Next Year's Leaders Of Associated Students . . .

New leaders of the student body check over Wednesday's general election results. They are, from left, Gary Walker, president; and Sel Erder, secretary, who were elected in the general; Jim Chilton, first vice president; and Jim Howard, activities vice president, who were elected in the April 19 primary election. (Larry McGrath Photo)

Gary Walker will lead the slate of ASASU officers for next year. He defeated Grant Allen by 581 votes for ASASU president, in Wednesday's general election.

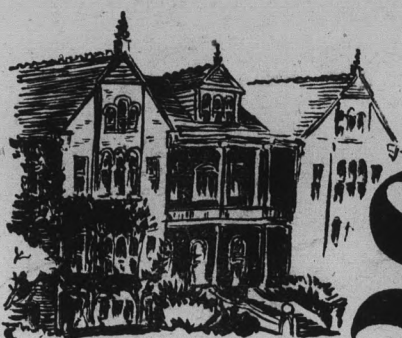

Other offices decided Wednesday are: ASASU secretary, Sel Erder, 1,069, over Kathryn Sefferovich, 954; AMS president, Bob Carter, 629, over Mark Cockrill VIII, 516; AMS treasurer, Dick Estes, 622, over Jim Warne, 521; AWS secretary, Carole Hendrickson, 453, over Marilyn Rossini, 395.

Senatorial seats decided are: Liberal Arts, Henry Klopping, 258, Sue Jeffries 252; also ran: Howie Bernstein 249, Ron Meyer 212; Education, Don Noller 322, Sherri Ulmer 302; also ran: Helen Plummer 296, Beverly Dexter 253; Junior Class, Wayne Cole 287, Lynda Salisbury 249; also ran: Jan Nichols 202, Floyd Harris 160; Off-Campus Men, William Mahan 354, Daryl Despain 330; also ran: David Reger 309.

The total votes cast in Wednesday's final election fell 83 votes short of the 2,144 cast in the primary election held April 19, according to Election Board Chairman Marsha Smith.

Outstanding Women Honored

By CAROL OSMAN

Arizona State University coeds received special recognition and honors yesterday during Woman's Day programs.

Beginning with pre-dawn tapping ceremonies by Pleiades, senior women's honorary service group, the day featured a morning assembly program and an evening awards banquet, both in the Memorial Union.

Guest speakers at the morning assembly were Dr. Carolyn Gerster, specialist in Internal Medicine and Cardiology, and Miss Virginia Hash, Phoenix attorney.

The Faculty Women's Club sponsored the assembly which emphasized the day's theme, "The Wisdom to Know; The Courage to Do."

The awards banquet, sponsored by Associated Women Students, was the scene of numerous introductions and several suspenseful moments as top honors were announced.

Following the introduction of residence hall presidents, new sorority presidents, and the Women's Day steering committee, the AWS Council for 1961-62 was installed.

The program then continued with the introduction of newly tapped members of Pleiades, senior women's honorary; Nantani, junior women's honorary; Spurs, sophomore women's honorary; and Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary.

Residence halls having the highest academic standing were given recognition. McClintock B, the honor hall, was lauded for having topped its own average, while Palo Verde received the award for the non-honor hall with the highest grade average.

Mrs. Grady Gammage, state president of the American Association of University Women, presented the AAUW state membership awards to Darleen Arthurs and Nancy Weigle. Margaret Stanton and Alexandra Bakowicz received scholarship awards from the Phoenix branch of AAUW, while Jeanne Kleykamp was the recipient of the AAUW Tempe branch scholarship award.

Four Delta Kappa Gamma awards, presented by Dr. Irma Wilson, a founder of the Arizona chapter of the professional education honorary, went to Joy Fuller, Agnes Stephens, Ann Okada and Janet Elliott.

The PEO award went to Gay Blanchard, while the physical education major award was presented to JoAnne Gunder-

Roxanna Berry, Gary Avey Named 1962 Yearbook Editors By Board

The Board of Publications yesterday appointed the editors for next year's yearbook.

At this week's meeting, the board approved Roxanna Berry to serve as editor-in-chief. Gary Avey was appointed art editor.

Miss Berry, a Journalism major, will be a senior next year, and has had experience editing two other yearbooks. A native of Mt. Carmel, Illinois, she graduated from William Woods Junior College in Fulton, Missouri.

Gary Avey, of Phoenix, will be a junior in Advertising and has worked for Arizona Highways magazine. Both worked on the 1961 Sahuaro, to be published next month.

Student Health Service Offers New Type Polio Vaccine Here

A new type polio vaccine is now being offered to ASU students at the Student Health Service, according to Director Mrs. Elaine H. McFarland.

The vaccine is given in two doses four weeks apart at a cost of $1 per dose. A third dose should be given seven months after the second dose in order to have complete protection. Two doses, however, will give some protection during the summer months, which is the peak of the polio season.

Drama Season Ends Next Week

Four short plays will close the current season of the ASU Drama Workshop.

Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton"; Henry Carewe's "The Queen's Little Finger"; August Strindberg's "The Stronger"; and William Saroyan's "Hello, Out There" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Tickets are available at the MU Information desk through May 6.

The productions held at the Payne auditorium, are free to students with activity cards.

Art Chairman Is Today's 'Guest'

Student art is discussed by Dr. Harry Wood, chairman of the ASU Art department, in "Be Our Guest!" on the Editorial Page today.

Dr. Wood, art critic for the Arizona Republic, is considered an authority on current trends in art and culture.

He has traveled widely and studied abroad. Holder of a Ph.D. in Fine Arts from Ohio State University and an M.A. in Journalism from the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Wood is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

He is author of "Lew Davis, 25 Years of Painting in Arizona," published this year, and is a book reviewer for School Arts magazine.

Immediate past president of the Pacific Arts Association, Dr. Wood is listed in "Who's Who in America," "Who's Who in the West," and the "American Directory of Scholars."

Dennison Chosen To Speak

ASASU President Karl Dennison has been selected as a discussion leader for this year's annual Pacific Student Presidents Association conference.

The conference, to be attended by student leaders in the Southwest, will start May 2, in San Francisco.

Dennison and 19 other selected discussion leaders will gather in Los Angeles for planning this weekend.

He will participate in various discussions, including "Purpose and Responsibility of Student Government," "What is the Scope of Student Government?" "Role of the Student Body President" and "Relationship of the President to his Student Government Organization."

"I feel honored being chosen," Dennison said, "and I plan to bring back information that will help strengthen our own student government."

Police Blotter

By BING BROWN

Campus Police report that during the past week five thefts netted robbers nearly $180 in either cash or loot.

Two of the thefts were classified as Grand Theft according to Lt. Virgil McCabe.

Linda Jensen, Education junior, reported that a ring valued at nearly $60, was stolen from her. Carl Wagner told officers his bicycle, valued at $25, was stolen while parked near Best A.

According to McCabe, one of the thefts reported during the week has already been cleared up.

Two students were cited on liquor violations. They were charged with: drunk and disorderly conduct, illegal consumption, driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and speeding.

Lt. McCabe also reported that some 18 moving vehicle citations were issued on campus during the week.

Office Releases Enrollment Data

Approximately 87 per cent of the second semester enrollment at ASU is composed of Arizona residents, it was announced yesterday by Alfred Thomas Jr., registrar and director of admissions.

Out of state residents constitute 12 per cent of the on-campus enrollment, and the remainder of the students come from foreign countries or U.S. possessions.

Maricopa County contributes 89 per cent of the state enrollment, followed by Pinal, Yavapai, Gila, and Navajo counties. A total of 4,323 students are from Phoenix; 1,406, Tempe; 968, Scottsdale; 784, Mesa; 198, Glendale; and 154, Chandler.

The greatest number of out of state students come from California, 334; followed by Illinois, 103; Pennsylvania, 76; New York, 60; Iowa, 51.

ASU Artists Different

By DR. HARRY WOOD

I have just returned from a lecture in the East and Middle West where I viewed student art work of some 25 colleges.

Three things greatly impressed me about our student art show at ASU that I didn't find anywhere else: the wide range and variation of styles from realism to abstract expressionism, the high level of craftsmanship and the extraordinarily rich flowering of creative imagination.

I want to make special note of the fact that unlike most student artists, those at ASU are very frequently capable and highly developed in multiple skills.

Personally, I am proudest of the fact that not a single work resembles the work of any one instructor. This is good evidence that what is being taught here is not a bag of tricks or a particular style, but creative art. Also noteworthy is the wholesome emphasis on good drawing and the exploration and experimentation in new methods and materials.

The crafts have reached a very high level, this year, particularly in the use made of the casting processes, which are very rare in a college art department. Ingenious new techniques such as the use of scrap plywood in colleges and unique forms of wood sculpture are notable.

Ceramics have reached a new level of expressiveness, not only in new forms but in the ingenuity and appropriateness of decoration.

Should baseball be abolished as a sport in the United States because the first professional team to be organized was the Cincinnati Red Stockings? This team has become so bold in the past few decades that they've dropped the stockings from their legs and now call themselves Reds.

And there's another team that plays near Harvard called the Red Sox. Boy, if that isn't un-American, I'd like to know what is.

The game is getting so tainted even Casey Stengel was replaced last fall, and he's been a consistent producer.

And how about every kid being taught to bat left and throw right? Oh Abner Doubleday, you've become just a dupe!

What marvelous propagandists you sports writers are. Grantland Rice said you should revolt for higher wages, more benefits, and more free tickets. Everyone must become sports oriented, so start working for the cause. You've got to meet the assigned quota of writing stories.

It is rumored that the youth baseball leagues have been infiltrated. The following monologue is what one thinking man smokes about the crisis.

"Look coach, you'd better be sure my kid plays on the team. What do you mean he should take up tennis? His stance at the plate isn't that bad. He's just as good as anybody you've got on that team so if he doesn't play, I've got connections with your boss, and you know what happens next.

"Don't give me that democratic stuff. My kid is all right. Look who taught him. By the way, if you need any money to go out with the old lady sometime, just ask me.

"Who said anything about a bribe? Look coach, if you don't agree with me that my kid's good, you're against me all the way. I suppose you even supported Jack Nonconform in the last election. Good comrades huh?

"Well, I've got a few friends in key places and they know what to do with guys like you. Always disagreeing with everyone, keeping my kid on the bench. I'll show you that you can't push us Slobs around. We have got a heritage to protect and guys like you shouldn't be in the position that you are.

"Just goes to show you the wrong people are running everything in the whole darned country. Now if I was bossing it, here's what I'd do. . ."

Come on aches and pains, get the glove and shoes out and play ball.

LETTERS to the Editor

One For All

To the Editor:

It was a very grand gesture for the "Son of Liberty" to magnificently include with one sweep of the pen all graduating seniors (minus Ina Abrahams) in his statement, "I am sure Senator Goldwater shall inspire every person in the stadium on commencement night." I certainly appreciate his overwhelming knowledge of each individual opinion of the thousands of onlookers commencement night.

I couldn't help comparing the caliber of Mr. "Son of Liberty's" letter with that of Miss Abrahams! Although I don't know Miss Abrahams personally, I have, of course, heard of her because of the various honors she has brought to this University, her membership in the rather eclectic honors program, and her extremely high grade index. Since "Son of Liberty" hadn't the grace (or whatever else there may be lacking) to sign his name, we have no idea what background he brings to his letter-writing.

I was, to put it mildly, amazed at the conclusion he drew from Miss Abrahams' letter; that "She must be hurt because she was not asked to give the commencement speech." It must take extraordinary imagination — or stupidity, call it what you will — to come to such a conclusion from an intelligently written and ably expressed letter. It's intentions were stated quite clearly: to question the validity of Senator Goldwater as a commencement speaker.

Miss Abrahams spoke intelligently, but only for herself, as she clearly stated. The "Son of Liberty" spoke grandly for us all, and then went on to express his "humble appreciation." I think perhaps he could use a little vocabularly work, particularly concerning the use of the word "humble."

Court's Job Gets Applause

To the Editor:

My compliments to the five jurors of the student supreme court. They certainly have performed their duties in an admirable fashion. The job is not an easy one. There are always interested parties to decisions who will apply pressures to the court members, and in student government the justices are not so well protected as they are in our legal courts.

Still, the student court has managed to render what I consider justice. They are not educated in the law, and are so handicapped. They overcome the handicap with what appears to me to be real honesty and sincere desire to mete out just decisions.

No government would be possible without its courts. Student government at ASU is young and growing. It makes many mistakes. The student court is the check upon those mistakes. The student court is the real heart of student government, and so long as it performs with the honest desire for justice as this year's court has done, this school can feel proud and secure.

I do think there are improvements which can be made immediately. Student government should assume the duty of educating the student body. They should let every student on campus know they have a student court to which they can take their grievances if not satisfied elsewhere. This can be done by a series of articles about the student court printed periodically in the State Press.

Furthermore, I think it should be the policy of the student court to print its decisions in full in the State Press. In this manner the student body can be made aware of the activity of its student court.

Again, congratulations to the five justices for a job well done. I hope the newly appointed justices will be able to continue the good work.

Frank Wattles
Editor's Note: We were also surprised at the caliber of the court and join in with our praises.

Open Ears: Clear Logic

To The Editor:

In reply to Scott Crosby, who disgraced your worthy pages with his statement: "I would like to ask Dr. Arner why he is making all the fuss about the John Birch Society," we say that Arner outlined the answer in clear and forceful logic during his address.

Crosby might open his ears.

And while we are defending our beloved Arner, we really must remark that the good Cardinal Cushing, who is so fond of the Birch Society, presents a good case for the abolition of cardinals.

If Christianity is to ally itself with disgruntled misanthropes, then let us worship Mumbo Jumbo.

Lafe Plumb

Commendable, But . . .

To the Editor:

Bing Brown, in the April 21 State Press, made a commendable effort to point out an apparent inequality in students' voting rights. However, I believe he was not aware of all the facts of the matter.

The spring elections are not "student body" elections as such, but are ASASU elections. Since students carrying six hours or less — those Mr. Brown refers to as special students — do not pay a student activity fee, they are not ASASU members, and are therefore not eligible to vote for ASASU officers.

It might not appear fair that part-time students should be ineligible to vote. But membership in any organization — be it the Associated Students or the United States — is always the first requisite to voting for the officers of that organization.

Health Workers Needed

By BOB SACHS

A nation of 234,000,000 people is predicted for the United States in 1975 by private and governmental experts.

With this boom in population will come many problems — more people will have to be fed, clothed, educated, sheltered and have their health needs met than ever before.

Today four million persons in the United States make their living in the healing arts and its allied sciences and crafts.

Due to the increase in population and the fact that people are living longer, more trained workers in all health occupations will be needed — physicians, dentists, nurses, medical technologists, x-ray technicians, dental hygienists, occupational therapists, dietitians, research assistants, to name a few.

Demand Exceeds Supply

The demand is outrunning the supply. For the student contemplating the interesting business of making a living, this constitutes a seller's market.

Medicine has long since gone from a period of the lone doctor making his rounds of the acutely ill, prescribing a remedy which was ineffective except for the relief of pain, and waiting for nature to make the mysterious decision of life or death.

The past 80 years have seen the steady progression of public health, with its manifold attacks on the prevention of infectious diseases, the control of general sanitation that allows our great cities to exist, and the emergence of medical care of the acutely ill as the fourth largest industry in the country.

Medical Research Zooms

Another important factor to consider in the need for more health science workers is increased medical research. In the past 10 years, medical research has developed on a new, vast scale.

Spending for medical research has jumped 1,000 percent since 1940. That year, research activities accounted for 45 million dollars, compared to 485 million dollars in 1958. Predictions are that 900 million dollars will be used for research in 1970.

Why? Because the majority of American people, when asked to choose between spending for medical research or putting the first man on the moon, answered 54 per cent for research, compared to 3 percent for the man on the moon.

President John F. Kennedy included in his recommendations to Congress in early February a boost in grants for construction of medical research laboratories and in federal funds for pushing medical research.

Financial Aid Grows

To help overcome one barrier — that of cost — which many young men and women encounter in studying for health careers, more and more scholarships and loan funds are being made available by federal, state, and private agencies to train doctors, dentists, and personnel for the auxiliary services associated with modern medicine.

For example, federal subsidies recommended by President Kennedy to Congress called for four-year scholarships up to $2,000 a year for talented medical and dental students, in addition to cost-of-education grants of $1,000 to schools.

Other federal aid sought included grants to medical and dental schools to plan new teaching facilities, and matching grants to help these schools expand.

All of these — the need for more trainee professionals to care for the health of the nation, the rapid expansion of medical research, and increased emphasis on financial assistance to health career students — spell OPPORTUNITY to the young man or woman who is looking for a way of life with a reasonable degree of built-in security of employment, with a chance to develop fully the natural endowments he or she brings to the job, and the participation in a sense of doing something useful for the community.

Camera Captures Election Fervor

Students line up at the College Ave.-Orange St. election poll to get ballots. Identification cards were required in order to vote.

Voters mark their ballots at voting booths. Voting machines, impounded by the state, were not available this year.

Blue Key men sell carnival tickets, but this scene could easily depict bet placers for Wednesday night's election results. Blackboard was displayed on carnival site; results were posted there.

Elections Slated May 10

Elections are scheduled for Campus King and Queen on May 10, it was announced in the Executive Council meeting Wednesday.

King and Queen campaign budgets will be due May 9, said Marsha Smith, Election Board chairman.

The Executive Council discussed the wearing of tank suits in the swimming pool. Larry Ellis, Education Board chairman, quoted Clyde Smith, ASU athletic director, as saying that swimmers must wear tank suits to maintain standards of cleanliness.

John Sampson, AMS president, countered by saying the Maricopa County Health Department noted tank suits were not needed with modern filtering systems.

Scholarship Presented

Kathryn Sefferovich, Secretarial sophomore, has been named winner of a scholarship awarded by the Valley of the Sun chapter of the National Secretarial Association.

The scholarship, known as the Ellerie Becker National Secretarial Award, is given to a sophomore or junior Secretarial major and is awarded on the basis of leadership, scholarship and personality.

Miss Sefferovich was a guest of the Valley of the Sun chapter at their National Secretarial Week banquet held at the Sun Valley Racquet Club Wednesday evening. Secretaries from the Phoenix area are members of the chapter.

Honoraries Tap Coeds

Pleiades, Natani, and Spurs, women's honorary societies, chose 67 new members at tapping ceremonies this week.

Pleiades, senior women's service organization, selected 19 girls from the junior class on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service to the university.

Those selected were:

Barbara Anderson, Barbara Bartlett, Susan Becker, Cathy Brimhall, Carol Coon, Sel Erder, Suzanne Frost, Karen George, Suzanne Gerber, Sharon Hallberg, Linda Jane Henderson, Jan Kirk, Judy Skinner, Sandra Smith, Carolyn Stabler, Peggy Stanton, Carol

Darlene Swadley, Norma Jane Walker, and Margaret Jo Williams.

Natani, junior women's honorary, is designed to promote leadership, scholarship, fellowship and cultural interests. The name Natani is an Indian word meaning leader.

Those tapped were:

Donna Arnote, Betty Lu Barclay, Sharon Ann Brosseau, Linda Joy Brown, Janet Elliott, Eileen Frederick, Patricia Ann Inbody, Kathryn Farnham Mangano, Janell Kay Masterson, Claudia McDonald, Judith Myers, Patricia Nelson, and Arlene Therese Przanowski.

Also Doris Riggan, Lynn Shahan, Dorothy Sohren, Marilyn Spittler, Carlene Strand, Pearl Tang, Margaret Truman, Nancy Vogel, and Linda Williams.

Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, chooses its members on the basis of scholarship, leadership, dependability, responsibility and service.

New members are:

Beverly Adkins, Mary Avery, Joanne Baird, Mary Bienfang, Susan Chemnick, Anna Crush, and Sharon Lee House.

Induction Held For Scholars

Installation of new officers and initiation of pledges by Alpha Lambda Delta, ASU freshmen women's scholastic honorary sorority, was held at sunrise Monday, in the Home Economics building.

A 3.5 index was the basic requirement for membership.

Officers installed were: Misses Linda Fallgren, president; Susan Collins, vice president; Maris Thomas, recording secretary; Karen Deckelmeier, treasurer; Barbara Peck, historian; and Ethel Landis, projects chairman.

Following a candle-lighting ceremony, led by old officers and Mrs. Charlotte Lewis, group advisor, breakfast was served.

Marianne Prevratil, Chi Omega, is shown receiving white roses from Steve Swofford, Alpha Tau Omega president, after she was named Alpha Tau Omega sweetheart.

Speaker Set For Banquet

Edward J. Demson, director of Special Services at ASU, will be guest speaker at the Pi Omega Pi, Business Education honorary, initiation banquet tonight.

The banquet, set for 6:45 p.m. at the Tempe Sands, will follow the initiation of nine students as active members of the organization. Demson will become an honorary member.

New actives are Lester Boden, LaRue Hubbard, Patricia Riggins, Patricia Inbody, Martha McCullough, Lynne Zylstra, Cecilia Denogean, JoAnne Crotts, Ruth Sanders, and honorary member Edward J. Demson.

ROTC Invades Lake Area

ROTC junior cadets maneuvered over and around Saguaro Lake last weekend. They followed compass directions, chased "enemy" troops over the terrain, became lost . . . and went swimming.

"The maneuvers were a complete success," declared Cadet General . . . (name withheld by government regulations). "We only lost two battalions."

Actually, juniors and seniors carried out problems around the lake, directed by Capt. Milton Sullivan. Cadets used the rugged terrain to run a compass course, conduct squad maneuvers and formations, and carry out a daylight reconnaissance.

Some 34 juniors made up the maneuvering troops, and Pershing Rifle (ROTC honorary) members, nine in all, made up "aggressor" forces which harassed the attacking cadets.

The maneuvers were part of the cadets preparation for the annual ROTC summer camp.

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grabs my elbow and says, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?"

This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by collegians who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not collegians, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectrate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulric Sigafos. All of Mr. Sigafos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beautiful Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafos. "What has Mr. Sigafos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.)

Devils, Trojans Renew Relay Duel

ASU's mile relay team has a chance for revenge tomorrow when it meets Southern California's record-tieing foursome in the Mt. San Antonio Relays.

The Devil four of Ron Freeman, Karl Schreiner, Mel and Mal Spence were nipped by the Trojans in their last outing as the SC team ran the four laps in 3:07.9. That clocking tied the time set earlier this season by Abilene Christian for a new NCAA record.

One of the highlights of the Mt. SAC Relays in addition to the mile relay battle, will be the sprint field which includes the controversial Dennis Johnson of San Jose State and eight of the fastest men in the West.

Johnson, like the Spences, is an import from Jamaica. He has been setting the track world on fire with flashing speed out of the starting blocks which has brought charges from several coaches that the Spartan is using a rolling start.

Along with Johnson is ASU's Hubie Watson, undefeated in the century race this spring; David James, Striders; Amos

Marsh, Oregon State; Doug Smith, Occidental; Jim Bates, USC; Arnold Tripp, UCLA; Bob Poynter, San Jose St.; and Larry Dunn, Arizona. All have run at least 9.6 in the 100-yard dash while the Jamaican has been caught three times in 9.3. Gaston Green, the Devil's fine hurdler, will enter the high hurdles while field event men Wayne McDonnell, Carol Lindroos and Joe Caldwell will compete in the javelin, discus and high jump respectively.

Pole vaulters Don Jeisy and John Rose, who have come within a hair of clearing the 15-foot mark, will get another chance when they enter their specialty at Mt. SAC.

Another interesting feature, as far as Arizona State fans are concerned, is the entry into the 880-yard relay. Schreiner, the Spence twins and Watson will compose the Devil's team and could make a good showing although the first three will be using the event primarily as a warm-up for the all-important mile relay contest.

BOB VIEWS SPORTS NEWS
Both Camps Pessimistic
By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

It's time for the annual spring baseball battle between Arizona State and the University of Arizona and pessimism is emanating like crazy from both camps — as usual.

We quote:
ASU baseball coach Bobby Winkles — "If all of our boys perform up to the best of their capabilities and we get the breaks we can keep from disgracing ourselves."

UofA mentor Frank Sancet—"I'm scared to death of the Sun Devils. Never have the two teams ranked so close in national ratings or in statistics."

There's a lot at stake this year — pride, prestige and most of all, a possible spot in the College World Series.

The Wildcats have played in so many of the post-season World Series games the past few years that they are almost considered a regular part of the school's schedule.

This year there's a hurdle in their way though. That hurdle is Winkles' steady and often spectacular Sun Devils.

It will be a case of the Devils' terrific pitching and sparkling defense against the Wildcats' torrid hitting attack and almost bottomless depth.

For tomorrow's games Winkles' pessimism is probably more correct than Sancet's. The Demons lost two — one of them on a highly questionable decision — at Tucson last year. The Wildcats are exactly as their name implies when they are on their home grounds.

The ASU nine proved that it could win on the road, though, when it compiled a 6-1 record on a recent swing through Southern California.

Any way you look at it, the series should prove to be interesting — and exciting.

SMALL THINGS . . . Either ASU or Southern Cal will jump into the lead in their mile relay duel tomorrow at Mt. SAC — that is unless there is another dead heat.

Each team has won once and the tie gives them identical 1-1-1 records. Something's got to give.

C'mon, Dick! You're rationalizing. Jockey support! might never have secured you against the Emperor. But it certainly would have provided snug protection against the physical stresses and strains of your active life. Your armorer never tailored a coat of mail more knowingly than Jockey tailors a brief — from 13 separate, body-conforming pieces.

1. Other "imitation" briefs (copies of the original Jockey brand) have no more Jockey support than a limp loin cloth.

Crucial Twin Bill On Tap Tomorrow

Tatum, Slaughter Slated To Pitch Against Wildcats

Arizona State will send Mike Tatum (7-0) and Sterling Slaughter (6-2) to the mound tomorrow at Tucson in hopes of taking an early lead in the first half of the four game Sun Devil-Wildcat baseball series.

The Wildcats will counter with Miles Zeller (8-2) and Marv Dutt (5-0) in the 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. games scheduled for Tucson's Hi Corbett Field.

Next weekend the teams renew their series in Tempe with a day-night double header. The victor in the series, if there is one, will meet the Southwest Conference champion for an opening-round spot in the College World Series.

Last year the Sun Devils won the opening double-header here but dropped the final two games to the Wildcats in Tucson.

Tatum and Roger Barnson, who will be the number one man in relief tomorrow, were the winning pitchers against Tomorrow's double-header will be broadcast to the Phoenix area by KXIV, 1400 on the radio dial with ASU broadcasting staff members Shel Siegel and Bob Ellis handling the play-by-play and color. Air times are 1:55 p.m. and 7:25 p.m.

the U last year. Bolstering Barnson (7-2) on the relief corps are Sam Cook (4-1) and Harley Anderson (5-2).

The Sun Devils take a 34-8 record into tomorrow's games against a 34-6 Arizona mark.

Three Titles For Nancy

Nancy Vening displays three trophies she won in the Southern California junior badminton championships last week. Her name was also inscribed on three others which will remain in California.

Sweeps Coast Jr. Badminton Tournament

Nancy Vening, Arizona State freshman coed, won three firsts in as many divisions in the Southern California junior badminton championships in Pasadena, Calif., last weekend.

Miss Vening won singles, doubles and mixed doubles trophies in her final competition in the junior division.

Ranked second nationally in singles, doubles and mixed on the junior level, Nancy is also holder of an "A" or highest rating in adult competition.

From now on, all of her play will be in the senior division. She has participated in four junior national championships in her six year career.

Nancy is attending ASU on a badminton scholarship and joins such name performers as diver Patsy Willard, golfers JoAnne Gunderson and Sherry Wheeler and tennis players Pinky Shoemaker and Emma Flores to give this school one of the most talented groups of female athletes in the country.

Nancy's badminton career got its start in Manhattan Beach, Calif., when she began playing at the Manhattan Beach Badminton Club six years ago. Since then she has participated in over 60 tournaments, winning more than 50 trophies.

She's an intense competitor and is devoted to the game. Says Nancy, "I plan to continue playing badminton until I'm too old to walk."

ASU WINS WEDNESDAY —

Marines Top Devils, 13-5

San Diego's rugged Marine baseballers handed Arizona State a 13-5 loss yesterday afternoon on Sun Devil diamond to win a three-game series two games to one. ASU won the season series between the two teams, three games to two.

The only bright spot in the game for the Sun Devils was their long ball hitting as Danny Ikeda, Bob Lefebre and Gary Linthicum belted solo homers. Starting pitcher Harley Anderson took the loss. His record is now 5-2. Larry Smith, Bob Kavgian and John Miller, in that order, worked in relief.

Wednesday, the Devils trounced the Marines 16-5 as Mike Tatum notched victory number seven against no losses in his final tuneup for the UofA series this weekend.

Mario Ramirez smashed his first home run of the season, a bases-loaded blast, and Ed Littleton collected three hits
