Thomas Announces ASU Enrollment Of 13,753 On-Campus Students; Official Tabulations Still Incomplete

Figures Hint At Total Increases Of 14 Per Cent

An all time high enrollment of 13,753 on-campus students have been enrolled thus far in incomplete tabulations, Alfred Thomas Jr., ASU registrar and director of admissions, disclosed today.

Registration ended Monday at 4 p.m.

An additional 2,250 students are expected to register for residence center and correspondence courses for an anticipated total of 16,000.

THE ON-CAMPUS enrollment is an increase of 14 per cent more than first semester 1961-62. This is nearly double the increase in colleges and universities nationwide.

This fall's "largest enrollment in history" is 1,704 more than the 12,049 enrolled on-campus first semester last year.

In 10 years ASU's enrollment has increased 225 per cent. Registering for 1952 fall classes were 3,870 students, 9,883 less than this year.

FIVE YEARS AGO the enrollment was 9,708. Forty-two per cent more students are now registered.

When tabulations are completed, enrollees will be organized into class groups, men and women and colleges. Later they will be classified according to geographic distribution.

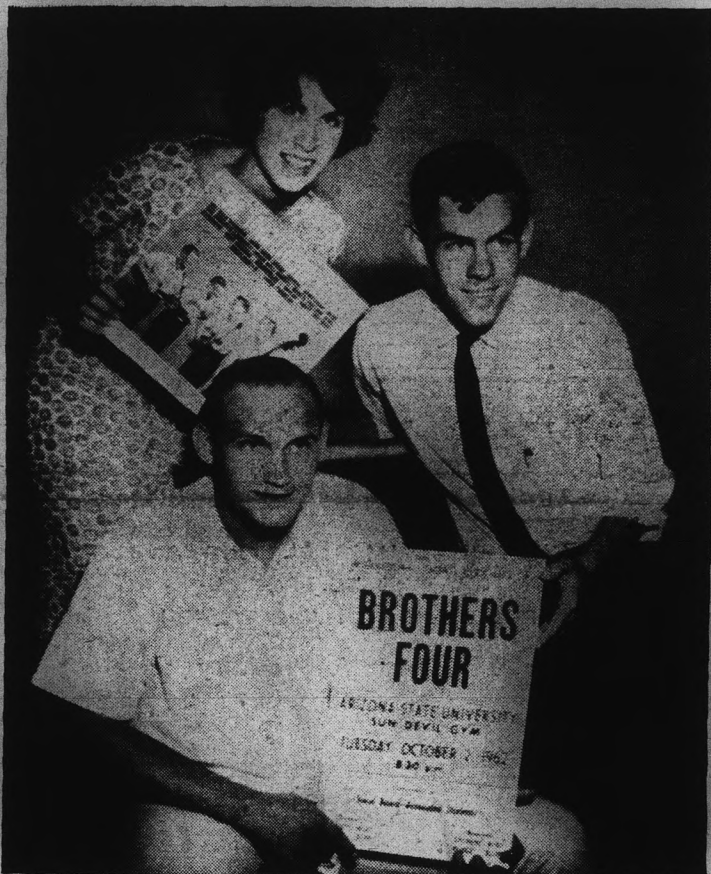

The vast increase in on-campus enrollment has created an overflow situation in many university dormitories.

Palo Verde Buffets Out

The serving of pre-football game buffets in the cafeteria at Palo Verde Hall on Saturday nights has been discontinued due to the pressure of increased enrollment at ASU this fall.

According to President G. Homer Durham, the new seven-day meal schedule for students inaugurated at the women's dormitory has resulted in crowded cafeteria conditions on weekends making it impossible to meet the needs of both students and friends.

The Brothers Four—

COMING UP — Despite increasing sales activity, tickets to next Tuesday's campus performance by the Brothers Four are still available according to Jan Nichols, social board chairman, with John Brooking (seated), ASASU activities vice president, and Bob Carter, student body president.

WORLD NEWS

Kennedy Attacks Aid Slice

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy urged Congress Sunday to restore $1.1 billion slashed from his foreign aid program. He claimed the money is needed to "win freedom for nations standing on the razor edge of communism."

On the same nationwide television show on which the President made his plea, Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee on foreign aid, called Kennedy's program "a give away that is spending this nation into destruction."

Vatican Bomber On Prowl

VATICAN CITY — Police Monday intensified investigations to track down the "mad bomber" of St. Peter's Basilica before he or she could strike again.

The person struck Saturday for the second time in two months. Two crude incendiary bombs were left in the Basilica, the largest church in the world. It is feared the bomber is a religious "maniac."

Masterpiece Found In Gutter

LONDON — A missing landscape painting by the famous French impressionist Auguste Renoir was returned to its owner Sunday by a man who found it covered with grime on a London street and almost threw it into the fire.

Dancing, Games To Be Offered

By MARTI CZEPOWSKI

Entertainment, dancing, games, floor shows and an art exhibit will be features of the third annual Memorial Union Open House from 8 p.m. to midnight Friday.

Prints by John Paul Jones and ceramics by Vinika Heino will be exhibited in the lower lounge, courtesy of the Cultural Affairs committee.

A variety program with acts and games including a Limbo contest in the upper lounge, is promised by the Social Board.

CLANCY'S will feature a folk singer, Ronnie Ryan, at 8:45 and 10 p.m. Ryan, of Phoenix, was an ASU student.

Free pretzels and root beer will be served during the shows.

An all-university dance in the ballroom from 9 p.m. to midnight will be to the music of a 10-piece band by Latin Enterprises of Phoenix. Latin Enterprises also will feature Latin entertainment at intermission time.

In the banquet rooms "An Evening of Old-Time Comedy," featuring a series of films from the Roaring Twenties will present Laurel and Hardy in "Hoosegow" and "County Hospital"; W. C. Fields in "Hooray, Hooray" and Charlie Chaplin.

FIRST SHOWING will be at 8 p.m. All four films will last approximately one hour and showings will be continuous throughout the evening.

In the basement all games will be available to students, but not at special rates. The Den and The Corral will serve all drinks for only 5 cents, courtesy of Saga Food Service.

Hostesses will dispense programs and greet students at the door.

On the second floor, ASASU officers will welcome students in their offices. Staff offices of the Memorial Union on the main floor will be open.

CHAIRMAN OF committees responsible for MU activities will greet guests in their respective offices.

They are Jan Nichols, social, upper lounge; Bob Day, cultural affairs, lower lounge; Roger Brindle, Memorial Union, lower lounge, and Bonnie Olson, faculty-student, lower lobby.

This year's annual affair, designed to acquaint freshmen and new students with facilities at the MU, is under the direction of Robert Alberti, program director.

Carter Sets ASU Forum

ASASU President Bob Carter, in conjunction with President G. Homer Durham, has announced the schedule of the new University Forum at ASU.

The forum will consist of panel discussions of current national problems by ASU professors and Valley authorities on the subjects:

"The Monroe Doctrine and Contemporary Cuba" will be the first of the series, presented at 10:40 a.m. Oct. 25 in the MU upper lounge.

On Nov. 29 "Current Directions of the U. S. Economy" will be discussed.

"Recent Developments in Space Science" will be the finale of the series on Dec. 13.

Letters of invitation are being sent to many of the Valley's noted authorities on each of the subjects of the forums.

University Players—

Opening Of 'Private Lives' Tonight In Lyceum Building

"Private Lives," a comedy by Noel Coward, will be presented by the ASU Players Sept. 26 to 28 and Oct. 3 to 5. Curtain time will be at 8:30 p.m. in the University Playhouse, located in the Lyceum building on campus.

The play is directed by Dr. James Yeater. Included in the cast are Susan Flannery, portraying Amanda Prynne; Gary Stephens as Victor Prynne; Mike Byron as Elyot Chase; Mary Lou McNatt as Sybil Chase; and Sally Davis as Louise.

The action of the play begins in a lavish French hotel when a newlywed couple discovers that its ex-husband and ex-wife also are honeymooning in the adjacent suite. Hilarious complications arise when both couples become aware of the situation.

General admission tickets are $1.50 and $1 for ASU students and faculty. Season tickets are still available for the six Playhouse productions of the year. For reservations and information, call or visit the box office at the University Playhouse.

Fulbright Grant Applications Open

U. S. Government scholarships for graduate study abroad are available for the 1963-64 academic year under the Fulbright-Hays Act.

ASU students may obtain applications and information from Dr. Philip Nelson, Fulbright advisor, ext. 407.

REQUIREMENTS are U. S. citizenship, language ability in accordance with the demands of the proposed study project and good health.

Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age and with a scholastic standing of 3.75 or above.

Eight hundred grants available will provide round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for one academic year in any one of 46 countries throughout the world.

ASU FACULTY members who have been former Fulbright scholars are Dr. Philip Nelson, music department; Dr. LeRoy Eyring, chemistry department; Dr. Judith Radke, French department; Dr. Jessie Rannells, home economics department; and Benjamin Goo, art department.

Yearbook Announces New Staff

New staff members have been chosen for the 1962-63 Sahuaro yearbook, according to Bobbie Johnston, yearbook adviser.

Editor-in-chief is Gary Avey. Karen Hess will head the academics department with Sharon House as her assistant.

Art editor is Irene Grady and assistant art editor is Melody Childers.

Business manager is Tony DePrima; his assistant, Herman Essert. Pat Minter is office manager and her assistant is Helen Howe.

Heading the organization's department is Ann Schneider. Her assistant is Kathy McEntyre.

Photography editor is Marilyn Vanier with Judy Naughton as her assistant.

Ted Vallas is sports editor. His assistant is John Sar.

Mr's. Johnston also stated that the Sahuaro is still selling reservations for organizations.

Organizations Challenged By R&T Contest

All campus organizations are invited to enter the banner contest now being sponsored by the Rally and Traditions Board.

There is no limit on banner size and they will be judged on originality, artistic content and effectiveness.

The contest will be weekly and winners will be announced during half-time at each ASU football game.

A trophy will be presented at the end of the year to the most consistent weekly winner.

Interested organizations should contact Barbara Stickler at East Hall.

Student NEA To Hold Confab

The first meeting for the Student National Education Association, the professional organization for future teachers, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the MU ballroom.

The Student NEA also includes the National Education Association and the Arizona Education Association.

To be eligible for 1962-63 membership in SNEA you must be a student preparing for the teaching profession, enrolled for six or more semester hours and have a grade-point of 2.0 or better.

Guidance Center Opens Project Talent: Part 2

The ASU guidance center, directed by Dr. Robert Heilmann, announced today that phase two of "Project Talent" will continue with the academically talented men of this year's freshman class.

R. G. Whittemore and T. W. Upshaw, project directors, said members of this year's freshman class who are selected will be notified this week to attend a general meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. in Education 101.

The project started last year when guidance in career development was offered on a national basis to freshmen entering college who ranked in the top ten per cent.

ASASU Offers New Insurance

Associated Students is offering to its members a program this fall which offers in addition to group hospital insurance, life insurance at the lowest possible cost.

Once enrolled in the plan, a student's rates remain the same either while an undergraduate or graduate at ASU or another university.

When a student leaves school, he may convert the plan to ordinary life insurance at the company's regular rates. This also applies if the student subsequently joins the armed forces.

For information, contact Dick Finley, executive manager of ASASU, in MU 213.

Job Recruiting Begins Earlier

Commercial, industrial and governmental recruiting of senior and graduate students will begin Oct. 15, two weeks earlier than in the past, according to Dr. Robert F. Menke, director of placement.

"We are doing this," said Dr. Menke, "to give the January graduates more time to complete employment negotiations, and to accommodate the increasing number of recruiters."

All students of the Colleges of Applied Arts and Sciences, Business Administration and Liberal Arts who will complete degree requirements in 1963, should register for placement before the start of campus recruiting this fall.

110 New Faculty Members Listed By College Deans

Editorially Speaking

"Experience is the best teacher," for one never really knows something until he or she has experienced it.

Yet, with this basic knowledge at hand, the young women at Arizona State are still being sheltered and coddled as delicate hothouse flowers.

WHAT A BIG moment it is for many young women when they graduate from high school and go "away to college."

"At last I'm on my own," they think. But awaiting these optimistic young flowers is yet another restrictive proving ground. This is the DORMITORY.

The women (for they are by any medical or psychological definition "women" by the age of 18) pay the rent designated for the well-equipped "cell" wherein they are required by law to fritter away the most vitally formative days of their lives.

Each night they must scurry into the dorms at an appointed hour as a pleasant dorm mother locks the door behind them. Within these pastel walls they may study, primp, giggle or philosophize, as they may desire.

Their personal responsibilities include: washing and ironing their own clothes, personal hygiene and straightening their rooms occasionally.

THEY CAN EXPERIMENT with sweeping and mopping floors, dusting desks and cleaning their wash basins.

Many if not most of these young things rarely worry about money for it comes through the mail from their parents.

These dormitory women have been expertly lectured on the dangers of liquor and are forbidden to drink a drop of these forbidden beverages before or after entering said dorm.

Why shouldn't they have a chance to experiment with the effects of alcohol? We understand the UofA dorms have a much more lenient attitude about this natural experimentation that goes on detected or undetected everywhere.

When a young woman who has obviously been imbibing arrives at a UofA dorm, she is calmly helped to her room and encouraged not to make a habit of drinking.

If she does, measures are THEN taken. Try just one liquor violation here at ASU and see what happens!

For four long college years this situation prevails because the wee woman of ASU must live in dorms until they are 23.

NOW WE ASK, what practical experience with life do these women receive? Is not the type of dormitory living seen here an invalid living condition?

What do many of these women know about managing a home with the budgets, leaking faucets, meal planning and serving, sewing, etc., etc.

It is tragic that junior and senior women at this university do not have the option to seek their own lodging. Why not adopt a program of "Approved Apartment Living" which is in effect at the large California universities?

Or at least provide them with kitchenette facilities per suite so that they will learn budgeting and cooking. This latter plan is in practice at Arizona State College at Flagstaff.

It's high time that the women of ASU were given a chance to grow up and see for themselves what is happening. They've been sheltered much too long and plenty of them are pretty sick of it.

Implications

The new "good luck" telegram seems to have done its job last week in our first football victory.

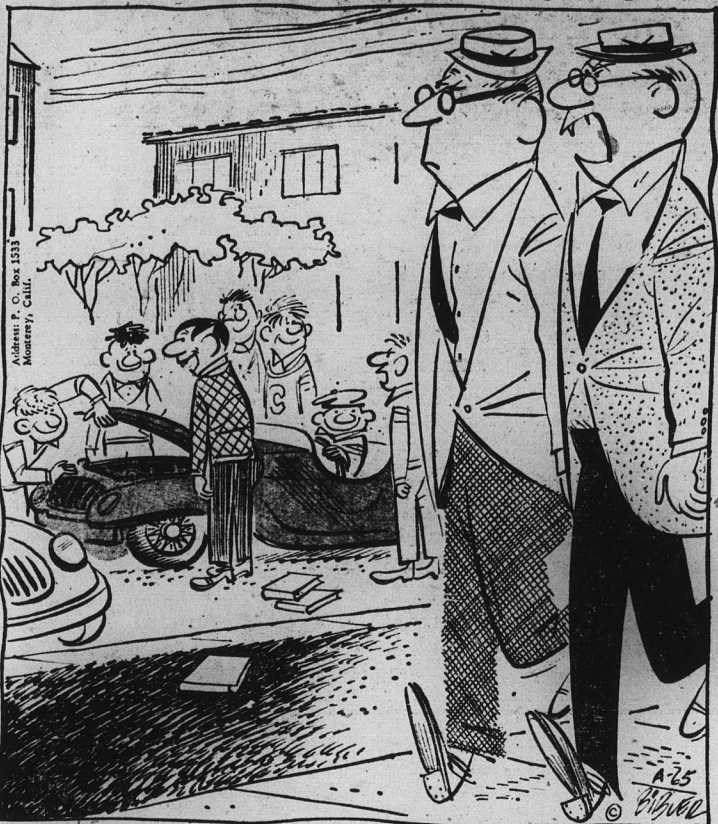

More than 2,500 students took advantage of the idea, which won't be put to very much use this year, thanks to our "fantabulous" schedule.

Wonder how the "everyone in a white shirt or blouse" idea will be accepted? Should know Saturday night.

Thanks to Sophos and the sophos scoreboards plastered on walls, students don't have to wait long on Monday to pick up the latest results.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I JUST DON'T KNOW ABOUT THIS YOUNGER GENERATION—WHEN I WAS IN COLLEGE, ALL WE THOUGHT & TALKED ABOUT WAS GIRLS!"

Sounding Off

By LINDA WARREN SIMS

The other day I heard a report that the first parking ticket was given on the new fraternity row.

It never occurred to me that these houses would be subjected to every means of patrol and restriction as are the dormitories and campus proper.

WHAT'S THE USE of joining a frat and living in the house? It seems that it is no different than living in a dorm.

Moreover, aren't the various fraternity personalities likely to suffer from such close association? It appears that the various ideologies might merge into one huge ideology.

In the future I predict one huge fraternity on the row with several subdivisions in name alone. I also predict the erection of a main hall where all the men will sit in one huge meeting, reciting the same ritual and planning the same boondockers.

HOW CAN RIVALRY survive anymore than it has in the past when all sense of privacy has been lost by the physical closeness of the buildings?

If these predictions do not materialize, it will be a wonder to me. Fraternities, please keep your personalities and don't become "the most cooperative group on campus."

Also, whatever will you do with no orange trees for an occasional battle?

It is certainly apparent that ASU needs more eating facilities for the growing population. One is hard pressed to get a burger and fries at noon at any of the existing locations.

Why don't we try real hard again this year to get some spirit into the rah-rah facet of college life?

DO YOU FEEL THAT you can muster an occasional groan or holler for ye old Sun Devils as they lumber onto the field this Saturday night?

Since this is only Wednesday, we urge the dormitories to rise to the call and hurriedly make a few banners or placards to sharpen the anticipation. Yelling and screaming is a fine emotional outlet, so let's all let out a few frustrations Saturday night.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

An editorial appearing in last Wednesday's edition of the Arizona Journal attacked an ASU administrator for expressing his views before a recent gathering of the Young Americans for Freedom.

The administrator was accused of employing deception in his attempt to define two often misinterpreted political labels — conservatism and liberalism. The Journal, after misspelling the administrator's name, accused him of "deplorable narrow-mindedness" in presenting his definitions.

The Arizona Journal, "Arizona's only independent news-defensive stand in disclaiming this man's beliefs. The editorial raps the administrator not for what he said directly, but rather for what he said "in effect." To stand on such interpretative grounds and accuse others of narrow-mindedness is similar to hurling stones from the vulnerable glass house.

College students everywhere are anxious to hear as many views on as many topics as possible. They want to gain the confidence that comes with the true understanding of the world which they are inheriting. They respect men willing to share their knowledge and beliefs. They distrust men willing to hurl accusations unsupported by concrete facts.

Cindi Buchanan

TO THE EDITOR:

I am asking for help and would like a ride to and if possible from school. My first class is at 9:40 a.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and my last class lets out at 12:30 p.m. If a willing student comes earlier than 9:40 a.m., I would nonetheless accept his service. Because I am crippled, a sturdy person would be preferable. We are willing to pay a reasonable charge each week. Anyone interested may call my mother, Mrs. Yoldi at ALpine 2-1473.

The first probable ASASU Senate legislation this year will be a rather inauspicious looking resolution dealing with freshman Orientation Week.

But it could result in major changes in the setup of Orientation Week on the ASU campus.

THE RESOLUTION itself will probably call for the establishment of a student, faculty and administrative committee to be appointed by ASASU President Bob Carter to "re-evaluate" the effectiveness of the present week's activities.

It will be jointly sponsored by Senators Bob Bonitati and Jerry Sullivan, who believe that the present orientation program is insufficient for the needs of new students.

If the resolution passes the senate (and informed sources are confident that it will) and if Carter appoint the committee, that group will be free to make any suggested changes it feels necessary.

ONE CHANGE already mentioned is the inclusion of fraternity rush into the week's activities. Another is the elimination of much of the testing that takes place during the week.

Bonitati, who also is head resident of Hunt Hall, formerly Sahuaro "B," became disturbed when he noticed that students in his dorm were going to bars and taverns because they were not interested in the evening orientation activities.

He felt some improvement was needed to make the week more informative and enjoyable.

"THE MAJOR AIM of this resolution," he said, "is to provide incoming students with a chance to assimilate school traditions and history in a more enjoyable atmosphere than now realized."

Although he believes major changes in the present program would bring improvements, Bonitati said even minor switches would be helpful.

One of those would be an improved corps of counselors and guides to make sure that new students are notified of orientation activities with the view that these guides could create greater interest among them.

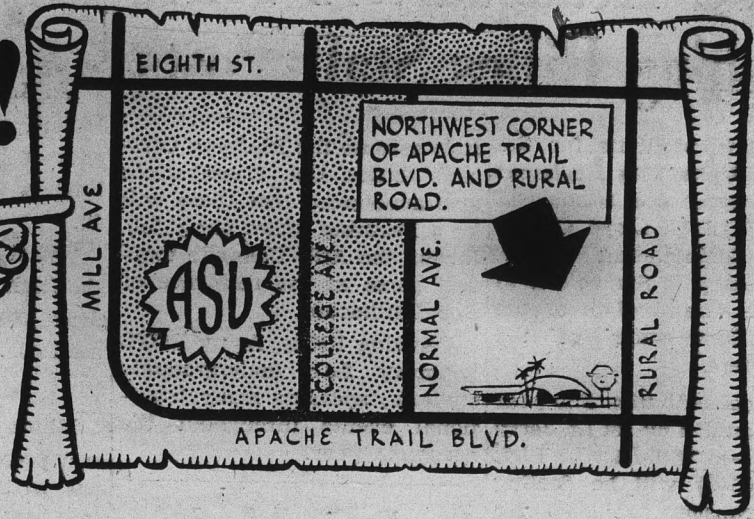

The resolution should be introduced at the second senate meeting this year. The first meeting is a formal affair at which little official business is transacted.

Last night an ex-convict named Sonny Liston walked into a boxing ring with Floyd Patterson and emerged two minutes later as the heavyweight champ.

Seems like a pretty easy night's work. At least it beats robbing banks.

ASU Business Services Offer Roundup Booklet

A 60-page booklet, containing actual transcripts of six selected Western Business Roundup programs, is now available through ASU's Bureau of Business Services.

The Western Business Roundup is a weekly radio panel series. Dr. Ralph Hook, Jr., director of the Bureau, is moderator of the programs.

Included in the book, in addition to the six transcripts, are a brief history of the program, and the entire 1961-62 program schedule.

Programs in the book are: Arizona's projected expenditures, tax revenue, and economic growth; Market and opinion research around the world; Tourist attractions on Arizona Indian reservations; Transportation in Arizona and in the West; How important is share of market? and How important is water to business in Arizona?

Copies of the book may be obtained for $2 from the ASU Bureau of Business Services.

ASBA Workshop Features Demeke

Dr. Howard J. Demeke, associate professor of education, will be featured speaker at four Arizona school board association county workshop programs, speaking on "Teacher Evaluation—An Example of Policy Formulation for School Boards."

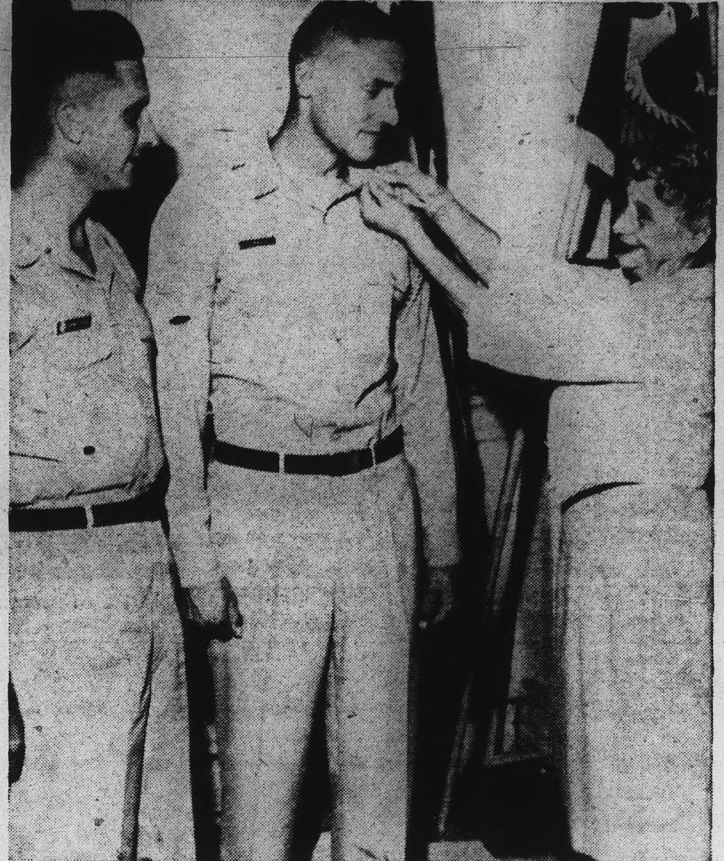

First Meeting Of Newcomers

Newcomers, the wives of new ASU faculty members, will have their first general meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 4, in the MU upper lounge.

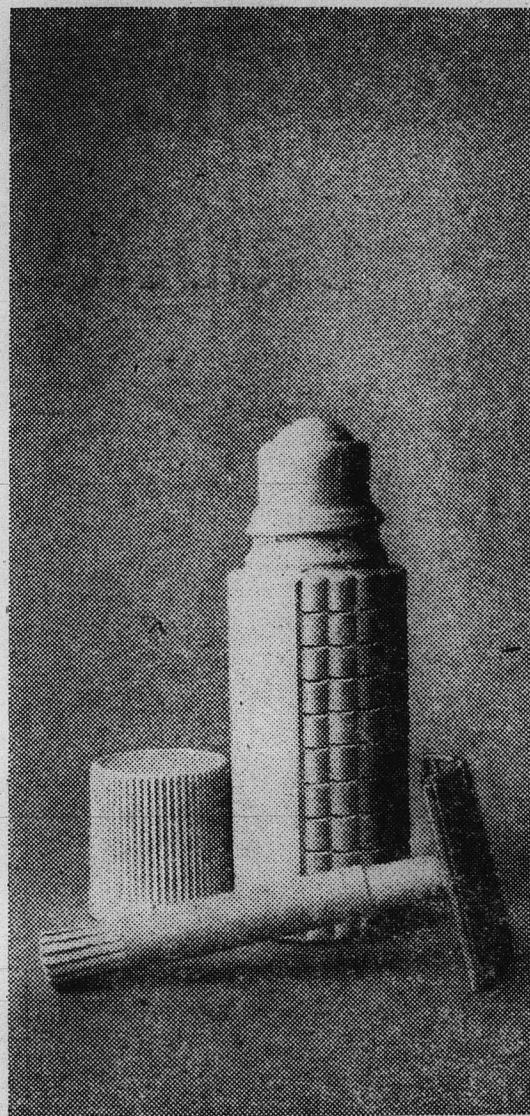

In addition to introduction of officers and new members, Mrs. David B. Scoular, MU director, will conduct the guests on a tour of the building.

Refreshments will be served.

Naturalized Officer—

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 64¢ and $1.00 plus tax dent union offers, visitors will also have a chance to view the display of New York artist, John Paul Jones, and the works of Cleveland ceramist, Vivika Heino.

JONES, PROFESSOR of art and head of the print-making department at UCLA, has exhibited his works throughout the country.

His type of art work is known as print-making. It entails using copper plates instead of painting individual pictures.

This process enables many reprints from each plate, instead of each piece being an original print.

The etching process Jones learned at the University of Iowa, from Mauricio Lasansky, the master of print-making in this country.

Jones has prints in a collection in the Museum of Modern Art in Los Angeles.

ALSO SHOWING at the open house are the ceramic works of Mrs. Heino, head of the ceramics department at the Art Center in Los Angeles.

She is also a trustee of the Southwestern Region of the American Craftsman Council.

Mrs. Heino and her husband are a ceramics team and have displayed their works internationally.

Both Jones' and Heino's works will be on display in the MU lower lounge on Friday night.

AWED WITH AMAZEMENT — Junior right halfback Steve Turkovich is awed at the strong right arm of tackle Sam Fanelli. Fanelli, a 240-pound sophomore, will play a major role Saturday as the Sun Devils host the Colorado State Rams in their season home opener. Turkovich is also slated to see action.

Devils Spank Shockers; Defensive Play Glitters

"We'll spend most of our time this week working on offense, and see if we can move the ball consistently against Colorado State," explained Coach Frank Kush after his Sun Devils struggled to a 21-10 triumph over a staunch Wichita Wheatshocker team Saturday at Wichita.

"I was pleased with the outcome of the game," Kush went on, "but there was much lacking in our defense."

Kush praised ASU's defense as they held Wichita to a mere 38 net yards rushing and 130 yards passing. Only a 64-yard punt return by Miller Farr the first time the Shockers touched the ball marred an overall effective evening.

The Devils scored on a 19-yard jaunt by Tony Lorick, an 83-yard pass-run play from Larry Todd to Lorick, and a 60-yard pass interception by Charlie Taylor with 15 seconds to go.

The pass play set a new Sun Devil record for the longest pass-run play. It erased the old mark set by John Hangartner and Bill Spanko of 75 yards against West Texas State in 1958.

The fourth quarter played a vital part in ASU's victory. Trailing 7-0 at half, and 10-7 heading into the final stanza, the Devils countered on the "home-run" play to take over the lead for the first time with seven minutes remaining.

Taylor's interception put the game on ice.

Devil stalwarts throughout the contest included: Lorick, who accounted for 60 yards gained on 11 carries, caught two passes for 89 yards, returned two kick-offs 56 yards, and scored twice; John Seedborg, punted four times for a 41-yard average plus booting all three extra points; Chris Stetzar, made nine unassisted tackles, two assists, and batted down two passes; Bob Kec, second to Stetzar in defensive statistics with five unassisted tackles and two assists; and Todd, who completed two of three passes he attempted, including the long one which he threw right handed running left.

This Saturday the Devils host the Colorado State Rams in their home opener. The Rams dropped one to the Air Force Academy last Saturday 34-0 but the Falcons have been practicing since August due to classes commencing then.

Players to watch are: Quarterback Bill Wrenn and Halfback Ken Cullars, who returned a kick-off 71 yards against the Air Force Academy last week, and alternate Quarterback John Christensen.

Denver Slated December 31

Sports fans who will be looking for something to do on New Year's Eve need look no further.

The basketball team at Arizona State University is slated to meet Denver University that night at Sun Devil Gymnasium.

Denver, coached by Troy Bledsoe, is expected to possess one of the stronger independent clubs in the Rocky Mountain area.

Coach Ned Wulk's Sun Devils will be gunning for the Western Athletic Conference crown in the fledgling league's first season of competition.

Former Devil Phoenix Champ

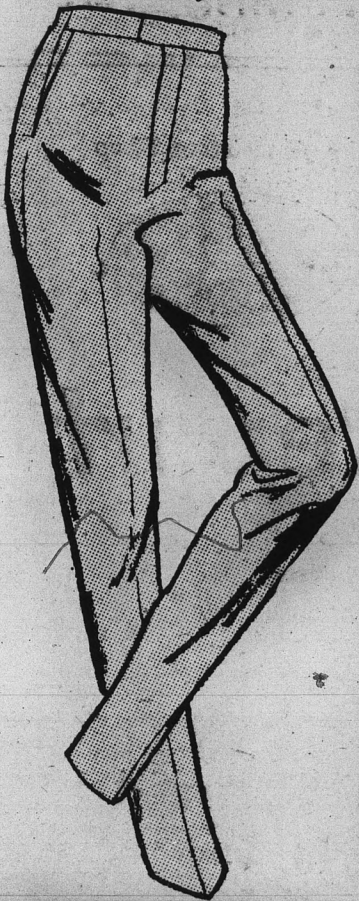

Former Sun Devil golfer Wayne Breck led all the way in winning the Phoenix City golf title last Sunday with a 72-hole total of 275.

Breck was five under par for the distance as he nosed sophomore ASU golfer Ted Lyford who closed fast for a fine 277.

Wildcats Triumph; Rams Clobbered

By JOE HEATH

Future ASU opponents fared almost as well as the Sun Devils did in their 21-10 victory over Wichita this past weekend. The nine remaining foes took six wins home while the remainder dropped their matches.

Next week's invaders, Colorado State, took a 34-0 shellacking from the Air Force as the Academy initiated their new $3.5 million stadium.

Meanwhile, Washington State and San Jose, both on the ASU schedule, fought each other with WSU's backs carrying the ball over the goal line seven times in a crushing 49-8 win. Six Cougar backs entered into the scoring column with George Reed crossing the line to pay-dirt twice.

Utah State moved into Boise to take an impressive 45-7 win over Idaho. The Aggie team unleashed a powerful attack led by quarterback Jim Turner. Turner also had the longest run of the day when he galloped 99 yards after picking off an Idaho fumble in mid-air.

Back at home, the University of Utah Redskins took to the air to down Colorado, 37-21. Clutch passing by quarterbacks Gary Hertzfeldt and Bill Cravens penetrated the Buffalo defense when the first downs were needed.

ASU's big rival, the UofA, wasted no time in getting on the winning road. The Wildcats tripped BYU, 27-21, in the initial opener of the WAC. The heavily-favored Arizona team had all they could handle as they fought back from a 7-7 half-time tie to go on to win.

All the Texas colleges stayed at home last weekend. West Texas State nipped Texas Tech, 30-27, while North Texas State dumped Texas Western, 19-6.

Frosh Open Fall Baseball Drills

Fall baseball practice officially opened Monday afternoon with all freshmen candidates reporting to head varsity coach Bobby Winkles, for a week of fundamentals.

Beginning Oct. 1, the practice pace will be stepped up with the addition of the sophomores and transfer students. Coach Winkles reports that intersquad games are scheduled starting Oct. 8. Shortly following, the frosh club will be cut to 30 with another cut during next spring practice.

Jack Rogers and Alan Schmelz head the list of transfers, both are from the JC ranks of California. Rogers is a sophomore outfielder from San Marino. Schmelz, a utility infielder-outfielder from Cerritos JC, is also a candidate for ASU's basketball team.

Wrestlers Recruited

Eleven state high school wrestling champions are among the 24 new prospects recruited by coach Ted Bredehoff as the ASU matmen will enter competition on a team level after last year's club status.

Arizona State's entry into the newly formed Western Athletic Conference will find the Sun Devils well equipped. Bredehoff says he will have four wrestlers vying for each weight class.

The season opener will be Nov. 24 at the Phoenix YMCA, an Olympic Development Tourney. Other season highlights include the UCLA Invitational on Dec. 8, the state AAU meet on March 2, the WAC championships March 8 and 9, at the UofA, and the NCAA meet March 21, 22, and 23 at Kent State, Ohio.

Oregon's contribution to ASU includes Rick Jackson, 167 pounds from Scotts Mills, and 123-pound Pete Russo from Portland.

Arizona champs include Cary Lewis, Yuma heavyweight; John Walker, Phoenix, 147 pounds; Anson Clinton, Tucson, 115 pounds, and Yuma's Sonny McCullough, 177.

Another heavyweight is Dave Vereb of Allenport, Mich. Kittinging, Pa., is the home of Andy Ulisky, 115 pounds. California sends Roger Pickens, 157 from Spring Valley. Ron Boudreau, 130, and Dave Greer, 137, hail from Del City, Okla.

Off The Cuff

By BOB JACOBSEN
Sports Editor

The Western Athletic Conference opened play last week and three of the teams eligible for the title gave notice they would again be tough this coming campaign.

In conference activity New Mexico's Lobos upended perennial champ of the new defunct Skyline Conference, Wyoming, 25-21.

THE LOBOS were led by their small but mighty halfback, Bobby Santiago. He scored once and passed for another and continually hurt the Cowboys with his all-around performance.

Down in Tucson the Wildcats were pushed to down Brigham Young's Cougars but finally edged them, 27-21.

Little Eldon Fortie, BYU's tailback, literally stole the show and almost the ball game from the 'Cats. He scored twice and passed for their other touchdown.

UTAH'S REDSKINS flexed their muscles against Orange Bowl contender and Big Eight champ Colorado and rolled over them, 37-21.

Utah's talented pair of signal callers, senior Bill Cravens and junior Gary Hertzfeldt, both passed for two scores.

The Sun Devils, although ineligible for the title due to only two conference games, may play a big role in deciding the champ.

The Devils play both Utah and Arizona comparatively late in the campaign and no one may be surprised if the "U" game isn't the one that tells the tale.

LEFTOVERS . . . Neil McAllister, a 195-pound bulwark of strength from Whittier, Calif., currently enrolled at ASU, took second this past weekend in the National Junior Olympic Weightlifting contest in Tucson.

McAllister jerked 295 pounds, pressed 300 and snatched 260 for a total of 855 pounds, just 20 behind the winner.
