Oral Vaccine Slated Sunday

By MARY GORMAN

The distribution of the Sabin oral vaccine in Arizona this Sunday will have a special significance in the drive against polio.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin, creator of the Sabin oral vaccine, will be in Arizona this weekend to observe the distribution of the last round of the serum that he perfected.

Dr. Sabin is a Russian-born scientist. A naturalized American, he served in World War II with the U.S. Army Medical Corps, working to control epidemic diseases.

The oral inoculation will be distributed Sunday on the ASU campus at the Moeur Activity building from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

The ASU clinic is one of the 60 clinics set up in Maricopa County to distribute the vaccine. Over 600,000 are expected to receive the vaccine this Sunday.

Dr. Sabin perfected the oral vaccine after several years of research. The vaccine is put out in three forms.

Type III, the third and last round of the oral inoculations, which will be distributed throughout Maricopa County, is administered orally in the form of a sugar cube.

It is both tasteless and odorless. The cube is saturated with the serum.

The Maricopa County Medical Society inaugurated the mass polio immunizations program nationally.

Women's Day Set For Next Thursday

"Womenly Always - All Ways" will be the theme of this year's Women's Day, May 3.

Women's Day is sponsored by the Associated Women Students.

Its purpose is to honor the women of ASU by setting aside one day to give recognition to outstanding individuals and groups.

The day will start officially with an assembly at 10:40 a.m. in the MU Ballroom.

Dr. Pearl Tang and Dr. H. D. Richardson will address the women students on subjects of special interest.

A banquet will be at 5:30 p.m. in the MU Ballroom.

Some of the awards to be presented are: Panhellenic "Women of the Year," highest scholarship trophy to resident halls, AWS scholarships to an incoming freshman woman and an upperclass woman student, AWS "Woman of the Year" and the scholarship trophy to one of the sororities.

The new AWS officers will also be installed.

Tickets will go on sale for the banquet Monday in the halls and will be available to off-campus women at the dean of women's office Tuesday morning.

The price is 75 cents with a meal ticket and $1.75 without.

The seating capacity of the ballroom has been enlarged to accommodate all the women students.

Seating space will be available to those who wish to watch the awards presentation, scheduled to start around 7 p.m.

This year's AWS officers are president, Barbara Anderson; vice president, Bonnie Evans; secretary, Carol Hendrickson; treasurer, Mary Ellen Ross.

Advisor is Dean Jo Freida Dorris.

Board Of Publications Appoints New Editors

The Board of Publications yesterday announced the appointment of the fall semester State Press editor and the 1963 Sahuaro editor.

Linda Warren, a junior majoring in English, will be the State Press editor for the 1962 fall semester. She succeeds Bill Flick, who did not seek re-appointment due to fraternal obligations.

Gary Avey, currently art editor for the 1962 Sahuaro and a senior majoring in Art, was named editor for the 1963 yearbook.

Miss Warren has previously served as assignments editor and news editor of the State Press. She is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism honorary and Alpha Phi sorority.

She maintains a 3.00 grade index.

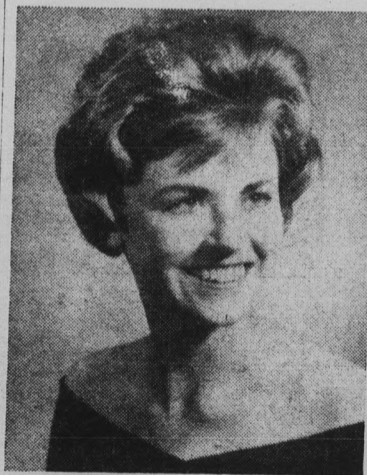

A Journalism minor, Miss Warren has worked on the State Press staff for two years and has served under four editors. She is currently a secretary for the department of Mass Communications.

Avey has worked on the yearbook staff for two years and has made a major contribution to the color layout section scheduled for the 1962 book, according to editor Roxanna Berry.

He will succeed Miss Berry as Sahuaro editor.

Avey maintains a 2.07 grade index and is a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Six Bids Submitted On New Grady Gammage Auditorium

Six bids, from a low of $2,170,900 to a high of $2,445,000, were submitted to ASU Tuesday concerning the construction of the basic structure of Grady Gammage Memorial Auditorium.

Mr. Gilbert Cady, ASU vice president of business affairs, said the bids were within the estimate allotted for the basic structure.

Included in the bids were provisions for alternate methods of construction, which would change the total cost, he said.

The alternates, which concern behind-stage work, will not affect the main function of the auditorium.

A separate bid on stage equipment is scheduled for next Wednesday, before the bids are forwarded to the Board of Regents for consideration, he said.

Taliesin Associated Architects of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation is completing work on this project, which is said to be the last one done by the late architect.

West Hall Is Arrest Scene

Two Tempe juveniles were apprehended on the ASU campus yesterday after a Tempe store employee said he saw them taking merchandise and chased them.

According to Tempe police reports, the two were seen taking records from the Ryan-Evans Drug Store in the Tempe Shopping Center. When an employee asked them to halt, they ran.

The employee told police he was joined in the chase by two armored car guards who were driving by the store.

The three chased the youths into the ASU campus, into the women's dorm quad and into West Hall, where they were apprehended and turned over to city police.

Workshop Payment Deadline Extended To Next Tuesday

By NANCY TENNEY

Students planning to attend the Spring Leadership Workshop in Payson must pay their four dollars to the business office, MU 207, by 4 p.m. May 1.

The date has been extended for the benefit of students who will not be paid until the 1st.

No private cars will be permitted to, at or from the camp.

The primary reason for this, according to J. C. Brown, chairman of the Organization and Leadership Board and its advisor, William R. Coulson, is "that the success of the workshop depends in part in the unity the group develops, and this depends in large measure on our going and coming together and all of us being at the workshop full time. . . No one will be allowed to come to the workshop late or leave early without advance permission.

The major address Saturday evening will be given

Cadet Recognition System Receives Officer's Praise

By ROBERT HUDNALL
How successful is ASU's Army ROTC honor cadet tab system? The tab system, as explained by Lt. Col. Warren W. Hanson, executive officer of the Army ROTC, is a unique system in college ROTC that primarily enables potentially qualified cadets to be identified.

Freshmen cadets are tabbed by the ROTC regular cadre on the basis of military bearing, academic performance and estimated leadership potential.

Those selected few are authorized to wear a set of green shoulder tabs.

ed red shoulder tabs and are organized into an honor company commanded by a senior cadet corps officer.

After the first year of operation, Lt. Col. Hanson said that from 97 sophomores who have passed entrance examinations for MS III this fall, it is anticipated 55 to 60 students will be selected.

"This represents an increase from the present 1961-62 MS III class of 43," said Lt. Col. Hanson.

"The tab system has proven to be an excellent method for screening cadets. The cadre and senior cadets have an easier task of supervising and counseling the cadet toward a prospective commission," he said.

"This year, three general methods have been used to increase advanced ROTC participation," said Col. Hanson.

"The first is the tab system. A cadet can be tabbed at any time or the tab may be withdrawn," he said.

"The second is the awarding of yellow cords to the best freshman and sophomore of the month. These men are picked for their performance from maximum drill periods used in ASU's ROTC," the colonel added.

More About

Payson Workshop

by Dr. Kermit Long, pastor of Phoenix Central Methodist church.

The Rev. Long, who is now serving as President of the Phoenix Council of Churches, has participated in preaching and evangelistic missions in Cuba, Hawaii, Canada and Scotland and in the Armed Forces.

In 1951, Bowling Green University singled him out as the "Alumnus of the Year."

"Role Playing" will be the topic of a demonstration and discussion given by Professor S. G. Huneryager, coordinator of executive development programs and assistant professor of management at ASU.

James D. Lay, special assistant, Office of Public Affairs, U.S. Peace Corps, will speak Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Gerard V. Haigh, ASU clinical psychologist, will speak Saturday afternoon on "Psychodynamics of Leadership."

Dr. Haigh received the Ph.D. from the University of Chicago and the P.S.S. degree at the City College of New York. He is co-founder of Boys' Village and the author of several books and articles.

A major address will be given by Sam Mardian Jr., mayor of Phoenix. The topic of Mayor Mardian's speech has not yet been announced.

Sophos To Host Ranch Seniors

Sophos, sophomore men's honorary, will host the seniors of the Arizona Boys Ranch tomorrow, according to Dr. Jerry Bryant, faculty sponsor.

Dean Gary R. Anderson will present the opening address at 8:45 a.m. to the boys, who will then tour the campus.

Following lunch, Jim Creasman, alumni executive secretary, will address the group.

At 2 p.m., the visitors will attend the ball game between the Devils and ASC at Flagstaff.

A panel discussion on the various activities of college life at ASU is scheduled next.

Awards To Be Presented At Annual KASN Banquet

The annual KASN awards banquet will be May 13 at the Phoenix Press Club in the Hotel Westward Ho, Phoenix, at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the banquet will be Jim Spero of KUPD radio.

Awards will be presented to student broadcasters by the KASN staff, management and alumni.

Awards to be presented include:

The KASN adviser's award, to be given to an outstanding new staff member who has shown rapid progress, interest and enthusiasm during his first year on KASN;

The outstanding announcer award, to be given to the person who has used clever ideas, announcing skills and techniques to the best advantage;

The KASN appreciation award, to be presented to the student who has done the most for the station.

The evening will feature a buffet style dinner, after which the awards will be presented.

KASN announcers, their friends and all persons interested in broadcasting should purchase tickets from KASN staff members and advisers before May 1, if they plan to attend.

ASU Offers Study Tour Of Colombia

Dr. Roy Rice, director of summer sessions at ASU, has announced a tour of Colombia for this summer, which will include a summer course at Universidad Libre in Bogota.

The tour will begin in Tucson, where participants will leave for Bogota July 17, and will officially end Aug. 20.

Tuition for six units of work, board and room and a round-trip airplane ticket will cost $725.

Dr. Mary J. Escudero of the Foreign Language department will act as tour director.

Catalog To List Faculty Writings

"Publications of the Faculty," a bibliographical catalog of ASU faculty writings, will be available from the ASU Bureau of Publications beginning this week.

Frank Schneider, assistant librarian, and Gertrude Hill, special collections librarian, have assembled and edited ASU's first compilation of the faculty's publications.

Every academic department of ASU is covered under 33 different department headings from Agriculture to Zoology. Education contains the most entries.

The catalog contains an introduction by President G. Homer Durham and a preface by Academic Vice President H. D. Richardson.

The edition includes approximately 3,000 entries covering publications through June 30, 1961.

About 200 of these are books. The remainder include articles in academic journals, monographs and pamphlets.

The catalog will be distributed to the ASU faculty during the latter part of the week and will be made available to anyone interested by the Bureau of Publications.

Supplements to the faculty bibliography will be published annually.

Second Year To Be Noted By Honorary

Natani, junior women's cultural honorary, will celebrate its second year on the ASU campus this Sunday.

Natani is a local honorary designed to promote interest in the culture of the Southwest. The girls attend many cultural affairs as a group throughout the year.

A limit of 25 women a year are accepted on a basis of scholarship (2.7 or above), service and leadership. This year the accumulative scholarship of the members reached a 3.00 average.

New members will be tapped next week.

Officers of the Natani group are: Janet Elliott, president; Pearl Tang, vice president; Sharon Brosseau, secretary; Carlene McClain, treasurer, and Arlene Przanowski, historian.

Math Specialist To Be Speaker

ASU students and faculty members are invited to attend a lecture on the world's famous mathematical tables at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, 1040 Apache Blvd., Tempe, at 8 p.m. Monday.

Charles R. Sexton, specialist in mathematical tables and registered professional engineer, will be the lecturer. The talk will be informal and non-technical.

Stout Writes Book With Help Of Wife

Dr. Irving W. Stout, dean of Graduate College, and his wife are the co-authors of the book, "Teaching Moral and Spiritual Values: A Parents' Guide To Developing Character."

The 124-page book was released this month by the John Day Company, Inc., New York City.

Dr. Stout and his wife, Dr. Grace Langdon, a child development consultant, college instructor, lecturer and former school administrator, have pooled their long experience to present their conclusions and directives in the area of parental responsibility.

The book consists of 10 basic values to be imparted to children which will help the child acquire strength of character and deep and lasting happiness.

COVERING COLLEGE AVENUE

new sahuaro editor says staff workers needed

By BABS MARLOWE

Every year a handful of devoted students grind out what is formally known as a yearbook. Ours is called the Sahuaro.

It is a student publication and needs students to put it out each year. Majors or minors in Advertising, English, Commercial Art, Journalism and Business can all gain valuable experience on the yearbook staff.

Go and have an interview. Don't be afraid of work. Help out YOUR yearbook.

Groups sometimes feel that the State Press doesn't like them for they have trouble finding news about themselves in the paper.

One group that often gripes is student government.

They feel that we don't give them enough coverage and that we are inclined to present the negative rather than the positive viewpoint.

As a result, the Publications committee of the senate has compiled a survey about the State Press, which 250 of you received just before Easter vacation.

One of the questions included in the survey was: "Would you like to see a regular column about student government?"

According to Bob Bonitati,

Graduate College senator and a member of the study committee, approximately 75 per cent of the returned surveys expressed a desire for a regular column on student government.

We'll be interested in the completed totals and of course, you, our readership, will be the first to see the results.

If we have been negative about student government news, we sincerely apologize, for it is not the place of news stories to be negative in any degree.

Even the senators and Speaker Chilton must agree that the most important work of the senate usually occurs during the last few senate sessions.

Therefore, in Wednesday's paper there were two stories concerning the senate. A quick check would show that student government has had an average of one story per week.

What more can they ask?

OFF THE EDITOR'S DESK

let's keep the new row free from destruction

Problems are anticipated over there west of Palo Verde Hall next year when 500 men move into the few acres occupied by the 10 new fraternity houses.

There's likely to be an orange fight or two.

A FEW PEOPLE would like to prevent such incidents from occurring. Therefore, several of the presidents of the fraternities which will be moving onto the "new row" got together Wednesday night to discuss mutual problems.

Their main concern is to avoid destruction. For this reason, they are organizing an effective method which will be aimed at preventing destructive pranks.

As fraternity men, we do not try to hide the fact that occasionally spontaneous incidents occur. The competitive nature of our existence and our living so closely together often cause such action.

WE DO NOT feel this is bad or immature. Competition is as healthy an American characteristic as can be found. What concerns us and the fraternity presidents is that unnecessary damage often occurs as a result of this healthy fraternity competition.

This is what we are trying to avoid. This was the reason for the meeting held Wednesday and is the reason for the ones planned in the next few weeks. A sufficiently strong legislative enactment must be made in order to prevent any damage to the two-million-dollar-plus housing development once it is completed.

WE ARE CALLING on the fraternity men of this campus to aid in forming a policy which will alleviate anticipation of problems on the new row.

Further, we ask that each and every fraternity whole-heartedly support this policy when it is formed and inform its entire membership of every detail in it.

House managers of fraternities moving into new houses will meet May 9 at 10:15 p.m. at the ATO house; Commissary stewards will meet the same night and time at the Delta Sig house.

Presidents will meet again sometime after the 9th.

A little cooperation could solve a lot of problems.

CLEARING THE DESK: Remember the third Sabin oral vaccine will be offered in Moeur Activity building this Sunday from 11 to 7. Don't miss it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

honoraries prevent malpractices

To the Editor:

Class honoraries seem to have been drawn into the controversy over the recent election proceedings and insinuated "unfortunate activities."

In a letter to the editor in last Wednesday's issue, it was stated that "if persons from student class honoraries fail to fulfill their duties by allowing this sort of activity to go on, then the purpose of such honoraries is defeated."

The 20 Spurs, women of the sophomore honorary, that worked at the election booths, are pledged to the purpose of being "At Your Service." Those 20 girls gave their time — some spent six hot hours — to help the elections run smoothly.

If certain groups did violate election rules "en masse," it is doubtful that the Spurs are responsible for their undemocratic practices. On the contrary, if part of the student body was prone to underhanded ways at elections, then the Spurs possibly prevented even more "unfortunate activities" from occurring.

Barbara Peck

election board was incompetent

To the Editor:

Wednesday morning in the Arizona Republic, the results of the general election were made "official." The story stated that no protest was filed in the five-day limit imposed by the statutes.

This action again demonstrates the incompetence of the Election Board and the Election Board chairman.

A protest was filed, according to the statutes provisions, with the Election Board the day of the election (well within the five day limit), and it ignored this protest, or in any case, failed to notify anyone of its decision.

The Student Senate would not confirm the appointment of Dick Langmade as Election Board chairman the first time his name was brought before it but did confirm his appointment when it was asked to reconsider by the ASASU executive branch.

It seems to me that the senate was right the first time and could have saved much confusion and trouble by not confirming Dick Langmade as Election Board chairman.

New Anti-Discrimination Committee Is Suggested

A special committee to work on the problem of racial, religious or nationality discrimination at ASU has been suggested to President G. Homer Durham by the Student Senate.

The recommendation came in substitute Senate Resolution two, which passed the Senate Wednesday with 10 ayes, 6 presents and 11 absents.

Within the resolution, the senate declared "it considers discrimination on the sole basis of race, religion or national origin to be an abuse of "the individual's liberty "to think his own thoughts and live his own life. . ."

The senate also urged "all persons and firms using university service and facilities to extend the same privileges to all students regardless of race, religion or national origin.

This committee would consist of students, faculty and administrators and would look particularly in the areas of off-campus housing lists and the placement center.

R And T Board Begins Planning For Next Year

Work has been started on the 1962-63 pep year, according to John Brooking, Rally and Traditions Board chairman.

Student-faculty talks to improve and revise internal workings of the board have been among the items of reorganization.

Enlarging the card section to twice its original size, a permanent university mascot and revising the cheerleading system to produce the personage the student body would appreciate are other plans of the board.

Registration Needed For Best Job Choice

By JERRY REILLY

"Every candidate for the labor market should have enough employment exposure to assure him of the best possible job choice," according to Dr. Robert F. Menke, director of placement.

This statement sums up the placement center's job of placing graduates and hosting hundreds of employers seeking engineers, teachers, accountants, scientists and a variety of other backgrounds.

The professional staff of the center spends a great deal of time counselling and advising students regarding career selection and approach-to-employment problems.

Graduates can get maximum employment exposure by registering with the placement center about a year before they plan to enter the labor market, according to Dr. Menke.

Dr. Menke emphasized the need for non-technical graduates. He said there is evidence that business and industry are re-evaluating the non-technical graduate with pay boosts.

"We have seen offers as high as $550 and all expenses paid for non-technical graduates, particularly in accounting and sales," Dr. Menke said.

"In the technical field, engineers' salaries range from $575 to $700 per month," he added.

Teaching salaries vary from state to state. In Arizona, the average salary is from $460 to $500 per month, according to Dr. Menke.

While the starting salary looks very good, all graduates will not start at these levels, Dr. Menke said.

In addition to a college degree, the employer is interested in other qualifications. Enthusiasm, appearance and ability to communicate are important factors, Dr. Menke said.

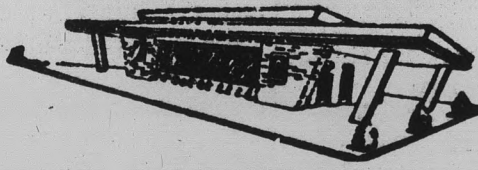

There is a tremendous waste of productive time by a great many graduates who fail to explore career opportunities, he said.

He added that those who do not obtain employment or drift from job to job are not returning society's investment in them.

Although the placement center specializes in student adjustment from campus to career, its services are also available to ASU alumni seeking new employment opportunities.

Also, it aids many students in obtaining part-time work and summer employment.

Flying Devils Aim For Goals: Licenses, Knowledge And Fun

By TOM WING

The Flying Devils of ASU are winging their way toward inexpensive pilot's licenses, a practical knowledge of flying and an array of airborne as well as down-to-earth social events.

The group was organized on the ASU campus only slightly more than a year ago on Feb. 15, 1961. Three of the eight founders are still with the club.

The eight founders' prime purpose was to obtain their private pilot's licenses, but inexpensively.

Realizing they could do so through group bargaining, they organized ASU's non-profit, educational flying club, the Flying Devils.

The club has been formally recognized as a student organization by ASASU and the University administration.

It will appear this year in the ASU yearbook.

The Flying Devils are contracted with Beuf Pilot Service, Phoenix, to fulfill their major objective of obtaining discount-rate pilot instructions and their ground school training.

Club members may obtain their 45 hours of flight instruction and their necessary ground school training for an Arizona private pilot license at a considerable discount, at present.

Flying Devils use the flight instruction service at their own personal convenience and planning. They may take anywhere from a week to four years to acquire their license.

The instruction service offers the club four flight training rates, based on the type of plane used during instructions.

Flying time is arranged to any schedule during daylight hours, with ground school training offered on Saturday mornings or Thursday evenings.

A practical knowledge and understanding of flying is gained by the Devils through their weekly meetings, which feature speakers, films and group discussions of flying.

The club meets Thursday evenings at 7 in BA 309.

The Devils social activities are another of the club's major aspects.

The club's featured activity is a "fly-away," in which a few or all of the members fly together to the sight of a club activity. "Fly-aways" range from breakfasts to weekend or holiday excursions.

For instance, on May 19, the Flying Devils will fly to Martinez Lake, Yuma, for a day of swimming, boating, skiing, fishing, hiking and picnicking.

The club also has parties, dances and other social events.

It is planning a dance and a party for May.

One other noteworthy point about the Flying Devils is that they are attempting to get four hours of lower-level ASU academic credit for the flight instruction of those acquiring a private pilot's license.

The group now has 36 members, six of whom are girls.

The club is open to any interested ASU students — from those merely interested in flying to those with a license who desire the facilities to stay in piloting training.

Members pay an initiation fee and dues, as in other clubs, and also pay for the flight training as they receive it.

Dr. Richard I. Merkely is the club's advisor.

Secretary Exam Set Next Week

The annual certified professional secretary examination will be May 4 and 5, at ASU.

Dr. Lohnie J. Boggs, said that 1,350 secretaries are expected to take the examination at 80 test centers located in the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada.

The CPS examination is open to all qualified secretaries who meet certain education and business requirements.

Inquiries concerning the spring 1963 exams may now be directed to the ASU department of Office Administration and Business Education.

Aside from one malicious mischief report last Saturday, ASU Police had a "pretty quiet weekend," according to Lt. Tom Godbehere of ASU Police department.

The malicious mischief report

Hear Baseball Over KASN

KASN, the campus radio station, will broadcast the baseball game between Arizona State College and the Sun Devils today at 3:30.

The game, on the ASU diamond, can be heard in any dorm simply by dialing 580 on any AM radio.

resulted after "someone tossed a rock through the glass in a telephone booth at the north end of Sun Devil Stadium," Godbehere said.

Last Wednesday, before Easter vacation, there were two petty thefts, totalling about $8 in South Hall and "a person or persons unknown" broke the windshield on a motorscooter parked at Sahuaro Hall, according to Godbehere.

Thursday, two textbooks were stolen from a men's room in the MU.

Honor Dorm Beats Pikes In Rematch

McClintock B womens honor dorm won the fourth College Bowl contest yesterday with 210 points to Pi Kappa Alpha's 171.

This was McClintock B's second match with Pi Kappa Alpha.

Pi Kappa Alpha protested its previous loss of April 12 to Mac B because of difficulties in the buzzer system.

Next Thursday, the honor dorm representatives will meet Sophos, sophomore men's honorary, in the fifth round of the series at 4 p.m. in the MU upper lounge.

14 Years Ago Club Organized To Promote ASU

An organization for the promotion of ASU is the Arizona State University Foundation, whose origin dates back to 1948.

That year, the Board of Regents realized the need for a study of the agricultural needs of central Arizona and the necessity of a school of practical agriculture.

It commissioned L. D. Klemmedson, then state superintendent of public instruction, to undertake this study.

In 1949, Klemmedson named an agricultural advisory committee consisting of 29 men. Each of the men was prominent in Arizona agriculture and associated businesses.

Since that time many changes have been made. A School of Agriculture has been established and ASC has become ASU. Likewise, the functions of the committee have changed.

At first, the committee was concerned with a School of Agriculture and suitable courses of study. However, confronted with the problems of financing, the idea of a foundation developed.

In order that it might receive and handle funds without profit, a trusteeship was set up in 1954. The first trustees were M. O. Best, Charles and Sidney B. Moeur.

Even the trusteeship failed to serve the greater area of education undertaken by the agricultural committee.

Consequently, at the suggestion of Best and with the approval of the Board of Regents, the committee created the present ASU Foundation in 1955.

Best was elected as the foundation's first president. After his death, Charles Wetzler was elected and has been re-elected each year since that time.

The Agricultural Advisory committee has now changed its name to Advisory Council to serve a greater field and better assist the foundation.

Committees Begin Preparations For Next Fall's Greenhorn Crop

Plans are currently being made by the Freshman Orientation committee to welcome freshman students next September.

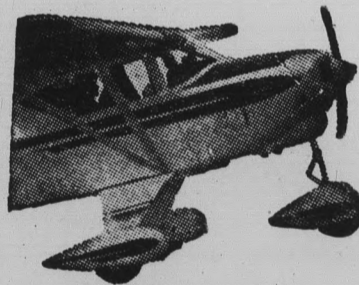

Headed by Lynda Salisbury and Mike Craig, the standing committee formulates and revises policies governing orientation week. It also directs the orientation week program.

The committee is appointed by and is responsible to the ASASU president. All schedules and changes in procedure are approved by the academic vice president.

Mrs. Charlotte Lewis advises the committee.

Committee chairmen are Charla Jo Allen (beanies), Brenda Shears ("ask me"), Bernie Weber (mixer), Jim Holland (painting the "A"), John Brookling (pep rally), Charlie Roberts (picnic), Marilyn Rossini (movie and splash) and Phil Osborne (publicity).

Coeds Air Views On Sorority Life

By TWILA DRUMM

Independent college women spoke out yesterday in the first of two student polls investigating the assets and liabilities of Greek sorority and independent living.

Individuality, independence and an attitude of "not following the crowd" were listed as reasons for remaining independent by the coeds questioned.

One woman student questioned sorority integrity.

Some of the student views were:

Fay Cornish, sophomore: "The first thing to consider when criticizing a sorority from either the individual or the group position is what is the purpose of the sorority under consideration.

"Does it maintain high moral principles, contribute to the intellectual broadening of its members, and does it serve its community in any worthwhile capacity?"

"If it passes these or similar conditions, I see no great harm in their existence. To join or not to join is up to the individual.

"The main objection I have against sororities is they do not maintain their individual members' integrity as a whole. They may start with honest intentions and under social pressure resort to less honorable intentions."

Sandy Brady, junior: "I'd rather be an independent. I feel a girl can gain from sorority life if she is able to give the necessary time to it.

"People have a lot of backward feelings about Greeks, some people simply say things without knowing anything about them."

Esther Moore, sophomore: "I'm an individualist. My interests differ from that of the average college woman on campus. I think the arts and intellectual pursuits are more important than just going with the crowd."

Joan McNeil, junior: "Some college women need security that a sorority offers, others don't. I feel there is more living to do in the outside world than just being wrapped up in campus life."

Sharon McGinnis, sophomore: "I always felt that you could get along just as well without belonging to a sorority. I'd rather feel independent than be controlled by the crowd."

Water Sports Day May 5 At Saguaro

Competitive events and the crowning of a bathing beauty queen will highlight Water Sports Day May 5 at Saguaro Lake.

Sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, activities will begin at 10 a.m. and will last till mid-afternoon.

Teams may enter five categories including swimming, water skiing, motor boat races, water boxing and inner tube races. The swimming and the on individual and team bases.

Motor boat races are divided into four classes of competition:

class A, 0-30 horsepower; class B, 35-40 HP; class C, 45-50 HP, and class D, over 50 HP.

As a precaution to injuries, a Red Cross truck will be available.

From three finalists, the Water Sports Day Queen will be crowned and presented a trophy. The queen and runners-up will each receive a bouquet of flowers.

Ed Logan, Water Sports Day general chairman, hopes this year's events will be as well attended as last year. He says the IFC has done much to organize an activity-filled day.

Queen Deadline Set For May 2 At ASU Pool

The queen of the Interfraternity Council Water Sports Day will be chosen May 2 at an elimination contest at the ASU swimming pool.

The queen will reign over the Water Sports Day events May 5 at Saguaro Lake.

She will receive a gold trophy and a bouquet of flowers.

Each sponsoring organization or contestant must submit a completed application form to the IF Council office before 5 p.m. May 1.

Candidates are requested to meet Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at the ASU pool. Each candidate must be carrying a minimum of 12 hours this semester.

Tucson Trip, Bullfight Scheduled

The Cultural Affairs Board is sponsoring a trip to Tucson tomorrow morning and a May 6 visit to Nogales for ASU students.

The Tucson tour includes a visit to the Kress Art Collection, which contains contemporary art, and a stop at the Arizona Desert Museum.

The group will leave tomorrow morning at 8 and will return in the evening. Students will have lunch at the UofA.

The trip will cost $3.75.

The annual Cinco de Mayo festival and bullfight will be offered on the May 6 trip to Nogales.

Busses will leave at 7 a.m. and return at 11 p.m.

The cost of the Nogales trip will be $8, which includes a ticket to the bullfight.

Water Sports Day To Vie With Heat

By BILL OVEREND
Campus Editor

Well, gang, looks like the long hot, summer is rolling in on the ASU campus. Since we can't leave town, the best bet from now on should be the lakes. And . . . speaking of lakes, Water Sports Day is coming up next week.

Last year this event was plagued by many injuries, ranging from broken toes to scraped feet. This year, however, the Red Cross will be on hand. In addition, there will be all sorts of events ranging from inner tube races to a bathing beauty contest.

The Interfraternity Council, as usual, will be handling the details of the day, and, for those who don't bring their own, refreshments will be available. Should be good times and a good chance to cool off as well.

Other than Water Sports Day, the only other campus events on tap for the remainder of the semester seem to be the various fraternity and sorority formals which will run throughout the month of May.

Oh, yes, then there's Final Week . . .

Greeks at a Glance

The Greek agenda is filled to the brim for the next week or so. Theta Chi starts things off tomorrow night with their annual Dream Girl Formal at the Executive House. Delta Chi will go Polynesian tomorrow with a South Sea Island party in Sunnyslope. The party will begin with swimming in the afternoon and end with dancing at night.

The most important social function of the year, the Alpha Tau Omega pledge class car wash, will start tomorrow at 11 a.m. and will run until 3:00 p.m. The boys can be found at Petty's Union Station. Price will be $1.

The Sigma Nus will resume their yearly Palms party May 11, one day before the onslaught of the ninety thousand fraternity formals scheduled for May 12. So far, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Chi, Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon all have their formals set for that date. Good luck on getting dates, boys.

Around the Town

Been to the wax museum yet? They have a lot of very nice statues there. You can walk around and look at them and everything. Very educational.

We hear that "Lover Come Back," now playing at the Mesa, Glen and Round-Up theatres, is quite funny. Glad to hear it. Paul Newman fans, and there are quite a few, can't miss "Sweet Bird of Youth" at the Palms. The movie is sordid in places, but Paul has pretty blue eyes.

As far as night spots go, the Ranch House Inn is presently providing the best entertainment in town. Of course, that's not saying much.

Learning never stops for engineers at Western Electric

There's no place at Western Electric for engineers who feel that college diplomas signify the end of their education. However, if a man can meet our quality standards and feels that he is really just beginning to learn . . . and if he is ready to launch his career where learning is an important part of the job and where graduate-level training on and off the job is encouraged — we want and need him.

At Western Electric, in addition to the normal learning-while-doing, engineers are encouraged to move ahead in their fields by several types of educational programs. Western maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for out-of-hours college study.

This learning atmosphere is just one reason why a career at Western Electric is so stimulating. Of equal importance, however, is the nature of the work we do. Our new engineers are taking part in projects that implement the whole art of modern telephony, from high-speed sound transmission and solar cells to electronic telephone offices and computer-controlled production techniques.

Should you join us now, you will be coming to Western Electric at one of the best times in the company's history. In the management area alone, several thousand supervisory jobs are expected to open up to W.E. people within the next 10 years. And our work of building communications equipment and systems becomes increasingly challenging and important as the communications needs of our nation and the world continue to increase.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6206, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.

BC Did Devils A Big Favor

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

Arizona State University's Border Conference athletic rivals paid tribute to the Sun Devils this week. The Sun Devils, who are leaving the conference next year for competition in a new league, were given a going away present which was most fitting.

Member schools of the fast-fading Border loop asked that the Border Conference track, golf, tennis and rifle championships, scheduled for Tempe on May 12, not be held this year.

And that's just what the Sun Devils had been waiting to hear. Each year, Arizona State and Arizona dominate the BC championships, and with the Wildcats not in the running this year, the Sun Devils were sitting alone on top of the heap.

The conference championships would have been no contest. The Devils would have done themselves no good by competing in this year's BC meet, and the other member schools, hopelessly outclassed, would have been faced with the expense of traveling to Tempe for championship competition which held no promise of glory.

The only sports in which the other schools had a chance were tennis and rifle, and the prestige that goes with the conference crown in those two isn't really worth the expense of the trip.

Arizona State wasn't in a position to call things off. "We were prepared to fulfill our obligations," said Athletic Director Clyde Smith.

Nevertheless, the decision by the loop's membership was greeted with cheers by one group of Sun Devil athletes in particular.

Baldy Castillo's track team had been brooding for weeks because the talent-laden Fresno Relays were scheduled the same day as the lackluster BC meet. Under conference obligations, the Sun Devils would have had to stay at home to host the conference affair and miss one of the top meets of the year on the West Coast.

Practically simultaneous with the league's decision to drop the conference championship meet came an announcement from Castillo that the Sun Devil mile relay team and various individual performers would compete in the Fresno meet on the 12th.

It's much to the credit of the Border Conference that Arizona State wasn't forced to play host to a farce under the label of conference championships.

It was a fitting way for the Sun Devils to leave the league—and much more graceful for everyone concerned.

Baseballers Bounce Grand Canyon; Host Axers Today

Arizona State's varsity baseballers celebrated their return home Wednesday with a 6-2 triumph over Grand Canyon College on the Antelopes' home diamond.

Harley Anderson notched his fourth win of the season, as he went the distance for the first time this year, allowing only four Grand Canyon safeties. Anderson's record is now 4-1.

The victory gave the Sun Devils a 20-17 season mark with only a few games remaining. The same two teams clashed yesterday afternoon at Grand Canyon.

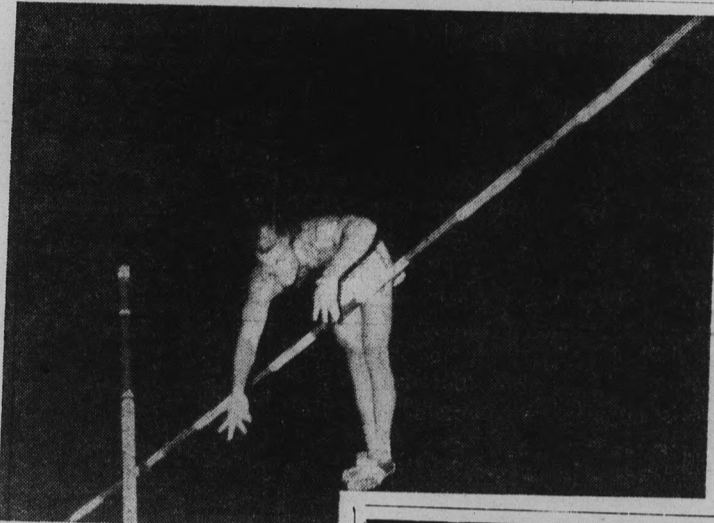

Anderson hurled one hit ball for the first eight innings, but the Antelopes started getting to his slants in the ninth frame when they combined three singles for their only two runs of the game.

Eleven Antelope batters went down via the strikeout route. Dennis Starkins had a field day at the plate, socking four hits and driving in four runs. Merrii Hyde added three hits to the 14 hit Sun Devil attack.

This afternoon the Sun Devils host Arizona State College in a single game at 3:30, and the same two teams meet again tomorrow afternoon at one in a single contest.

Friday and Saturday of next week the Devils travel to Tucson, where they meet the powerful University of Arizona Wildcats.

UP AND OVER — John Rose is pictured during a history-making pole vault in Goodwin Stadium last week. Rose cleared 15-6 to establish a new school, stadium and meet record as well as a personal high. He has been over 15 feet in all seven home meets this year and leads the nation in vault consistency. ## Jansen's Hurdling Gives Devils Depth

One of the reasons for the improved success of the Sun Devil track team this year is increased depth.

And one of the chief depth providers has been Darrell Jansen, sophomore hurdle standout.

Jansen, a former state hurdles champ from Wisconsin who also played a mean game of basketball, has run in the shadow of veteran Gaston Green during the past two seasons, but the Wisconsin speedster is rapidly coming into his own as one of the nation's best.

Green is former national JC hurdles champ and a tough man to beat, but Jansen has been right on Gaston's heels, if not right beside him, nearly every time out this year.

Last week both were timed in 14.3, as they finished in a virtual dead heat for first against New Mexico.

Jansen, who's forte is strength and form rather than exceptional speed, is also developing into quite a low hurdler.

He's run 23.5 on several occasions and has hooked up with Green and frosh standout Jim Tucker in some real battles in the lows, winning on two occasions.

DARREL JANSEN — Has been a big reason for ASU's track and field improvement this year. He's always dependable for points in both hurdles events and has high jumped on occasion when the team needed depth in that event.

Devils Enter Mt. Sac Meet

By BOB EGER
Sports Editor

An impressive array of Arizona State tracksters will invade California this weekend for the fourth annual Mt. San Antonio Relays.

And they will have their eyes on a few records.

The event being billed on the coast as the feature attraction is the 440, where ASU's Ullis Williams, the nation's premier quarter miler, takes on a field loaded with talent.

Williams, who's churned a 46.0 already this year, will be aiming for the world record of 45.7 set in 1958 by Glenn Davis. One of his chief competitors will be Eddie Southern, who clocked 45.8 while pushing Davis to that world mark four years ago.

Southern has slowed up a bit, however, and perhaps the toughest threat to Williams' national quarter mile supremacy is Steve Haas of Occidental.

Haas has run 9.5 and 20.5 for the hundred and 220 but prefers the 440. "The quarter is my favorite distance. I want to run Williams to see what I can do," he said recently.

The Sun Devils will also be contenders in four exciting relay events. They'll meet mile relay teams from Oregon State, USC and Oxy in an event that could see the national collegiate record fall.

Last year at Mt. Sac, the Sun Devils ran 3:07.9, as USC set an all-time collegiate record at 3:07.6. This year, the Devils, with a best of 3:10.1, will be favored on the basis of previous wins against all the major competition already this season.

Henry Carr (47.5) joins Mike Barrick (47.8), Ron Freeman (46.3) and Williams (46.2) to give the Sun Devils a formidable mile relay unit. Barrick's time is out of the blocks, the others are all with running relay starts.

The Devils will also be shooting for record times in the 880 relay with a foursome of Hubie Watson, Gaston Green, Freeman and Carr. That's another combination that will be hard to beat.

A 440 relay team of Carr, Freeman, Williams and Watson should give the speedy West Coast teams a battle, and the Sun Devil sprint crew could walk off with top honors.

Green, Jim Tucker, Darrell Jansen and Dan Roth will compete in the sprint medley but must rate as underdogs to some powerful West Coast units.

Carr and Watson are also possible entrants in the open 100 yard dash, but their heavy relay schedule could keep them out of that event.

Arizona State will also be well represented in the field events, with John Rose among the pole vault favorites and Frank Covelli one of the top rated entrants in the javelin.

Joe Caldwell will compete in the high jump against several of the nation's top performers.

INTRAMURAL Scene

In conjunction with President Kennedy's recent emphasis on overall American physical fitness, the ASU intramural department is sponsoring a physical fitness week as an intramural sports activity.

The physical fitness week at ASU is scheduled for Monday through Saturday morning on the week of May 7-12.

The overall test will be composed of six events. Each entrant will perform the various events and will be graded against the national college men's norms so the individual can compare himself to other American college men who have taken the same test.

Monday through Friday the events are slated from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. daily. Saturday's schedule runs from 9 a.m. until noon.

Intramural activity points will be awarded on the basis of one point per individual for entering and completing the events and total group percentage participating. The points will be part of the yearly intramural total.

Willard, Barr Top Nationals

Former ASU student Patsy Willard copped the national women's one meter diving championships in Sacramento, Calif., last weekend.

The current queen of ASU diving, freshman Bette Barr, upset a good portion of the field to finish fifth.

Miss Willard, a past Olympic competitor, defeated Barbara McAlister, national platform champ, for the one meter crown.

Miss Barr, former national junior champ, served notice that she can compete with the best in women's events, as she finished behind third place Joel Lenzi O'Connell and fourth place Linda Cooper.
