Ready To Splash...

All ready to "Splash Thru Movieland" tonight in the annual Naiads water show are, from left, Milly Loughridge, Teddy Hobart, Sandy Ross and Mary Jane Isbell. The water show will be staged tonight and tomorrow night at 8, and is free to the public.

Naiad Water Show Tonight

Water ballets to songs from popular movies, including "Exodus," "Can-Can," "Giant" and "Sons and Lovers," will be featured in the fourth annual Naiads water show tonight and tomorrow night at 8.

Naiads, composed of ASU women swimmers, will splash at the University swimming pool, free of charge to the public. They have prepared colorful lighting to supplement their aqua routines and special costumes.

Directed by Mrs. Mona Plummer, Physical Education instructor, the water show will also include diving performances by Patsy Willard, sophomore, fourth place diving winner at the 1960 Olympic Games, by Harvey Plant and comic diving by the Boys Club.

Naiads have been preparing for the show, with a "Splash Thru Movieland" theme, since February.

Twenty-six girls are participating in the various acts.

Naiads, named for mythological Greek water nymphs, have produced their water show each year since the swimming pool was constructed.

Due to the special lighting facilities and properties, the swimming pool will be closed all day tomorrow.

Maggie Savoy, Independent, Talks On 'Non-Orgs' Today

Mrs. J. W. "Rocky" Pitts, better known as Maggie Savoy, women's editor of The Arizona Republic, is author of today's "Be Our Guest!" column on the Editorial Page.

On the topic "The Advantages of Being an Independent" (non-Greek), Mrs. Savoy has presented a two-part column, the second to appear next Friday.

She has been women's editor of The Republic for three years, and headed the Phoenix Gazette women's staff for 10 years previous.

A graduate of the University of Southern California in Journalism, Mrs. Savoy holds various keys, including Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi and Theta Sigma Phi.

She worked with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer publicity department until the birth of her son, Martin, now a graduate student at ASU. After the war, she "couldn't think of anything but Arizona, so I packed up and came back figuring I'd find a job and, anyway, the sun was wonderful."

She had her own Public Relations business for several years.

Mrs. Savoy, winner of numerous top women's pages awards both locally and nationally, loves to cook. "But I hate to wash pans."

Her hobby is gardening. "We've tackled a mountainside on the desert and it's kept us busy for years," she said.

Jack Ong Re-Selected Press Editor

Jack Ong, junior, was re-appointed editor-in-chief of the State Press by the Board of Publications yesterday.

The current editor will resume his responsibilities for the first semester next year.

Ong is also secretary of Sigma Delta Chi, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, student advisor of Alpha Mu Sigma and is a member of the Social committee.

"I'm very grateful for the chance to serve again," he said. "I'll try to increase the Board's confidence and our readers' faith."

Baccalaureate Speaker Set

Rabbi Albert Plotkin, of Temple Beth Israel, Phoenix, noted community leader, has been selected as baccalaureate speaker at Arizona State University.

Title of his address, to be presented Sunday, May 28, at 8 p. m., is "The Best Things in the Worst of Times."

Rabbi Plotkin received his undergraduate degree magna cum laude from Notre Dame, then went to Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, where he received the degree of rabbi and master of Hebrew letters.

Following his graduation, he served as assistant rabbi at Temple De Hirsch, Seattle, Wash., and a year later he was called as rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, of Spokane, Wash.

While there, he was on the faculty of Washington State College as instructor of Philosophy at their extension center in Spokane. He served as state chairman of International Relations for the Washington Congress of Parents and Teachers and was on numerous boards in Spokane, including the Jewish Welfare Federation, the Music Festival, The Opera Association, the Conservatory of Music, the Boy Scout Council, and the Child and Family Service Society.

In 1953 he received the Man of the Year award from the Spokane Junior Chamber of Commerce, and, in 1954, the state award as Man of the State.

He came to Temple Beth Israel in 1955, and is a member of the USO committee and the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He has been a lecturer for the religious conference at ASU for several years.

Active on the Religion and Psychiatry committee of Phoenix, he also is chairman of the Public Information committee for the American Red Cross. He is on the National Chaplains committee of the Civil Air Patrol, with the rank of Lt. Colonel.

Currently he is president of both the Phoenix Zionist Council and of the Arizona Rabbinical Association, and is chairman of the speaker's bureau for the public high school Citizen's Advisory committee.

He is lecturer for the Shakespeare Festival committee and also a lecturer on Comparative Religion at the YMCA, under the adult education program.

Dr. Durham Plans Meet

Dr. G. Homer Durham, ASU president, will meet with all honorary and professional group presidents and chairmen of councils represented in the Student Senate, 2 p. m. May 10, in the MU upper lounge.

Dr. Durham will discuss academic and advising problems with the student leaders.

Sports Editor Bob Eger Wins First Pulliam-SDX Award

Bob Eger, sophomore, State Press sports editor, will be awarded the first annual Eugene Pulliam-Sigma Delta Chi $1,000 scholarship tomorrow night.

Pulliam, publisher of The Arizona Republic, Phoenix Gazette and The Indianapolis Star, established the scholarship for a sophomore student entering the field of Journalism.

The award pays the recipient $1,000 for his junior year, another $1,000 for his senior year.

It was established when the ASU Men's Press Club was granted a national charter as Arizona's first undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional men's Journalism society.

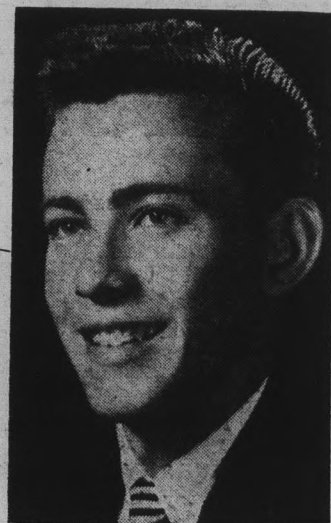

Eger has had three years of professional experience on the Yuma Daily Sun.

Recently elected vice president of SDX for next year, he also is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national Journalism honorary.

Eger plans to continue his newspaper work in the sports line and would like to work on a West Coast paper.

He will accept his scholarship at the second annual SDX-Pi Delt Press Banquet in Phoenix tomorrow evening. Last year he was the recipient of the SDX award for outstanding news reporting.

Drama Workshop Completes Season

By BILL DECKER

The season closed for the Drama Workshop with "Four Short Plays" done on a barren stage. Eighteen young actors were given the works of Wilder, Saroyan, and Strindberg and were allowed only lighting effects, minimal props, and suggestions of sets.

They, and their directors, have done a most competent job, and produced a well-balanced and stageworthy program.

"The Happy Journey" by Wilder is the first offering, and the second best effort of the night. Mike Solomon and Pam Loeb play the Kirby children with enthusiasm, bringing life to their roles through a combination of acting technique and enjoyable hamming. Ma is portrayed with warmth by Mary Crawford, who succeeds despite her reliance on a vocal interpretation unimpeached by convincing stage movements. Jim Seeman, Pa., is at his best in a very short scene with daughter Beulah, in which he shows almost professional restraint and understanding.

Later in the evening, Strindberg's "The Stronger", a difficult monologue, is essayed by Lynne Wood as Mrs. X. Marge Jones makes her second appearance of the night as the silent Miss Y, and the naturalness she displayed as Beulah in "Journey" is here blurred by overacting. Miss Wood occasionally flashed her talent, then hid it under poor delivery, but the total effect is still better than can be normally expected from a student actress.

The final play, Saroyan's "Hello, Out There," is the evening's best, due in part to the skill of a student director-actor. Mike Rost makes good use of his knowledge of lighting, sound, and stage business, and demonstrates his ability to rise on occasion from the craft to the art of acting. Sandy Brady, as The Girl, acted with great sensitivity, giving a most inspired performance. She used her voice, her gestures, her timing, and her talent to make "Hello" a beautiful endeavor.

Traffic Board Busy

ASU's Traffic Appeals Board has decisions of approximately 50 appeals on file.

According to Jean Herring, Campus Security Department secretary, students who have won their appeals will have bonds returned upon request.

Students who have appealed their citations should check the results as soon as possible.

Police Blotter

By BING BROWN

Numerous thefts in the Tempe area were cleared up Saturday night when a campus police officer apprehended four youths.

Patrolman Bruce McDonough found the four in Sun Devil Stadium and charged them with malicious mischief. After careful and extensive interrogation, he found that the boys were responsible for various thefts and cases of shoplifting.

The four were turned over to Maricopa County juvenile authorities for action.

Lt. Virgil McCabe reported that there was one case of first degree burglary, two cases of grand theft and one petty theft during the past week.

The burglary occurred Wednesday night when thieves broke into the vending machines in the MU games room and in the hall outside the games room.

Lt. Norman Peck said that the machine-riflers got away with some $95.80. He also said that they were apparently in the building when it was locked, since there was no sign of breaking and entering.

Steven Bruce Engles, Business Administration freshman, reported that a typewriter and a book, valued at $70, were stolen from him at Best A.

Sherman Michael Axel, Liberal Arts junior, reported to officers that a wristwatch, valued at $80, was stolen from him in the Physical Science building.

McCabe also reported that some 29 moving vehicle citations were issued during the week.

Campus security officer, Sgt. Charles Imhoff has been assisting valley safety officials, giving grade school children bicycle safety instruction.

CPS Exam Scheduled

The annual Certified Professional Secretary examination is scheduled at ASU today and tomorrow according to Dr. Lonnie J. Boggs, associate professor of Office Administration and Business Education.

Starting at 8 a.m. both mornings, the examination will be given in BA 302.

Rice Elected New Mayor

Dr. Ross R. Rice, Chairman of the Dept. of Political Science was elected to the position of Mayor of Tempe by the Tempe City Council on Thursday, April 27.

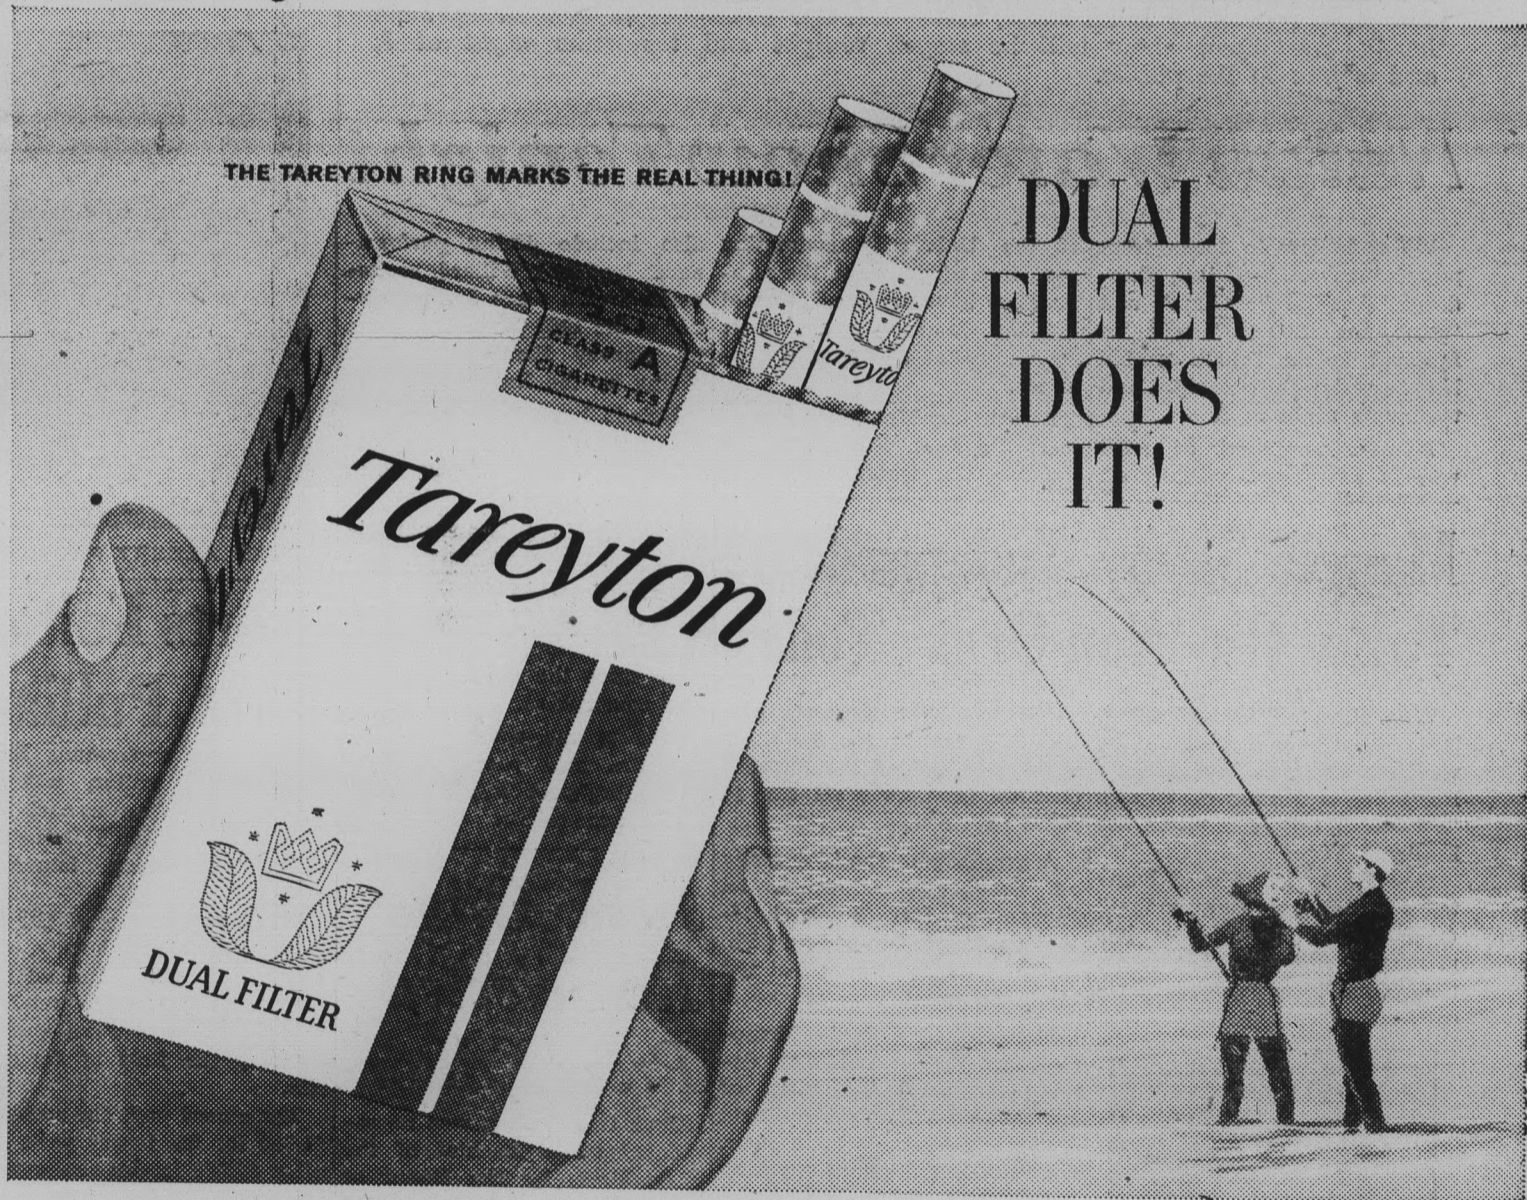

Following the resignation of the former mayor, Mr. Clyde Gililland, Dr. Rice was elected to that position by an unanimous vote of the City Council. He will fill out the remaining two year term.

Dr. Rice has been a member of the City Council since 1958 when he was elected to a four year term. In 1960 he was elected Vice-Mayor.

According to Dr. Rice, Tempe, with a population of about 27,000 is the fourth largest city in the state and can be one of the most forward looking municipalities in the state.

A native of Shenandoah, Iowa, Dr. Rice came to Arizona State University in 1950 from the University of Chicago, where he received his Ph.D. He was appointed Chairman of the Dept. of Political Science in 1959.

One dogs best friend — ASU student Henry Ryberg and his guide dog, Maria, stroll down College Ave.

ASU Student 'Faces World'

By MIKE VOITA

He can type with the light turned on or turned off. It doesn't matter to Henry, because he is almost totally blind and hard of hearing.

Henry Ryberg is a full time student at ASU, this being his sixth semester. A Social Welfare major, Henry lives in East Hall.

Besides being Junior Class representative on the East Hall Council, and active in church activities, Ryberg carries just about a 3.0 index.

"Handicapped people have to come face to face with reality and the everyday world, and I think college is a good experience," says Ryberg.

One might wonder how he makes the most out of his teacher's lectures, how he does his homework, and takes his tests.

"I record my instructor's lectures with my portable recorder, and take my notes from the recordings. I have my reading assignments read to me, as my tests are," explained Henry.

Happy-Jack, in northern Arizona, is Ryberg's home town. After graduating from Arizona State School for the Deaf and Blind, Henry started at ASU in the fall of 1958.

"The people at ASU have been good to me," said Ryberg. "I am particularly indebted to Mrs. Anna Meason, head resident at East Hall, and to Suzi Gerber, who has spent hours reading my lessons to me. These two especially have helped me tremendously."

Sandy-haired, freckle-faced Henry obtained his guide dog Maria from the Guide Dog School for the Blind, in San Rafael, California. Maria is a pretty golden retriever, and has been Henry's guide since 1958.

In his rare spare time, Ryberg tries to keep up to date on his hobby of collecting artifacts from different cultures. A devotee of classical and church music, Henry enjoys listening . . . when he has spare time.

Dr. Robins Will Speak

Dr. Roland K. Robins, ASU professor of Chemistry, will deliver the annual Sigma Xi Award Lecture next Friday.

The ASU chapter of the national honorary society in physical sciences selected Dr. Robins to make the address because of his outstanding contributions to the treatment of cancer by chemotherapy methods.

His lecture at 8 p.m. in LS 191 will be open to the general public. It will follow the annual installation dinner for new officers at 6:30 p.m. in the Memorial Union.

Dr. Robin's address, "Chemotherapy — A Basic Tool in Cancer Research," will be concerned with those cancers for which the standard methods of surgery and radiation are not applicable, including leukemia, Hodgkin's disease and lymph gland disorders.

For breast cancer, or choric carcinoma, the success of chemotherapy is decreasing the possibility of metastasis, the spread of cancer, in conjunction with surgery will be discussed. Also the development of more desirable drugs for controlling cancer will be discussed.

Members of Sigma Xi and their guests may make dinner reservations with Dr. Chester R. Leathers, ASU assistant professor of oBtany.

Once Again . . .
The swimming pool will be closed all day tomorrow.

Total Enrollment Reaches 12,291 Registrar Says

Total enrollment including extension and correspondence courses is 12,291 at ASU as of February 21, 1961, stated the Office of the Registrar and Director of Admissions.

The total enrollment in residence is 10,324. Of this figure 6,673 students are taking 12 or more hours, 499 are taking 9 through 11 hours, 926 are taking 6 through eight hours and 2,226 are taking less than 6 hours.

The total number of students in extension courses is 1,327 and those taking correspondence work is 640.

Advantages

By MAGGIE SAVOY

(First In A Series Of Two)

Ye editor Jack Ong asked me to write a column about (quote) "The Advantages of Being An Independent on Campus."

Non-Org is the polite term. "Goon" was the one we used in our day. Judy Olson, (my pipeline to the campus today), tells me they call them GDIs.

Advantages?

Well, what's the advantage of being hit by a golf ball? What's the advantage of being born with a limp? What's the advantage of swooning over stroganoff instead of hamburgers? Bach instead of Boone, or roses, if lilacs make you gag?

The analytical ones among you have already spotted that my parallels don't parallel. You're so right. Neither do the reasons for the decisions of Judy, Jane or Jerri for not pledging a sorority.

If you are a Non-Org, it may be for any of these unparallel reasons. Either you're (1) too broke — you've been hit by a golf ball, (2) too "nothing" — you were born with a limp, (3) too much concerned with something you like better — Bach, maybe, or roses.

Reason number one is not a true reason. If you wanted to afford a sorority, you could. You might have to type at a buck an hour until 3 every morning to make it, but you could.

Number two is not a true one, either. Maybe you can't fix a limp, but you can make everyone else forget it. If you couldn't score at the rush parties, and wanted to enough, you could. Read "How to Win Friends," enroll in a modeling school, woo a friend whose mother has influence, or make straight A's. You'll get a bid.

The third reason, then, is the only valid reason why you are a Non-Org. You really want to be a Non-Org.

If this is the real reason, you've already weighed it in your own mind. And this column is unnecessary. But I told Jack I'd write it — and it's worth discussing.

There ARE advantages to being a Non-Org, and they are valid. They stand the test of time. And so there are also advantages to being a sorority girl; and they, too, are valid. And stand the test of time.

I really ought to clear the decks right now, in case you haven't already guessed it. You're right: I never pledged. Maybe for all three reasons. I have a half-dozen Greek keys, but none of the social kind.

Funny thing, I've never taken any of them out of the cotton since the day I snapped the clasps. They were worth working for and dreaming for at the time — but they hit the dust faster than my shoulder-padded, short-skirted Adrian when the styles changed. None of these has ever seen the light of day since graduation. They were all out of date the minute the "hard cruell world" came up and hit me.

What I'm trying to say is this: It's not the key which counts. It is what you learned when you did, or didn't, get it.

If you don't pledge, let's look at what you might learn from it. I'm not trying to empty all the sorority houses on campus by midnight — I'm just trying to show you how not having a pin could help you in a world which has different status symbols — different values of "U" and "no-U", "In" and "Out".

Let's say that a sorority assures you of a ready-made, tight-knit, I'm-your-pal set of friends. They're there already. Even the problem of dating is simplified. Social status is assured. You have a "group."

If you don't pledge, you'll have to make friends on your own. For this reason, you'll not only have work on it, but you'll have the privilege of choosing them. Without the date insurance and friendship-insurance of a sorority, you'll be forced to strike out on your own and find a spot in common with others. They may be, probably will be, quite different from you, in background, outlook, interests, aims and social and economic standards.

This you COULD do as a sorority girl: But you're not as apt to make the effort. And you're more apt to miss the reward and excitement of going out beyond your circle and experience, to find the exhilarating point of contact with girls and boys and men and women out of your present sphere.

Believe me, the world is rich: Rich in ideas, attitudes, odors and tastes. Until you have explored it, you have lived forever in your own small town. Choose to live in a small town if you want to (Phoenix was a small town when I fell in love with it); but know what the rest of the world is like first.

By TOM HILTON

Well, once again the old State Press has selected an old editor, or to be more correct, the Board of Publications re-elected the old editor. Once again twenty-year-old Jack Ong will attempt to edit the old school paper. It is indeed a great honor.

Hilton

Upon hearing the news, we of the I Cover College Avenue reached for our "Town Crier" bells and ran out to the street to spread the word.

"Verily," we cried . . . "Tis true that ye olde editor of ye olde State Press is now the new editor of ye olde State Press." It is sad to say however, that our enthusiasm was dampened considerably by the apathy of the students we interviewed.

We talked to Mr. Steel Gray Smile, little known campus poet, and he said: "Who is Jack Ong?" We told him. Then Mr. Smile replied by saying: "Who is the State Press?"

Now we ask you, is that apathy or it that apathy?

Next we asked Sally Sorority what she thought about the appointment. We will relate the answer: "Hey, do you think you all can get the story about the PBYS exchange with the Delta Glicks in the paper tomorrow? I got a picture for you too, the biggest one I could get." "Gee lady we don't know; we just work there and bring our lunch." "Oh," she said . . . "I got to go to the library and look at pichers now." With that she tripped off the sidewalk and fell in the mud. Good riddance.

That was the end of our interview. We are destroyed. Almost anyway. No one really cares about anyone being Editor. One of the biggest things that happens on campus and nobody cares except the people who work on the State Press. It's a shame.

But then we began thinking. Have we found a moral in this incident? Yes!

We discovered that people don't really care about a persons' success unless they are directly involved. So, in the future we will say nothing about our little successes, and for that matter, our failures. We can only do the best of our ability and when we goof up, that's the way the fortune cookie crumbles. Remember this when you call to find out why a story didn't appear in the paper. Maybe you wanted to shout about something that nobody cares about, or maybe the fortune cookie crumbled.

The examination for ZO 102-Sec. 1 will be held in LSC-191 on Thursday, June 1, from 7:40 - 9:30 a.m.

Three-hour courses that meet twice a week should schedule examinations in that part of the period which represents a full class hour.

If conflicts occur, or if under this schedule, a student has more than three exams in one day, he should consult instructor(s) regarding possible schedule adjustment, or, if necessary, the Dean(s) of the College in which the courses are offered.

No changes should be made in this schedule, except those required in individual cases, without the approval of the Dean of the College concerned.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HE'S NOT REALLY HARD UP FOR PAPER - IT'S JUST RUGPAD'S WAY OF SUGGESTING YOU TAKE MORE TIME IN PREPARING FOR YER LECTURES!"

Letters To The Editor Received

Still Communist, Maybe? Reader Wants To Know

To the Editor:

It was with shock that I read the news report of the talk given by Frank Meyer. Inviting an ex-Communist to speak seems a strange way to combat Communism's influence, indeed. I should have felt more assured by a speaker with a 100 per cent clean bill of health. And, if the news reporting was accurate, Mr. Meyer is on the side of the fascist lunatic fringe and touting the notorious John Birch Society.

Hitler's sadistic street fighters were often turncoat Communists and the East Germans make use of ex-Nazis.

This whole situation brings to mind questions:

1. We have only Mr. Meyer's word that he is no longer a Communist. Communists are not noted for their truthfulness but are for their tendency to "bore-from within." How can we be sure that Frank Meyer is no longer a party member?

2. Why it is that people are so eager to sniff out and hound to economic death some misguided soul who, in his youth when it was fashionable, joined the Young Communists or some now dangerous sounding organization, yet never did any party work or even harbored traitorous thoughts? Yet these same people go out of their way to honor a man who flaunts his former party membership and who possibly did real party work? The former is embarrassed and trying quietly to live down his indiscretion. The second type seems proud of having been a traitor, in thought, possibly in deed. Perhaps, he is honest. Or is he just an exhibitionist? Certainly his attitude seems to bring lecturer's fees.

3. Why must we bring in questionable outside speakers to corrupt the minds of our youth? We have on our faculty many clear thinking men, surely better educated than the speaker under discussion, who can be counted on to give our students facts instead of propaganda; understanding instead of prejudice. If we value our local minds the less because they speak for nothing, I am sure that no faculty member would object to being paid what Mr. Meyer was for an evening's effort.

Mumbo Jumbo Revisited

To the Editor:

My ambition is almost realized; with the Crosby clan, John and Ted, behind me, I am bound to make high priest of Mumbo Jumboism.

The abolition of Christianity would not worry me in the least, and while I uphold the right of individuals to reasonable freedom, I think that in the present century communism presents brighter prospects than does Christianity.

The doctrine that each man shall contribute according to his ability and receive according to his needs is more likely to put bread in my belly and good will in my mind than an Almighty who has grown lazy.

Publicity Appreciated

To the Editor:

Upon my departure from this command and subsequent retirement, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to you and your staff for the outstanding support rendered the United States Army Recruiting Service during my tenure as Commanding Officer of all Army recruiting facilities in Arizona.

Your assistance in publicizing the tremendous opportunities offered by the Army has made my job much easier and more interesting. The Army is leading all other services in manpower procurement from Arizona, and the state ranks high in the nation for procurement per population.

Much of the credit for this success is due you and the members of your staff who placed the Army's story into thousands of homes through your public service facilities.

Again, many thanks for your extended cooperation. I am certain that your continued support will be of immeasurable assistance to my successor and to the United States Army.

First Season Ends For New Service

One of ASU's newest student services will soon close its most successful season to date.

The Cultural Affairs Box office, having handled some $1,300 in tickets for various cultural performances and events in the Valley, will cease operations at the end of May.

However, when school resumes next fall, the box office will again offer students, faculty, and staff special rates for a wide variety of cultural programs.

Credit for building the box office into the efficient business it now it goes to Charlie Roberts and his committee. Roberts, a freshman, took over the chairmanship of the department and molded it into the student-faculty service it now is.

Riders Vie At Show

ASU's first annual horse show and gymkhana will be tomorrow, at the ASU farm on South Mill Ave.

The show, sponsored by the Sun Devil Horsemen's Association and approved by the Arizona Horse Exhibitors Association, will be composed of nine different events. It will include an open jumpers class, a western pleasure class and an open trail horse class.

According to Dr. Robert Freeman, professor of Animal Husbandry, post entries in any of the nine events will be accepted up to one class prior to the class entered.

Other events are English pleasure horse class open, rescue race open, western pleasure horse class, and a pole bending race open.

Advanced registration is encouraged. Interested persons may contact Dr. Freeman at the Animal Husbandry department at ASU.

The show will start at 9 a.m. The nine classes represented are: trail horse class open, western horsemanship class, open jumpers, western pleasure horse class open and cloverleaf race open.

Three years ago, the Cultural Affairs Committee, under the Associated Students, decided to offer students rides to symphony performances in the Phoenix area. This expanded to include other cultural events, and eventually developed into the handling of tickets at student rates for such performances. However, due to poor location of the box office, and insufficient staff to handle the situation effectively, the box office program virtually collapsed.

It was moved to the MU information desk this year and, according to Mrs. Cecelia Scoular, advisor for the Cultural Affairs Committee, the group has grown more than any other committee on campus.

In the past eight months, the box office has handled tickets for operas, plays, symphonies, and guest artists, featuring some of the outstanding talent in the country. During this month, tickets will be sold for performances by the Scottsdale Chamber Opera, Ella Fitzgerald, The Kingston Trio and Shelley Berman.

When asked about future plans for the box office, Chairman Roberts said, "We hope to have a wider selection of performances, more programs, more sponsors, and more student-faculty rates."

He added, "The Cultural Affairs box office is for the benefit of the student, and we would like to see more take advantage of it."

Work Of Three Art Teachers Is Accepted

Three members of the ASU Art department have had their work accepted for exhibition.

Don Schaumburg, associate professor of Art, is represented by five pieces of ceramics at the Allied Craftsmen's Membership Show in San Diego Calif.

Ben Goo, associate professor of Art, is exhibiting on an individual basis at the First Annual Utah Designer Craftsman Exhibition. A walnut wood serving tray made by Goo will be on display at the Wichita Art Association Galleries from May 1 through the 28.

ASU graduate assistant, James N. Bacon, has had two covered jars and a bottle in high-fire stoneware accepted for show at the Mississippi River Craft Show in Memphis, Tenn. The show opens May 5 through the 28.

GREEK TO ME

More Formals This Weekend

By Linda Rankin

Formals, Formals, Formals... That seems to be the word among the Greeks. A few of the Greeks holding formals this weekend are Delta Chi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta.

The Alpha Tau Omega actives took revenge on their pledges Monday night. They successfully took twenty-two pledges on a walkback to SE Phoenix.

Phi Alpha actives Dick Vincent and Steve Engles were others taken on a walkback. It's been rumored they were tied to cactus'. HMMMMM!

The Phi Alpha pledges went on a walkout Saturday with the Alpha Phi and Chi Omega pledges to Oak Creek Canyon.

The Theta Delta Chis also had a walkout last week. They kidnapped the entire Alpha Phi pledge class, two Alpha Phi actives and two Theta Delta Chi actives, and went to Blue Point.

More pinnings... Linda Houle, Kappa Delta, is pinned to Larry McCord, Sigma Phi Epsilon. Alice Hopman, Gamma Phi Beta, passed the candle to announce her engagement to Sam Hardy, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. John Earle and Gary Avey, Theta Delta Chis, are pinned to Phyllis Moore and Norma Walker, respectively.

Mary Ann Rex, Kappa Kappa Gamma, is now pinned to Delta Sigma Phi Andy Coles. Another Delta Sig pinned is Bill Hicks to Chi Omega Susan Johnson. Ardella Fromchuck, Alpha Epsilon Phi revealed her pinning to Howard Polk, Zeta Beta Tau, U. of Illinois. Nancy Keck, Alpha Sigma Alpha, is engaged to Larry Miller. Sigma Sigma Sigmas learned of the marriage of their sister Freda Sartan to Jack Warner of the Chicago Cubs.

Delta Sigs serenaded Suzie Gerber and Marilyn Rossini, Chi Omegas, who are pinned to Dick Thomas and Tom Currier, respectively. Phi Alphas serenaded Delta Gamma Nancy White, who is engaged to Steve Ogborne.

Our congratulations to Bill Bromiley, Sigma Chi, who received the fraternity's Grand Consul Citation... Donna Poston named Alpha Sigma Alpha Sweetheart... Linda Allison, Kappa Alpha Theta, named Phi Delta Theta Dream Girl... Kathy Sisk, Sigma Sigma Sigma, selected Sigma Pi Sweetheart... Steve Ervey, recently initiated to Theta Chi fraternity.

Phi Alpha pledges and actives are sponsoring car washes Saturday. They will be battling to see who raises the most money.

Delta Sigs and Alpha Delta Pis are keeping busy sponsoring Ella Fitzgerald and the Kingston Trio. The Ella Fitzgerald show is scheduled May 26 and the Trio is slated for May 19.

If any of you are wondering why your organization is never mentioned in Greek To Me, chances are you never turn in news to the State Press. Well! it's all Greek To Me...

Movies Planned This Weekend

Two movies, "On The Waterfront" and "12 O'clock High," will be shown at Cosner Auditorium Friday and Saturday, 7:30 p.m. 75 cents admission will be charged. The movies are being sponsored by the men of Haigler Hall.

Off Campus Men

Off-Campus Men recently elected new officers. They are Mike Hayes, president; John Powers, vice-president; Gordon Robins, treasurer; and Chester Avery, secretary.

Off-Campus Men will meet at 3:30 p.m. Monday in MU 208. They will discuss annual spring membership and an outing at Sahuaro Lake.

Honorary Plans Steak Dinner

Alpha Pi Epsilon, secretarial honorary, will have a steak fry Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Mary Jacks, faculty advisor.

The event, which is open to members and their guests, will begin at 4:45 p.m.

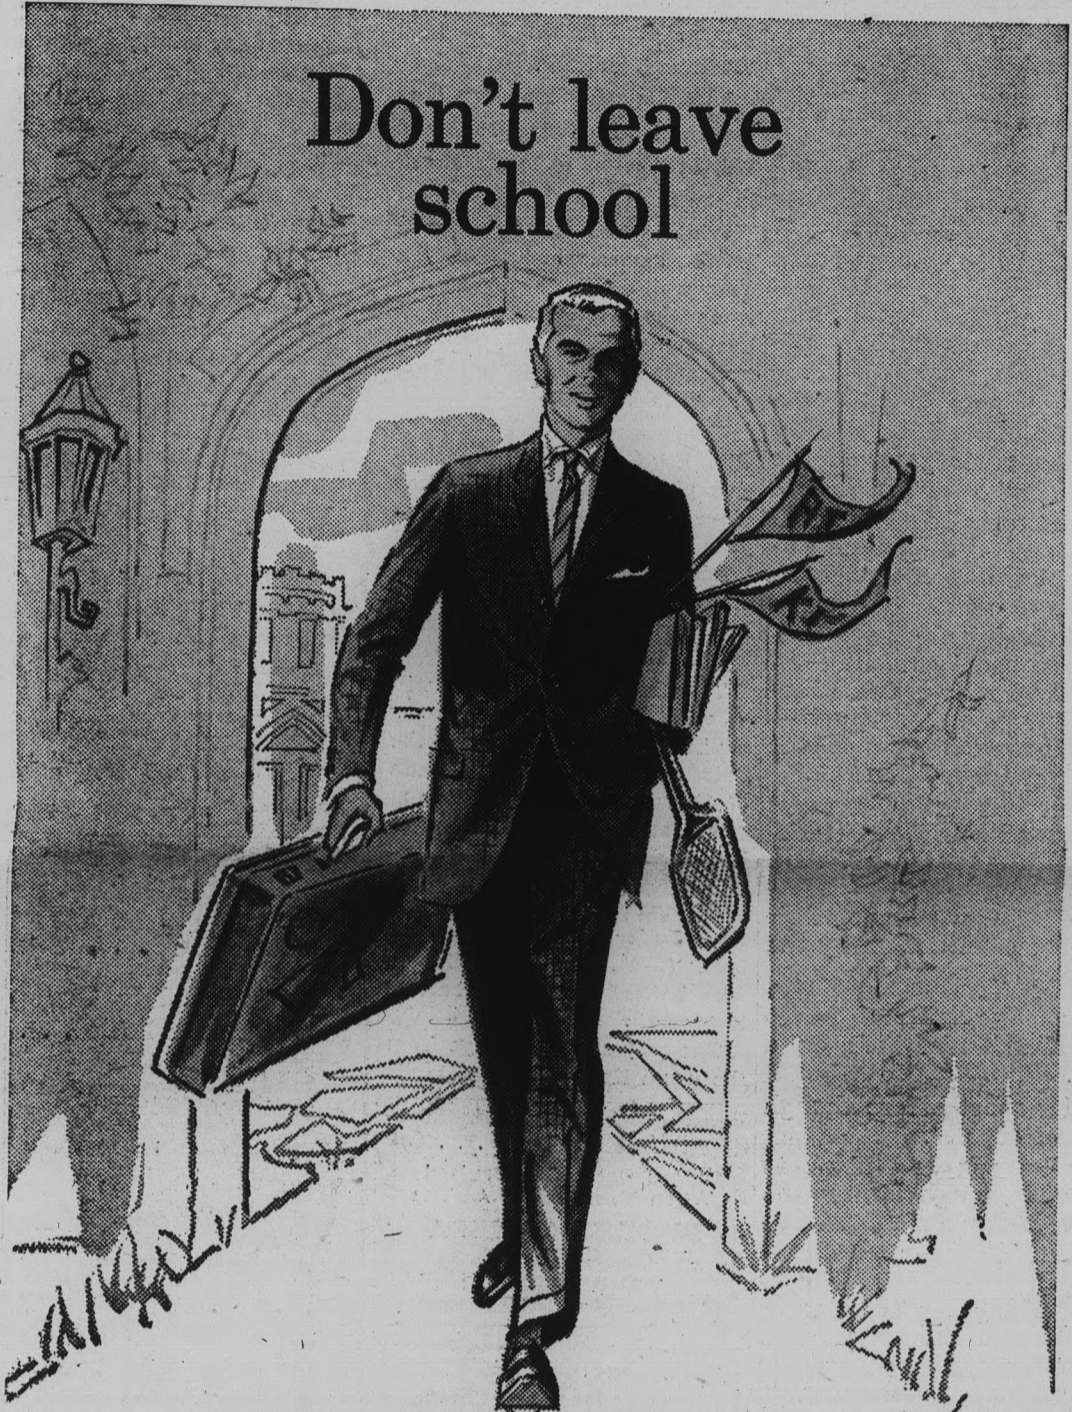

Members are asked to meet behind the BA building at 4:45 p.m., according to Dolores Escaruga, publicity chairman.

BOB VIEWS SPORTS NEWS

A Little Extra For Wildcats

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Arizona State's athletic rivalry with the University of Arizona will be renewed on two fronts this weekend — baseball and track.

And the approach of tomorrow's double header here and the dual meet in Tucson has helped bring an answer to a question that has plagued us off and on during the past couple of years.

The question? Do out-of-state athletes treat the big cross state rivalry as such or is Arizona "just another opponent?"

We think we have the answer. Our observations have led us to believe that nearly all Sun Devil athletes put forth a little extra effort and think a little more about skirmishes on the athletic field when the opponent is Arizona's Wildcats.

And we are quite sure this holds true, whether the athletes were born into the great ASU-UofA rivalry or whether they are imports from other parts of the country or world.

It's hard to tell about the situation in baseball. ASU is always shooting for the Cats because of their high rating — regardless of the fact that the Tucson nine is an arch-rival.

Still — we're pretty sure that rivalry plays a prominent part. The Sun Devils have been smarting all week after a pair of setbacks at the hands of the Wildcats in Tucson last Saturday. Their pride was hurt — not because they lost to the fifth-ranked team in the nation but because they were defeated by ARIZONA.

The same applies in track. Even though they are cast in the role of underdog to Arizona, the Sun Devil tracksters have every intention of pulling an upset. And they're willing to go to almost any length to do it.

Among the most determined are several non-Arizonans who can't stand to see this school beaten by the UofA in anything.

THEY WANT TO WIN

Jesse Bradford, hails from California. He's on a football scholarship — no track.

He's participated in the cinder sport before though and with a considerable amount of success.

Jesse's been working out all week and plans to make a brief comeback — just long enough to help the cause against the Cats tomorrow and again next week in the Border Conference meet.

Mal and Mel Spence come all the way from Kingston, Jamaica, and by all rights shouldn't care if we were running the U or Slippery Rock Tech. They want this one badly though and in an attempt to wrest victory away from the Wildcats, might compete in a few events Sun Devil fans have never seen them in before.

Says Mal, "Everytime I glimpse a UofA warmup jersey I see red. You don't know how bad I want to beat those guys."

Sun Devil sports fans you can rest assured. Win, lose or draw, the athletic representatives of this school will be giving it all they've got tomorrow. And maybe more.

Game To Be Broadcast

The afternoon game of tomorrow's double header will be broadcast live and direct from Phoenix Municipal Stadium by KXIV, 1400 on the radio dial. Air time is 1:25 with Shel Siegel and Bob Ellis doing the play-by-play and color.

KXIV will also broadcast a special recap and summary of the night game between the Sun Devils and the Wildcats during and immediately following the broadcast of the Los Angeles-New York American League game.

Seek Two Wins To Gain Series Split

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Coach Bobby Winkles and his Sun Devil baseballers are hoping to turn the tables on the University of Arizona's Wildcats in a day-night double header slated for 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Phoenix Municipal Stadium tomorrow.

Last Saturday the Cats topped the Devils twice, 10-2 and 7-2, at Tucson to move ahead in the four game series.

Winkles and the Sun Devils aren't disheartened however. They well remember last season when the UofA lost the first two games here and bounced back to win the second two, played in Tucson.

"I've been told by people who have watched the Wildcats play all season that they played their best ball of the year against us last week," said Winkles. "We were a long way from our best brand of ball and I think things will be different this time."

The Sun Devil mentor will go with the same two starting pitchers he used against the Cats in Tucson. Mike Tatum (7-1) will pitch the afternoon game and Sterling Slaughter (6-3) will go in the night contest.

Arizona will counter with Gus Zeller (9-2) and Marv Dutt (6-0), the two pitchers who baffled Sun Devil batters last week.

The only certain change from the usual lineup for the Devils will be behind the plate where Bill Gorman will take over for defensive reasons.

Winkles is still undecided in regards to his left-field situation. Bob Lefebvre, Steve Kennedy and Mike Matsik are all candidates for the starting job in that spot.

In the event of a Sun Devil sweep of the twin bill, a method of determining this district's representative to the College World Series playoffs must be decided.

Three alternatives are under consideration. (1) The teams could play a single game playoff at a neutral site — probably Casa Grande. (2) They could play a three game series at the same location. (3) the Wildcats could go because of a better overall record.

Sun Devil Spikers Clash With Cats

Arizona Rates Slight Edge In Dual Meet Tomorrow

Arizona State's track and field team faces a tough obstacle in the form of the University of Arizona tomorrow night at Tucson in the annual dual meet between the two schools.

The Wildcats are rated as favorites over the Sun Devils and figure to concede only four events — the 440, 880, javelin and mile relay — to ASU.

Those four and the mile and two mile which the Cats figure to win, are the only events which shouldn't be hotly contested

The rest can be rated as virtual toss-ups with the Wildcats having the edge in a few more than the Devils.

Arizona State's Mal Spence, Karl Schreiner and Ron Freeman look hard to beat in the quarter mile.

Mel Spence should be a solid favorite in the half mile and Wayne McDonnell and Bob Barkas appear as cinches to top the javelin field.

One of the top duels should be in the pole vault where ASU's Don Jeisy and John Rose will tangle with the UofA's Mo Hanhila and Dick Glover.

Another will be the high hurdles where Gaston Green, fully recovered from a slight injury sustained last week, will match strides with Tucson's Harry Lucky.

The lows will also furnish close competition as Jesse Bradford joins Green and Lucky as the favorites.

Carol Lindroos has his work cut out for him if he is to top Jim Burke and Karl Johnston in the discus. All three are among the nation's top ten.

Angris Alexander provides competition for Joe Caldwell in the high jump and it looks as if it will be stiff competition. Both are capable of going over the 6-6 mark.

A big question mark is Hubie Watson's pulled muscle. If he is able to compete in the 100 or 200 or both, the Devil's chances could be much better.

Netters Meet Tough Wildcats

Arizona State's tennis team, its chances for a .500 season mark tumbled by New Mexico State last week, face the powerful UofA Wildcats tomorrow in Tucson.

The match will be the final tuneup for the Border Conference tournament in Abilene, Texas May 10.

27-3-1 Record —

Best Season Ever For Arizona States Golfers

By BOB JACOBSEN

With five men consistently averaging around 74-75, the Arizona State golf team is having its best season ever with 27 wins, three losses, and a tie.

Leading the Devils is two-time defending Border Conference champ Rex Wilsen, who has been averaging 72 for the campaign. Wilsen was fifth in the Northern California Intercollegiate golf tournament in which the Devils finished second. He also reached the quarter-finals in the Arizona Amateur tourney last fall.

Another stalwart in the Devil attack is Wayne Breck, runner-up in the Arizona Amateur, low amateur in the Arizona Open, and winner of the Tucson County Club Invitational last month. Breck has been averaging 74.

Paul Spengler is also averaging 74 for the campaign. He was fourth in the Border Conference last spring and also qualified for the Phoenix Open last year.

Another member of the well-balanced Devil team is Cal Cooke. Cooke was second low amateur to Breck in the Arizona Open and won the Mesa United Fund Tournament last December. His average for the season is also 74.

Joe Pennington, fifth member of the squad, is shooting 75. He placed high in the Encanto Invitational and was a member of the team champions of the Arizona Amateur last fall.

Ray Stawicki, still another stalwart on the Devil squad, rounds out the team.

The Devils traveled to Tucson Saturday and were trounced by the Arizona Wildcats, defending B.C. champs, 20½-6½.

Future meets include the Phoenix College meet tomorrow, the Border Conference tourney at Abilene the following week-end, and the NCAA tournament June 18-26 in Lafayette, Indiana.

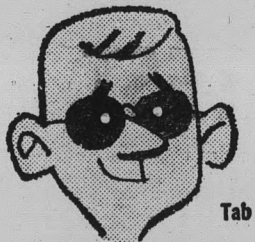

Cowboys Win All Around Honors

Arizona State rodeo club members swept three of four all-around titles in competition against Cal Poly and Arizona State College last weekend.

Dean Hill copped all-around cowboy honors against Cal Poly and Lewis Grantham and Charlotte Frye won all-around cowboy and cowgirl, respectively, against ASC.

Dick Felton won the bull dogging event against ASC and Miss Frye placed first in the goat tying competition.
