Pennock Address Draws 35

Dr. J. Roland Pennock spoke to about 35 members of Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, and President G. Homer Durham Monday evening in the MU upper lounge.

Dr. Pennock, chairman of the political science department at Swarthmore College, outside Philadelphia, spoke on the application of logical positivism to democratic theory.

Dr. Heinz R. Hink moderated over a half-hour question and discussion period following the hour featured talk.

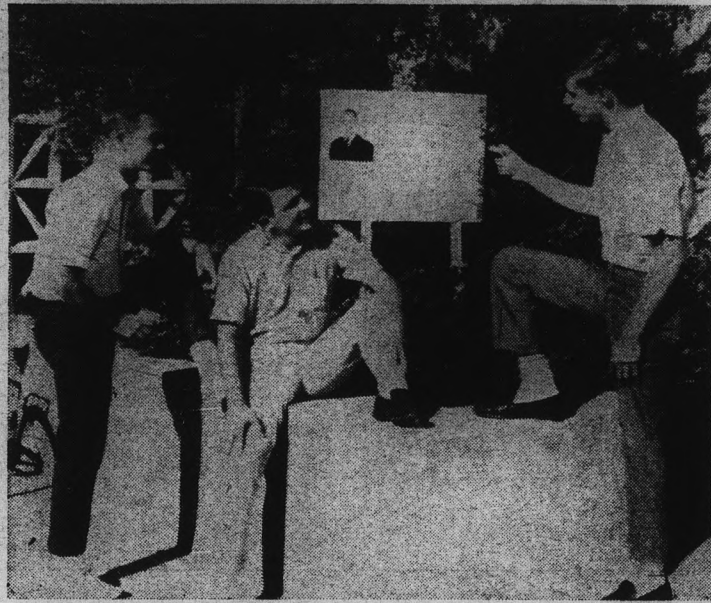

Pennock traced political theory from the Leveler movement of the 1650s through that of John Locke, David Hume, William James and John Dewey.

Since the logical positivist will accept only those things imperically proved, Pennock attempted to prove man through logic can discover that liberty and equality are essential to the governing of man.

The speech concluded that logical positivism, rather than being detrimental, enhances democratic theory.

Dr. Pennock received an M.A. in political science from Swarthmore and the Ph.D. in the same field from Harvard University.

Senate Elections Confront Fifteen

By TOM WING

Fifteen ASU freshmen vie today in the primary election of the class senatorial race.

Today's top four vote-getters will battle again next Wednesday in the general election to determine who will be the class' first two ASASU senators.

ASU's historically large freshman class will vote from 8 until 5 p.m. at the polls located at the corner of College and Orange streets and in front of Old Main.

Freshmen as usual must present I.D. cards at the poll to show eligibility to vote.

Freshmen will be voting for two class senators but may, if they wish, vote for only one candidate or for write-in candidates.

Candidates in the primary election are:

NANCY BUTLER: former Arizona State College student majoring in home economics.

MICHAEL CASSIDY: majoring in engineering science in the College of Engineering; ASU Circle K; Danforth Foundation Award.

PAUL COTTRELL: majoring in insurance in the College of Business Administration; Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

JUDI JONES: majoring in political science and specializing in pre-law in the College of Liberal Arts.

CHARLOTTE LAND: majoring in English in the College of Education; Kappa Alpha Theta sorority; Newman Club.

HARRY LUGE: majoring in accounting in the College of Business Administration.

CECELIA MAXWELL: majoring in art in the College of Liberal Arts; Alpha Phi sorority; Sahuaro staff.

JOSEPH MURPHY: majoring in pre-law in the College of Business Administration; Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

Carter To Give Annual Address

ASASU President Bob Carter's "State of the University" address will highlight the opening session of the 10th ASASU Senate at 3:45 p.m. today in the senate chamber, MU 213.

President G. Homer Durham's presence along with that of many other university, Valley and student government leaders will also help to make today's formal senate session one of the biggest ASASU events of the year.

SWEARING IN of the 36 senators by Chief Justice Steve Montgomery will be the first order of business.

Following temporary adoption of the rules, First Vice President Henry Klopping, speaker of the senate, will give a welcoming address and present his business.

Announcement of committee chairmen will highlight the business.

President Carter's speech will follow.

Carter is expected to ask the student senate to enact into legislation, among other things:

1. A system by which ASASU would set aside money over a period of several years to purchase a carillon, giant musical chimes, to provide music throughout the campus.

2. ENDORSEMENT of an exchange program of student government leaders between ASU and Mexican universities.

3. Endorsement of a non-student - government group's entrance into the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

ASU Given NSF Grant

ASU has received a grant of $17,148 from the National Science Foundation to aid undergraduates in developing research programs.

Fourteen undergraduates will receive NSF aid, including a stipend for the year plus a summer grant to cover expenses and equipment.

This assistance will enable a science student to become a part of a research team before he qualifies for graduate study and frees him from carrying an outside work load.

Selected for scholastic ability, past performance and interest, the students work on their own projects or assist graduate students and faculty members in research.

"We realize active participation is the best way to develop in modern science," said Dr. Carleton Moore, assistant professor of chemistry.

Moore is supported by Dr. Morton E. Munk, Dr. John N. Aronson and Dr. Myron L. Caspar, all assistant professors of chemistry.

WORLD NEWS

Rioters Fire On U.S. Troops

OXFORD, Miss. — Armed student rioters held federal marshals and national guardsmen penned in the administration building on the University of Mississippi campus early Monday morning. Bullets were plunking into the building from all sides.

Earlier, President Kennedy had appealed to the students to show their patriotism by "quickly and quietly" obeying the law and closing the books on the integration case of James H. Meredith.

They responded with clubs, bricks wrapped in towels, beer bottles filled with gasoline and guns.

Rusk Rules Out Deal

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk last night ruled out any possibility of a U.S.-Soviet deal to end Russian intervention in Cuba for Western concessions on Berlin or on American bases abroad.

"You cannot support freedom in one place by surrendering freedom in another," Rusk said in a prerecorded television interview.

Dutch Empire Ends Quietly

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea — A flag-raising ceremony Monday ended Dutch rule over West New Guinea and the 350-year reign of the Netherlands as a colonial power in Asia. The quiet ceremony terminated a 13-year dispute which threatened a South Pacific war.

Annual Payson Workshop Opened To All Students

Camp Tontozona forests at Payson will be buzzing with brainstorming Oct. 12-14 at the annual ASASU Leadership Workshop.

Student body officers, board members and all students interested in the organization and work of ASASU are invited.

Applications are available at the MU information desk and must be returned by Oct. 8.

DELEGATES will board buses at 3 p.m. Oct. 12 and return at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 14. Meals are included with the $4 fee.

Sponsored by the Organizations and Student Leadership Board, the workshop is designed to acquaint delegates with ASU student government functions, responsibilities and objectives.

Plans for the 1962-63 school year will be discussed. New activities will be considered.

EACH SPRING and fall student government leaders retreat to Payson for critical evaluation of their new positions and duties, hoping to stimulate many new ideas.

Students interested in student government will find this an excellent opportunity to familiarize themselves with ASASU, said Jerry Eppler, AMS president and chairman of the event.

KAET To Offer Bengali Poetry

A wide range of Bengali poetry, from the works of India's modern poet, Rabindranath Tagore, to the ultra modern poets, will be presented in a two-part series, "Modern Bengali Poets," on Channel 8 at 9 p.m. on Oct. 4.

Professor Buddhadeva Bose and Dr. Roderick Marshall, authorities on Indian poetry, will discuss the life and work of Rabindranath Tagore and the growth and characteristics of modern Bengali poetry.

Dual Crews Tape Channel 8 Biology

Establishing a new precedent in television broadcasting on the ASU campus, KAET executed a remote control broadcast in conjunction with the biology lecture series "The Living World."

The program was taped recently for showing at 10:40 a.m. and 8:40 p.m. on Oct. 5.

Equipment for the production was borrowed from KTAR-TV and a micro-wave remote control set up.

CAMERAS were located in the laboratory of the Life Sciences Center while video-tape simultaneously recorded the show in the engineering department.

Chief engineer Lynn Dryer with staff engineers Jack Daniels and James Conrad directed the operation.

They were assisted by Guy Ueckert and student floor crew members Charles Allen, Jim Conrad, Bill Harrison, Bill Hattouinian and Lon Lee.

Content of the 45-minute program is concerned with tools of the biologist.

Dr. Herbert Stahnke, chairman of the division of life sciences, utilizes the biogeography laboratory for his introduction of the topic and a discussion of the development and use of the microscope.

He is followed by Dr. William Northey, immunologist, who explains the different types of centrifuges and their uses as tools for the biologist.

DEMONSTRATING the uses of the polygraph and the oscilloscope, physiologist Dr. Robert Patterson electrically records the heartbeat of a turtle.

Utilizing the poisonous animal research portion of the laboratory, Dr. Stahnke concludes by milking a scorpion.

Campus Police Introduce New Vehicle Codes

Students may be fined up to $12 for parking and traffic violations under the new ASU parking, traffic and safety regulations.

Any student receiving six or more parking citations or three or more moving violations between Sept. 1, 1962, and Sept. 1, 1963, will be referred to the dean of students for disciplinary action.

Amounts of fines will be determined by the number of violations within the time period.

PARKING VIOLATIONS

1st violation	$ 1
2nd violation	$ 2
3rd violation	$ 4
4th violation	$ 6
5th violation	$10

MOVING VIOLATIONS

1st violation	$ 5
2nd violation	$10

Payments not made within seven days will be subject to a late fee of $2.

He accompanies his demonstration by explanations of why this is done, the uses of it and the effects of venom on human beings.

Seniors Urged To Placement

Job applications from students who expect to complete degree requirements by August 1963, are now being accepted by the ASU placement center, Administration 101.

Commercial, industrial and government recruiters will begin interviews Oct. 15.

Materials for placement files may be obtained at the center.

ASU's placement center, located in the Administration building, is known for its successful attempts at placing graduates in permanent occupations.

Phi Psi Takes Two-

CLEAN SWEEP — Steve Slemmons and Bob Clampett, representing Phi Kappa Psi Colony, receive both of IFC's scholarship trophies from IFC scholarship chairman Fred Ayers. The trophies were awarded for the most outstanding scholarship last semester and for the most improved scholarship.

Placement Disregards Sex

Freshman Paul Piscano claims he's a man who can tackle almost any job.

But the ASU placement center has him worried.

When Piscano arrived on campus this semester, he applied for student employment at the computer-equipped center, listing references as a salesman, typist and manual laborer.

This week, placement answered his application and announced he had an interview for a "unique" job.

Unfortunately, the woman who had asked placement for a governess and housekeeper did not feel Piscano could fill the bill.

MU Exhibits Arts Display

Prints by John Paul Jones and ceramics by Vivika and Otto Heino are being presented by the Cultural Affairs Board in MU lower lounge.

They will be displayed until Nov. 4.

On the lower left corner of each of the 21 prints by John Paul Jones appear the title and a fraction which represents the number of the print plus the total number of prints made.

The showing of these John Paul Jones prints is just one of the many services offered by the Cultural Affairs Board.

Singers Carry Culture Abroad

Roaring 20s, western, pop, folk and Broadway tunes aided five ASU students this summer in entertaining overseas servicemen and their families with North American culture.

These ASU representatives, associated with The Phoenixians, musical group, along with 20 other members of the YMCA and Valley of the Sun youth chorus, journeyed to Hamburg, Germany, in June.

Arizona State students participating in the group were Pat Thayer, Dan Baker, Ed Humphrey, Ron Ryan and Gary Miller.

ASU - Cougar Guest Tickets

Student guest tickets for the Washington State-ASU game Oct. 6 will be on sale at the ticket office tomorrow and Friday only, from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

They cannot be purchased Oct. 6 at the office or at the game.

Tickets are $4.

Students must show ID cards to purchase them.

Deadline Set

Sahuaro editor Gary Avey announced yesterday that the deadline for space reservation in the yearbook is Friday.

6 Faculty Members Granted Absence Leaves For 1962-63

Six faculty members have been granted leaves of absence for the academic year 1962-63.

Dr. Wallace E. Adams, assistant professor of history, and Dr. Gordon L. Bender, professor of zoology, were granted leaves.

Dr. Adams will be visiting professor at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Dr. Bender will accept an appointment as associate program director of the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Clarence R. Jeffrey, associate professor of sociology, will participate in a National Institute of Health research program during the second semester of 1962-63 and 1963-64.

A sabbatical leave for the second semester of 1962-63 was granted to Dr. Ernest L. Parker, professor of animal husbandry, who will conduct advanced study in agriculture and the humanities in Europe.

A leave has been extended for Paul Wallack, assistant professor of engineering, to enable him to complete requirements for a doctor of philosophy degree in engineering at Oklahoma State University.

Also approved was a sabbatical leave for the first semester of 1962-63 for Dr. Joseph E. Spring, chief of the ASU news bureau, who will conduct a study of communications techniques and methods at leading universities.

Editorially Speaking

Here stands the greatest nation on earth, long ago "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

The healthiest people in the world scurry to the highest paying jobs on earth. Red-cheeked youngsters sit in air conditioned classrooms reading knowledgeable textbooks and receiving the finest free education in the world. Happy housewives shop in the most well-equipped supermarkets.

FACTORIES TURN out thousands of machines and materials for the huge population. Scientists work day and night discovering and inventing new and better ways to make life more pleasant and secure. Medical and sanitary knowledge keeps the population free from disease and filth.

However, one grave shortage still lingers on — when will we have the courage to stop hating one another?

Like a chronic malady, hatred is rooted in the very souls of some of these most fortunate people. If they were hungry and cold, perhaps their hatred could be interpreted as a type of revenge rising from the resentment they would feel.

But these people are healthy yet vicious, well-fed yet violent. They hate, hate, hate, because they have never tried to love.

James H. Meredith, Negro, age 29, stands today as yet another reminder of how much there is to be done in our own back yard.

Two men are dead and many are injured from the mob riots at the University of Mississippi where Meredith became the first black man to cross that academic color line.

IS IT NOT HORRIFYING to see how men can hate — how bitterly men can fight to perpetuate their hatred?

We can be thankful here in Arizona to merely read and hear the reports that come from Mississippi and not be forced to know or feel the prejudice that guides the minds and emotions of our fellow Americans.

We are free to watch the struggle and hope that one day men's rational minds will govern their basest emotions and free the black people from their eternal bondage.

More Letters —

TO THE EDITOR:

We don't imagine you have received too many letters in reply to your editorial of Sept. 26, regarding the invalid living conditions in our dormitories.

As far as we are concerned, we are living in the twentieth century, not the sixteenth. However, it seems to us that some people in the administration are enjoying THE GOOD OLD DAYS!

What is the purpose of the unrealistic dorm hours and regulations on this campus anyway? Is this university operating on the assumption that if the girls are corralled, everyone will be out of trouble? Or, are we just saving the girls from themselves?

Why is it that a girl legally is on her own at 18, can vote and drink at 21, but must live in a dorm until 23? Why 23? What's wrong with 43?

Sincerely,
 Names Withheld

TO THE EDITOR:

In reply to last week's letter from Barbara Coy:

This is to inform you that

Goodwin Stadium houses more than ROTC facilities, football dressing rooms and our only track. It is of greater importance that Haigler Hall is housed there. For your information, Haigler Hall houses 78 men, none of whom have appreciated your expressed desire to destroy their HOME.

It is beyond our comprehension why anyone would consider the parking problem more critical than housing. We too have a parking problem. We have to compete with off-campus students for parking.

Why attack a person's house when an empty lot being converted into a tennis court is available?

We are deeply hurt by your lack of knowledge of Haigler Hall's presence. We feel that before you made your suggestion you should have investigated the proposition more fully. Surely the presence of people living in a building is a fact not to be ignored.

The Forgotten Men of Haigler.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"YOU'RE CHARGED WITH FRUSTRATING YOUR STUDENTS BY YOUR CONSTANT CLASSROOM REFERENCES TO 'THE DAY OF RECKONING' AFTER FOOTBALL SEASON."

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish that some fraternity, student council or other interested group would do on this campus something that is done in many universities, and that is, gather, classify and issue to students some kind of brochure rating faculty members.

INNOCENT freshmen enter college with the naive idea that possession of a Ph.D. degree automatically means that the professor is learned, inspired and capable of passing on both learning and inspiration.

By the time the student reaches the lofty eminence of senior, he knows that this is far from the case and either resents or curses the hours he was forced to waste.

Nothing elaborate is needed, just something short, concise and explanatory, with the same A to E rating system used for students. For instance, the following might serve as examples:

PROFESSOR X: Rating A plus. Makes you work like a dog and is rough with grades, but lectures are brilliantly informative and you emerge informed, inspired, your mind stretched and soaring.

PROFESSOR Y: Rating, B. Rough grader and a bore, but so well-informed that if you really want to learn, you can pick his brains and learn much.

PROFESSORS A, B, C: Rating, C. The great bulge on the curve, for professors, as well as students. Ho hum!

PROFESSOR Z: Rating, D. A pleasant fellow, but lazy, lazy, lazy. This course, which has the potential of being one of the most interesting in the catalogue, is strictly "Mickey Mouse." Avoid like the plague unless you need a couple of hours with no studying involved and don't mind emerging empty-handed.

PROFESSOR XX: Rating, E. Obnoxious, lazy, sloppy, an oaf and a boor. Dotes on endless busy-work, considers students some kind of noisome insect and grades strictly on whether he likes you or not.

Such a list, besides being of inestimable value to students, would and should fall into the hands of the faculty with possible salutary effects.

There it might conceivably penetrate into the ivory towers, where many professors practice their own particular brand of omphaloskepsis, and jolt them right off their tenures to the extent of making them realize that, in accepting the taxpayers' money, they owe to the taxpayers' sons and daughters more than their mere physical presence in the classroom.

NATURALLY, a student doesn't expect to have all A-rated professors, but such a list would at least give us a chance of avoiding the few "D" and "E" instructors and make college years 100 percent worthwhile — or, as the fashionable jargon has it — a meaningful learning experience.

Yours truly,
 Doris Fell (Senior)

TO THE EDITOR:

Where is your scholastic pride?

In your editorial on women's dorm regulations in the Wednesday State Press, you completely ignored the responsibility of your position as editor.

I REFER to your asinine comment, "Why shouldn't they have a chance to experiment with the effects of alcohol?" Why not suggest that the women experiment with dynamite? They both have the same damaging effect.

There are thousands of youthful dope addicts around the country because they wanted to "experiment" with drugs. Is this also "natural experimentation?" Is drinking "vitality formative" to the women of ASU?

The rules are made to encourage high standards of health and well-being of all the students at ASU, and it is partly your responsibility to see that these rules are kept.

IF YOU feel they should be changed, why not suggest a campaign to change them instead of encouraging the women to break them, which your editorial certainly did?

Your comments on alcohol show both immaturity and lack of forethought.

I Cover College Avenue

By BILL OVEREND

When ASASU President Bob Carter presides today at the first senate meeting of the year, he will seek that body's support for a string of programs and policies he hopes to see enacted in the coming months.

He will probably get it. MOST OF Carter's goals this year are constructive, positive and appealing. He should have little trouble persuading the senate and the student body to accept and endorse them.

Two of his ideas are particularly attractive.

One calls for the establishment of an exchange program between ASU and some 10 major Mexican universities. The Mexican students will be brought to ASU to exchange ideas on student government and others points of mutual interest.

In future years, Carter hopes, ASU students will make similar journeys to Mexico.

Carter will also request the senate to approve the requisition of $10,000 a year for the next four or five years to be set aside for the eventual purchase of a giant carillon, a type of musical chime which could broadcast prerecorded and live music all over Tempe and ASU.

AMONG HIS other plans are the separation of the current Rally and Traditions board into two individual committees, one for rallies, the other for traditions, and the recognition by student government of the emergence of an ASU student group into the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

Some of these ideas will be presented to the senate merely out of political etiquette. They can be enforced by Carter without senate approval.

Others, however, must be enacted by the senate and then administered by the ASASU president. Carter will need senate support to have these passed.

FRESHMAN senate elections, which are being conducted today, are probably the most poorly managed traditional affairs on the campus.

This year's campaigning has been even worse than usual. The only candidate whose name sticks in this corner is Dorky Dork or someone who had screaming girls parading around the campus Monday night.

That candidate, because she managed a semblance of a campaign, should sneak past today's primary.

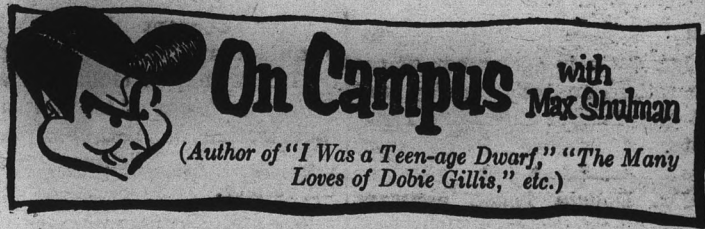

Parking Poses Problem

Fraternity alumni may find it difficult to find a parking place along Alpha Drive during football games this semester.

Limited parking space along Alpha Drive will not accommodate all of the cars belonging to approximately 500 alumni members, if they should all decide to attend the same game.

Jerry Sullivan, president of the Interfraternity Council, has been appointed to head a committee to study the problem.

At the present time, Alpha Drive is used by visitors at the fraternity houses.

WHAT TO WEAR TILL THE DOCTOR COMES

Now that you have enrolled and paid your fees and bought your books and found your way around campus and learned to hate your roommate, it is time to turn to the most important aspect of college life. I refer, of course, to clothes.

What does Dame Fashion decree for the coming school year? (Incidentally, Dame Fashion is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is forever in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Moll Flanders—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the drooping morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

*Don't be gutless,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cutlass,
We ain't quittin'.

Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.

For Good Queen Bess,
Dear sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.

You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.*

In 1589 she invented the laying hen

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her Poet Laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's service to Queen and country. In 1589 she invented the laying hen, and she was awarded a lifetime pass to Chavez Ravine. But she was not to end her days in glory. In 1591, alas, she was arrested for overtime jousting and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.)

But I digress. Let us get back to campus fashions. Certain to be the rage again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this remarkable Briton's imagination. He also invented the glottal stop, the gerund, and the eyelid, without which winking, as we know it today, would not be possible).

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is, I believe, cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good friends, is ample reason for celebration as all of you will agree who have enjoyed Marlboro's fine, comfortable, mellow flavor and Marlboro's filter. So why don't you slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobacconist for some good Marlboros? They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1962 Max Shulman

Cardigans or pullovers—it's a matter of taste . . . And so is Marlboro a matter of taste—the best taste that can possibly be achieved by experienced growers and blenders—by science, diligence, and tender loving care. Try a pack.

SHAPELY SONGSTERS — Eight pretty pom-pom girls promise synchronized song leadership again this year. The squad has long been a favorite of sports crowds and has consistently presented enjoyable routines to keep up the spirit.

Dr. Bernard Ostle, professor of industrial engineering at ASU, will attend the annual Analysis Technical Conference at Orlando Air Force Base, Fla., Oct. 3-5.

The conference deals with various tactical problems connected with the defense program.

Dr. Ostle is a member of the operations analysis standby unit at the Denver Research Institute.

Dr. Donald Isaak, assistant professor of music, will be featured in a 20-minute piano recital of Chopin during the Arizona State Music Teachers Association Convention, Oct. 20-22 here.

A noted musician, Dr. Isaak is newly appointed to the faculty.

He has studied at Juilliard School of Music and the Vienna Akademie fur Musik and has appeared in recitals in the Midwest, the East and Europe.

"The Consent Decree: Its Formulation and Use," a paper by Dr. Milton S. Goldberg, associate professor of business administration at ASU, has been published at Michigan State University.

The study, concerning the use of the consent settlement procedure in antitrust cases brought under the Sherman Act, was made while Goldberg was a member of the MSU faculty.

Goddard To Speak Here

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Sam Goddard will address the American Association of University Professors in the MU ballroom at 2:40 p.m. today.

The meeting is open to faculty members only.

Governor Paul Fannin will speak before the association Oct. 24 at 3 p.m.

AAUP meetings are not open to students, AAUP president Bruce B. Mason announced.

O'Leary To Head Security

John O'Leary, who worked for the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 27 years, has been named acting director of the ASU department of security, according to Gilbert Cady, ASU vice president.

Norman Peck, who joined the ASU campus security force in 1958, will continue as captain of the university police, Cady said.

O'Leary received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Iowa, and a bachelor of law degree from Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

While with the FBI, he worked in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Omaha, Phoenix, and Albuquerque.

He is married and the father of three children.

Researchers Want 'Em —

Tasty Tidbits With A Steak Not Green-Gilled Parasols

By JERRY REILLY

Few items are more repugnant than a juicy sirloin steak smothered in mushrooms — when those mushrooms are of the poisonous green-gilled parasol variety.

These little bothers have been sprouting up in lawns all over the Valley due to the rain and cooler weather.

If taken internally, they may cause serious illness or even death.

BUT WHAT is worse is that there is no antidote for the mushroom poisoning.

This is where Dr. Chester R. Leathers of the ASU botany department comes in. He wants them — all the green-gilled mushrooms he can get.

Dr. Leathers and several of his students are trying to extract the poisonous chemicals and determine its specific compound.

They plan to test the plant on lab animals to determine the dosage that will produce poisoning and the sequence of symptoms after poisoning.

"Some mushrooms contain antibiotic properties within themselves. We hope to find an antidote for the green-gilled parasol."

The mature plant is flat and white with a brownish spot in the middle. Underneath this cap are sheets of light-green tissue called gills. Earlier stages do not have the pronounced green gills but rather a whitish or cream color.

DR. LEATHERS has a theory that many undetermined deaths could be attributed to the mushroom, especially in children. They have a habit of putting them in their mouths. If you happen to get hold of a green-gilled parasol, here is what Dr. Leathers suggests you do:

1. Induce vomiting as soon as possible to empty the stomach.
2. Take a Universal antidote if possible. They are available at your drugstore.
3. Then get to a physician who can do more for you.
4. Recovery is usually in 2-4 days.

This fungus is found all over the western U.S. in colonies from 25 to 100.

Play it safe, don't eat any raw mushrooms.

$1,500 Check Goes To BA

A $1,500 gift has been presented to ASU by the Sales and Marketing Executives of Phoenix.

Executives' president L. H. (Bud) Shaff and educational committee chairman Donald Kiley presented the check to Dr. Glenn D. Overman, dean of the College of Business Administration.

The ASU sales fraternity, Phi Sigma Epsilon, has received the highest chapter award in the nation during the past two years.

The Phoenix group's support has aided in winning these awards, Dr. Overman said.

Greeks List New Actives; Name Pledges, Officers

Sixteen ASU sorority coeds are wearing new active pins this week.

Eleven Gamma Phi Betas and five Kappa Deltas were initiated Friday night.

Initiates of Gamma Phi were Brenda Batchelor, outstanding pledge, Betty Guild, Karla Emery, Kay Kline, Judy Massey, Carolyn Moore, Mary Lou McNatt, Shan Worsley, Sharon Wilkes, Pat Tomkins and Naomi Funk.

THE FIVE Kappa Deltas were Kay Bergman, Judy Drage, Peggy Eckland, Carol Johnson and Judy Wilson.

Officers of the Alpha Sigma Alpha pledge class were elected last week.

New officers are Sharon Miller, president; Annalee Ziman, vice president; Susan Henshaw, secretary-treasurer; Joy Weber, chaplain; Ann Hoopes, parliamentarian, and Kathleen Barmettlor and Sherry Clark, Panhellenic representatives.

Newly elected Kappa Alpha Theta pledge class officers are Charlotte Land, president; Kathie Lewis, vice president; Sandy Price, secretary; Merilee Bean, treasurer; Kitty Hoyt, social chairman; Karen Vollmer, activities chairman; Sue Rugh, Melinda Rasmussen, junior Panhellenic delegates, and Helen Coar, song leader.

PLEDGES OF two fraternities have been announced. Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, now residing at 1120 McAllister, has pledged Jay Roth, Jack Price, Eddy Carmack, Chuck Patrick, Jim Grant, Steve Burt, Rick Peil, John Sar, Keith Friend, Ken Bacher, John Hamilton, Paul Sawtelle, Nels Jensen and Mike Longstreth.

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, now occupying one of the Adelphi units, has pledged Joseph Van Dyke, Arthur Tobin, Robert Rayner, Ivan Hunt, Adrian Hinton, Wade Peterson, William Tolentine and Louie Flores.

Square Dancing Tonight At 7

Square dancing for ASU students will be tonight and every Wednesday night in the Payne Training School cafeteria next to Cosner Auditorium.

Dancing will begin tonight at 7 with the first half hour devoted to instruction.

On The Go

By MARY GORMAN

ASU students looking for entertainment this weekend, besides the football game, can find plenty in the drama department in Phoenix.

"No Exit," the Jean-Paul Sartre drama which is often a "must" for current literature classes, is playing at the Circle 16 Playhouse in Phoenix.

The existentialist drama is set in a room in hell where two women and a man are doomed to spend an eternity together.

THE CURTAIN rises on "No Exit" Oct. 5 and 6 at 8:30.

For those interested in musicals, "Bye Bye Birdie" is the next production scheduled for the Phoenix Musical Theatre on Oct. 11-14.

Playing in Phoenix this weekend is Peter Ustinov's comedy "Romanoff and Juliet" at the Phoenix Little Theatre. The play runs Oct. 5 and 6 at 8:30 p.m.

Entertainment is also available on campus in the University Playhouse where student actors and actresses are preparing for the final performance of "Private Lives," the famous Noel Coward comedy.

IF YOU would like to be in a play, as well as view one, you can have your chance tonight when the University Players hold tryouts for the second production of the season, "Rashomon," a Japanese drama.

Tryouts will be in the English building lounge at 7.

If you're seriously interested in seeing above-average plays in the next few weeks, the Phoenix situation seems the ideal one.

After sitting through the last football game, maybe a play wouldn't be too bad.

'Rififi' Next Cosner Film

"Rififi," often hailed as the greatest crime film to come from France, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow and Friday in Cosner Auditorium.

The film, depicting the robbery of a swank jewelry store, runs 35 minutes with not a word spoken.

"Rififi" shows the case history of the crime, its planning, execution and aftermath.

Has your hall, dorm or organization appointed a press correspondent yet?

On Other Campi

By NANCY TENNEY
EDITOR'S NOTE: The "On Other Campi" column is being added to the State Press this semester to keep ASU readers "tuned in" on what's happening on other campuses throughout the nation.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY . . . Matthews Library, with its seven levels of stacks, is mere child's play, compared to the new undergraduate library at Cornell University. It boasts 32 floor levels as well as a tunnel connecting it to the Main Library, which has served the students since 1881.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA . . . A smiling elephant wearing a mortar board found his way into the registration packets of freshmen and transfer students at the UofA last week.

Printed in the upper corner of IBM cards, the elephant was the only tip-off to students who had included a publicity gimmick from the Campus Republicans among the 34 officially printed items given them at registration.

The cards were evidence that potentially any group on campus has access to the means of producing a perfect "counterfeit" form.

The new assistant dean of women at the UofA may well be counseling women several years her senior. Jane Kirby, at 23, is the youngest dean in the history of the school.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA . . . Frank Sinatra Jr., who was a freshman at ASU during the spring semester last year, this fall transferred to USC in order to be nearer Hollywood and Burbank.

His TV debut will be this week on the Jack Benny CBS-TV program, and subsequent guest appearances will follow on other TV network shows during the '62-'63 season.

Frank made his first public appearance singing on the ASU campus, and his first commercial appearance in a Scottsdale night club last spring.

Tryouts Tonight-

Rashomon Players Next

Tryouts for "Rashomon," the next play to be presented by the University Players, will be tonight at 7 in the English building lounge, room 113.

Tryouts for the Japanese drama are open to all students. No previous experience is required.

Don Doyle will direct the play, which will be presented Nov. 7, 8, 9, 14, 15 and 16.

Five men and three women are needed for "Rashomon," and, according to Doyle, "all are interesting parts."

The University Players are presenting "Private Lives" tonight and Friday in the University Playhouse.

Tickets are available at the box-office in the University Playhouse.

Mademoiselle Contest Set

Monetary prizes and salaried job experience are among the awards offered by Mademoiselle magazine, sponsor of three annual contests for college women.

Twenty guest editors, chosen from college board contest competition, will hold salaried positions on the August 1963 publication.

Entrants will submit a project in one of 20 areas encompassing the fields of art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion and advertising.

Deadline for the first assignment is Nov. 20.

Entries will be judged on originality, perceptive thought and special talents.

Four prizes of $500 each will be awarded to winners in the fiction and art contests. Benefactors of the two art awards will illustrate the two winning stories for Mademoiselle's August '63 issue.

Complete information concerning contest rules, procedures and entry blanks are available in the State Press office, MU 211.

Finalists Seek Queen Position

Delta Sigma Pi, men's professional business fraternity, has named four ASU coeds as finalists in the annual competition for Rose of Delta Sigma Pi.

The four coeds are Judy Thomas, Joanne Von Blume, Barbara Blewer and Robin Miller.

The contest winner will compete in the fraternity's national contest.

A fraternity luncheon is scheduled for tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. in the MU.

All men interested in becoming members of the organization are invited to attend.

Handwriting on the wall? Footprints, to be exact, MU custodians, scrubbing them off, venture the theory that they may have been made by over excited freshmen during the confusion of registration.

WHY are some girls prouder of their rings than others?

The girl is literally bursting with the news. And why not? Her mounting was chosen from a selection of Art-carved, Orange Blossom and other well known rings. Then a loose diamond was selected from Paul Johnson Jewelers Collection of precious gems. While she observed, the diamond was set into the mounting of her choice by Paul Johnson Jewelers own master diamond setter, making this important moment an unforgettable one.

You too, can make an important moment an unforgettable one by giving a diamond from our fine collection.

DEVIL SURPRISE — Larry Facchine, Sun Devil quarterback, was a pleasant surprise to coach Frank Kush in ASU's first two contests of the season. Facchine will see plenty of action Saturday as the Devils host the Washington State Cougars.

Off The Cuff

By Dennis Anderson
Assistant Sports Editor

A busy man. That's State Press Sports Editor Bob Jacobsen.

In addition to work 15-20 hours per week as sports boss, he's also president of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, plus he is carrying 18 hours academically.

In light of this close schedule Bob has asked us to contribute to this corner each Wednesday edition. His column will appear in Friday issues.

What a difference a year makes.

Last season the UofA footballers had speed to burn in their backfield, and ASU was sorely minus in this department.

This year it's just the reverse as evidenced by the long runs of Tony Lorick, Henry Carr and Charley Taylor last Saturday night against Colorado State.

Sun Devil grid fans who last spring couldn't wait to see trackster Henry Carr "go" with the pigskin got their money's worth when the Detroit flash set up the first TD against CSU with a 42-yard jaunt the only time he saw action.

LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER big year at the gate for ASU football. The 28,100 fans last Saturday night probably set the stage for an all-time high season attendance. Of the remaining seven home tilts, only the Texas Western date on Oct. 27 figures to draw less than the CSU opener.

Sun Devil Stadium press box operations are among the best in the nation. Under the direction of ASU sports information director Dick Mullins, radio-TV and press personnel work under excellent conditions.

Mullins, by the way, is the newest addition to ASU's athletic department, coming here from New Mexico State, where he did an outstanding job in a similar position.

A coach's dream.

Every gridiron mentor dreams of the day he'll have a runner like Tony Lorick who has the power of a fullback and can run 100 yards in under ten seconds.

Tony's 153 yards rushing was among the all-time best by a Sun Devil back. His 72-yard punt return for a TD was a beauty.

THE FIFTH QUARTER: He's back! Jerome Clardy onetime perennial team manager for ASU's football and track teams has returned to school this year after a two-year hitch in the Army.

Better known as "Sticks" to athletes and coaches alike, Jerome was featured in the State Press issue of Feb. 3, 1960. An interesting note from the feature, written by ex-ASASU president Gary Walker, was that Devils fans vouch that it was "Sticks" who persuaded coach Rudy Lavik to come to Tempe Normal some years back.

Lobos Smash Arizona

In the Western Athletic Conference's second major week of activity victory was not the keynote as three out of four teams dropped inter-divisional contests with ASU being the only winner.

IN THE ONLY intraconference affair, New Mexico's Lobos upended the Wildcats of Arizona, 35-25, thus ending the UofA's five-game winning streak and pushing themselves out in front of the WAC.

Wyoming, loser to New Mexico last week, was defeated by the Washington State Cougars, this week's ASU opponent, 21-15.

Oregon's Mel Renfro scored the first time his hands touched the ball on a 38-yard run as the Oregon Ducks swamped Utah's outmanned Redskins, 35-8.

THE DUCKS rolled up 441 yards and 21 first downs against the Utes. Utah's only score came when end Marv Fleming picked off a Duck fumble in midair and ran 18 yards, with just five minutes left in the game.

Brigham Young's winless Cougars were stopped by George Washington, when with 1:01 left on the clock, Quarterback Dick Drummond smashed off tackle for six yards and teammate Warren Corbin added the all-important extra point to give the Washington, D. C., club the victory.

Linebackers, Ends Lauded

By JOE HEATH

"The outstanding work of linebackers Bob Kec, Ron Scarfo and Chris Stetzar plus the work on the ends of Alonzo Hill and Roger Locke is the main reason for our defensive success."

Coach Frank Kush praised these men after last Saturday's 35-0 trouncing of Colorado State.

"All these boys are students of the game and have the ability to diagnose plays," Kush said. "However, they have yet to be tested as far as pass defense goes. The play of our linebackers this next weekend will show me just how great they are."

THE UNDEFEATED Sun Devil squad opened practice session this afternoon with special emphasis being placed on stopping the Washington State passes that have kept the Cougars in the unbeaten ranks of college ball.

"A young team can be hurt on pass defense," said Kush, "and this year's Washington State team is three times tougher than any other Cougar squad that we've played in the past."

Although ASU's squad will be working on pass defense, it also will have to stop the swift Cougar backs. "Their passing merely complements their running game," said Kush.

The Sun Devil offense speaks for itself, as the speedy ASU backs seem to score at will. "I'm real happy with the work of Tony Lorick (153 yards rushing and three touchdowns last weekend) and the rest of our backs," said Kush.

THE DEVIL backs showed their breakaway power numerous times.

Lorick got loose for runs of 17, 50 and 72 yards, while Charley Taylor wormed his way through the Rams 40 yards for 6 points.

Quarterback John Jacobs showed that he can throw the ball, too, as he completed six passes in 13 tries, including a 13-yard scoring play to end Dale Keller.

The Sun Devil offensive unit piled up 357 yards rushing while the Rams were held to 54 yards.

However, Colorado picked up 183 yards in the air, completing 17 passes in 34 tries.

Kush wasn't too happy with the offense as far as the short gains go. "We've got to have that yardage between the tackle positions if we're going to score with any consistency."

Lorick Paces Devil Figures

Tony Lorick, ASU's 200-pound speedster halfback, leads the Devils in six departments after running wild last weekend against Colorado State University's Rams.

LORICK, who has been a standout against both Wichita and CSU, leads the Devils in rushing with 232 yards, in total offense with 251 yards, in pass receiving with three completions for 91 yards and one touchdown, in punt returns with one for 72 yards, in scoring with five touchdowns for 30 points and in kickoff returns with two for 56 yards.

Charley Taylor, the other half of the backfield tandem, is listed behind Lorick in four categories.

Taylor is second in rushing with 114 yards, in total offense with 114 yards, in scoring with two touchdowns for 12 points and in kickoff returns with one for 23 yards.

He also ranks fourth in punt returns with four for 21 yards.

ROGER LOCKE, ASU's All-America candidate, has caught two passes for 34 yards to rank behind Lorick.

Cross Country

All prospective runners who may be interested in competing for this year's Sun Devil cross-country team are asked to contact Coach Baldy Castillo in the men's gym at once.
