Campaigning will be climaxed in tomorrow's general election as the student body selects the 1962 Homecoming king and queen.

From a field of 28 candidates each student presenting an activity card may make his choice, voting once for the king and once for the queen.

Polls will be open between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Voters may use either the poll on the corner of College Ave and Orange St. or the poll on the Social Science building lawn next to East Hall.

Ballets must be marked with an "X" to be acceptable.

Homecoming royalty will be announced in the MU ballroom next Wednesday evening.

King candidates and their activities are:

Panel On Cuba Set

By TOM WING

The first part of the President's Forum formerly entitled University Forum, scheduled for 10:40 a.m. tomorrow will be postponed one week due to the accumulating world crisis punctuated by President John F. Kennedy's Monday evening alert to the nation of the offensive threat of Cuba.

A distinguished panel of ASU professors will place special emphasis on the president's alert, the newly enforced "quarantine" of Cuba, and resulting events of the next week.

"THE SITUATION of Quarantined Cuba" will be the title of the discussion instead of the previous "The Monroe Doctrine and Contemporary Cuba."

Drs. Heinz R. Hink and John R. Martinez and U.S. Army Lt. Col. Theodore Wyckoff will compose the panel of the first part of the monthly series sponsored by ASASU President Bob Carter.

The panel will discuss the Cuban crisis in regards to (1.) the international legal question; (2.) the Constitution of the Organization of American States charter; (3.) world wide implications of intervention into Cuba; and (4.) the embargo as an act of war.

DR. HINK, associate professor of Political Science, received the LL.B. from the University of Berlin and the M.A. and Ph.D. from University of Washington.

Dr. Martinez, assistant professor of History, received the B.A. from Brigham Young University and M.A. and Ph.D. from University of California, Berkeley.

Lt. Col. Wyckoff, chairman of the department of Military Science, received the B.A. from University of California at Los Angeles and M.A. and M.P.A. from Princeton.

Coffee and donuts will be served

WORLD NEWS

U.S. Blockades Cuba, Tells Russ 'Lay Off'

WASHINGTON — In a grim, emergency nationwide radio and television address, President Kennedy ordered a U.S. "quarantine" blockade of Cuba, Monday evening, saying the Soviets are sending Prime Minister Fidel Castro offensive weapons able to rain nuclear destruction on all the Americas.

Elsewhere in Washington, a defense spokesman stated the U.S. is ready to sink every Communist bloc ship headed for Cuba which refuses to stop and be searched under the quarantine measure.

KEY WEST — All of Cuba's military forces have been mobilized as a result "of the news from the United States," Havana Radio reported Tuesday.

"Hundreds of thousands of men were mobilized in the course of a few hours," the broadcast said.

WORLDWIDE — So far, reports from Great Britain and West Germany that have been received were strongly in support of President Kennedy's stand. Fourteen of the twenty Latin American countries represented in the Organization of American States have expressed support ranging from complete approval to fear of a third world war.

Regents Approve Budgets For Three Universities

The Board of Regents recently approved a budget of $12,009,547 for the 1963-64 year at Arizona State University, as a part of the total $33,563,145 operating amount for the three state-supported schools.

ASU's proposed budget, an increase of $2,859,943 over the current figure, allows for higher faculty and staff salaries and increased operating expenses.

The UofA's proposed budget is $18,670,488 and ASC's is $2,883,110.

Of the total proposed budget, $23,406,435 will be asked of the state legislature, an increase of $2,984,484 over this year's appropriation.

The Regents approved 99 ASU appointments, including five associate professors, six assistant professors, and 10 instructors.

Other appointments approved were six lecturers, 12 faculty associates, 32 graduate assistants, 23 staff members, one visiting lecturer, one physician and three librarians.

State Press Ain't A Mess

A national college newspaper rating service has judged last semester's State Press one of the four best semi-weekly collegiate papers in the country.

The Associated Collegiate Press, in evaluating last semester's editions, awarded this paper All-American honors. It is the highest rating given the State Press in at least 10 years.

Editor-in-chief last semester was Bill Flick. Managing editor was Barbara Marlowe.

Antivenin Progress Due To ASU's Research Studies

(First of Two Articles)
By ED GASSER

Poisonous animals of Arizona have received considerable attention during the last quarter century, particularly from ASU's poisonous animals Research Laboratory (PARL).

When Dr. Herbert L. Stahnke, director of PARL, came to Arizona in 1928, he began a study of venomous bites and stings and the lack of adequate treatment for them.

Resolving to find a treatment, Dr. Stahnke started research on the more than 20 species of scorpions in Arizona. His individual efforts grew into a coordinated research program known as Poisonous Animals Research Laboratory.

The importance and difficulty of Dr. Stahnke's research on scorpion envenomation was recognized by the Arizona State Legislature, which in 1945 initiated the program with a $2,000 appropriation.

DR. GRADY GAMMAGE, president of ASU at that time, established PARL, which began its program of developing and producing scorpion antivenin as well as studying other poisonous animals of Arizona.

The range and depth of the new research drew such specialists as Dr. A. E. Dammann in 1955 as assistant director of PARL; Dr. Robert Patterson, physiologist, and Dr. Gordon Bender, invertebrate physiologist, in 1957; Dr. Eldridge Berke in 1958 as histologist and pathologist; Dr. Dean Watt, biochemist, in 1959, and finally Dr. William Northey, immunologist, in 1959.

Fruits of the research study started to appear when a more effective treatment of snake bite and scorpion sting, the Ligature-Cryotherapy method, was devised.

THE L-C METHOD is a physical treatment involving the use of a string or cord to localize the venom by restricting the flow of blood, and the use of crushed ice to slow the action of the venom by lowering the body temperature.

This new method is continuously gaining medical acclaim and is widely employed by physicians in the Southwest.

While the L-C research was in progress, work on a scorpion antivenin also was under way. Today PARL is the sole producer of anti-scorpion serum in the U.S.

The serum, provided free of charge to physicians, has saved the lives of many persons stung by Arizona's two lethal species of scorpions.

"IT IS BOTH a research and a service laboratory," according to Dr. Stahnke, and part of its service is to identify scorpions sent from nearly every country in the world. PARL's museum collection contains more than 6,000 preserved specimens.

The use of live scorpions enables venom to be extracted several times, and the total biology of the animal can be studied.

Editorially Speaking

We are a bitter breed in many ways, those of us under 35. We're bitter because we feel cheated that we cannot plan on living out our meager maximum of 70 years.

We're often skeptical of the future, as if we feel that it may never be for us. We tend to grasp and grab for what we think is ours because we are never sure of a second chance at anything.

We live fast because we dare not take too much time, lest it run out. We cram one experience after another into our lives so that at any moment, if the end comes, we can claim as many experiences as we could have possibly managed. We appear happy-go-lucky, yet underneath this exterior, we are aware of the precarious lives we lead.

Our elders criticize us for being lax and apathetic, but what choice have we when we're always waiting for something to happen?

Material possessions come easy for us, but we have always lacked a feeling of security that comes from knowing what will happen tomorrow. Thus, we are a nervous generation that has never known peace of mind.

We were born shortly before or right in the middle of World War II, and teathed on the knowledge that man had finally created a means with which to totally annihilate himself.

We know what it means to be afraid, but fear has become a habit with us and is hardly more intense than any other emotion we might feel.

Thus, when we are faced with an emergency, we tend to remain calm on the surface, rather rational to all appearances.

However, below this surface is a violent resentment of having to live under a constant threat. This resentment has never had the opportunity to be vented.

We're always preparing to fight, yet with the exception of Korea (a king-size exception), we have had little opportunity to thus dissipate this rage.

Once again our lives have been interrupted by yet another emergency that is worse than the last. Once again we are preparing ourselves as best we can for whatever may follow.

Our resentment is growing larger and harder to curb. Will it be peace or war? Violence or appeasement?

These are the questions that have governed our lives and we're tired of being buffeted back and forth, never knowing anything for sure; having a cause for a while, only to have it yanked from our grasp before we have time to believe in it.

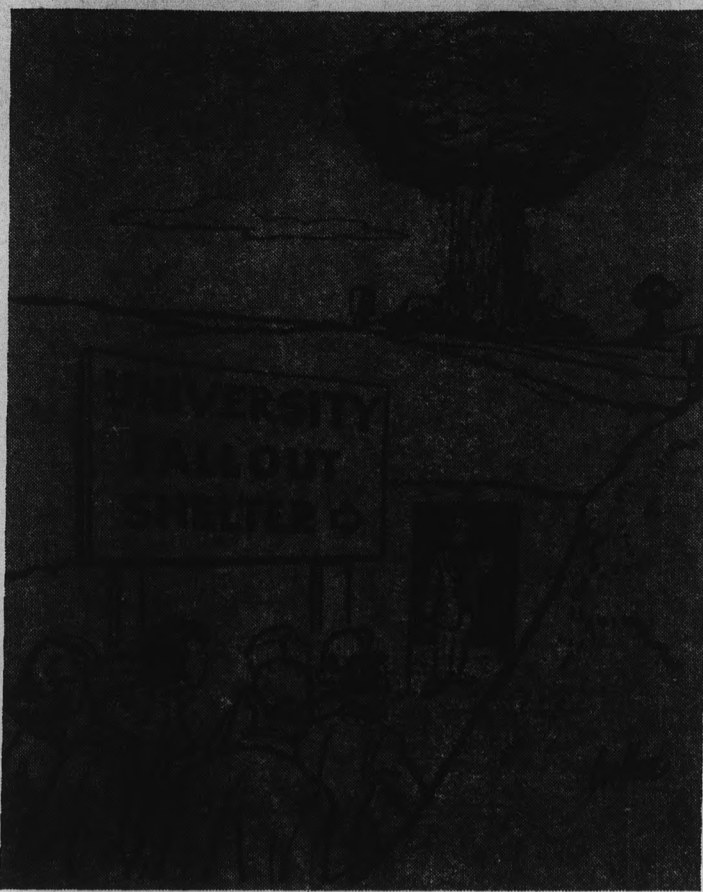

Do we want peace? Yes. Do we want war? Yes.

All we really desire is a tiny bit of stability in our lives, the type of stability our generation has only read or heard about.

As it stands now, our generation is prepared. We can take peace or we can take war. We've been conditioned to accept either decision.

We might be afraid of a hot war (and a hot one it would be), but most of all we're angry at the last 18 or 20 years of never knowing where we're going. We have been thwarted long enough.

If given the opportunity through war or in peace to find our bit of stability, we are angry enough to accept the supreme challenge that either condition would offer.

"OK. Get out your Student Activity Cards."

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

In 1954, I was patiently attempting to teach a group of students at Memphis State College, about 60 miles from Oxford, Mississippi, the reasons for the Supreme Court decision in Brown vs. Board of Education.

I am sorry that Dean Helland was not in that class; perhaps he would not have written the uninformed letter to the STATE PRESS if he had been.

Several facts are to be noted. Article VI of the Constitution says: "This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the Supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary notwithstanding."

This implies then an authority between the federal government and the states, as is correctly expressed in Federalist Paper No. 78; ergo, the Supreme Court is arbiter unless or until overruled by constitutional amendment or violence.

The Supreme Court very early exercised its authority, in Hylton v. United States, 3 Dall. 171 (1796) the Court upheld a tax on carriages; in Marbury v. Madison, 1 Cranch 137, declared unconstitutional Section 13 of the Judiciary Act of 1789, and in Fletcher v. Peck, 6 Cranch 87 (1810) declared a state act ultra vires.

Critics of the court existed then as now, but the decision of the court stood, and in 1832 James Madison wrote: "I have never been able to see that, without such a view of the subject (the power of the Supreme Court to interpret the Constitution) the Constitution itself could be the supreme law of the land; or that the uniformity of the federal authority throughout the parties to it could be preserved; on that, without this uniformity, anarchy and disunion could be prevented."

In 1868, the 14th Amendment to the Constitution was adopted. Pertinent provisions of this amendment are those guaranteeing a person equal protection of the laws and due process, the clear import of which was to protect the Negro against state governments of the South.

It is true that the court emasculated the 14th Amendment from 1873, in the Slaughterhouse Cases, 16 Wall. 36, to Plessy v. Ferguson, 163 U. S. 537, to Lochner v. New York, 198 U. S. 45, but a turn for the better began long before 1954, as Mr. Helland states.

Actually, the Court in Gitlow v. New York, 268 U. S. 652 (1925) began to restore the 14th Amendment, and this has proceeded apace since then.

In 1938 the Missouri ex rel Gaines v. Canada, 305 U. S. 337, the court sustained the right of a Missouri Negro to attend his own state university; in McLaurin v. Oklahoma State Regents 339 U. S. 637 (1950) upheld a Negro's right to attend the University of Oklahoma; in Sweatt v. Painter, 339 U. S. 629, they did the same thing with regards to the University of Texas, saying that separate facilities were inherently unequal; then, finally, in 1954, came Brown v. Board of Education, 347 U. S. 483.

Since that time there have been dozens of similar decisions by both federal and state judges.

I could go on, but limited space makes it impossible, but first a question to Mr. Helland, and then a statement.

Why does Mr. Helland desire to reverse the procedure followed in every instance heretofore in connection with a Supreme Court decision? They have always been followed until overruled by a Civil War, in one case, or by an amendment (as when the Republicans introduced and passed the Income Tax Amendment to overrule Pollock v. Farmers Loan and Trust, 158 U. S. 601), or by the court itself in many cases.

I Cover College Avenue

By BOB CLAMPETT

Homecoming, the granddaddy of college traditions, is just around the corner.

Plans for displays are being composed, election campaigns for Homecoming king and queen are in high gear, and countless ASU alumni are eagerly anticipating returning to their alma mater.

HOMECOMING honors those who have trodden the steps of Old Main before us, those who can remember the VI without television. Why?

As I see it, there are two basic reasons to honor these academic forefathers:

(1) out of respect,
 (2) these forefathers may be capable of contributing to our campus through their pocketbooks.

Regardless, Homecoming is geared to honor and welcome back our alums.

THE IMPORTANCE of this welcome may be displayed graphically this year, for in some cases, there will be no welcome.

Alpha Drive, shining new example of the new look in fraternities, is unable to erect Homecoming displays.

The effect of this can only be left to conjecture, but the circumstances of this renege should be explained.

The truth is that ASU's administration has disallowed the new row houses to construct Homecoming displays.

IT SEEMS the University cannot claim ownership of the Alpha Drive project until it has passed every specification set forth by the FHA.

One of these specifications reads that all landscaping must be complete, and the lawns must be "seeded and mowable."

A $14,000 lawn seed contract was finalized yesterday. Seeding begins this week.

Therefore, unfortunate though it is, Alpha Drive will be unable to compete in the Homecoming display competition this year.

The display construction would be most damaging to the seedling lawns tearing their hearts out trying to become "mowable."

Of course, this development has its bright side for those fraternities involved. They'll save nearly $200 apiece plus several sleepless nights otherwise spent in preparing displays.

But, once again, it is the innocent who suffer — in this case the alumni.

For the benefit of fellow political protagonists, this situation is an excellent example for your "federal aid means federal control" discussions.

It is the inflexibility of the FHA contract that will leave Alpha Drive barren next week.

PERHAPS Big Brother is watching.

Committees To Conduct Matthews Library Poll

The Education Board is planning a poll which will reveal the opinion of ASU students concerning Matthews Library. Three committees have been formed to plan and conduct this poll. Ron Autenrieth will head the committee which will formulate the poll questions. Dave Sargent will lead the administration committee, which will decide how and when the poll will be taken. The evaluation and tabulation of results will be handled by Rich Muhr's committee. Board members are currently consulting senate education committee faculty members, the faculty library committee, the library staff and the deans regarding questions that should appear on the poll.

Speech, Reception Highlight UN Day

Today is nationally-proclaimed United Nations Day.

Its observation on campus will involve a combined American students and faculty-foreign students reception and discussion period conducted by United Nations honored guest Maurice Liu at 3:30 p.m. in the MU lower lounge.

Liu, chief of visitors service at United Nations headquarters in New York, will speak briefly on the UN and will moderate an informal question and answer period between ASU's American and foreign students.

HE ALSO will answer questions on the formation of a university chapter of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

Invitations to the reception have been sent to all foreign students, interested campus organizations and faculty members here.

All students are encouraged to attend the reception to get acquainted with the foreign students.

Liu, a 50-year-old native of Shanghai, came to the United States from China in 1931. He is now a U.S. citizen.

HE RECEIVED a B.A. degree in international relations from the University of Southern California.

Liu joined the UN staff in 1946.

He became chief of the visitors service in charge of public information, guided tours and visitor's programs in the UN Headquarters in 1960.

Refreshments will be served following the reception, which is being sponsored by the Cultural Affairs committee.

Prof. Evensen, 35 Years Old, Dies In Phoenix

Mr. Charles G. Evensen, ASU professor of geology, died Saturday in Phoenix.

Mr. Evensen came to ASU second semester 1960-61 after teaching geology at Texas Western College and the University of Arizona.

He received the bachelor of science degree in geological engineering in 1949 from the University of Minnesota and the master's in geology from the University of Arizona in 1953.

Professor Evensen belonged to the Geological Society of America, the American Geophysical Union and the American Geological Society.

He had worked on projects for the International Boundary of Water Commission and the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Lundberg Mortuary in Glendale.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing importance.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Air Force Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York 1, New York.

Avey Goes to Press Conference

Gary Avey, editor-in-chief of the Sahuaro yearbook, will leave today for Detroit, Michigan to attend the annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference, Oct. 25-27.

Yearbook supervisor, Mrs. Bobbie Johnston, stated that this is the first time the Sahuaro has been represented in this conference.

Over 1,000 editors and supervisors will attend the three day session which will consist of workshops, short courses and panel discussions on the editor and business process of publishing a yearbook.

Traffic Appeals

The Traffic Appeals Board will meet Wednesday at 3 p.m. in MU 208. All students who wish to appeal a citation for parking, speeding or any miscellaneous violations may do so at this time.

Symphony To Play First Concert Free

The ASU symphony orchestra, under the direction of Eugene P. Lombardi, assistant professor of music, will present its first concert of the 1962-63 season Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the MU ballroom.

Featured soloist will be pianist Dr. Donald Isaak performing the Mendelssohn "Piano Concerto in G. Minor."

Other selections on the program are "Le Roi d'Ys overture"; Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance," and Samuel Barber's "First Essay for Orchestra." Concluding number will be Beethoven's rarely performed work, "Wellington's Victory."

The composition originally was written for a great mechanical instrument, the panharmonicon, a calliope-type music reproducing machine. Later it was re-scored by the composer for symphony orchestra and performed first in 1813.

The instrumentation calls for a French horn and an English drum and bugle corps in addition to symphony orchestra, with an actual "battle" taking place in the composition.

The concert is free to the public.

Theta Delta Chi Honors Eversole

John H. Eversole, former chief assistant attorney general of Arizona, received the Theta Delta award last weekend for his work with Theta Delta Chi fraternity at Arizona State University.

Active as president of the Phoenix Graduate Association of the fraternity, Eversole was honored at award presentation ceremonies Saturday night at the dedication banquet of the fraternity's new chapter house, 612 Alpha Dr., Tempe.

The national honor was first announced at the fraternity's convention in Minneapolis last summer, but the presentation was not made until Saturday.

Daryl Winn, Eugene, Ore., president of the ASU chapter, made the presentation.

Parking Area Changes Made

Two changes to the campus parking regulations became effective this week, according to Lt. Thomas W. Godbehere of the ASU police department.

Staff parking area number 15 restricted to staff and faculty between 6:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The northwest corner of Van Ness and 8th St. is restricted to construction vehicles only.

Parking area signs have been changed to comply with the new regulations.

Enrollment for Arizona State College reached a record high in 1948-49, with 3,651 students registered for the first semester.

Lecture Series Scheduled

"Expressions of the American Spirit" will be the theme of the fall lecture series of the Center for American Studies. A series of five lectures will be given at 2:45 p.m. in the MU ballroom every Wednesday until Nov. 28.

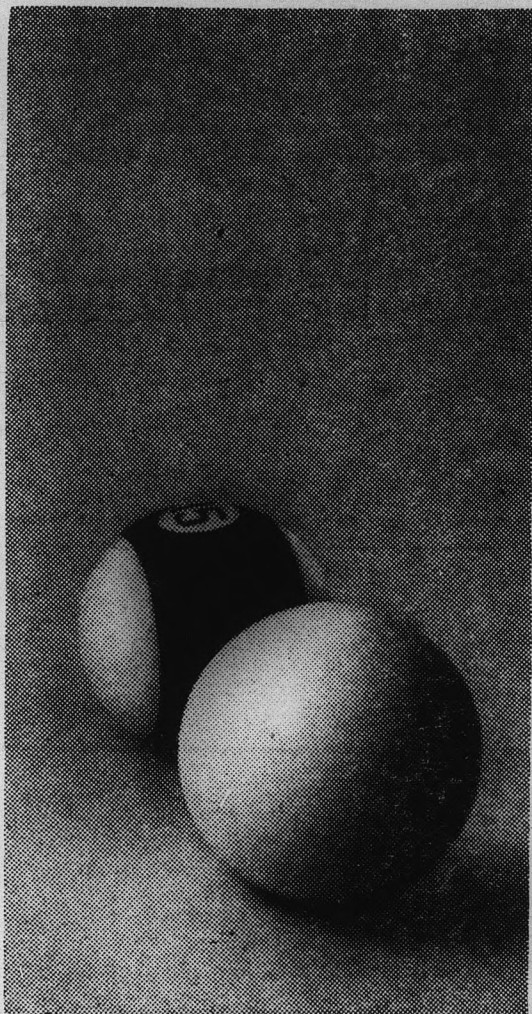

Dr. Ben Gossick, ASU professor of physics, will speak Oct. 24. His talk will be entitled "Ben Franklin, Scientist."

Other faculty members who will speak later in the series are

Dr. Arthur Bachrach, Dr. Leo Levy, Dr. John Krout and Dr. Glenn Austin.

The Center was organized during the 1961-62 school year to promote interdepartmental exchange of ideas. The lectures on American history and culture are open to students, faculty and the general public without charge.

A spring series of lectures on the same theme will begin Feb. 20.

SHAHRUKH MAROUFKHANI

Education Pursued By Shah From Iran

By TIMA IRANI

Sunshine and warm weather lured Shahrukh Maroufkhani to Arizona and ASU. Shah, as he is known to his friends, doesn't miss the snow of South Dakota one bit, nor the bitter cold of Teheran, Iran, his homeland. "The warmth and friendliness of the students at ASU is just as wonderful as the climate," he commented enthusiastically.

Shah came to the United States two years ago after he had earned a scholarship from the Iranian National Organization for Youth and Physical Education. He attended the University of South Dakota at Vermillion for two years and then transferred to ASU.

IN ADDITION to seeking a warmer climate, "I wanted to be lost among students in a larger school and to experience a different facet of American life," he explained.

According to Shah, who talked about the political situation in Iran, Iran is a constitutional monarchy with a system of government very much like Great Britain. The ruler is Shah Reza Pahlevi. "Although the Shahinshah is supposed to be a figurehead, he interferes in the country's affairs. I personally approve of it. He is well-educated, capable and is building a strong nation," he added.

"Iran is a country with rich natural resources," Shah said.

"It ranks third among the oil producing nations of the world."

Shah feels that the Peace Corps is better in the long run than any kind of foreign aid. "Foreign aid should be used by the U.S. government itself to reform where needed, instead of just giving it. Education and industrialization is where foreign aid should go," he commented.

SHAH EXPLAINED that Iran's strategic location makes it the bridge between the free and communist worlds. but he added that the communists have failed in their efforts to infiltrate his country. "Iran is definitely pro-western," he said with conviction.

"Teheran, often referred to as the Paris of the East, and other large cities are very westernized. Yet there are primitive tribes who live in southern Iran," he went on to explain.

Shah hopes to graduate from ASU in '64. After graduation he intends to be a physical education director in an Iranian university.

Oriental Drama 'Rashomon' Is Scheduled By Players

An Oriental production, "Rashomon," will be the second play of the season presented by the University Players.

Director Don Doyle has announced the cast, which includes Esther Louise Moore, the medium; Mike Solomon, the husband; Dick Baggett, the deputy; Bill Leighton, the bandit; Ronald Gregory, the wigmaker; Gary Stephens, the priest, and Libby Diaz, the mother.

Francis De Grado will portray the woodcutter and Anita Byron, the wife.

The story of "Rashomon" presents the picture of human behavior in extremes of poverty, greed and vanity.

Performances of "Rashomon" are scheduled Nov. 7-9, and Nov. 14-16.

Group To Reorganize

Off-Campus Men's Organization has invited all independent men, both on and off campus, to a meeting Oct. 29 at 8 p.m. in MU 209.

In the past, the club has been only for off-campus men, but because of meager turnouts, the group has been opened to interested on-campus men who are not affiliated with a social fraternity.

Four main objectives of the club will be discussed. John Black will discuss plans for social activities; Tim Waymire will take up intermurals; Tom Scotten will talk about service projects, and Tom Pavey and Fahir Kirdar will discuss opportunities in student government.

Pall Mall Presents - GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

CAMPUS TYPE II

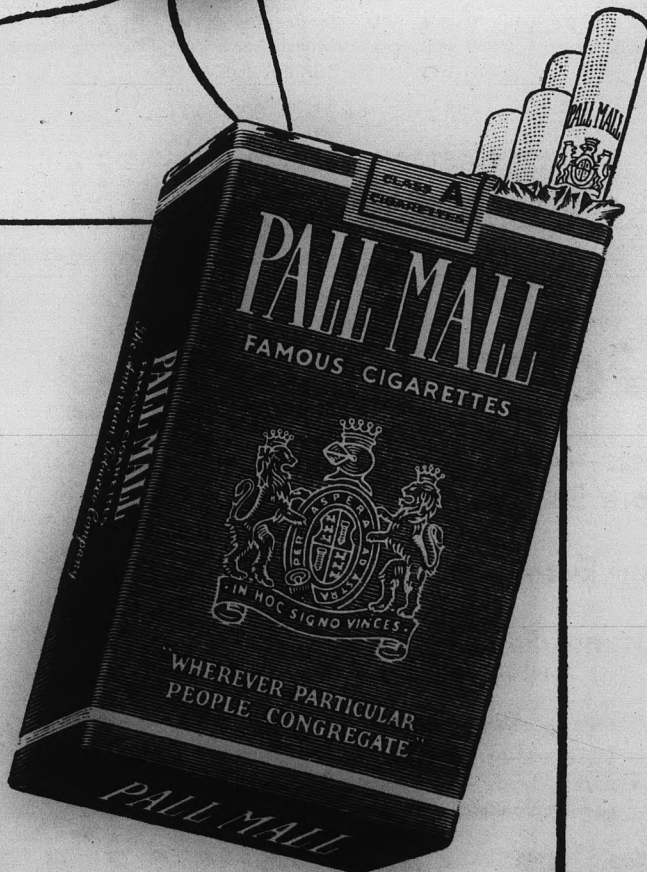

Don't let this girl's costume fool you. She's not really a mad scientist. She's a girl—a real, live girl. It's just that she has to prove something—to herself and to her family.

She has to prove that she has a brain and that, if she ever has to compete with men on their own terms, she can do it—and win. But she really doesn't want to compete with men. In her heart she wants to attract men and eventually, marry one. The girl watcher should not let this situation disturb him, however.

If the girl is watchable, she should be watched, no matter what her motives or ambitions may be. The same thing is true of a cigarette. If it's smokeable, it should be smoked—and Pall Mall is the most smokeable of all!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

Devils Stress Speed

"We have six weeks until we play our first game and we're purposely taking our time. The big items right now are fundamentals and conditioning," commented Coach Ned Wulk after the first week of varsity basketball practice.

Work last week centered mainly on running and on individual players with a gradual move toward work on a team basis.

ONE OF the biggest problems facing Wulk will be taking up the slack at one of the outside positions left vacant by Larry Armstrong, top scorer on the 1961-62 team.

Returning lettermen for the Sun Devils include: Joe Caldwell (13.3), Tony Cerkvenik (10.1), Art Becker (10.1), Raul Disarufino (4.3), Bobby Howard (3.7), and Gary Senitza (2.6).

LAST SEASON ASU posted a 23-4 record and won the Border Conference crown, but this year enters the new Western Athletic Conference with such powers as Utah, Brigham Young, Wyoming, New Mexico, and Arizona competing.

Off The Cuff

By BOB JACOBSEN
Sports Editor

A strong point last campaign, yet expected to be a weak spot this year, Sun Devil kicking duties have been taken over in fine style by John Seedborg.

Seedborg has averaged 39 yards a punt for 14 punts, has booted 15 of 17 extra points, and has a 36-yard field goal to his credit in the Washington State contest for a steady if not spectacular performance.

The 19-year-old junior tackle from Long Beach, Calif., was pushed into the kicking job by the graduation of Joe Zuger, who led the nation in punting last year with a 42.1 yard average, and Nolan Jones, who once held the NCAA record for extra points of 32 in a row. It was a tough act to follow.

HE SPENT all summer booming punts down a practice field at Long Beach State College with his father, Harold Seedborg, shagging them. It has really paid off.

Seedborg, a 6-foot, 215-pound art major at ASU, is more than passively interested in kicking. He someday hopes to parlay his talent into a tryout with the pros.

He claims he is a long way from being an artist, but plans to keep striving toward that end. The same might be said about his kicking.

THE SUN DEVILS this year seem to be a typical ASU outfit. There are 14 players from Pennsylvania, eight from Ohio, seven from Arizona, six from California, five from Michigan, and one each from New Jersey, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, and Texas.

There are seven seniors, 16 juniors, and a whopping 23 sophomores to give a pleasing outlook to future campaigns.

THE WESTERN Athletic Conference last week boasted of three individual statistics leaders in national figures while no other major conference could produce even one.

BYU's Eldon Fortie was the total offense leader with 886 yards, New Mexico's Dick Fitzsimmons topped the nation's punters with a 47.8 average, and Arizona's Gene Kenley led in kickoff returns with 252 yards on eight returns.

Devils Smash Spartan Jinx, 44-8

By JOE HEATH

Every man on the squad, with the exception of Henry Carr who was out with an injury, saw action in the Sun Devils' 44-8 trouncing of San Jose State Saturday.

ASU coach Frank Kush was termed "very pleased" with the victory. The win marked the first over the Spartans for Kush in his five-year head coaching career at ASU.

"Jacobs did a great job," Kush said, "one of the best I've seen, especially considering the circumstances."

LESS THAN 24 hours before the game, Jacobs learned of the death of his father, chief of police in East Pittsburgh, Pa.

The ASU quarterback completed eight of 12 passes for 186 yards, three touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Dale Keller was on the other end of five Jacobs' passes, counting for 12 points and 120 yards.

Both Keller and Jacobs have been nominated for "Back and Lineman of the Week" honors in the Western Athletic Conference.

Sun Devil fans saw a lot of new faces on the field as Kush applied the two-platoon system for the first time.

"We will definitely stay with the two-platoon system," said

Kush. "I thought we were fresher in the second half because of it."

REGARDING the "jinx," Kush had this to say:

"San Jose played as we expected. They hit hard, but it just wasn't their night."

The Spartans hit just hard enough to make two more of the Sun Devils doubtful starters for next week. Defensive linebacker Chris Stetzar suffered a shoulder injury while halfback Steve Turkovich is hobbled with an injured knee.

Word has not as yet been released on Carr's chances of seeing action next weekend against Texas Western.

San Jose coach Bob Titchenal pointed out the effectiveness of Jacobs on the field.

"We thought we were doing real well until those last couple of minutes in the first half," said Titchenal. "Then our pass defense was riddled and the tide of the game really turned."

WITH 47 seconds left in the first half, the Spartans led, 8-2. A seven-yard touchdown pass to Keller, a San Jose fumble, and a 39-yard Jacobs-to-Taylor combination, good for six more, gave the Sun Devils a 17-8 lead as they headed for the dressing room.

Saturday night, the Demons will battle the Miners from Texas Western.

"We'll have to guard against overconfidence when we play Texas Western," said Kush. "The Miners downed New Mexico, and practically played Wyoming to a standstill in their last outing. We'll have to be ready."

Texas Western has posted a 1-3 record on the season, but Kush feels that "they'll be gunning for an upset, and it will be our job to see that no one takes this game lightly."

Arizona Nips Devil Runners

Arizona State University's cross-country team, which placed second in a triangular meet with the University of Arizona and Phoenix College last Saturday, now turns its attention to the upcoming Western Athletic Conference Nov. 10.

Sun Devil runners took first and second but could not beat a depth-laden Arizona team, which took six of the first 12 places.

Eric Owers, a sophomore from Australia, took first in the time of 16:23 over the 3.3 mile course in Papago Park, north of Tempe. He was followed by teammate Art Reade, a transfer from PC, who ran the distance in 16:28.

Coach Baldy Castillo's team will host this first annual WAC meet, which will be run on the hilly Papago course. Each school is entering a seven-man team. Only the first five finishers from each school will count in the scoring.

Frosh Edge 'Pups

Arizona State University's determined, but thin band of freshmen downed the New Mexico Wolfpups, 16-12, at Albuquerque last weekend to even their season at 1-1.

HALFBACK BEN HAWKINS, who carried the ball 12 times for 104 yards and two touchdowns, and End Ken Kirk, who iced the game with a prodigious 45-yard field goal, were Sun Imp standouts. Other Imp stalwarts included fullbacks Dave Smith and Mike Harmer, linebackers John Folmer and Jack Shiker, and guard Bryan Olofson.

This week Coach Bill Kajakawa's freshmen will prepare for their most important game of the season — a Saturday meeting with the UofA Frosh. Game time will be 2 p.m. at Goodwin Stadium on the ASU campus.

Lorick, Jake Pace Devils

Halfback Tony Lorick, Quarterback John Jacobs, and End Dale Keller continue to be Sun Devil standouts and statistics leaders as the Devils reach the halfway point of the season.

LORICK heads four departments and ranks second in two others. Tony is first in rushing with 371 yards gained in 52 carries, in scoring with six touchdowns for 36 points, in punt returns with four for 100 yards and in kickoff returns with four for 101 yards. He also ranks second in pass receiving with nine catches for 213 yards and one touchdown and in total offense with 390 yards.

Jacobs leads the ASU passing department with 40 completions in 74 attempts for 612 yards and eight touchdowns and is No. 1 man in total offense with 569 yards. He is also the Western Athletic Conference's passing leader.

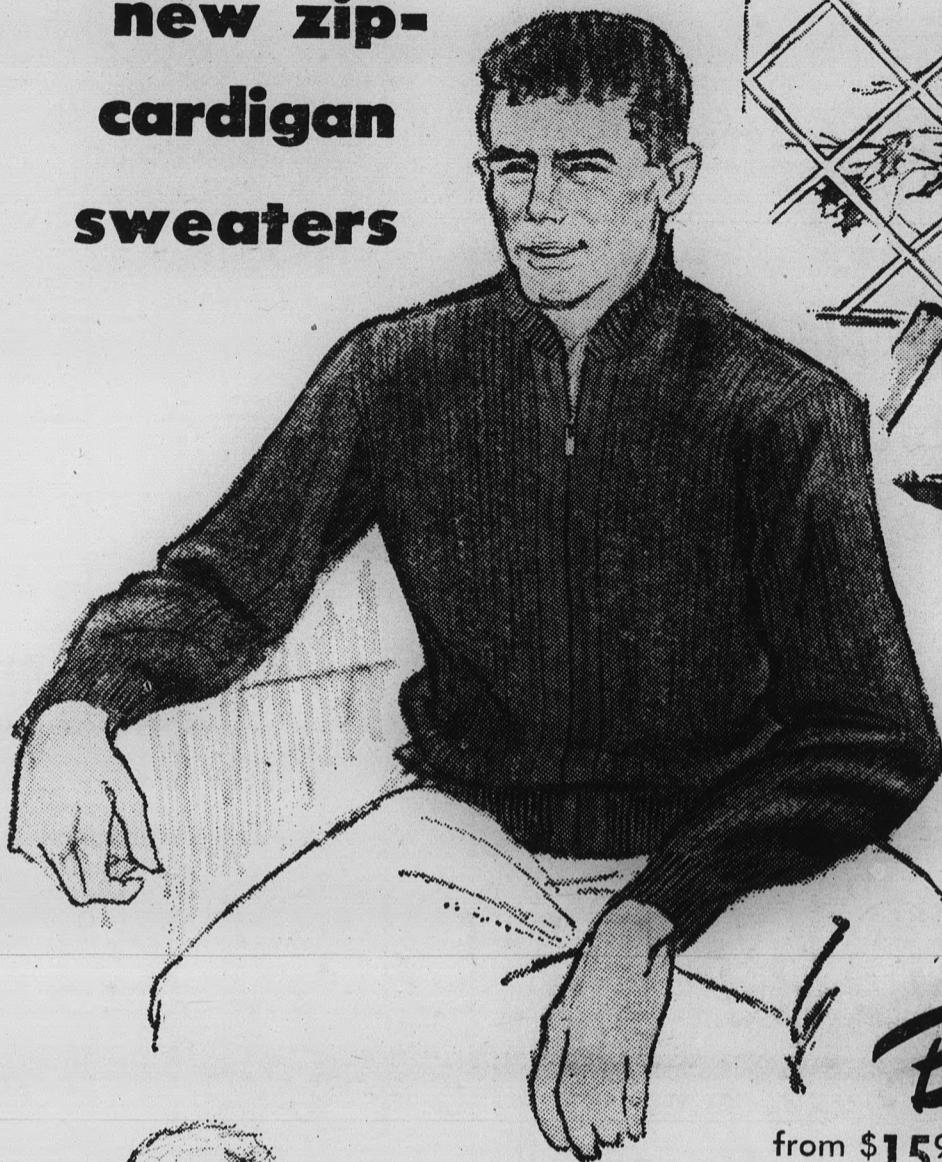

KELLER, the WAC's pass receiving leader, has caught 16 passes for 306 yards and five touchdowns and is right behind Lorick in the scoring department with 32 points.

Halfback Charley Taylor also remains a stalwart ranking second in rushing and punt returns, third in scoring, total offense and kickoff returns, and fifth in pass receiving.

Sun Devil Facts

One Arizona State University football player has been selected to play in the annual North-South game at Mobile, Alabama. He is quarterback Joe Zuger, who played for the North squad in 1961.
