'Asia Means People' Says Dr. Wernstedt In Lecture

By BOB ZACHE

"Whenever I think of Asia I think of people. Even the most casual tourist to Asia is immediately struck by the sight of the vast numbers of people everywhere," said Dr. Frederick L. Wernstedt, ASU associate professor of Geography, in a lecture Monday.

"The population dilemma of Southeast Asia" was discussed by Dr. Wernstedt as the third program in a series of six on "America and the Challenge of Asia."

Dr. Wernstedt said that India, with its 1960 estimated population of 420 million, is putting nearly 10 million new babies upon the earth each year in a land which offers them very little food, space or opportunity.

He also said China is probably annually adding an additional 15 million new faces to its population, which already represents almost one-fourth of all mankind.

The geographer then added that the birth rate in India today remains well below that of such higher-standard-of-living countries as the Philippines, Malaya and Ceylon.

Can the problems of high birth rates in Indonesia and the Philippines be controlled? No, according to Dr. Wernstedt. He said that the dilemma is basically one of maldistribution of population.

Contrary to conditions in India and China, the Philippines and Indonesia are not faced with a shortage of land. Although there are great social and physical pressures toward resistance of resettlement of peoples, this seems to Dr. Wernstedt to be the most likely solution.

Future Business Leaders To Convene Here Saturday

The state convention of the Future Business Leaders of America will be on the ASU campus March 24.

Registration for the approximately 100 high school students expected to attend will be at 10 a.m. in the executive seminar room of the ASU Business Administration building.

Dr. Glenn D. Overman, dean of the College of Business Administration, will welcome the guests at the first general meeting. This session will also consider the acceptance of the FBLA constitution.

State FBLA advisors will be entertained at a noon luncheon in the Memorial Union.

Contests in report writing, shorthand, typing and book-keeping are scheduled for the afternoon, and awards will be presented to winners in each contest.

The students earning the most points in three out of four contests will be named Miss or Mr. FBLA.

Members of Alpha Pi Epsilon, ASU secretarial honorary, and Pi Omega Pi, ASU business education honorary, will act as hosts throughout the day. Tours of the ASU campus are scheduled, following the business meeting.

The 6 p.m. banquet meeting to be at the Valley Ho, Scottsdale, will feature speaker Lawrence Mehren, vice president of the Valley National Bank.

Co-chairmen of the convention are Gloria Natale, ASU assistant professor of Office Administration, and Dr. Richard McCready, ASU assistant professor of Business Administration.

Slated Tomorrow

PR Institute Set For ASU

By MICKEY OLLSON

The fourth annual Public Relations Institute, sponsored by the Public Relations Society of Phoenix, will be tomorrow in the MU Ballroom from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The program begins at 9 a.m. with welcoming addresses by ASU President Dr. G. Homer Durham; Don Phillips, president of the Public Relations Society of Phoenix, and Elliot Emerson, general chairman for the institute.

Seven public relations authorities with a combined experience of 101 years with public relations will begin speaking at 9:15 a.m.

First speaker will be Fred Frutche, U.S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Teaching Methods research chief. His topic will be "Psychology of Communications." At 10:30 a.m., Mrs. Virginia Ridgway, public relations counselor in Corpus Christi, Texas, will speak on "Objectivity in Public Relations," and at 11:15 a.m., Jon Riffel, public relations director of Lockheed Missiles and Space Co., will speak on "Public Relations in the Age of Space."

David Finn, president of Ruder and Finn, Inc., second largest public relations firm in the nation, will speak on "Should Communications be Monolithic, (A critical analysis of Public Relations Objectivity)," at a luncheon, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Emerson also stated that the Percy Award will be presented to the person who has done the most to advance public relations in Arizona in the past year at the luncheon.

At 2:15 p.m., Dr. Raymond W. Mack, chairman of the department of Sociology, Northwestern University, will speak on "The Challenge of Change." Ronald Goodman, President, Ronald Goodman Public Relations Counsel, Inc., Chicago, will speak at 3:25 p.m. on "The Company Booklet-Interpreter of Public Relation Policy."

Final speaker on the day-long program will be Henry Weber, director of the United Community Campaigns of America, who will talk at 4:15 p.m. on "Public Relations through Public Service."

Students and faculty members will be able to attend for a registration fee of $1, without luncheon, or for $5, including luncheon.

3rd Annual Indian Education Confab Here This Weekend

The third annual Indian Education Conference will be held Friday and Saturday in the MU and the Hiram Bradford Farmer Education building.

Major speakers on the theme of "Adult Education and Community Development" will be Francis McKinley, director of community-services, Ute Indian tribe, Ft. Duchesne, Utah; Dr. Philleo Nash, commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington D. C., and Cipriano Manuel, chief judge, Papago tribe, Sells, Ariz.

The conference is sponsored by the Indian Education Center, College of Education and the Dawa-Chindi American Indian Club at ASU.

Dr. G. Homer Durham, ASU president, will deliver a welcoming address Friday at 10 a.m. in the MU to the 200 representatives from Arizona and Utah Indian tribes expected to attend the conference.

McKinley will speak on "Educational Opportunities for the Indian Youth," at 11:15 a.m. in the MU. Dr. Nash will deliver an address at a banquet at 6:15 p.m. in the MU.

The Saturday program will begin at 9 a.m. in MU Ballroom with a panel on community development. Manuel will give a luncheon address.

The conference will end with a general session at 2 p.m. in the MU Ballroom.

Petitions Out Today

Prospective candidates for student offices may pick up petitions today at the office of the ASASU secretary.

Petitions must be turned in by 4 p.m. April 2 to the ASASU secretary.

It is mandatory that all candidates attend an orientation meeting April 5 at 3 p.m. in MU 7.

Primary elections will be held April 11 and the general elections April 18.

New Workshop Opens Thursday

By MARY GORMAN

The new Drama Workshop will officially open tomorrow night with the production "Volpone," a famous comedy by English writer Ben Jonson.

The workshop, located in the Lyceum building behind the Arts building, has been completely remodeled to fit the needs of the drama group.

The new workshop seats 150 and includes dressing rooms and a basement for set construction and storage. Later this semester a lobby will be completed and theatre seats will be installed.

The body of the theatre has been constructed so that a theatre-in-the-round can be formed by moving part of the floor.

The Lyceum building is a big change from the Payne Elementary School building that formerly housed the workshop. Past plays have been put on in the school and in a lecture room of the Business Administration building. A theatre-in-the-round was tried in the MU Ballroom.

"Volpone," the first production in the new workshop, begins tomorrow night and runs through Saturday night this week plus Thursday, Friday and Saturday night of next week.

"Volpone" concerns the life of a wealthy man who feigns sickness to get his friends to bring him gifts. The friends conspire so that if he dies, they will profit from his wealth.

Volpone is aided in his plot by his employee, Mosca, who gets the money in the end, des-

PV To Buy 7-Day Ticket Next Year

All residents of Palo Verde Hall will purchase a seven-day meal ticket starting next semester, according to Dean Catherine Nichols.

"This is being done in response to numerous requests of Palo Verde from sorority alumnae and other interested persons," said Dean Nichols.

"I feel the women of Palo Verde are making head long strides in the direction of creating a collegiate campus," said Suzanne Herbruck, PV president. "Just this past week we started a new tradition of dressing up for Monday night dinners and having a more casual atmosphere on Friday nights," she continued.

"With the seven-day meal ticket, social events, such as exchanges and rush parties, previously scheduled during the week can be reserved for weekends. This change not only would leave week nights free for studying, but also would foster a more collegiate atmosphere on campus," said Margie Holstine, Panhellenic president.

pitate the fact that Volpone does not die.

The cast includes Michael Byron as Volpone, James Mancuso as Mosca and Susan Flannery as Canina.

Other cast members are: James Seeman, Michael Solomon, Alvie Thomas, Jeffery Boucher, Lynda Salisbury, Glenn Campbell, Joseph Smart, Kenneth Strecker and James Lindell.

Dr. James W. Yeater is director of "Volpone." Curtain time is 8 p.m. for all performances.

The next play to be produced by the Drama Workshop is "Touch of a Poet," by Eugene O'Neill. The play will be directed by ASU senior Dave Barker.

Tryouts for "Touch of a Poet" started Monday and Tuesday and will continue Friday from 3-5 p.m.

TV Special Postponed; To Be Shown March 28

The hour-long special TV program, "Project Mercury—The Manned Space Program," originally scheduled to be shown tonight on KAET, has been postponed until next Tuesday.

Channel 8 received a telegram from the National Educational Television network advising the station that shipment of the program would be delayed.

Distributed by the NASA directly to NET stations, the feature highlights America's first orbital flight, traces the development of the manned-space program, describes the techniques of launching and orbiting and explains the purposes of the nation's space problems.

The final sequences of this program show the Friendship 7 countdown, launching, ascent and tracking procedures.

KAET Channel 8, ASU's educational television station, highlights the program "Arms Control," tonight at 8.

Dealing with "Limited and Nuclear War," the program features Henry Wriston and Arthur Hadley in a discussion of the political implications of the arms race. They also will discuss the increasing tendency of the smaller nations to arm themselves.

A new feature debuts tomorrow evening on Channel 8 at 8:30 called "Your Income Tax." The first of the series of three installments is "Filling Out the 1040A Card." Special guest Robert Merkley of the Federal Internal Revenue Service will discuss essential facts in regard to filling out the various tax forms.

Housing Announces New Priority Ruling, Room Renewal Date

"Students now living in residence halls that want to return next year must have all application forms in by May 1," Edward M. Hickcox, director of Housing, announced yesterday.

This procedure includes paying an additional $15 to bring the room deposit up to the required $25 level.

The housing reservation forms require the signature of a parent or guardian, if the student is under 21. Hickcox stated that all students should pick up their application forms at the Housing department immediately and mail them home for signature before returning the form to the Housing department with the additional $15 by May 1.

If students fail to reserve a room for next year, they cannot be guaranteed space in a residence hall. They also will lose priority to return to that hall, Hickcox added.

Recent action by the Board of Regents raised the dorm room deposit up to the now required $25 level. Students now enrolled have already paid $10 and will be charged an additional $15. New students will be required to pay $25 when they turn in the application.

The Housing Office has established a priority policy for dormitory spaces to insure residence hall assignments for students.

Top priority is given to present occupants of dormitories who are in good standing and are eligible for readmission, both academically and behaviorally.

Second priority is given to scholarship holders, provided the scholarship is accepted within two weeks after notification and the room reservation is made at that time.

Arizona residents will be assigned approximately 80 per cent of the available space, and out of state students will be assigned 20 per cent on a first-come, first-served basis through June 30.

After July 1, the remaining spaces will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis.

Research And Evolution To Be Program Topics

Dr. Raymond C. Moore, world renowned paleontologist, will deliver two public lectures tomorrow in Room 150 of the Agriculture building.

At 3:30 p.m., Dr. Moore will discuss "Evolution as Shown by Invertebrate Fossils," and at 7:30 p.m., he will speak on "Geology of the Grand Canyon."

Dr. Moore is a professor of American Geological Institute through a grant of the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Moore is the professor of Geology at the University of Kansas.

The use of radioactive is-topes in research at ASU will be one of the subjects discussed today at the Sigma Xi Society meeting.

The meeting will be at 4 p.m. in Room 422 of the Engineering Center and will include a panel discussion.

Panelists will include Dr. T. W. Barrett, professor of Agronomy; Dr. W. S. Rawls, associate professor of Physics; Dr. D. D. Watt, associate professor of Zoology, and Dr. H. B. Whitehurst, associate professor of Chemistry. The discussion will be moderated by Dr. C. O. Reiser, chairman of the isotope committee at ASU.

Orchestra To Feature Five Soloists

The ASU Symphony Orchestra will feature five student soloists in a concert Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the MU Ballroom.

The concert is free to the public.

The student soloists selected by competitive auditions are Henry Spencer, Elliott Savage, James Butler and Martha Bacon.

Pianist Jerry Cobb will be featured in a premier performance of the Adagio movement of the recently completed "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra" by Grant Fletcher, composer and ASU professor of Music.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Eugene P. Lombardi, assistant professor of Music.

The Symphony Orchestra, scheduled for March 28-31, will include seven Arizona and California cities: Ajo and Yuma, Ariz., and Redlands, San Gabriel, Occidental College, North Hollywood and Palm Springs in California.

KASN Programs For ASU Students

By DON YEAGER

Do you know that Monday through Friday from 2-12 p.m. you can hear music programmed especially for you, the University student, on ASU's radio station KASN?

With studios located in the east end of the Engineering Center, KASN operates on a frequency of 580 kilocycles and can be heard in campus dormitories.

The University radio station features "radio information news," which offers the student the latest happenings around the world, Arizona and the ASU campus.

Included in the news format are NBC network news programs, Arizona and campus news, sportscasts, weather reports, Arizona Highway Patrol reports and ASU Police Department reports.

Operated and managed by students, KASN is a laboratory for Radio-TV majors and all students interested in broadcasting. Here they can get practical experience in radio announcing, newswriting and management.

Students in JO 110 are given the chance to gather, edit and record campus news daily for playback on KASN.

Preliminary plans for the first campus radio station, KASC, began in 1950. Broadcasting was started in 1952 from studios in the basement of Matthews Library.

The station was, at that time, under the guidance of Richard H. Bell, director of newly-created Radio-TV Bureau. Currently the faculty director is Charles R. Allen.

The original equipment was constructed by two ASC students, George Augsberger and Thomas Voss. In 1955 the station was equipped with professional equipment, but it was still broadcasting from the makeshift studios in the basement of Matthews Library.

KASC affiliated with NBC, in 1957, and moved into its present studios in the Engineering Center. After ASC became ASU, the station's call letters were changed to KASN.

we have lost a great builder

Back in 1936, Grady Gammage, president of Arizona State College, needed a man to teach journalism. He also needed a publicity man for the college.

That man passed away last week, and he left behind a record of service to what is now Arizona State University . . . a record which stands above many.

TO HELP US, we contacted Ernest J. Hopkins, ASU professor emeritus of Journalism, an old and dear friend of Chuck Southern.

"Chuck was one of those rare men who did a lot of things and did them all well," said Hopkins. "He was a brilliant academic man, a true friend of athletics, a good publicity man and a devoted journalist."

Mr. Southern was an All American halfback at Ohio State. When he came to ASU, his interest in athletics was great, and he immediately became a benefit to the college.

"He was close to Dixie Howell and Ed Daugherty, (ASC football coaches), and even closer to the players, being their unofficial supervisor," said Hopkins.

IT WAS NOT until 1949 that ASC established a department of Journalism. And it was through the efforts of Professor Hopkins and Mr. Southern that this long-sought goal was accomplished.

"When he was not leading something, he was always in the background. I could not have made it without Chuck," said Hopkins, referring to the establishment of the department.

Mr. Southern was advisor of the State Press for 12 years . . . from 1936-48. It was during this time that the name was changed from the "Collegiate" to the "Arizona State Press" and finally to the State Press.

WE KNOW THAT his work is a great part of the foundation of the newspaper you are now reading. He helped put it where it is today.

We have lost a great builder.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

one solution — we could close down detroit

Someday, the parking problem at Arizona State University may be solved . . . but, then, it might be pretty hard to convince General Motors and Ford Motor Company to shut down production.

This week further complications have arisen concerning student parking at ASU. The Tempe City Council has approved a recommendation of its Public Safety committee which prohibits parking on those streets indicated in the map above from 7 to 9:30 a.m.

The State Press contacted Tempe City Manager Lou Cooper, and he stated several reasons for the action. Among them were: complaints from residents that students have shown little respect by parking on lawns, in alleys and driveways; reports from the Safety committee that pedestrians are crossing Eighth Street at random from behind parked cars and that removal of the cars would reduce the danger of accidents; also, that a picture was taken from atop the Catholic church, which showed that there is adequate room in the lot behind Palo Verde for student parking.

These seem to us to be rather substantial reasons.

However, the State Press strongly objects to the manner in which the action was taken. Why weren't we informed that such a study was being made? Why were we given no voice in this matter which definitely pertains to us? Why was the action not co-sponsored by the University, and if it were, why weren't we told about it?

We think it is fairly obvious that this action was aimed at one particular group — us.

We feel this is not fair. And, according to our conversation with some Tempe businessmen, they do not think it is fair either. They say it won't work. That would be all right with us.

But this is not what we want most . . . we want to be told about these things in advance.

SPECIAL FEATURE

mu offers many recreational opportunities

By JANET WOLHETER

If you are looking for something to do between classes besides going to the Den, try some activities offered in the MU Games room.

Bowling, billiards, cards, ping-pong, various games and dancing are available to ASU students almost any hour of the day.

The games area consists of Clancy's, the bowling alley and Clancy's billiard parlor.

The Games room is open to all students from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays. It is open from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. On Sundays, the games area is open from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

"The Games room at ASU has exceptionally fine facilities for student enjoyment and entertainment. I hope every student will come down at least once this year and take advantage of these facilities," said Gary Noddings, Games room manager.

Clancy's is open to students who want to eat sack lunches, dance to music from the juke box or play games such as chess, checkers, monopoly, dominoes and cards. Clancy's is open weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The bowling alley, newest addition to the Games room, provides an opportunity for the student to participate in a fast-growing sport. An average of 185 lines are bowled per day. "This is about half as many lines as could be bowled per day," said Noddings.

Les Dean, bowling instructor, is available to students free of charge from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays only. The price to bowl is 35 cents per line or $1 for three lines. The charge for extra frames is five cents each and 10 cents for shoes. If a student wishes, lanes may be reserved by calling Ext. 440.

Clancy's billiard parlor contains six regular pool tables, one snooker table, one three-cushioned billiard table and four ping-pong tables. Pool is 60 cents an hour and ping-pong is 30 cents an hour. About 180 people use the billiard parlor every day.

Chess, checkers, monopoly, dominoes and cards may be checked out at the main desk in the Games room. Tournaments in chess, checkers and bridge are being proposed for the future.

"I suppose it would be difficult to tie in President Kennedy's physical fitness program with our Games room facilities, although the twisting at Clancy's might qualify, but it is important that the student know these facilities are available. When they feel the need for this sort of recreational activity, we want them to feel welcome," said Mr. White.

'Playboy's Rabbit Forecasts Fashion

By TWILA DRUMM

The Playboy Rabbit comes to Arizona State with the latest fashion news forecast for spring and summer from Playboy magazine.

There is neither a full nor a sloppy line to be found in men's clothes. The shape is the "tall look."

Suits, jackets and slacks are cut along the lean, clean lines demanded by young men who have influenced the entire market. Every trick of line plus design that slim down and stretch out the figure of less than towering height is being used.

"Stretch" fabrics (originated in Europe for ski wear) are now ready to "give a little" to add stretch to slacks, Bermuda shorts, swim wear and sport shirts.

On the subject of sport shirts, the newest look is the stitched "workshirt" plus the "double-duty" sport shirt — used and worn on campus. Typical is the sport shirt cut along the lines of a cardigan sweater or sports coat (rounded front, three buttons).

Summer sweaters are seasoned for cool comfort. The word now is shirt-weight sweaters in a wide choice of knit and texture. The Playboy Rabbit endorses the "uncluttered" and classic lines.

Big fashion firsts are the matching cardigan and shirt sets — same yarn, same weight, same texture.

Color takes on a white, lighter appearance — the look of a cool, frosted quality. The most predominant color impact is being felt from new style treatments of the classic red, white and blue, but the past raw "hot" shades have cooled down a bit. There is a blaze of color in swim wear, with the shorter boxer-type trunks the most popular shape.

Bridge Lessons To Be Offered On Wednesdays

A series of eight bridge lessons for beginning and intermediate players is being offered for students and faculty by the ASASU Social committee.

The first of the weekly Wednesday night lessons will be held March 28 at 7 p.m. in the MU faculty dining room.

Instructions will be divided into two parts: 7 to 8 p.m. is lecture instruction, and supervised playing is from 8 to 10 p.m.

Frank Flanagan, instructor, is the immediate past president of the Phoenix American Contract Bridge League and director of the weekly University Duplicate Bridge Club. He has been giving bridge instructions for the past 20 years.

Interested persons must sign up at the MU information desk before March 28. Total cost for the course is $3.20, which is to be paid at the first meeting.

The Playboy Rabbit gives college men one special wardrobe hint: balance your wardrobe with one dark and one subdued jacket. The dusky blues are running strong.

A new model in sports jackets is the 1962 version of the double-breasted coat with a rounded front and button-off back belt. If the jacket pattern is a bold plaid, make it a strong color, says the Rabbit. For stripes, the colors should be more subdued.

Beautician To Address Wives Club

Mrs. Francis Richmond, professional beauty counselor, will give a demonstration on correct and incorrect procedures of applying makeup at the Air Force Institute of Technology Wives' Club Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the MU upper lounge.

The demonstration will be performed on two volunteers from the audience.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY JUFFERS "SPRING MADNESS"

GO NEAR THE WATER. Spring is the time when students start thinking about water fun. We say: Splash up a storm. Have a lark. But please be careful. Each year, a few careless students get water on their Luckies. Imagine their remorse! Imagine yours if you were to spoil a Lucky—that great cigarette that college students smoke more of than any other regular. So have a swell time at your favorite watering hole this spring. And keep your Luckies dry.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Diablos Win Series

Los Angeles State's powerful Diablos came to town for a three game baseball series last week, and when they left, Arizona State found itself on the short end of the series standing.

Friday afternoon, the Diablos rocked the Devils 14-7 — handing the ASU nine its first loss of the season. Saturday, the guests from the coast edged the Demons 3-1 before falling 4-1 in the second game of a twin bill.

BULLETIN

The Arizona State-Utah track meet, originally scheduled for last night, was postponed until 3 this afternoon, because the track was flooded by Monday's rains.

Girl Netters Take Honors

Carole Ann Prosen won the Arizona closed women's singles crown to lead an ASU sweep of the tourney in Phoenix last weekend.

Miss Prosen defeated teammate Pinky Shoemaker 6-1, 6-2 in the final round, after Miss Shoemaker had reached the finals with an upset win over Lynn Haines, also of ASU.

Miss Prosen and Miss Haines then teamed to win the state doubles title, with a 6-4, 6-3 verdict over Miss Shoemaker and teammate Emma Flores.

In Friday's game, LA State pounded out 18 hits, including four triples, off five ASU hurlers. Gary Graham started for the Devils and took the loss. He was followed to the hill by Larry Smith, John Miller, Lad Nemecek and Dan Acuff. Acuff was the only Devil pitcher who wasn't tagged for a hit.

The Sun Devils were allowed only six hits by stingy Casey Cox, winner of four of LA State's first seven games. Paul Runge collected two safeties to lead ASU at the plate.

Saturday, the two clubs traded pitching gems, with Diablo hurler Ralph Hunter tossing a two hitter at the Devils in the opener and ASU's Pete Lovrich returning the favor, spinning a two hitter of his own to win the second game.

Hunter held the Devils hitless seven inning opener when Jack until the sixth inning of the Handley and Larry Walker slapped out a pair of hits to spoil the no-hit job. Handley tallied ASU's only run as he scored on a fielder's choice.

The second contest was a reversal of form, as Lovrich allowed a first-inning single and then skillfully controlled the Diablos bats until the ninth, when he relinquished another safety.

Coach Ned Wulk and the entire Sun Devil basketball team wish to express their gratitude for the earnest support given them by the students of ASU during the season just concluded.

The Devils thank everyone who rooted for them during regular season play and in their NCAA tournament bid.

Imp Baseballers Defeat Sun City

ASU's Sun Imp baseballers edged Sun City 8-7 Saturday as they pushed across three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to overcome a 7-5 deficit.

Rich Funari got credit for the win. He worked in relief of Ron Lea, who relieved starter Bob Burger.

Jan Kleinman hit a home run for the Imps and Tom Ellithorpe knocked out three hits in four trips to the plate.

Rain Halts Contests

When the rains came Monday afternoon, they affected ASU athletic teams in both a positive and negative manner.

The Sun Devil men's tennis team was trailing Utah State 4-2 when a deluge from the skies brought a halt to proceedings. Dick Draper and Craig Carlson had ASU's two wins.

Baseball had another fate. The Devils led 5-3 entering the top of the fifth, but it started pouring before the fifth inning, necessary to make the game official, could be played. The game was canceled.

Devil Nine Loses

Southern Illinois handed Arizona State its third baseball loss of the season yesterday afternoon on the Sun Devil diamond. The Devils found themselves on the short end of a 4-1 score and saw their season record drop to 4-3.

Sterling Slaughter went all the way on the mound for ASU and took the loss. His season record now stands at 1-1. Larry Brion and Dick Heiden each got two hits to lead the Devils at the plate.

Track Upset Was Shocker

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Arizona State's electrifying track and field upset of favored Oregon State and Arizona here Saturday night has to rank as one of the greatest athletic achievements in recent years at this university.

Everyone who reads the papers knew that the 1962 cinder edition was good, but when Baldy Castillo's boys kept reeling off wins until they had accumulated 11 of them, a lot of jaws could be seen agape in Goodwin Stadium.

"Why I had no idea . . ." was a commonplace remark. No one could believe that the same Sun Devils who finished 13 1/2 points behind Arizona the week before in a triangular meet could turn the tables to the tune of a 35 point win over the same Arizona team.

And when the flying cinders from the mile relay settled, murmurs of astonishment and disbelief were heard from the crowd when it realized that national powerhouse Oregon State, sixth nationally last year and current NCAA cross country champion, was a distant second — 17 points behind the surprising Sun Devils.

It was a sports rarity — a complete reversal of form which left even the athletes stunned. Not only were the victims in a mild state of shock, the victors couldn't quite believe what they had done.

Some of the improvements from the week before were almost unbelievable. Take the example of spunky Eric Owers, a freshman half miler from Australia. Two weeks ago in Tucson a tired Owers, with a mile already under his belt, ran dead last with a 2:09.5 half. Saturday, a fresh Owers gamely outfought the competition for an outstanding 1:52.6 clocking — a 16.9 second improvement for the half in only one week's time.

Bill Jost, another ASU surprise, didn't even contribute a point to ASU's success, but his improvement was phenomenal. The sophomore miler and two miler got off to a slow start with his training this year but is now catching up at a rate that seems impossible.

Jost had the misfortune of competing in two events where several of the nation's best were entered. He didn't beat them, but his performance was typical of the entire Devil cinder squad.

Jost ran a 4:28.1 mile, several seconds faster than expected, and came back an hour later to turn in a 10:00.2 two mile. Two weeks ago he had a career best of 10:44 in the two mile. At Tucson, he lowered that mark 18 seconds to 10:26, and Saturday he cut off another 26 seconds.

Overall the Devils improved their triangular point total from 42 at Tucson to 74 here last Saturday. Another performance like the latter, and mighty USC, unbeaten in dual competition since 1945, could find itself up against one of its stiffest tests in years Saturday when the Devils host the Trojans and Oklahoma.

Cop 11 Firsts In Upset Of Favored Cinder Foes

By DENNIS ANDERSON

Sensational; a tremendous come-through team effort. These words described last Saturday's track meet, which saw ASU's cindermen display surprising depth in winning over heralded Oregon State and the UofA.

The Sun Devils grabbed 11 out of 16 possible first places, good for 74 points. Oregon State was second with 57, and the UofA was last with 39.

The night was full of surprises and upsets. First came the 100-yard dash when hurricane Henry Carr won in a swift 9.6. Not expected to be at peak efficiency after Saturday morning's grid scrimmage, the Detroit speedster hit the tape first, when teammate Hubie Watson misjudged the finish.

Watson mistook the tape at 90 yards and lunged forward only to find 10 yards of cinders between him and the actual finish. He made up for this by winning the 220 in 20.8, tying his ASU and stadium record for the straightaway event. Watson's 196 defeat was his first such loss at home.

Besppectacled Uli Williams made his home debut a record one, breaking the ASU and stadium record in the 440, winning in 46.6. Ron Freeman finished second in a good 47.1, his best ever.

Jumpin' Joe Caldwell provided an important high jump win for ASU. Fresh off the basketball hardwoods and without benefit of practice, the "Fish" cleared 6-5 1/4.

Gaston Green won the 120 high hurdles in a good 14.3, edging teammate Darrell Jansen.

Davies Wins In Canada

George Davies of Arizona State continued the tradition established earlier this year by John Rose, as he vaulted 15-5 3/4 to win a Canadian invitational track and field meet in Winnipeg Saturday night.

Davies' vault was the highest ever in Canada. The previous standard was set a few weeks ago when Rose vaulted 15-5 1/4 to win the Winnipeg Meet of Champions.

In the 220 lows, freshman Jim Tucker turned in a sparkling 23.5 win, an excellent early season mark.

Half miler Eric Owers showed promise of things to come by taking a thrilling 1:52.6 race over Art Gardenswartz of the UofA, who was given the same time. ASU's Dan Roth was third in a strong 1:54.5.

John Rose continued his winning ways with another 15 foot pole vault — a 15-1/4 effort. He narrowly missed a third attempt at 15-6.

Senior weight man Pete Anselmo contributed 8 points, winning the shot put with 51-2, then twirling the discus 151-9 for second.

Javelin ace Frank Covelli won his event with a 230 fling. ASU's other first came in the mile relay, and this was the night's thriller.

ASU's Freeman cinched the win for the Devils, ripping off a 46.5 third leg, coming from 18 yards behind. Williams then anchored in 46.6 to give ASU a 3:11.1 victory, fastest U.S. outdoor time this year.

ASU football coach Frank Kush is pleased with the work of several of his younger performers during spring practice sessions.

Kush singled out a pair of backfield speedsters, Henry Carr and Larry Todd, as perhaps just the thing needed to give the Sun Devils needed backfield fleetness.

Gridders Please Kush

Both are sprinters for Baldy Castillo's track team. Carr ran a 9.6 hundred last Saturday night to beat several of the nation's top sprinters, and he did it after a grueling 3 hour grid practice Saturday morning.

Veteran end Roger Locke has drawn more praise than any other gridder from the coaching staff. Kush has Locke pegged for sure All America honors, if the rugged pass grabber continues his present good all-around play.

John Jacobs is currently holding down the first team quarterback spot, and his backfield mates are Charlie Taylor, Tony Lorick and Mitch Siskowski.

Gym Team 7th In Western Meet

Arizona State's gymnasts finished seventh against rugged competition in the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastics Championships in Sacramento, Calif., last weekend.

Harvey Plant led the Devils with a first in the trampoline, a fourth in tumbling and a ninth in free exercise.

Bill Cornelius finished sixth on the parallel bars and eighth on the still rings. Jerry Stansbury placed ninth in the all-around category.

USC won the meet with 147 1/2 points to 110 for runner-up California. The University of Arizona was fifth with 36 points. ASU had 29 1/2 points.
