WORLD NEWS

WASHINGTON— Russia has informed the United States of plans to withdraw "several thousand" troops from Cuba within the next three weeks, according to diplomatic sources yesterday.

The promise from U.S.-S.R. Premier Khrushchev, brought to Washington via the Soviet ambassador, did not define "several thousand" troops.

There are believed to be 17,000 Russian troops in Cuba, including 6,000 organized into combat units.

WASHINGTON — Five Republican senators beat the White House to the jump yesterday by introducing a medicare plan similar to the one the Senate defeated last year.

President Kennedy will present his proposal for a health care plan for the aged under the social security system at noon tomorrow.

WASHINGTON— Venezuelan President Betancourt received a warm White House welcome yesterday as he arrived for two days of conferences.

President Kennedy and Betancourt were expected to discuss the Alliance for Progress and Communism in Latin America during private meetings.

No Classes Friday

Classes will be dismissed Friday in observance of Washington's birthday.

The State Press will not be published until next Wednesday.

Four Lectures Are Scheduled

Dr. Fred Schwarz, author of "You Can Trust the Communist (to be Communists)," Dr. Howard E. Kershner, newspaper columnist, Dr. Brice Harris, ASU English professor, and a former English professor, John Beecher, will be on campus this week for various addresses to the student body.

'American Spirit' To Be Discussed By Dr. Harris

Dr. Brice Harris, professor of English, will deliver the first address today in a series of five lectures sponsored by the Center for American Studies.

The lectures, devoted to "Expressions of the American Spirit," are open to the public free of charge and will begin at 2:45 p.m. each Wednesday in the MU ballroom.

THE OPENING LECTURE is entitled "The Southern Agrarians: John Crowe Ransom, Allen Tate, and Their Group." Both contemporary American poets cited in the address title are personal acquaintances of Dr. Harris.

Dr. Harris came to ASU this fall from Pennsylvania State University where he headed the English department.

He has received a bachelor of arts degree from Erskine College, a master of arts degree from Vanderbilt University, and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard.

Among the honors awarded to Dr. Harris are a Huntington Library fellowship, an American Council of Learned Societies grant and a Smith-Mundt grant for study in Spain where he was a visiting professor at the University of Zaragoza.

Dr. Harris, who has also taught at Wisconsin, Cornell, Illinois and Ohio State, was professor of English at Pennsylvania State from 1947 until he joined the ASU faculty.

Author Initiates Lecture Series

Poet John Beecher will open the Evening Art Series with a talk entitled "An Evening with a Modern Poet," 8 p.m., Feb. 28 in the MU upper lounge.

Beecher is the author of seven books. The latest, "Report to the Stockholders and Other Poems," deals with Beecher's sentiment as a confirmed revolutionary.

His verse is in the Walt Whitman vein.

Time magazine said of his first book, "Beecher is a product, and a proponent, of the great unfinished American Revolution."

Beecher was a faculty member of the ASU English department in 1959-60.

Students, faculty and the public are invited to the series sponsored by the Cultural Affairs Committee. There is no admission charge.

A reception will follow the meeting.

Communism Is Speech Topic Of Schwarz

Dr. Fred Schwarz, author of "You Can Trust the Communists (to be Communists)" is scheduled to appear at the ASU Forum tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the MU upper lounge.

Dr. Schwarz gave up a successful medical practice in Sydney, Australia, to devote his full attention to opposing Communism. He travels world-wide to lecture on the dangers of underestimating the Communist threat and is president of the "Christian Anti-Communism Crusade."

All students are invited to attend.

Forum To Hear Noted Columnist

National newspaper columnist Dr. Howard E. Kershner will speak at the University Forum Feb. 26. His address, "Christian Economics," is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. in the MU Ballroom.

Dr. Kershner writes the column, "It's Up To You" used in more than 200 daily and 400 weekly newspapers. The Kansas-born writer has done radio work in the United States, South America and in Europe. His weekly "Commentary On The News" is broadcast by radio stations in the U. S.

Later he was the organizer and president of the Temporary Council on Food for Europe's Children.

In 1950, he was one of the organizers of the Christian Freedom Foundation Inc., and has served as its president since that time. He founded and edits the Foundation's journal, "Christian Economics."

Washington and Jefferson College gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in 1941.

He is a member of the Society of Friends and frequently writes for the Quaker papers.

HEART FUND — Judy Drage, Kappa Delta, was crowned Heart Fund Ball queen Saturday night by Jeanette Jensen, last year's queen. More than $4,000 was collected by Alpha Phi sorority, sponsor of the contest. Kappa Delta collected over $1,100 to earn the crown for Judy.

Workshop Plans Include Students

Five ASU students will participate in the annual legislative workshop today, tomorrow and Friday, sponsored by the Arizona Center for Education and Politics.

The five are Larry Farrell, Raymond Kooyers, Wesley Parsons, Charlotte Pence and Jerri Roberts.

Today the students will sit in committee meetings of the legislature with their hosts and tomorrow join them in the committee of the whole. The general floor session or calendar day is scheduled for Friday.

The thirteen students are expected to attend all meetings and conferences with the legislators, according to Professor L. D. Vichules, chairman of the legislative workshop. These will include committee meetings, majority-minority caucuses, constituent contacts and pressure-groups.

The legislators selected are from Pima, Maricopa and Cochise Counties.

The five students, along with five from UofA and three from Arizona State College, will be paired with either a Senator or a Representative of the State Legislature. Each will follow his assigned legislator for three days.

Two evening meetings are planned Thursday evening. Dr. Bruce Mason, chairman of the political science department, will speak to the students and their legislators on "Legislatures I Have Known."

THIRTY-FIVE ASU applicants competed for the workshop. Two Republicans and three Democrats were chosen to conform to the ratio of party preferences of the applicants and to the parties in the legislature.

The observers will plan their own programs for slack time of the legislature. They will also examine the executive and judicial processes of the legislature, according to Vichules.

'Lost' Signs Fail To Void Parking Lot Regulations

Students and faculty will need to consult the parking and safety regulation maps for designations of ASU parking, if certain vandalistic acts continue, announced a representative of the department of Security yesterday.

Several parking lot designation signs have been removed, destroyed or downed by a minute minority of child-like students, according to the department.

The department warned it will enforce all regulations as stated in the parking and safety regulations and citations will be issued. Copies of the regulations are available at the department.

Recruiters Continue Visits To Campus Job Applicants

Many recruiters continue to visit the campus seeking candidates from all colleges, according to Robert F. Menke, director of placement.

Today, representatives of International Business Machines Corporation, Union Bank, Hallmark, Naval Civil Engineering Laboratory, and the Naval Electronics Laboratory at San Diego, are here. Also, a school administrator from Washoe County, Nevada, is talking with education majors.

Tomorrow, additional school administrators from Oxnard Elementary School District in California and Willcox Public School District of Arizona will be here.

Monday, Johns-Manville, of the General Accounting Office, Internal Revenue Service will see candidates for commercial and governmental placement. The San Juan Unified and Alhambra school districts of California will also interview.

Tuesday, representatives of the Long Beach Naval Shipyard, the Trane Company, the Military Electronics Division of Motorola, will interview engineers. In addition, the West Covina, Riverside and Los Angeles County school districts will see teacher candidates.

Cadets Urged To Ready Advanced Corps Entries

Air Force ROTC is accepting applications for entry into the advanced corps in the fall semester, according to Capt. R. B. Jensen, AFROTC Information Officer.

Presently, sophomores who have taken and passed the Air Force Officers Qualifying Test and wish to apply for entry into the corps should complete their medical background records on or before Feb. 26.

The physical examination is to be taken at Luke Air Force Base on Feb. 28.

Requirements for entry into the corps are AFOQT qualification, medical qualification, age not to exceed 28 year at time of commissioning, graduation from ASU no later than 1966, completion of four semesters of basic AFROTC or an Armed Forces veteran and in good standing at the university.

Our Mascot's Dressed—Finally

By MARY GORMAN

Well, we can quit moaning now. Our mascot worries are over, and we're ready for a new campaign.

That's right. The good old University Bookstore came through and donated the money needed for a Sun Devil mascot uniform.

Several individuals and groups have made efforts to raise the $90 necessary to purchase the new uniform, but had failed to raise the needed amount.

THE RALLY and Traditions Board volunteered help, but couldn't make a move until they received the word and funds from higher sources.

Circle K Club President D. M. Watt donated $2 of his own money besides urging the club to sponsor a car smash during final week.

Charlie Stough, editor of Savant, campus humor magazine, chipped in $7.50 for the uniform.

Cindy Buchanan, Gerald B. Glenn, Gwen Owens and Tau Kappa Epsilon, also added some coin.

THE STATE PRESS added another $10 to make a grand amount of $32.50 in the mascot fund treasury.

At that price it would have been a sleezy looking uniform.

We've got a lot of people to thank for their help and co-operation during the uniform campaign. But we also have a question for any similar problems hereafter.

Why isn't the mascot uniform paid out of Associated Students money as are the pom pon uniforms? Doesn't the mascot add to the spirit of the games? Pretty pathetic when you think about it — our mascot isn't even recognized by the student body.

A FINAL thanks for launching the whole mascot campaign goes to Bill Overend.

One of our Sun Devils needs a little help right now, and again we're asking for assistance from some of our loyal rooters.

Joe Chowning, a blind student, is asking for someone to read for him on a voluntary basis.

Joe says "it can be done by telephone, if that's the only way possible to get the job done."

THE CLASS is "Physical Universe," a television course, which is required for many students. Seems like someone could help Joe.

If you're interested in helping someone out and maybe learning something yourself, give Joe a ring. His phone number is BR 6-6208.

Since the ASASU senators are investigating the basketball ticket pick-up system, maybe they had better start checking themselves.

It seems that some senators have been securing their tickets by a political maneuver known as "butting in the ticket line."

People in glass houses should not throw stones, gentlemen, and you've been heaving boulders.

Academic Stress Suggested For JCs

Will the state of Arizona be among the first to revive an old custom of stressing strong academic programs in its institutions of higher education?

An ASU survey team has recommended a comprehensive academic program for Maricopa County's proposed junior college system. The program would also stress honor societies, subject matter honorary groups and subject field clubs.

How this program is supposed to evolve is another story. Stress on interscholastic sports, including football, would be limited and ROTC and social fraternities and sororities would be nil. In other words, JC students would devote more of their time to philosophizing and criticizing instead of socializing and militarizing.

All work and no play? Not by a longshot—the survey team has also made provisions for the "fun" element. There would be a heavy stress on intramural programs and activities such as golf and tennis which have a carry over value in adult life.

Obviously anything that distracts the students from studying is minimized. Instead of coping with the activities the survey group has decided to remove the stimulus entirely.

The team's negative reaction is probably based on the image of today's college student who doesn't spend enough time on his schoolwork. But the survey also recommended co-operative membership card arrangements with ASU to permit junior college students to attend athletic contests, student activities and use of the ASU library.

Probably the prime reason for the survey's drastic changes is money. The state-aid support of the proposed JC colleges would be limited in the sense of keeping tax rates down in Maricopa County. Students would be taught without the frills at the lowest per capita cost.

If the program and its two-fold purpose is used, it means higher education has made the complete circle. The ideal theory of instructing the mind and body will again reign in our colleges and universities.

Concert & Lecture — It's Your Choice

Sunday evening was the seventh performance of this year's Concert and Lecture Series. Approximately 300 patrons of the arts attended the concert presented by Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Wallfish.

Of these 300, there were less than 75 ASU students who turned out to hear the world renowned viola-piano ensemble. Only 75 students were interested enough to reap the enjoyment of a program largely supported by their $103.50 (soon to be $115) tuition.

STUDENTS complain about the increasing tuition fees and the decreasing value of their expensive ID cards.

Well, the fees are going up and our ID cards don't open the doors they used to. This year our "magic" cards will no longer admit students to the plays presented by the University Players. It costs you hard earned money even though you do have your student card.

So far, the Concert and Lecture Series is still free to students and may it forever remain that way! It should always be a source of entertainment and enlightenment which won't cost the student additional money.

THIS YEAR'S C&L Series presents a program packed with top artists and musicians. It is one of the best programs ever presented.

Included in this year's past performances were: Shakespearean actress Judith Anderson, author Vance Packard and a company of Greek folk dancers. Also, two string quartets and flamenco guitarists gave performances.

Five performances to come will highlight the remainder of the year. The next concert on March 17 will present Ferruccio Tagliavini, the famous Metropolitan Opera tenor.

POET W. H. AUDEN, former president of Brazil, Kubitschek and pianist Horszowski will follow on March 20, April 1 and April 18, respectively. Lola Montes and her Spanish dancers will conclude the series with their May 6 performance.

So if you're wondering where the remainder of your tuition is spent after the athletic and several other departments get their healthy cuts, part of that remainder is spent on the Concert and Lecture Series.

It's your own business if you wish not to take advantage of the C&L Series which is presented with the help of your funds. It's up to you if you want to ignore this source of entertainment, rich talent and culture. It's your choice!

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Last Thursday the Interfraternity Council enacted a resolution allowing one fraternity on campus special privileges:

1. An accelerated pledge period—eight weeks of this semester.
2. That their pledges be initiated at the end of the period, providing that they made a 2.00 or better index for the previous semester.
3. That this shall not be a precedent.

No other written stipulations were made.

This motion was passed in the fraternal spirit of greek brotherhood. After all, what is IFC for if not to help the fraternities at every opportunity? Besides wouldn't it be better to have a chapter full of illegally initiated men, rather than a weak house that lowers the greek image here at ASU?

Really now, since when is it possible to improve a system by lowering its standards? The strength of the Greek world lies in competition. A brotherhood succeeds or fails on its own merits, not by some gimmick concocted by the IFC officials.

It seems that this campus cannot support 18 fraternities as is evidenced by the disappearance of two fraternities from the ASU campus. Therefore, where does IFC derive the power to give such a decided rush advantage over other small struggling fraternities?

By what right can IFC dictate these privileges to one and deny the same to any other fraternity, as is stipulated by the clause, "This shall not be a precedent"? Regardless, historically, a precedent is not abolished. Yet, ensnared by this statement, any other fraternity in a similar situation shall and must be discriminated against.

This matter is "fait accompli" with these questions not only unanswered, but not even considered. This which is the real error rests entirely upon the officers of the IFC. They should have had the foresight to present these issues and time to discuss them (15 minutes is hardly adequate). It is their responsibility to the council and to the Greeks to see that this was done.

There is no better time than now to think about whom to elect as IFC officers, so that such incompetence will not recur.

Sincerely,
James Jones

CALPURNIA, HERE I COME

Now, as the college year approaches its mid-point, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk everything.

There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don't mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Marlboro Cigarettes, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, smoked with great pleasure and enthusiasm in all fifty states of the Union. I bring up Marlboro Cigarettes because this column is sponsored by the makers of Marlboro, and they are inclined to brood if I omit to mention their product.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, clean-living, pure-hearted, freckle-faced American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

According to a recent survey, 123.6% of American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this shocking statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You listen intently. You write diligently in your notebook, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

- I. House of Plantagenet.
- II. House of Lancaster.
- III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don't know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

They got to arguing...

(It may, incidentally, be of some historical interest to point out that Americans are not the only people who don't know Roman numerals. The Romans didn't know them themselves I suppose they could tell you how much V or X were or like that, but when it came to real cuties like LXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath and take in a circus and maybe stab Caesar a few times.)

(You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well sir, the fact is that the Emperor Vespasian tried like crazy to buy the Arabic numerals from Suleiman the Magnificent, but Suleiman wouldn't do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piastres, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Charlton Heston.)

(So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much is CDL times MVIX. Well sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hassle. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to lock the north gate and—wham!—before you could say pecca fortiter, in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers!)

Well sir, that's the way the empire crumbles, and I digress. Let's get back to lecture notes. Let's also say a word about Marlboro Cigarettes. The makers would be so pleased! And is it not fitting that we should please these honest tobaccoists—these fine men, fond of square dancing, water sports, protein, and tattoos—these tireless perfectionists who spend all of their days trying to please us—searching everywhere for the best of all possible tobaccos, aging them with patience, blending them with tender, loving care? Marlboros are available in soft pack and flip top box. You will find XX cigarettes in each package.

Seniors Enter NOMA Contest

Research papers by two ASU seniors have been submitted this month to the national research awards program of the National Office Management Association.

ASU students are Ronald K. Crews and Thomas L. Zimmerman, whose papers are on the subject "The Impact of Office Automation on Employment."

The NOMA awards for upper division and graduate students will be announced in May of this year. The five best papers received will be published by NOMA.

The student submitting the best paper will receive $500 and a similar amount will be given to the college or university where he is enrolled. The runner up will receive $375 with an equal sum to be given to his institution.

Group Pictures Due March 1

All sororities, fraternities, honoraries, dormitories, religious and special interest groups MUST have all pictures to be used in the '63 Sahuaro into the yearbook office, MU 2, by March 1.

Presidents of all groups mentioned above should contact Ann Schneider in the Sahuaro office as soon as possible to arrange for their organizations' layouts.

This is necessary to insure getting the information into the yearbook.

Arizona - Senora Exchange Proposed

Dr. G. Homer Durham, president of the University, proposed a faculty exchange program between professors at the University of Sonora and ASU in a speech at the fourth Arizona-Sonora Committee Conference today in Tucson.

Dr. Durham suggested a workshop on American studies as a part of the ASU Center for American Studies. Its purpose would be "to acquaint the visitors with the philosophical and cultural bases of life in the United States."

The workshop, designed for professors, could be offered at the University of Sonora during the summer of 1963 or 1964, said Dr. Durham.

Dr. Durham also asked that the University of Sonora offer "a similar workshop of one week's duration for eight or ten of our American professors" the following summer.

Physical Culturist To Explain How Large Muscles Operate

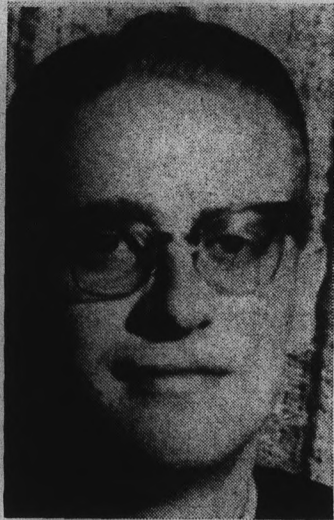

"Trio," a National Educational Television series of visual essays, premiers tonight at 10 on KAET (Channel 8).

Each of the 10 half-hour programs was written and delivered by critics, humanists, and outstanding personalities from the fields of music, art and science.

Of his television creation, Producer Martin Levin says, "These television essays have as their basic ideas: satiric, nostalgic or what have you. These ideas range from a tongue-in-cheek examination of raspberry jam painting to Walter Kerr's theory of taste."

This unpretentious orchestration of ideas will bring viewers such outstanding television essayists as John Canaday, Marya Mannes, Max Eastman, Joseph Wood Krutch, Bergen Evans and Irving Kolodin.

JERRY CLAASSEN

Dutch Actor Claassen Visits ASU Fraternity

Jerry Claassen, a 21-year-old Dutch lad from the Union of South Africa, was guest of Sigma Phi Epsilon last week during his stay in Phoenix and visit to ASU.

Claassen is associated with the play "Music At Midnight." The dramatic ideological play deals primarily with reestablishing a better and higher moral standard among the people of the world.

Before becoming involved with the Moral Re-armament movement, Jerry was an electrical engineering student at the University of Pretoria in South Africa.

When questioned as to the comparison of our college system to his, he remarked it was wonderful that so many students could enjoy and have the opportunity to receive a college education; in his own country few have such an opportunity.

The Brothers Four, nationally known singing group, are featured this semester on ASU radio station KASN.

Broadcasting time is 10:00 P.M. Monday through Friday.

AFOQT Test Scheduled

The Air Force ROTC will conduct the AFOQT (Air Force Officers Qualifying Test) at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in BA 103, according to Captain R. B. Jensen, AFROTC Information Officer.

The test is for sophomore cadets who plan entry into the advanced corps next fall semester.

Officer Training School applicants may also take this test.

Book Review -

Janson Presents Latest Survey Of Art History

History of Art: by H. W. Janson. Prentice-Hall, Inc., and Harry N. Abrams, Inc., By J. D. H.

Professor Janson's new "History of Art" is the latest, surely the largest, probably the handsomest and, perhaps, the most expensive art history survey to appear so far.

Not all these adjectives, necessarily, imply approval. Newness does not automatically mean improvement; size can be a nuisance — the copy does not fit the reviewer's bookshelf.

Price need not be commented upon, but the appearance of the cover is reassuring. One trusts the interior lives up to it.

In the main, it does. The illustrations are all we have come to expect of any book from the hands of Abrams. In checking the color plates we were struck by their quality and register.

THE TEXT is easy to read, both as to typography and style, and we could find nothing controversial in it; all the opinions we studied were the accepted ones of today's critics and historians. (It is understood that this would not be considered desirable were the book not intended for undergraduate students and lay readers in general.)

However, no book is without flaws. Part of the work's size is due to wasteful use of space in the margins, both around the type and the pictures.

This has resulted, in spite of the physical dimensions, in less text than is desirable, making it somewhat in the picture-magazine tradition in certain areas. For example, Impressionism is given rather short shrift.

ANOTHER legitimate complaint is the title. "History of Art: A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day," is rather all-encompassing for a text which dismisses India, China, Korea, Japan and pre-Columbian America, with a meager eight page "Postscript: The Meeting of East and West," and ignores the Primitive arts, altogether.

Other complaints may seem small but lump large to those on the inside. A reproduction is labeled "Aztec" when it is not.

And Professor Janson is, like most art historians, an art layman and made some poor choices in his color plate selections. Whether to have selected Fragonard over Boucher to represent the Rocono is a matter of honest difference of opinion, but picking Seurat's "La Parade" is to sabotage that poor Pointillist.

GAUGIN'S "Vision After the Sermon" is a comparatively sorry work to represent him; and with all the fine still lifes and landscapes of Cezanne's why the wooden self-portrait? It also was a shame to have shown in black and white Reynolds's absurd "Mrs. Siddons as the Tragic Muse" when Reynolds's was such a tower of strength with his male portrait-ure.

On the positive side, picture-wise, we can all be grateful that the Grunewald color reproductions omit the too often shown crucifixion and give us less often presented views of the Isenheim Altarpiece.

From the point of view of the book's use at ASU there is little but praise for the history. Its employment here is in the classes which cover art from the earliest times to the late 18th century. In this area Professor Janson's work appears more than adequate. And, as previously mentioned, the quality of the reproductions is magnificent in all areas.

Freedom, Terror Themes Woven Into 'The Consul'

ASU theatergoers were treated to a unique dramatic production at the Lyceum last week.

"The Consul" by Gian-Carlo Menotti, is what the author terms "musical drama." It is a combination of operatic singing and straight dialogue.

The setting is a police station in modern Europe, where the characters are trying to leave the country but are caught helplessly in a maze of bureaucratic red tape.

One of the victims is Magda Sorel, wife of a freedom fighter, who tries futilely to get a visa from the consulate of a free country in order to join her husband.

It is a grim and bitter play in which Menotti has provided music which is not less stark, employing dissonance and free rhythms which make the song-speech mirror the terror and tragedy of the characters.

THE STAGE setting was simple but very effective. The special effects used during Magda's nightmares could have been ludicrous if they had not been done so skillfully by the stage crew. Instead, they definitely heightened the dramatic climaxes.

The themes of freedom and terror which are woven into the play are difficult ones for us as free American students to fully appreciate and even harder to interpret and portray.

However, the whole cast of "The Consul" conveyed this anxiety and made the play as a whole a stimulating and rewarding experience.

IS THIS YOUR SHIRT?

If so, Miss Afflerbach will send you your  label

THIS is a two-color striped button-down shirt designed and tailored by Eagle Shirtmakers and sold everywhere by fine men's stores. Many of them admire our shirts so much they sell them under their own names. High praise indeed, and we should like to reciprocate by advertising their (our) shirts. But it's hard to know just where to start. Obviously we can't say things like "None Genuine Without This Label" when they are all quite genuine, you know. And it would be silly to say "Try An Eagle Shirt Today!" when it is likely you already have a drawerful; even though you didn't know it until just this minute. So all we can suggest is that you send in for your Eagle label. Write Eagle Shirtmakers, Quakertown, Pennsylvania; Attention Miss Afflerbach.

ON the other hand, Miss Afflerbach has brought it to our attention that postal rates are up 25%. Should you be one of that tiny minority who might feel that an Eagle label alone is not worth the price of a stamp, Miss Afflerbach then suggests that you might like a free look at our label-shirt combination offer (not free) at

ASU Takes Top Spot In WAC Hoop Race

Arizona State's basketball hit the state of Utah last weekend hard enough for a duo of wins and sole possession of first place in the Western Athletic Conference race for the crown.

The two victories give the Sun Devils a 6-1 league record and a full game lead over second place Brigham Young University.

The double wins started shaky Friday night against the Utah Redskins when the Devils found themselves trailing 44-40 at half time.

With eight minutes remaining in the contest, the Devil defense started clicking and Joe Caldwell started rattling the rim with his patented stuff shots to give the team a lead and final victory.

THE UTES found it impossible to stop Jumpin Joe as the Los Angeles import hit 12 field goals and seven charity tosses for 31 points.

The story of the game was written on the backboards where the Devils picked off 52 rebounds to the Redskins' 34.

Art Becker once again led in this department, grabbing 16 rebounds.

"BECK" also tied Gary Senitz as each scored 17 points.

Bo Crain's 17 points was high for the Utes.

The Devils took the WAC lead on Saturday night by drubbing Brigham Young, 104-87.

IT WAS the first time this season that the team has hit the century mark and the 104 points is also the top score of the newly formed WAC.

ASU held a slim 47-44 lead at the half, but the "Runnin' Demons" couldn't be stopped in the last 20 minutes.

With eight minutes left on the clock, Caldwell struck for eight straight points. Two more were added by Becker and the Devils took an 84-74 lead.

CALDWELL bettered his Friday night performance by adding an extra free throw to wind up with 32 points.

While Joe brought the 11,048 fans to their feet, Becker kept them amazed by pulling down 26 rebounds to go with his 27 points.

The 26 rebounds erased a six-year-old record and was Beck's best performance of the season.

SOUTHPAW Bruce Burton did all that he could to keep the Cougars in contention, connecting on 11 field goals and a pair of free throws for 24 points.

The Devils appeared in foul trouble in the first half, with Caldwell, Becker, and Cerkvnik each having three personals.

As a result, Wulk switched his team to a zone defense at the opening of the second half and nobody left the game via the foul route.

Wrestling

ASU won a costly 19-16 wrestling verdict over the University of New Mexico Saturday at Albuquerque.

Star wrestler Buzz Hays suffered a concussion against the Lobo's Dennis Beitz while wrestling in the 167 weight class.

Hays lost by default as he was knocked unconscious while being thrown on a take-down. It was his first collegiate defeat in two seasons.

Off The Cuff

JOE HEATH
Sports Editor

Last weekend spelled a series of upsets and shifting in the national rankings of the top ten college teams in the country.

As a result, Arizona State has moved into the number four position in the United Press rankings, moving Illinois down the ladder.

THE CINCINNATI BEARCATS and Loyola of Chicago were both upset; however, Cincinnati was able to hang on to its number one position in the national ratings. While Loyola dropped to number three.

Duke University took over the number two slot by pinning a 73-60 loss on Wake Forest.

FLYNN ROBINSON of Wyoming, is the current leader in the WAC individual scoring race. Robinson is averaging an impressive 25.3 per game.

Art Becker has a commanding lead in the league's rebounding department with a 16.1 per game average. His closest competitor is teammate Tony Cerkvnik with a 12.4 average.

New Mexico's Ira Harge leads in field goal percentages with .598; however, the next three spots are occupied by Cerkvnik, .569, Becker, .554, and Senitz, .530.

The Devils lead in total offense with an 81.3 per game average.

INTRAMURAL WRESTLING FINALS will be held, Feb. 26, in the main gym, starting at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge and all are welcome to watch.

This Saturday no Sigma Delta Psi tests will be given. March 2 will be the last chance to take this month's test.

Baseballers Set For Alumni Test

The ASU baseball team will continue preparing for the 1963 season with a game scheduled Saturday against the Alumni.

The contest, scheduled for 1 p.m., will match this year's Sun Devils against players of the past.

The team has been busy with intra-squad games, having played one last Friday, a doubleheader Saturday, and another Monday.

The pitching has been the high light of the games with many of the Devil hurlers coming through with good performances.

Among the hill standouts were team captain Gary Graham, Sen. Jack, and sophomores Ron Lea and Jim Merrick.

Other players with good performances included catcher Ray Stadler, who hit very well, third baseman-outfielder Dick Heiden, who also hit with authority and first baseman Doug Westley.

With opening day nearing, very few positions have been cinched.

As many as three players are battling for different positions.

The Sun Devils open the '63 campaign in Tempe with a single game at 3 p.m. March 1 and a doubleheader at 1 p.m. March 2 against Los Angeles State College.

Track Team Hosts Relays

The Fifth Annual Arizona Relays is slated for Saturday at Goodwin Stadium. Field events will get underway at 1:30 p.m. with the running events starting at 2 p.m.

The University of Arizona, New Mexico State, Texas Western, Phoenix College and ASU will compete.

The highlight of the afternoon is expected to be the mile relay, getting underway at 3 p.m. The race will feature ASU's Mike Barrick, Henry Carr, Ron Freeman and Uli Williams.

This quartet holds the intercollegiate record of 3:05.7, a time that is but one-tenth of a second over the world record.

The final event of the afternoon will be the open two mile run scheduled for 3:10 p.m.

Devil Hoopsters To Host Wyoming, New Mexico U.

By ALAN MICHAELS

Arizona's State's 4th-ranked Sun Devils will attempt to wrap up the first Western Athletic Conference basketball championship this weekend.

The Devils will take on Wyoming's Cowboys Friday night and the Lobos of New Mexico University Saturday. Sellout crowds are anticipated for both contests in Sun Devil Gymnasium.

ASU will close out its home schedule against non-conference foe Creighton on Monday.

WYOMING is responsible for one of the Sun Devils' two losses in 24 outings. The Cowboys handed the Devils an 83-81 setback last month in Laramie.

The visitors are led by guard Flynn Robinson, whose 26.5 scoring average ranks him among the leaders in the country. The Cowboys sport an 11-11 record on the season and a 3-3 mark in conference competition.

New Mexico brings a 14-7 record to Tempe as opposed to its 2-4 conference ledger.

Ira (The Large) Harge, a 6-8 center, paces the Lobos in both scoring and rebounding. The agile junior is averaging 20.2 points and 13.6 rebounds per game.

At present, Harge is the most effective field goal shooter in the Western Athletic Conference, hitting 60.3 percent of his shots.

The Sun Devils defeated New Mexico, 59-47, earlier this year in Albuquerque.

CREIGHTON, with 11 victories in 21 outings, provides a non-conference breather for the Devils.

The Bluejays boast 6-7 junior Paul Silas, one of the nation's leading rebounders.

Sun Devil coach Ned Wulk

has temporarily squelched any talk of the WAC championship. "These upcoming games are all that concern us at the moment," he said. "We don't have anything clinched. Wyoming beat us by seven points and taking New Mexico and Harge lightly would be suicide."

Tucson Singles Goes To Haines

Lynn Haines, ASU tennis player, won the women's singles in the Arizona Intercollegiate tennis tournament at Tucson this past weekend.

Miss Haines beat top seeded Connie Jaster of Los Angeles State 6-4, 9-7, to win the title.

Miss Haines teamed up with Pinky Shoemaker, another ASU tennis player to enter the women doubles division.

They were eliminated in the semi-finals by Miss Jaster and Sue Behimar of LA State.

Gymnastics

ASU's gymnastics team suffered its second defeat of the season Saturday, a slim 66½-61½ loss to the UofA.

Sun Devil freshman Jim Nelson remained undefeated in tumbling, while team captain Bill Zinkl took first in the horizontal bar, long horse and parallel bars.

FALCON IS "NEW KING OF THE MOUNTAINS" * IN TOUGHEST 2,500-MILE MONTE CARLO RALLYE

Special edition Falcon V-8 "Sprint" defeats the world's best in final 490-mile test section on icy Alpine cliff roads... then outperforms every sedan on famous Monaco circuit!

Falcon picked the world's roughest winter ordeal to reveal an astonishing new brand of total performance. Four days and three nights through an inferno of ice, snow, freezing fog, endless curves—2,500 miles against an implacable time schedule, designed to try a car's reliability, road-holding and performance to the ultimate. Experts said a first-time car couldn't hope to finish—and two thirds of the 296 competitors did drop out. But Falcon not only placed first and second in its class, it defeated every car, regardless of class, on the brutal Chambéry-Monte Carlo final leg, set best time among all finishers in all of the six special test sections—and showed its heels to every sedan in the dramatic three-lap elimination on Monaco's famous round-the-houses course. You couldn't get better proof of total performance anywhere!

You can read the dramatic report of the world's most rugged winter Rallye in Sports Illustrated's February 4 issue. And you can get the full story of this and Ford's other total performance accomplishments from your Ford Dealer.

FALCONS TOOK CURVES LIKE THESE—hundreds upon hundreds of them—and proved that road-holding is not a European monopoly. In fact, Sports Illustrated magazine called them "the new kings of the mountains" and quoted a London newspaper as declaring, "The Falcons are part of a power and performance plan that will shake up motoring in every country of the world."

DEEP SNOW on the Col de Turini special section didn't even slow the "Sprint." And sure-footed Falcon also amazed the Rallye experts by its traction on glare ice.

"LACETS" is French for zigzags like these. It means "bootlaces", but to Rallye drivers it means an ultimate test of steering, stability, brakes and, above all, durability.

BEST OF ALL "TOURING" CATEGORY CARS in the three-lap Monaco circuit was the Falcon piloted by Swedish ice expert Bo Ljungfeldt. It was surpassed by only three cars, all of them two-seater sports cars in the Grand Touring category.

DRIVING ALONG IN THE FRENCH DUSK, a Falcon kept going into the third night behind the special lights that rallye driver see around curves, spot patches of ice, and late fog.
