No. 2

Program To Lend Humorous Theme

"A Wilde Evening With Shaw", second in the Concert and Lecture series will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Union Ballroom.

Containing some of the wittiest conversations ever written from the varied works of Oscar Wilde and Bernard Shaw, the program is open to the public free of charge.

Co-directed by Sir Cecil Hardwicke, the three-act show was edited and adapted for the stage by Richard Gray and Mayo Loiseaux, who also are the actors in the laugh-provoking program.

The show is laced together with anecdotes, ideas and comments from letters, newspaper clippings, essays and speeches into a warmly human story of two men who wrote about the world as they saw it. By using some of the best known and least known dramatic and literary works, the writers have shown two fascinating minds which met and sometimes clashed on every major subject.

Richly costumed, Gray and Loiseaux present Shaw and Wilde with what the critics have termed "a love and affection for the two men that is contagious."

Born in London, Gray was given his first film break by Noel Coward. Later, as actor-director, he toured Africa and made TV films for the British market. When he came to America, he began a lecture series at colleges and universities, discussing classical theatre. He also toured the concert stage with his Shakesperian characterizations. With Agnes Moorehead, he has just finished a successful tour in Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent."

Miss Loiseaux, born in New York, started her acting career in high school, later performing in little theatre productions and television roles. She spent three years on the road with Gray, under the banner of the famed entrepreneur Paul Gregory, in plays from the pens of Shakespeare and Fry.

The first two acts of the Tuesday evening program cover the period ending at the turn of the century and are drawn from the following major works:

"An Ideal Husband," "Man of Destiny," "The importance of Being Earnest," "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," "The Happy Prince," "Poems in Prose," Shaw's Prefaces, "The Soul of Man Under Socialism," "The Decay of Lying," and from many speeches, essays and letters.

Major works used in the third act include "Caesar and Cleopatra," "Man and Superman," "Pygmalion," and also letters to Ellen Terry and Granville Barker.

Skilled Team Guides Study

A seminar on the psychological, social and medical aspects of mental retardation, featuring a skilled team of professional men and women from California ends today.

The week long session worth two semester hours at the graduate level, was designed to demonstrate a multi-disciplinary approach to the problem of mental retardation in children.

The team of professors was headed by Dr. Richard Kock, Los Angeles pediatrician noted for his research on PKU (Phenylketonuria).

Dr. Koch is nationally recognized for his research on PKU, a genetic imbalance which invariably results in mental retardation and occurs about once in 25,000 births.

This type of retardation is correctable if caught in infancy.

Other members of the team were Dr. Karol Fishler, clinical psychologist; Mrs. Sylvia Schild, medical social worker; and Miss Nancy Ragsdale, registered public health nurse.

Lectures and extensive use of slides, films and tape recordings helped to bring a broad approach to various facets of the subject according to Dr. Willard Abraham, co-ordinator, special education, college of education.

Wrong Carol!

The Carol Sorenson of National golf fame is not ASU's Carol.

She is instead a 14 year old Mesa resident. However, both Carols are coincidentally from Wisconsin, both national golf champions in their own rights, and both have chosen the same area in Arizona in which to reside.

WILDE NIGHT — Mayo Loiseaux, and Richard Gray right, promise laughter in all forms when they star in the second Concert and Lecture Series "A Wilde Evening With Shaw," next Tuesday. The program, co-directed by Sir Cedric Hardwicke contains some of the wittiest conversations ever written from the varied works of Oscar Wilde and Bernard Shaw.

Star Studied Series Set For Summer

This summer's Concert and Lecture Series includes many outstanding performers.

Coming July 10 will be Carl Hague and Gladys Steele, who will present "Words and Music."

Selections by Hague include serious and humorous songs; everything from opera to Broadway shows. Gladys Steele's (Mrs. Hague in private life) presentations include folk and character songs and humorous and dramatic recitations.

Gladys Steele accompanies both herself and her husband at the piano.

"High Adventuring with Colonel Craig" will be presented by Col. John D. Craig July 31.

The internationally famous author and explorer will lecture and show his films. He has shot films in 53 countries and under four oceans.

Emerlee Thomas, singer of folk songs and Jim Wood, guitarists will present a program entitled "Two for a Time of Song" August 7. The program includes songs handed down by generations of American balladeers, American-fashioned with European overtones.

The last program on August 14 will feature an address by Dr. Roger Swearingen entitled "Soviet Myths versus Reality," an analysis of Soviet propaganda.

New Chairman Announced For Psychology Department

Dr. Arthur J. Bachrach has been named chairman of the ASU psychology department, Dr. G. Homer Durham announced Monday.

Dr. Bachrach has been the director of the division of behavioral sciences since 1958 and chairman of the department of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Virginia.

He will assume his new duties in the fall, Dr. Durham said.

Dr. Bachrach received a bachelor of science degree from the College of the City of New York, master of arts degree from Western Reserve University and a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Virginia.

Other positions that Dr. Bachrach has held are associate professor of neurology and psychiatry, UofV School of Medicine, since 1957; principal investigator, Office of Naval Research project on experiments in decision-making and verbal behavior, and editor of the professional journal, "Behavior Research Monographs."

Dr. Bachrach has been a psychologist with the Cleveland State Receiving Hospital; research psychologist for the Society of Crippled Children in Cleveland; director of the division of clinical and medical psychology at the UofV School of Medicine, and executive editor of the professional journal, "Neuropsychiatry."

He also served as a consultant in psychology for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Roanoke, Va., and as a scientific consultant for the Air Research and Development Command of the U.S. Air Force.

Dr. Bachrach is a fellow or member of 11 different scientific and professional groups, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, British Interplanetary Society, American Psychological Association and Sigma Xi.

He is the author or editor of four books on psychology, about 30 papers and articles for professional journals and is currently working on five research projects, two of which are sponsored by the ONR.

Fireworks Feted In Devil Stadium On July Fourth

A band concert by more than a hundred of the most outstanding high school musicians in Arizona will highlight the fourth of July activities in Sun Devil Stadium.

Beginning at 6:30 p.m. with the concert, the program will feature one of the largest and most exciting fireworks shows ever produced in the state sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Tempe.

Tickets are available at the MU information desk with admission adults $1, children $.50.

Students Visit World's Fair

Plans included visits to Hoover Dam, Yosemite National Park, Lassen Park, and Crater Lake National Park en route to a six-day stay at the fair. They will return the week of July 9 in order to organize the final written reports of the tour.

Three semester hours of graduate credit are being given for the tour, conducted by Dr. William F. Podlich, Jr., professor of education.

THE STATE PRESS, distributed by the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi under the direction of Circulation Manager Mike Barrick, is the official campus newspaper of Arizona State University. It is published each Wednesday and Friday throughout the school year, excepting holidays, and is entered as second class matter at the Tempe, Arizona, Post Office under the Acts of March 3, 1879, and August 24, 1912. Subscription price, $3 per school year.

THE STATE PRESS is a member of the Arizona Newspapers Association, Associated Collegiate Press and National Advertising Service, Inc.

Sounds of Summer

By LINDA WARREN

Things are picking up around here at the end of the second week. What a grueling way to pick up those extra hours, huh folks? If you need a boost, however, check out the music camp bunch and take heart from the pink-cheeked, strong shouldered, youthful impression they make. Ahhh, carefree youth.

There are several interesting events scheduled for over the weekend and next week.

On Sunday, you might take in the second "Exploring Christian Existentialism" lecture in the Memorial Union at 6 p.m. Last week we understand that fifty people attended.

Also on Sunday night at 8 p.m., the Wesley Foundation will sponsor a doctor from the Arizona Medical Association who will analyze medicare. The Wesley Foundation is at 247 East 8th Street.

All summer session students and visiting faculty and staff who are members of Toastmasters International are cordially invited to attend the regular Tuesday morning breakfast meetings of the Tempe Toastmasters Club at 6:30 a.m. in the faculty dining room in the MU.

We also understand that the intramural program for this summer is coming along nicely. If you are interested, see Bill Watkins in the MU games room.

We will have more on intramurals next week.

Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary announces a change in their meeting time from Wednesday to Tuesday, July 3, in the MU cafeteria at 12 noon.

That's all for now.

Peace Corps To Train Here

Volunteers for the Bolivian II Peace Corps Project will arrive on campus this weekend to begin training.

Training will last for eight weeks from July 2 through August 25. The first four weeks will be spent on the campus.

The volunteers will live in the Maricopa settlement on the Gila River Indian Reservation the last four weeks.

There will be a meeting Monday evening at 7 in the MU Senate Room for the faculty prior to talks by Mr. Lawrence E. Dennis, Associate Director for the Peace Corps Volunteers, Mr. Wray Smith, training officer for this project, and Dr. Sylvan J. Kaplan, selection officer at 8 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to explain the project more fully and to distribute copies of the syllabus to the faculty.

Currently, an ASU trained group is serving in Colombia. This group utilized the Sacaton area for training purposes and ASU for classroom work.

Refreshments will be served at an informal gathering at 7:30 p.m. prior to the talks.

Editorilly Speaking

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon thee, and we beg thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Six said "yea" and one said "nay", and twenty-two words that composed a short inoffensive prayer in New York state classrooms were scrapped. What is next to hit the floor in the great legal cutting room—our Supreme Court?

This seems to indicate that prayer is now banned from our schools, not religion as was the original issue. Perhaps this indicates that respect for God is now banned from our schools.

Another symbol of our country is the flag and children across the nation salute it every day in class. They say "one nation under God." What will be done about this? Will someone be assigned to rewrite the Pledge of Allegiance? Perhaps the flag should not be displayed at all. Perhaps patriotism, or the emotion thereof, should be reserved for the American Legion or another special group that might arise to perpetuate this rising of feeling.

Are we to create an emotionless society bent only on the pursuit of the scientific? Will we someday shelve the imaginations of our youth and require the exclusive use of practical, empirical, verifiable, provable, knowledge to develop the young intellects? Shall we become a nation of fact finders and squelch all display of emotion that may give birth to creative ideas?

Emotion; religious, patriotic, romantic, etc., has its place in our world as does the empirical knowledge we have amassed. It is then an evil omen when a group sits in judgement of the expression of one or all of these emotions, for they judge the innermost part of man.

By banning this simple prayer, the Supreme Court has placed a legal stipulation on this innermost part of man.

This part of the human does not legislate easily. We hope.

Midnight Rider

The midnight ride of Paul Revere was only one of that patriot's contributions. He cast bullets and cannon during the Revolutionary War, designed and printed the first issue of Continental paper currency, and built the first copper-rolling mill in the United States, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

AAU SENSATION — Ulis Williams chats with his coach, Baldy Castillo, perhaps about his chances in last week's AAU meet. Ulis's chances were excellent and he will now compete with the U.S.A. team against the Soviet Union at Stanford University, July 21 and 22.

Ulis Blazes Trail To US Team Berth

Ulis Williams blazed to a record-equalling :45.8 in the 440-yard dash at the National AAU Track and Field Championships June 23 at Walnut, Calif.

ASU's Williams, who was running for the Southern California Striders, tied the four-year-old meet record set by Texas' Eddie Southern. His time was only 1/10 of a second off the world record held by Glenn Davis.

Two other Sun Devil tracksters competed in the meet. Ron Freeman did not place in the 440, although he churned it in 46.7. John Rose went 15 feet in the pole vault, but also failed to place.

Williams will compete on the United States team when it faces the Soviet Union in a dual meet on the Stanford University field July 21-22.

Coach Baldy Castillo said that "Williams will be favored to win, but teammate Leroy Sandler and several top Russian stars will give him a tough battle."

Castillo will be going on a goodwill trip to Venezuela and Colombia for the U.S. State Department July 5. He will be gone until July 25.

He has been assigned to coach the Venezuelan and Colombian teams for the Caribbean games which feature all of the countries of South America.

Endowment!

She was 16, he was 17, and the parents were opposed to the wedding. When the officiating clergyman asked the youthful bridegroom to repeat after him, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," his mother nudged her husband and whispered, "There goes his motor scooter." The Kennezonian.

Professor Journeys To Morocco

Dr. Daniel Robinson, chairman of the agricultural division, will leave for Morocco tomorrow to study agricultural conditions there.

The trip is sponsored by Mr. T. Lindsley, New York mining engineer and founder of the Lindsley Foundation for the advancement of science and education.

Dr. Robinson's special interest lies in the idea of teaming science and agriculture to meet production needs. This, he says, has been done effectively in the United States, although production costs are still a problem.

In Morocco, however, there are rich, undeveloped resources where people are suffering from dietary deficiencies. Their diets are low in both calories and proteins.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS
