cold war."

"Our goals abroad are inseparable with our goals at home," Dr. Heinz Hink, associate professor of Political Science, said in discussing foreign economic policies.

Dr. Hink stated our duty abroad is three-fold: 1. Higher export of surplus; 2. increased aid to under-privileged countries; 3. sharing mutual defense costs with our allies.

Commenting on the discussions, Dr. Pranas Padalis, associate professor of Economics, felt that the commission was reluctant to present the magnitude of problems or to define a paramount goal for the United States.

Dr. Kent Pillsbury, associate professor of Education, stated that it is of the utmost importance to establish a balance of power. This requires cooperation in all educational programs in this country that will correlate with the development of economic programs.

Academic Vice President Richardson, substituting for general chairman G. Homer Durham, summed up the "Goals for Americans" series by saying its purpose was to: "Acquaint us with the book 'Goals for Americans,' stimulate interest, concern and discussion; and help us understand the major problems which the United States faces along with people of other nations."

Philbrick To Speak Today

"IT'S HERE—IF YOU WANT TO WORK FOR IT"

Even before Ron Spetrino received his engineering degree from Case he had good job offers from six companies.

He joined The Ohio Bell Telephone Company—his reason: "I was convinced an engineer could go further here—if he was willing to work for it."

As soon as Ron got his feet on the ground in telephone engineering, he was tapped for a tough assignment. The job—to engineer switching equipment modifications needed to prepare Cleveland for nationwide customer dialing of long distance calls.

Ron wrapped it up in five months, and found he had earned a shot at another tough assignment. In this job Ron helped engineer a completely new long distance switching center for Cleveland. This switching center connected Cleveland with the nationwide customer dialing network. It was about a year later that Ron put the finishing touches on the specs for this $1,600,000 project.

Today, as a Supervising Engineer, Ron heads a staff of five engineers and is responsible for telephone switching in much of the greater Cleveland area.

He supervises the design and purchase of $3 million worth of equipment a year. And even more important, he is charged with developing the technical and managerial skills of his staff.

Ron knows what he's talking about when he says, "In this business you have to do more than a good job. We expect a man to be a self-developer. We expect him to take responsibility from his first day on the job and think for himself. You don't get ahead around here by just doing time."

If you want a job in which you're given every chance to prove yourself, and real responsibility right from the start—you'll want to see your Placement Office for further information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

ASU Fraternity Growth Told By Dean Anderson

Sixteen national fraternities have been chartered on the ASU campus since Tau Kappa Epsilon came on in 1948 as the first national group.

Fraternity rushing and pledging increased by 40 per cent over previous years in the fall semester rush period.

During the spring informal rush period, 60 to 70 men participated in the event.

"The growth of fraternities on the ASU campus has been fantastic," stated ASU Dean of Men Gary Anderson during Sigma Pi fraternity's Founders Day Banquet.

"Despite their growth, fraternities on our campus have maintained high standards. For the fourth straight semester, the over-all fraternity average is higher than the over-all non-fraternity's average. The over-all fraternity average this semester is 2.3 while the non-fraternity average is 2.09. This is unusual for a campus," he stated.

"But fraternities should not relax," he warned. "Now is the time for fraternities to build, patch and reinforce."

"We are comparing the size of fraternities on the ASU campus with other campuses, where fraternities have been established 30 to 70 years. So we're still relatively young, with lots of room to grow."

"Fraternities will be aided in their growth by the new housing development that is going up at Eighth St. and Scottsdale Rd. Barring a major catastrophe the new fraternity houses should be completed a year from this fall," he added.

Three more national fraternities are now petitioning for acceptance on the ASU campus. They are Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Tau and Theta Delta Chi.

Three new fraternities will soon be coming onto the ASU campus. They are Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Gamma Delta and Beta Theta Pi.

Foreign Film To Be Shown

Jacques Offenbach's operetta, "Tales of Hoffman," will be shown tomorrow at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Cosner auditorium.

One of the foreign film series programs, the color motion picture was written and produced by Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger, known for their production of "Red Shoes". The film features the Sadler Wells chorus and Sir Thomas Beecham, directing the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.

Stars include: Moira Shearer, Leonide Massine, Robert Helpmann, Pamela Brown, Robert Rounseville, and Ludmila Tcherina.

The story of the poet, Hoffman, and his three loves, Olympis, Giuletta, and Antonia, is told through ballet, opera and pantomime.

Kappa Delta Pi Meets Thursday

Dr. Robert C. Morris, president of the University of Dallas, will be guest speaker at the Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary meeting tomorrow.

Dr. Morris, former chief counsel for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, will address the group at 7:30 p.m. in MU 218A.

Nurses To Meet; Set Ticket Sales

The ASU student nurses association will have a business meeting tonight at 7 p.m.

Student nurses are selling tickets, 10c each, to help their candidate for Arizona Association of Student Nurses Queen, Diane Davis. The winner is determined by the amount of tickets sold.

AS Indian Club Elects Officers

The Dawa-Chindi American Indian Club of ASU elected new officers at its Feb. 23 meeting.

Elected were: Frank Blythe, president; Peterson Zah, vice-president; Ellen Hull, recording secretary; Pat Thompson, corresponding secretary; and Rosalind Begay, publicity chairman.

Future plans for the club include participation in the Southwest Indian Basketball Tournament which runs tomorrow through Saturday at North Phoenix High School.

Engineers Elect New Officers

The Student Society of Civil Engineers has announced election of new officers. They are Dennis Christy, President; John G. Etz, Vice-President; Nick J. Petra, Secretary; A. Kay Rogers, Treasurer.

Delta Sigma Pi Hears Speaker

Jack G. Williams, chief inspector of the intelligence unit of the U. S. Department of Internal Revenue, was guest speaker at today's breakfast of Delta Sigma Pi, international business honorary.

The 6:30 a.m. breakfast in the faculty dining room, was open to members and pledges.

This pledge class is being called "the Hilkert pledge class" in honor of Dean Emeritus Hilkert of the business college. Dean Hilkert, one of the founders of the ASU chapter, is retiring this year.

Larry Bayles was recently elected DSP president and Stewart Bancroft, secretary.

Sun Imps Topple Kerr's

Arizona State's Sun Imps closed out the season Monday night by defeating Kerr's Sporting Goods, 114-77. Only two games before, Kerr's had broken a 17-game Imp winning string.

The Imps finished the season with an 18-2 record. Their losses came at the hands of Kerr's and the University of Arizona frosh in Tucson last Saturday. The Kittens won that one 94-74.

Joe Caldwell scored 30 points against Kerr's Monday to lead both teams in scoring. Dennis Dairman had 24 and Art Becker 10 in that game.

Against the UofA, Dairman's 24 points took scoring honors and Becker had a 19 point night.

WORDS: THEIR CAUSE AND CURE

Today let us take up the subject of etymology (or entomology, as it is sometimes called) which is the study of word origins (or insects, as they are sometimes called).

Where are word origins (insects) to be found? Well sir, sometimes words are proper names that have passed into the language. Take, for instance, the words used in electricity: ampere was named after its discoverer, the Frenchman Andre Marie Ampere (1775-1836); similarly ohm was named after the German G. S. Ohm (1781-1854), watt after the Scot James Watt (1736-1819), and bulb after the American Fred C. Bulb (1843-1912).

There is, incidentally, quite a poignant little story about Mr. Bulb. Until Bulb's invention, all illumination was provided by gas, which was named after its inventor Milton T. Gas who, strange to tell, had been Bulb's roommate at Cal Tech! In fact, strange to tell, the third man sharing the room with Bulb and Gas was also one whose name burns bright in the annals of illumination—Walter Candle!

The three roommates were inseparable companions in college. After graduation all three did research in the problem of artificial light, which at this time did not exist. All America used to go to bed with the chickens. In fact, many Americans were chickens.

Well sir, the three comrades—Bulb, Gas, and Candle—promised to be friends forever when they left school, but success, alas, spoiled all that. First Candle invented the candle, got rich, and forgot his old friends. Then Gas invented gas, got rich, bankrupted Candle, and forgot his old friends. Then Bulb invented the bulb, got rich, bankrupted Gas, and forgot his old friends.

They became fast friends all over again

Candle and Gas, bitter and impoverished at the age respectively of 75 and 71, went to sea as respectively the world's oldest and second oldest cabin boy. Bulb, rich and grand, also went to sea, but he went in style—as a first-class passenger on luxury liners.

Well sir, strange to tell, all three were aboard the ill-fated Lusitania when she was sunk in the North Atlantic. And, strange to tell, when they were swimming for their lives after the shipwreck, all three clambered aboard the same dinghy!

Well sir, chastened and made wiser by their brush with death, they fell into each other's arms and wept and exchanged forgiveness and became fast friends all over again.

For three years they drifted in the dinghy, shaking hands and singing the Cal Tech rouser all the while. Then, at long last, they spied a passing liner and were taken aboard.

They remained fast friends for the rest of their days, which, I regret to report, were not many, because the liner which picked them up was the Titanic.

What a pity that Marlboros were not invented during the lifetimes of Bulb, Gas, and Candle! Had there been Marlboros, these three friends never would have grown apart because they would have known how much, despite their differences, they still had in common. I mean to say that Marlboros can be lit by candle, by gas, or by electricity, and no matter how you light them, you always get a full-flavored smoke, a filter cigarette with an unfiltered taste that makes anyone—including Bulb, Gas, and Candle—settle back and forget anger and strife and smile the sweet smile of friendship on all who pass!

© 1961 Max Shulman

Another peaceful smoke from the makers of Marlboro is the brand-new unfiltered king-size Philip Morris Commander. Try one soon and find out how welcome you'll be aboard.

Doesn't Lose At Home

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

This is Ned Wulk's fourth year as head basketball coach at Arizona State University.

Local fans have seen Wulk-coached teams win 47 times in those four years. They have seen his teams lose only five times.

Twice in four years Wulk's teams have gone undefeated at home. This was one of those years. Monday night the Sun Devils won their eleventh straight home game to give Wulk another perfect season in Sun Devil Gym.

Here is a rundown on Wulk's four years at the helm of the Sun Devils.

HOME GAMES

	Won	Lost
1957-58	10	3
1958-59	14	0
1959-60	12	2
1960-61	11	0

Wulk believes that the game should be played for the pleasure of the fans and it would be hard to please them any more than he has so far as head man of the Devils.

SMALL THINGS . . . Speaking of home games, baseball season is only a few days away and coach Bobby Winkles has lined up the most attractive home schedule in the school's history.

Saturday's double header against New Mexico will start things. From then on the baseball action will be fast and furious.

. . . Archie Moore, the grand old gentleman of boxing, is scheduled to be guest columnist for Friday's issue of the State Press.

He's boxing an exhibition match at Phoenix Madison Square Garden tonight in preparation for his upcoming Light Heavyweight title fight against Giulio Rinaldi.

Trackmen Impressive In Opener

Compete Saturday In Los Angeles

Coach Baldy Castillo was pleased with his tracksters' performances in the Arizona Relay Meet Saturday but warned that they would have their work cut out for them this weekend in the Southern Pacific AAU meet in Los Angeles.

The Sun Devils easily outclassed the rest of the field Saturday, winning seven events and taking five seconds in the 12 events.

Although no team points were kept, ASU was far ahead of the other three schools, Arizona, Texas Western and New Mexico State.

Several factors played important roles in the good showing by ASU.

Hurdler Gaston Green played key roles in two relay events and then came back to defeat the UofA's Harry Lucky in the open high hurdles.

Jesse Bradford came off the spring football practice field to run outstanding legs in the shuttle hurdles and 440-yard relay.

Don Jeisy, ill all week and unable to work out, tied with teammate John Rose at 14-2 to win the pole vault.

Darrell Jansen, a freshman basketball player, placed second in the high jump and ran a strong leg in the shuttle hurdles. Jansen hadn't had a single high jump practice session prior to the meet.

Border Conference Javelin champ Wayne McDonnell won easily with a 221 foot toss, the second best of his career and way ahead of his opening meet toss of last year.

The ASU mile relay team had no trouble winning in a good early season time of 3:16 even though three of its members had run half miles earlier in the meet.

The team, Karl Schreiner, Mike Barrick, Mal and Mel Spence, is undefeated this track season. It holds two indoor wins earlier in the year at Los Angeles.

"The boys did a good job Saturday," said Castillo, "but the competition on the coast is always rugged and they'll have to be at their best to win there."

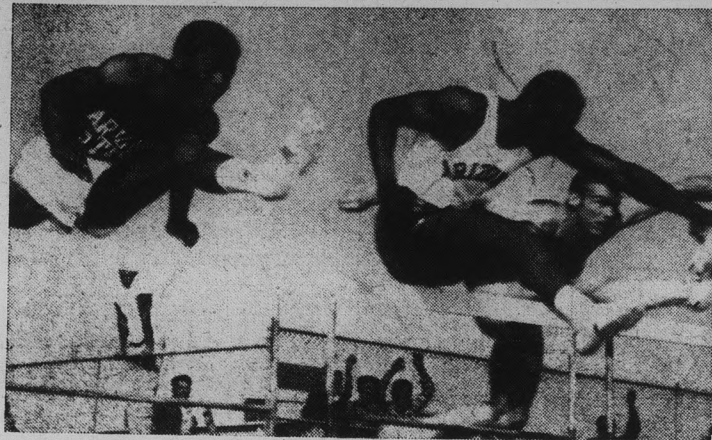

The S.P.A.A.U. is a relay meet with several of the top collegiate teams and individuals in the country entered.

Gymnastics Team Wins

ASU's gymnastics team remained undefeated in dual meet competition by defeating the University of Arizona, 86-73, here last Saturday.

The ASU gymnasts, recent victors over Brigham Young, were led by Bill Cornelius' 37 points. Cornelius had five firsts, a second, a fourth and a fifth place.

Dave Bonham and Tom Kalloff scored 25 and 14 points respectively for the Sun Devils. Dave Imhoff of Arizona was second to Cornelius with 27 points.

Gaston Green, left catches Arizona's Harry Lucky near the end of their hurdles race Saturday. Green came from behind to nip Lucky at the Tape.

Sun Devils Top Wildcats, Axers

A college basketball rarity occurred Monday night when four Arizona State players scored 21 points or more as the Sun Devils trounced Arizona State College 114-80.

Larry Armstrong broke out of a slight slump to regain his mid-season form and pour 26 points through the hoop and Gerry Hahn seemingly could not miss, hitting 26 also. Big Ollie Payne played his usual good brand of ball while netting 25 points and Tony Cerkvenik added 21 and teamed with Hahn to clear the boards effectively.

It was the last regular-season home game for the Sun Devils. They came into it after clinching at least a tie for the Border Conference championship by trimming the University of Arizona 94-75 in Tucson Saturday.

Track Results

440-yard relay — 1. ASU (Bradford, Coleburn, Green, Watson); 2. Texas Western; 3. Arizona; 4. New Mexico State. T-42.7.
