Phi Sig-KD Project Nets $1,304.63

Video Tape Machine Given . . .

For Palsy Campaign

This $53,000 machine, a new video tape recorder, was presented as a gift to ASU by the National Educational Television and Radio Center, New York City. It will enable our Bureau of Broadcasting to record televised programs instantaneously and store them for future use. Lynn Dryer, chief engineer, tests the machine and Bureau Director Richard Bell checks the video picture.

Two Arizona State student organizations worked together to collect $1,304.63 for the United Cerebral Palsy Fund last weekend. Their amount was the highest single contribution to Phoenix's 17½-hour telethon Saturday and Sunday. Over $50,000 in donations and pledges was reported by the Fund steering committee.

The ASU Greek letter organizations, Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity and Kappa Delta social sorority, worked for their national philanthropic project, the Cerebral Palsy Fund, by stopping automobiles and seeking donations Saturday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the north end of the Tempe Bridge.

"We collected the largest amount in the single donations category," Dick Parnell, co-chairman of the project, stated. He said contributions ranged from pennies to $10 bills and included Canadian and Mexican coins.

"The working people were the ones who gave," Parnell acknowledged. "People driving big cars said they didn't have any money."

Television and movie celebrities, including Actress Jayne Mansfield, her husband, Body Builder Mickey Hargitay, Actor Barry Sullivan, Singer Helen O'Connell and Actor Raymond (Perry Mason) Burr, headlined the telethon.

Burr was master of ceremonies of the show; entertainment came from the Phoenix Orpheus Male Chorus, the Luke Air Force band, and Valley talent selected from over 100 auditions held in the past two weeks.

Cerebral Palsy victims were brought before the television cameras to emphasize the need to support the fight against the disease, which is "a disability due to damage of the brain centers before or during birth, resulting in imperfect control of the muscles and marked by muscular in-coordination, spastic paralysis and speech disturbances."

Arizona Teachers Denounce 'Oath'

By BILL OVEREND

College professors throughout Arizona joined forces Saturday to denounce the proposed state loyalty oath now under committee study in the state senate.

The oath, they say, is self-defeating, ineffective, ambiguous, discomfiting, and unconstitutional.

Their indictment came at a meeting in Tempe of the Arizona State Conference of the American Association of University Professors. At the meeting were representatives from the U of A, ASC, and ASU.

A pool of ASU professors revealed these sentiments on the subject:

Dr. Douglas G. Arner, associate professor of Philosophy, said, "All teachers have already sworn to uphold the state and national constitutions. By signing this oath, professors will be forced to subject themselves to public investigation, ridicule and persecution whenever they discuss controversial issues."

Dr. Paul G. Hubbard, chairman of the Department of History, stated, "A communist conspirator would not hesitate to sign it."

Dr. Reynold J. Ruppe, professor of Anthropology, said, "This oath has seriously damaged universities in other states. I thought this sort of thing had gone out with Joe McCarthy."

Dr. Marvin Mark Fisher, assistant professor of English, pointed out, "This is an unwise piece of legislature. It sets the dangerous precedent of requiring test oaths for employment. Instead of emphasizing my responsibility as a citizen, this oath requires that I affirm I am not disloyal, presupposing disloyalty as the normal state of affairs. Also, its problems of interpretation and enforcement leave much room for abuse."

Col. Alexander W. Bryan, chairman of the department of Air Science, was the only person to defend the oath. "Anything that exposes communism has my whole hearted support," he said. "If college professors are the good Americans they claim to be they shouldn't object to signing this oath."

ASU Wins Coin Toss; Playoff Game Scheduled At Sun Devil Gym Saturday

Sun Devil Gym will be the sight of the playoff battle between New Mexico State and Arizona State this Saturday night.

The rubber match between the co-champions of the Border Conference race will decide the league's representative to the NCAA playoffs in Portland later this month.

After New Mexico State had wrapped up its conference season by romping over Hardin-Simmons, 88-72, Monday night, a coin was flipped to decide the site of the Playoff.

"I was expecting the worst," said Head Coach Ned Wulk. "Now that we'll be playing here, I hope the local fans won't let us down."

New Mexico State had originally suggested the game be played at ASU but reconsidered and left the decision up to Border Conference officials.

A proposal that the game be played at a neutral site was overruled in favor of the coin toss.

Since ASU must underwrite the expenses for the game, including New Mexico State's traveling costs, admission will be charged ASU students.

Prices will be $1.00 for students, $2.00 for student guests, $2.50 for reserved seats in the West stands and $2.00 for seats at either end of the gym. Students will sit in the East bleachers and balcony as they did for regular-season games. Student tickets will be on sale at the door Saturday night on a first come basis.

If the Sun Devils win Saturday they will advance to the NCAA championship tournament. Their first-round opponent will be one of four Northwest teams — Portland, Oregon, Oregon State or Seattle.

ASU has split in two games against both Oregon and Oregon State and lost to Seattle by one point in the final seconds.

Election Wheels Start; Petitions Available Friday

Petitions will be available Friday for candidates seeking Associated Students, Associated Women Students, Associated Men Students and Senate posts. Candidates will be able to take out petitions at the office of ASASU Secretary Linda Houle, MU 202.

A meeting of all candidates is scheduled Mar. 16 to explain rules and qualification requirements.

Petitions will be due Mar. 24; a tentative date, April 11, has been set for campaign rallying; primary elections will be April 12; and the general election will be April 19.

This year, for the first time, there will be two senators from the Graduate College.

Events Start Induction

The ASU Symphony Orchestra will open a colorful inauguration program tomorrow with a concert in the MU ballroom.

Other inauguration activities include:

Space-age uses of age-old phenomena will be discussed at 9 a.m. Friday in the Life Science Center during a national symposium on meteorites.

The Friday meeting of the Phoenix Rotary club at 12:10 p.m. in the Hotel Westward Ho will be in observance of Dr. Durham's inauguration.

"The Role of the State University in the Development of the West" will be discussed by four university presidents, two vice presidents, and the dean of academic planning for a university system, at 2:30 p.m. on Friday in the Life Science Center.

A "Symposium on Bach" is scheduled for 3 p.m. in the MU ballroom.

The inaugural banquet, preceded by a 6:34 p.m. reception in the Kachina Room of the Hotel Westward Ho, will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the hotel's Thunderbird Room.

Council Hears Campaign Rules

Stricter enforcement of campaigning procedures and rules governing ASASU organizations campus sales were discussed at the Executive Council meeting Monday.

Tom Brown, Elections Board chairman, said that there will be ditto sheets attached to each petition (coming out Friday) explaining who is eligible and the exact procedures for campaigning.

The Election Board will have regular meetings during the campaigning period and anyone is invited to come and ask questions.

Brown added that any infringement on any of the campaign regulations would immediately disqualify that person.

Expense accounts will be due no later than 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 11. Any additional campaigning to be done between the primary and general elections must be made known to Brown or a member of the board, 24 hours in advance.

Wes Metzler, MU board chairman, reported any approved ASASU organization had a right to sell on the MU grounds. However, to prevent too many groups from selling in one spot at the same time, each group is required to register at the MU information desk.

These groups must have the sales franchise card and/or poster numbers issued by Executive Manager Dick Finley.

Law Enforcement Training Given At ASU By FBI

Law enforcement officers from many parts of the state arrived on campus yesterday to attend a three-day school, sponsored by the Arizona Law Enforcement Committee on Training.

John B. Duffey of the FBI is instructing those attending, in investigating sex crimes.

Lieutenant Virgil McCabe, Sergeant Rex Nichols and Patrolmen Bill Steverson and Bill Stotts, are the four members of the Department of Campus Security attending the school. Its final session is Thursday.

ASC Ruled Out As Arizona Med School Location

Flagstaff was ruled out as the site of a medical school for Arizona, Dr. Joseph F. Volker, director of the med-school committee, announced last week.

He said that Flagstaff may be considered for location of a health education unit, such as a nurses' training center or a pharmaceutical school.

With Flagstaff scratched, the two remaining centers of population and higher education are Tucson and the Phoenix-Tempe area.

"Arizona has the distinction of being the only state in the Union with a population of over a million that does not have a medical school," Dr. Volker said.

He added that "Medical education has always been associated with a university of excellence . . . It will cost you money, but you will get your dollars returned for every dollar invested."

The statement concerning Flagstaff was made to Tucson Rotarians last Thursday.

Institute Offered

ASU in one of 17 universities in the country selected to offer a Counseling and Guidance Institute under the National Defense Education Act.

The $169,295 contract with the U.S. Office of Education provides for a program designed to improve the qualifications of high school teachers preparing to enter the guidance field.

Applications and transcripts must be submitted by April 15 to Dr. Sandford S. Davis, director of the ASU Institute.

The 30 teachers selected to participate in each of the two sessions during the academic year 1961-62 will be notified by May 1. Applicants must be presently employed in a secondary school and be preparing to engage in counseling and guidance.

They must be eligible to pursue work in the ASU Graduate College, and must have completed at least one course applicable to counselor preparation.

Teachers accepted may request stipends of $75 a week, plus $15 a week for each dependent, during the duration of the Institute.

$1,000 Art Gift Presented ASU By N.J. Couple

A gift of $1,000 was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Long, of Westerfield, N.J., to the American Art Heritage Fund, to expand ASU's collection of American art.

The gift will enable purchase of important and interesting additions, said Miss Paula R. Kloster, curator of the collection and professor of Art.

The Longs last year presented an oil painting entitled "The Clown" by Lenard Kester, an associate of the National Academy of Design. The painting is in Matthews Library.

VROTC Bill Misses Legislative Session

A bill to make ROTC voluntary was not introduced in the State Legislature. By the Feb. 27 deadline, the bill had not reached final form. The deadline each year is the 50th day of the session.

Members of the Committee for Voluntary ROTC met with legislators last Feb. 7, at which time the introduction of such a bill was considered. At that time several legislators indicated support for the student's position.

Gary Peter Klahr, in charge of introduction for the committee, said, "We are naturally disappointed that the bill could not be introduced. Of course, we sought introduction too late, so the bill probably wouldn't have received floor action anyway."

Klahr also stated that the voluntary ROTC supporters would press the campaign through the Board of Regents now. The Regents are due to consider a student senate petition for voluntary ROTC at their next meeting.

Applications For Loans Available To ASU Students

Applications are available for students desiring a National Defense Student Loan for the 1961-62 academic year.

Application deadline is May 1. Special consideration will be given to those majoring in education for the elementary and secondary levels, math, engineering, science and modern foreign languages.

A minimum index of 2.5 is necessary.

Applications may be obtained in MU 213.

Traffic Court Confab Convenes Tomorrow in BA

A three-day Traffic Court Conference, sponsored by Governor Paul Fannin, will begin tomorrow in the BA building.

The conference, designed to combat the rising highway death toll in Arizona, will attract more than 50 city magistrates and justices of the peace from the Phoenix area.

A similar conference has been conducted in Tucson, and another is slated for Flagstaff, allowing all state traffic officials to attend.

Jerry H. Glenn, president of the State Bar of Arizona, will preside during tomorrow's sessions. Other conference leaders are Robert Pickrell, Attorney General; Robert L. Donigan, director of the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University; and Dan Seaman, president of the Justice of the Peace Association.

Tickets Available For Two Plays

Student tickets are available at the Cultural Affairs office for the performances of two plays this month.

"The Man Who Came To Dinner" plays at the Sombbrero Playhouse March 11 and 12.

March 11 through 18, the Phoenix Little Theater will feature "Green Grow The Liliacs."

JAZZ STAR IN TEMPE CENTER

Art Farmer, young Phoenix jazz trumpet player is going to spend Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 in Hills Records, Tempe Center. Farmer has worked with Lionel Hampton, Horace Silver and Gerry Mulligan. He is now appearing in Phoenix at the new Stein and Sirloin Parlor Room with his sextet. Benny Golson, tenor sax; Tom McIntoch trombone; Cedar Walton, piano; Tommy Williams, bass; Albert Health, drums.

EDITOR'S Scratchpad

By TOM HILTON

Things are really going to be jumpin' around the old MU the 18th of this month. Featured at this year's Birthday Party will be The City, (San Francisco) all the way from the Top o' the Mark to the Red Garter. The Mark Hopkins Hotel, located on top of Knob Hill on California Street, is one of the more sophisticated spots of the city.

Hilton

The Red Garter holds forth at the edge of North Beach and features peanuts, beer and noise. The band, called The Strugglers, plays anything from Sweet Adeline to Tiger Rag. Some of the instruments include three or four banjos, a musical saw, a tuba, a rinky tink piano and a set of bagpipes. Like swing man! Have you ever heard a set of dixieland bagpipes? Tell me, are you going to import The Strugglers or the beer for the Birthday Party?

Did you know that 99.8 percent of all AFROTC cadets are unaware of the term M-1 thumb? Also 84.2 percent of all Army ROTC cadets wish they weren't. Good luck at summer camp.

Stag girls are going to be at the Military Ball this year. . . Guess that solves the problem of people yelling about being forced to go. There might even be people picketing the place, their cards reading: "Unfair — they won't let us attend the Military Ball."

Have you heard about the new car called the Mafia? When you lift the hood, there's another hood underneath. Also a new brand of cigarettes will soon appear on the market called Brand X, for those who want to be second best. It's crowded on top of the heap you know.

The ASUHBS reports that there has been a 32.76 percent jump over last semesters campus pretty girl population. The ASUHBS by the way, is the Arizona State University Health Bench Sitters.

Seems that the more some people look around, the less Americans they find.

A story has been told that during WW II a good way to find a spy was to ask them if they knew the second stanza of the Star Spangled Banner. If they knew it, off to the jail house with them.

Nowadays the big deal is to prove in some way that you are a good American, but something like the Loyalty Oath isn't going to help much.

During the last war every German citizen was required to sign a Loyalty Oath. Here in the United States, loyalty was more obvious by the performance of an individual, rather than by his signature on a piece of paper.

"Dear Sir," the letter started. My eyes automatically glanced over words like "error," "Frisco," "uncouth" and "mental sloth."

"Ouch!" I squinted. "What'd we do now?"

Continuing, I found the letter was spurred by "an error of deepest gravity" made in a State Press front page article Feb. 24. In the article, we nicknamed San Francisco, which is the theme of this year's Memorial Union Birthday Party, ("about which more later"), 'Frisco.

Ong

"The use of this word, apparently meant to be used in a chic manner indicating the writing has really been around," the letter accused, "is most coarse. Nothing could be more vulgar or uncouth. The name of the city is San Francisco, it's (sic) nickname is 'The City.' The Metropolitan area is referred to as 'The Bay Area,' not 'Frisco.'"

Then: "We natives of the ONLY city in the United States that offers a taste of EVERYTHING of the world do hereby enter our protest and condemn you. And don't come back with this business about 'everyone who isn't a native can call it what they like' or 'everyone calls it 'Frisco,' because that is what any provincial mental sloth would say."

"Students of Arizona State University We repeat, (sic sic) the name is San Francisco."

The letter was signed Len Cereghino, Noel Amherd, Nancy Estep, Jim Kohnke, Joan Peterson, Tom Currier, Jim Patton, Leslie Farnsworth, Bill Meyers, Bob Garcia, Steve Anthony, Jeannie Neal, Phyllis Pickard, Paul Spengler, Bill Hicks, Bill Reck and Steve Engles.

Well, after a few seconds of deep pondering, we hopped to the phone, dashed around College Avenue to seek some opinions.

Fortunately, we bumped into several San Franciscans (hope this term is okay, por favor) and learned that a small minority actually didn't mind the term "Frisco," slightly consoling, because we then weren't completely wrong.

Well (again), we are indeed sorry for what insulting we did. Really. Apologies and all that jazz.

We discovered that none of the letter signers have registered to work on the fifth annual Memorial Union Birthday Party, scheduled Saturday, Mar. 18, the theme of which is to be "San Francisco" and the object of which is to encourage every student at ASU to work together this once on an all-campus community project.

We would like to plead to the letter writers and all San Franciscans, by nature or by heart to "chip in" and make sure our reproduction of "The City" is appropriate. The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has gone out of its way to help our Party! perhaps they expect you to follow through in a devoted tradition.

The party work must be done in 10 days; we're depending on you, too.

Rare Occasion Here!

The intellectual eyes of the nation turn on Arizona State University this week: Dr. G. Homer Durham is being inaugurated as the University's tenth president.

Part of the inaugural program is three special panels, open to students, faculty and friends of ASU.

These include a national meteorite symposium Friday morning and two afternoon panels, "Role of State Universities in the Development of the West" and "Impact of World Events on the Economy and Culture of the Western States."

It isn't often that such an opportunity for widening one's intellectual horizons is available. ASASU President Karl Dennison stated, "It will provide me and other students with an almost-once-in-a-lifetime chance to hear and see some of our country's best men of science and education."

This week's inauguration will be a rare experience to see indeed! And it welcomes our inspection.

Purpose Of Oath

To the Editor:

You ask: "If the bill requiring public employees to take a 'loyalty oath' passes in the State senate and becomes law, how will it help the people of Arizona?"

You answer: "It will accomplish nothing . . ." I think if you would examine the purpose of the oath a little more closely, you would find your reasoning is correct as far as it goes:

1. It does require that all public employees pledge not to overthrow our government by violence.

2. It is true that Communists would be among the first to sign the oath because of their lack of scruples or morals.

This you stated. But let's go one step further.

3. If evidence is found that one of these who signed the oath is a Communist, then the State may prosecute a person for perjury, who otherwise would be perfectly free to go.

This, I feel, is the purpose of the oath and a beginning step in the right direction in our fight against Communism.

Sue Perkins

Columnist Defended

Editor's Note: Terry McDonald, an ASU graduate student, opposes a letter written by J. B. Davis (Mar. 1 State Press), in which he criticized the "me, you, and ASU" column written by Terry Fleenor. The article appears each Friday on this page.

Come, come, Mr. Davis. We throw rocks at the conformists, and rocks at the non-conformists, and pretty soon we'll leave no stone unthrown! All right, so Mr. Fleenor's poetic experiment wasn't the best in the world, but I dare say Madame Curie didn't come up with radium every time she picked up a test tube. Neither do our young editors come up with a literary gem every time they take pen in hand.

Really, don't you think we should keep in mind that college is a learning situation and is the training ground for later efforts that may (or may not) be much more spectacular? I personally applaud Mr. Fleenor's efforts, if not his poetry and thoroughly disagree with you in your criticism of his prose.

In fact, my first reaction upon reading Mr. Fleenor's column after my return to ASU (after several years' absence) was, "Ah, I see the State Press is gaining new vitality. We have a brave experimenter on the scene."

And if you don't think one must be "brave" to be an experimenter, put yourself in Mr. Fleenor's place as recipient of such an unilateral censoring as you sent.

BOB VIEWS SPORTS NEWS

Big Weekend For Revenge

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

This weekend will probably be recorded as the biggest ever, sports wise, in the history of Arizona State University.

Things start Friday night when Occidental's fine track team comes to town. A bitter track and field rivalry exists between the two schools and they usually compete against each other several times each season. For example, the mile relay teams from the two schools have already run against each other three times this season in meets on the coast.

Last season Oxy defeated ASU in a dual meet here and the locals, stronger than they were last year, will be out to avenge that loss.

Saturday there's the big afternoon baseball doubleheader against Pepperdine, a team that defeated ASU twice in an opening-day twin bill last season.

Again the revenge angle plays an important part. That best-ever 32-13 season last year would have been 34-11 if it hadn't been for the Waves.

MORE REVENGE

Coach Bobby Winkles says, "We're going with the best we've got against Pepperdine. We want to win those two games badly. We won't do much experimenting against that team."

And, of course, topping the list of home athletic events is the basketball playoff game between ASU and New Mexico State in Sun Devil Gym.

This time that important factor, revenge, enters the picture again. Two years ago the teams were in a similar situation in Las Cruces and the Aggies soundly defeated the Devils to gain a spot in the NCAA tournament.

There's a lot of avenging to be done by Sun Devil athletes this weekend. And none of it will be easy.

SMALL THINGS . . . ASU's Sun Imps will also have their work cut out for them Saturday. They play Kerr's Sporting Goods in a preliminary to the Sun Devil-Aggie game.

Kerr's is reportedly loading up for the game with the addition of several Phoenix College players and will be tough to beat in that rubber match.

Tracksters Outstanding In SPAAU Competition

Arizona State's mile relay team, currently the fastest in the nation, turned in its best clocking ever in the Southern Pacific AAU meet Saturday in Los Angeles.

The speedy Sun Devil foursome, Mike Barrick, Karl Schreiner, Mel and Mal Spence churned the mile course in 3:10.4 to break the SPAAU record of 3:11.6 set by the same group last year.

Southern California and Occidental finished second and third, respectively in the event with times of 3:12.3 and 3:13.4.

Sharing the spotlight with the relay group were pole vaulters John Rose and Don Jeisy and high jumper Joe Caldwell.

Rose won the pole vault event with a 14-10 leap, eclipsing the old record of 14-6 3/4 set in 1959 by UCLA's George Roubanis.

Jeisy tied with USC's Jim Brewer for second place with a 14-5 3/4 vault.

Perhaps the most surprising of the ASU performances was the 6-5 1/2 second-place high jump effort by Joe Caldwell.

Caldwell concluded play as a member of the freshman basketball team last week and did not have a chance for even a single workout prior to the meet. His jump was second best among more than 30 high jumpers in four divisions.

ASU's 440-yard relay team was third behind Southern California and Occidental. SC's winning time was 41.5 and ASU was only three-tenths of a second back at 41.8. Team members were Jesse Bradford, Al Coleburn, Mal Spence and Hubie Watson.

A mishap cost Arizona State a possible victory in the 880-yard relay. The Sun Devils were in contention throughout the event and Watson was fast closing ground on the anchor leg when he was fouled by an Occidental man who had already lost his baton.

Occidental was disqualified and the Sun Devils finished second to Southern Cal and ahead of UCLA.

A terrific third leg by Mel

Spence was the key to the new record established by the mile relay team. Melville turned the oval in 46.8 seconds to thoroughly discourage winning aspirations of Southern Cal and Oxy, the nearest teams.

Mike Barrick opened with a respectable 49.3 leg and Karl Schreiner open a lead with a 47.2. Mel stretched the margin and his brother Mal sped home in 47.1.

ASU plays host to Occidental in a dual meet this Friday.

Occidental is one of the top track schools in the country year after year, and should be a slight favorite over ASU this season.

Last year Oxy defeated the Sun Devils in a dual meet held in Goodwin Stadium. ASU and Occidental trackmen have already competed against each other several times this season in Southern California meets with the Devils faring better on most occasions.

Demons Top Lobos Twice; Face Antelopes Tomorrow

ASU's varsity baseballers started the season on the right foot with a 7-3 and 2-1 double header sweep over New Mexico's Lobos here Saturday. They will try for their third straight win against Grand Canyon College here tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

Fine mound performances by Roger Barnson and Sterling Slaughter were key factors in the Sun Devils' victories.

Barnson allowed only one earned run while scattering nine hits in the opener and Slaughter limited the Lobos to four safeties in the second game.

Roger Tomlinson and Danny Ikeda led ASU to the first game win, Tomlinson driving in three runs with two singles and Ikeda pounding across two others with three hits.

In the second game Slaughter had a no-hitter going for 4 2/3 innings before Jim Kirkpatrick singled. In the meantime the Devils were having no better luck with Lobo pitcher Charlie White.

The Devils managed to squeeze past the Lobos by virtue of a bases loaded single by pinch hitter Paul Runge and a passed ball.

Coach Bobby Winkles, showing disappointment in the absence of Sun Devil hitting power, has announced some changes for tomorrow afternoon's game against the Antelopes.

es for tomorrow afternoon's game against the Antelopes.

The Devils collected 12 hits in two games, all singles, so Winkles will insert Paul Runge into the first base post in hopes of getting a long ball.

Steve Kennedy will take over the left field position while Mike Matsik, who has been playing first, will move to either second or third.

Starting on the hill for the Devils will be speedburning righthander Mike Tatum.

Tatum won 9 and lost 3 last spring and led the mound corps in strikeouts with better than 70.

Saturday, Pepperdine comes to the Sun Devil diamond for a doubleheader. Winkles plans to throw Barnson and Slaughter in those games against the always-tough Waves.

ASU and Pepperdine met twice last year with the Waves winning both games.

Sun Imp Nine Splits

ASU's Sun Imp baseball team split its first two games of the season. It defeated Phoenix Union High School 6-2 last Friday afternoon and lost to National Junior College Champion, Phoenix College in 10 innings yesterday, 8-7.

Basketball Season Best In History

By DICK BURROUGHS
The most successful and highest scoring ASU basketball team in history is not yet ready to sit back and look at its records. New Mexico State and then who knows, are still to come.

The Devils, however, might well have the right to bask in the glory of having made early

ASU Netters Drop Opening Match

Gusts of wind up to forty miles per hour hampered the ASU men's tennis team as they lost a 6-1 opening match to Ft. Huachuca, Saturday.

The Army players proved more experienced in windy weather tactics. They forced the Devils into a "ping-pong" brand of tennis.

Edd Leonard and Dick Draper, playing number one doubles, were the only ASU netters to win.

This afternoon the Sun Devils will play Phoenix College on the Bear courts.

Scores: Col Tuma (H) def. Leonard (A) 6-4, 3-6, 6-1; Sgt. Shackelford (H) def. Draper (A) 6-3, 6-2; Gil Reid (H) def. Sam Shultz (A) 6-3, 6-1; Joe Camball (H) def. Joe Johns (A) 6-4, 6-1; Roger Jaques (H) def. Cecil Stair (A) 6-2, 0-6, 6-4. In doubles, Camball-Reid (H) def. Johns-Shultz (A) 6-3, 6-2.

season predictions look naive. It was not long ago that people in the know were saying the cagers would be "darn lucky to win ten games this season."

Winding up the season with "who cares" wins over Regis College and the Air Force Academy, the Sun Devils brought their record to 20-5.

After coasting past Regis last Friday night 86-77 behind Larry Armstrong's 27 points, the Devils started their battle with the Air Force Falcons, Saturday, in a similar fashion, breezing to a 44-27 halftime lead.

It was close to ten minutes into the second half before the Sun Devils could pry the lid off the basket and hit a second goal. Then the deluge began and, led by Olile Payne's 22 points, the Wulkmen clipped the Falcons' feathers 69-66.

At one point in the contest, the Devil's got ten points in one minute and did not allow the Falcons to get the ball up past half court as the zone press worked to perfection.

In the process of setting a season won-lost mark, the cagers also set an all-time point record of 2,087 for the season, beating 1958-59's 26-game mark of 2,062.

Larry Armstrong added icing to the cake by pumping 487 points through the nets for a new season high at Arizona State.

He also left his name on the record books when he hit on 193 shots from the floor to surpass Al Nealey's 181 field goals. Armstrong averaged 19.5 points per contest to erase Nealey's old mark of 18.4 set in 1959-60.

For Coach Ned Wulk, this season represents the finest record in his college coaching career. His best previous mark was a 20-8 with Xavier, which included a two game split in the N.I.T.

Looking back, Wulk remembers a good many question marks but as the season progressed those questions became affirmative answers. He credits the highly successful season to team spirit and the bread-and-butter performances of his big men in grabbing rebounds from teams which generally had greater height.

The Sun Devils did not lose any games at home this season and in the five losses on the road the margins of defeat were tight.

They lost to Fresno State by one, 77-76; to Seattle by one in overtime, 87-86, and then to the Aggies of NMS by three, 70-67. Also on the short end were losses to Oregon and Ore-

Gymnasts Beat San Diego State

Arizona State's gymnasts remained undefeated in dual meet competition by topping San Diego State 76-68 last Friday in the coast city.

Bill Cornelius once again starred as he won five firsts and accumulated 40 points.

He also won a special division based on all-around performance with 49.27 points. Dave Bonham was third in the all-around division with 46.15 points.
