

Speakers Include Poet, Professors

W. H. Auden, poet, Dr. John DeJong and Dr. Leo Vichules, professors of political science, will speak today in two separate lectures as part of the American Heritage series and the ASU Concert and Lecture Series.

Poet Here Tonight

Anglo-American poet W. H. Auden is scheduled to speak in the MU ballroom at 8:15 tonight as part of the ASU Concert and Lecture Series.

His lecture "The Poet and His Poems," will concern how he gets ideas, develops and writes them. He will also discuss the role of the poet in the world of today.

Born in York, England in 1907, Auden was educated at Oxford. With seven books to his credit, he was awarded in 1937 the King's Gold Medal for the best poetry of the year. Two years later he came to America and is now a citizen of this country.

Professors To Discuss Democracy

Dr. John A. DeJong and Dr. Heinz Hink will deliver the closing lecture in the current spring series of the Center for American Studies today at 2:45 p.m. in the MU ballroom.

Dr. DeJong will analyze Alexis de Tocqueville's "Democracy in America."

Alexis de Tocqueville (1805-1859) is a famous French writer. His government sent him on a special mission to the United States in 1831. He toured this country and wrote his "Democracy in America," published in 1835.

"Democracy in America" is a defense of democracy and an excellent picture of the U.S. during the 1800's, according to Dr. Paul G. Hubbard, chairman of the history department.

Dr. DeJong, assistant professor of history, received his Ph.D. at State University of Iowa. He came to ASU in 1959. His field is social-intellectual and colonial history of the U.S. "Democracy in America" is discussed in his courses.

Dr. Hink will make additional comments on Tocqueville.

Dr. Hink received his Ph.D. at University of Washington. Born in Germany, he received a law degree at the University of Berlin. He came to ASU in 1958. Dr. Hink teaches public law and political theory courses.

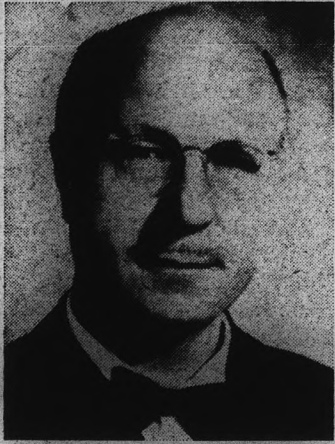

Today's lecture is the fifth and last of the series. The theme of the Center for American Studies lectures is "Expressions of the American Spirit." Today's continues this theme.

Dr. Brice Harris, ASU professor of English, initiated the series when he spoke on "The Southern Agrarians: John Crowe Ransom, Allen Tate, and Their Group in 1930." Each man in the group avoided the extreme conventionalism prevalent in modern poetry, adhering to its best qualities without casting aside those of the past.

Dr. Robert C. Lamm, ASU associate professor of humanities, delivered the second lecture in the series. "The Blue Basis of American Jazz," was the birth and blossoming of the blues as the inspirational element in American jazz.

Dr. Louis M. Myers, ASU professor of English, discussed the serious flaws in traditional English grammar in his lecture on "The Revolution in Grammar," in the third lecture in the series.

Marcus Whiffen, associate professor of architecture, discussed Frank Lloyd Wright in the fourth lecture. He pointed out the features of Wright's architecture which make it the representative of America.

NOBLE

Noble To Talk At Banquet

Dr. Daniel E. Noble, executive vice president of Motorola, Inc., will speak at the first ASU Foundation annual dinner 7 p.m. tomorrow in the MU ballroom.

Dr. Noble's topic is "The Things I Don't Know About Anything."

Dr. G. Homer Durham, president of ASU, will report on recent university progress during the dinner.

A 7 p.m. reception in the upper lounge of the MU will open the program, which will include vocal selections by Suzanne Williams.

Carr Breaks World Record

Henry Carr smashed the world's record for the 220 yard dash last night in a dual track meet with Utah.

Carr ran the 220 in 20.4 on the curve. The old record of 20.5 was held by Peter Radford of Great Britain in 1960 and Paul Drayton of Villanova last summer.

Frank Covelli, ASU javelin thrower, tossed the javelin 259-11/2, the farthest it has been tossed this year.

Dorms, Vehicles, Draft Are Legislative Subjects

By TOM WING

Two bills passed by the Arizona Legislature, one signed by the governor, a bill passed by Congress and an executive order from President Kennedy will affect many ASU students.

Another bill which would affect ASU students is pending further action of the state legislature as it meets in overtime sessions this week.

Governor Paul Fannin has signed into law HB 184, extending the period of motor vehicle safety inspection from March 31 to May 31, 1963.

SB 131, authorizing ASU to issue up to $6 million in revenue bonds for new construction of dormitories, has been sent to the governor for his signing.

In Washington, Congress has passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill extending the draft law for four years. If signed, the bill would continue the eligibility of all U.S. male citizens between the ages of 18½ and 26 for military draft.

And President Kennedy last week issued an executive order deferring all fathers except doctors, dentists and veterinarians from the draft. Under the order all fathers previously militarily classified 1A will be placed in class 3A.

A bill awaiting further action in the state legislature would legalize the driver demerit point system. The state highway department's point system was declared illegal earlier this year by a Superior Court.

The driver demerit point system was one of the governor's key traffic safety planks. Bills on the system have been bottled up in both houses, but still have a slim chance of passing.

The motor vehicle bill, an emergency measure, unanimously passed the Senate and received a 70-7 favorable vote in the House.

The revenue bonds for dorms at ASU were also an emergency measure and also received a 27-0 vote in the upper chamber while passing 64-4 with 12 abstentions in the lower house.

Bills granting similar authorization to the University of Arizona and Arizona State College, in amounts of $5.5 million and $3.8 million respectively, passed the legislature and were sent to the governor at the same time as the ASU bill.

The law, which would extend the draft law to July 1, 1967, passed routinely in the Senate.

TOP DRAWER

By Joan Taylor

Did you ever stop to think of the language obstacles that confront a stranger to our country? We have many expressions that baffle the foreigner. When we say that "he knows his business" — we don't mean that the person in question knows his work well, but rather that he knows what ticks in the people around him. And when we say that he knows what "makes someone tick," we don't mean clocks, but rather that the individual is alert to the demands and behavior of the people in his environment.

Then there's the expression "top drawer". It's an acclaim of the highest type. When you say that Marshall's Inn, located at Apache Junction, under the management and ownership of Marshall F. Norling, is "top drawer" you mean that the Marshall's Inn is a leader in the field of comfort and management. Yes, any stranger would understand the expression when visiting in Arizona at Marshall's Inn, where the finest food is served — using Blue-ribbon Champion beef, with special attention to Group meetings, Banquet Rooms for your convenience — where every courtesy and comfort, is extended to spell out the meaning "top drawer."

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

A kind word, a jolly disposition, intelligence, an apparent zest for life and a seeming love of living it...

Sunday... The car careening along, its driver unfamiliar with ice and snow, three miles from Flagstaff, slips out of control.

Like being drenched with icy water, the shock of impending tragedy grips the mind and paralyzes the body, and the fleeting moment stretches into eternity.

The bus... Perhaps the screams of terrified, bewildered children... Impact!

Glass shattering...

Metal, tortured and rent asunder, screaming and flying apart...

A moment of unbearable agony as the breath of life is crushed from the body...

And then... oblivion.

Monday... An empty seat, a vacuum to be abhorred, a void that cannot be filled...

Richard Dean Fife, 28 years old, a student at Arizona State University, a former naval aviator, a classmate, a vibrant, living human being is gone... dead.

He was my friend.

Plaudits Due, Team... And You

By MARY GORMAN

Congratulations to the students. Yes, I really mean it.

This past Friday night after the basketball game against UCLA, a large number of ASU students, numbering somewhere around 1,500, had a "real" pep rally.

IT WAS NOT anything planned by a board or the cheerleaders. It was one of those automatic things that comes once in a lifetime.

It happened right after the game when everyone headed for Palo Verde Hall where a bonfire was built. Everyone crowded around the fire cheering, singing and in general making noise about the victory.

Then the crowd leaped in cars, jeeps and anything else with wheels and headed for Phoenix.

There they let the whole town know about our victory. It was not a high school stunt or anything else small. It was just a bunch of students happy and proud of their team.

MORE SCHOOL spirit was shown in the short period after the game Friday night than has been seen here in a long time.

We're proud not only of our basketball team, but also of those who backed it all the way this season.

Thanks to the Rally and Tradition Board for their 13,000 signature telegram, thanks to the team for their hard playing, and congratulations to Ned Wulk for coaching the third ranked team.

Thanks should also go to the pep band and those students who turned out Sunday at the airport to greet the team.

I've seen quite a few "Harrys" around campus lately who think it's the going thing to wear their high school letter sweaters.

WELL, IT ISN'T. In case you don't know, everyone here is an ASU Sun Devil and not a Cactus High Rattlesnake or whatever your school was called.

I suggest you leave your high school letter jacket, sweater, etc., home with the moths, or else take off the letters, stripes and other objects that are cluttering it.

I THINK it's fine you earned your letters for all your activities in high school, but here, sports, it doesn't go.

Get out and earn your letters on our playing fields, then wear them. Otherwise, forget it.

I think some of us are missing a good chance to meet some new people and get some new ideas.

Every Friday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 the ASU Foreign Students Club has an international open house for those people interested in knowing more about them.

The atmosphere is very relaxed, the refreshments are good and the company excellent.

The foreign students are hoping that you will drop into the Alumni House this Friday afternoon. They want to meet you. Why not give them a chance?

Traffic Jam Averted Early

Trite and true are the old saws, be prepared, think ahead and a stitch in time saves nine.

The time to solve a problem is before it happens. REMEMBER the traffic problems last fall at the football games? And remember the controversy over that little road which runs down the Salt River channel from the parking lots to the bridge?

Well, last week Tempe's city council dedicated the last parcel of property necessary to complete a road between Scottsdale Road and Mill Avenue. The owners of the rest of the property had already granted the necessary easements. Understandable reluctance to accept liability for accidents on their property caused the trouble last year.

This road is now a public right-of-way to be graded and maintained by the city. The school has agreed to keep it watered for games.

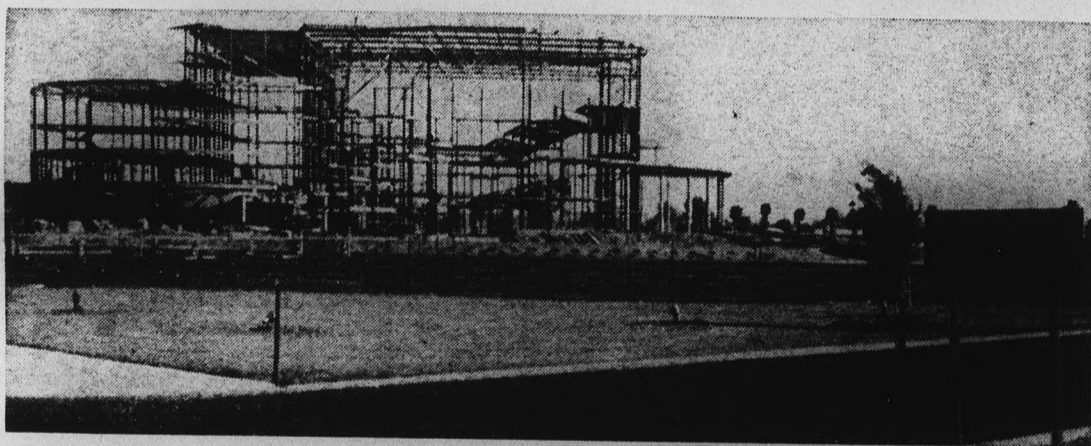

THE ROAD won't be paved due to state plans to eventually build a levee and roadway down the river bed.

It was pointed out by an ASU representative that this road will serve between seasons to alleviate traffic in Tempe. People driving between ASU and Phoenix will now be able to by-pass the city.

Like we said, be prepared...

Artistically Tops; Now About That 25c

The new 25-cent parking lot at Grady Gammage Auditorium unobtrusively opened for business March 11.

We doubt if there has ever been a Frank Lloyd Wright-designed public facility unveiled with so little fanfare for its creator.

LAST WEEK we visited the parking lot and dutifully squandered our 25-cent entrance fee. Our car made a total of four nestled comfortably in one corner of the three hundred space lot.

The new lot bears all the organic qualities made famous by the late architect. The crushed rock of its surface glows warmly with its color of dull red. Its parking lanes gracefully curve parallel to the circular auditorium. Its attendant station guards the entrance and offers protection to the cars parked below. During the night, soft lights glow discreetly.

Artistically the lot is a success; financially, at least during its first week, it is not.

SEVERAL weeks ago Gilbert L. Cady, ASU financial vice president, stated that the 25-cent parking fee would be on a trial basis. We assume that the University officials are keeping themselves apprised of the lot's expenditures and its lack of clientele.

We hope that the University doesn't decide to close off 11th Street for parking and try to apply pressure in the name of traffic safety. This method might increase the patronage of the lot, but would be accomplished with needless resentment.

The solution might be a lowering of the 25-cent parking fee. Five or 10 cents should be reasonable and still make the park pay for itself.

FOR MANY of us, 25 cents represents either our lunch money or a sizeable portion of it. We feel that someone up there has confused our eagerness to pay 50 cents for parking for recreation at an athletic event and our willingness to spend hours searching for a free parking space to attend class for education.

We are not advocating a boycott. We only want the maximum use made of the new park. We don't want to let it develop into ASU's parking wasteland.

When buying diamonds, like buying beef, would you say, "I'll take a carat of diamonds"?

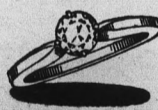

This ad is intended for the marryin' kind and for the inquisitive. Diamonds, like cuts of tenderloin, (blue ribbon, prime, choice, etc.), differ greatly in quality . . . so don't be misled into buying your diamond by weight alone. "The adamos (diamond) is the most valuable, not only of precious stones, but of all things in the world," wrote Pliny, the early Roman historian. It takes 250 tons of diamond-bearing rock to yield one (1) carat size cut diamond of gem quality. A carat is approximately 1/150 of an ounce. A trained, reputable jeweler judges the true value of a diamond by the "4C's" . . . Color, Clarity, Cutting as well as Carat weight. Diamonds of the finest quality are actually colorless or crystal-clear white. Variations in color can best be seen by comparing one diamond with another. Clarity refers to the degree of absence of interior and exterior carbon spots, bubbles or other blemishes. Exactness of cutting is essential to a diamond's brilliance . . . even the tiniest error affects value.

Tenor Nets Lauds, Applause

By LARRY NELSON

For those who are not too thickly coated with 20th century sophistication to enjoy an evening of pure emotional abandon, the March 17th performance of tenor Ferruccio Tagliavini was a rare and memorable experience.

No quasi-sophistication was apparent in the near-capacity audience. Each rendition was greeted with a round of applause that denoted complete and unqualified appreciation, and, in the opinion of this writer, the enthusiastic responses evoked by Mr. Tagliavini's glowing tones were entirely justified.

Though nurtured in the finest Italian operatic tradition, he has not been forced into any popular "tenor stereotype" conformity. His style is completely and uniquely his own.

Especially suited to Mr. Tag-liavini's variety of tone and expression was "E lucevan le stelle" from Puccini's "Tosca."

This reviewer felt that the soaring lyricism of the opening phrases effectively captured the tender pathos of Cavardossi's dejection.

The brilliance and power of the final phrases left a transfixed audience with the conviction that nothing more in either musical interpretation or vocal splendor could be desired.

If the peak of audience enjoyment was indicated by the peak of audience response, then the popular "Torna Sorrento" was the high point. This final encore brought a standing ovation that gave the world renowned tenor's sterling performance an apt conclusion.

KASN Will Feature Sports And Senate

Play-by-play Sun Devil baseball coverage and on-the-spot Student Senate meetings are featured in this semester's broadcasting, according to Special Event and Sports director, Allan McCarley.

A remote crew of Al Michaels, Bob Jacobsen and McCarley will broadcast 21 home baseball games from the Sun Devil park.

The games are set to be aired week days at 3 p.m. through the season.

STUDENT SENATE meetings are scheduled into the KASN programming this year. Jim Slinger and ASASU secretary Cindi Buchanan will host a 15 minute recap show following each meeting.

KASN will interrupt regular programming to cut in with live coverage in unusual cases of senate matter, McCarley added.

While a permanent hook-up from the MU to the KASN studios solves one coverage problem, as much as 200 yards of rented telephone cable is necessary in covering baseball games.

Another on the spot sports pick-up will be the ASU track events.

THE REMOTE CREW will tape the track events as they happen and play them back at regularly scheduled time.

Co-operation from baseball Coach Ned Winkles and Student Senator Henry Klopping make the on-the-spot broadcast possible, McCarley said.

KASN broadcasts through dormitories and campus buildings at the 670 spot.

Junior Recital Will Feature ASU Soprano

Lynda Robertson, mezzo-soprano, will be presented in a junior recital by ASU's department of music on Friday, March 22 at 8:15 p.m.

The program will be at the First Christian Church, Tempe. Miss Robertson will be assisted by Douglas Palmer, accompanist, and Margo Kistka, Anne LaFitte and Tim Rauhouse, all organists.

The program will include music by J. S. Bach, Handel, Gluck, Griffes and others.

400 Loans -

$274,000 Granted In Defense Loans

Money for the national defense loans has been distributed for this year, according to Dr. Woodrow Nold, financial aid officer.

Four hundred loans, worth $274,000, have been granted so far this year on the ASU campus. Last year 272 loans worth $226,000 were processed at ASU. This represents a 35 per cent increase in number of loans and a 20 per cent increase in money loaned, according to Dr. Nold.

Payments on 1958, 1959, 1960 and 1961 national defense loans are due and payable by June 1, 1963. Exactly how much will be available is uncertain, according to Dr. Nold. He said that many graduates will claim deferments and cancellations.

Money for national defense loans for full time students who wish to attend summer school will be available in limited quantity by June 10. Dr. Nold recommended that students who need money for summer school and are eligible for the national defense loans inquire and apply at the loan office MU212 during the first week of June.

United States Aid Fund and ASU funds are still available for short and long term loans.

"No qualified student should feel he must leave school or cannot attend summer school because of lack of funds." No student should withdraw for financial reasons without first having a conference with the financial aid officer in MU212, he added.

NDEA loans will be available for next year. The deadline for application is May 1.

'Rumpelstiltskin' Compliments 'Othello' In University Playhouse Productions

A unique scenic project is currently underway at ASU's Playhouse.

Stage crews are busy preparing for two plays which will be produced on overlapping dates, "Rumpelstiltskin," a production for kindergarten through sixth grade youngsters, and "Othello," a Shakespeare tragedy.

Three stage levels, made possible by the addition of a 10-foot extension of the present stage, will give actors more space in which to work. The same basic sets, including a castle, archway unit and steps, will be used for both plays.

Period costumes will lend atmosphere to "Othello," set in 16th century Venice. Atmosphere changes for "Rumpelstiltskin," set in a mythical century in fairytale land, will be achieved through use of lighting, costumes and other special effects.

"Rumpelstiltskin" will open

Saturday and Sunday and run for two more weekends, March 30, 31 and April 6, 7. Curtain time will be 2:30 p.m. A split run is scheduled for "Othello," March 27 through 30 and April 4 through 6. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Identical Twins On ASU Campus

Fourteen ASU Students Reveal That Each Is One Of A Pair

By PAM VAN BUSKIRK

A strange problem at ASU has been solved. Students can stop worrying about the possibility they have poor vision; there really are seven sets of identical twins on campus.

The 14 look-alikes have been creating confusion among students and faculty who don't realize that each is one half of a pair.

Instructors become frustrated when they gaze across the classroom to see the face of a student who was in the class last semester.

Everyone becomes baffled when he sees one twin exit from a door and a moment later, the other emerges from the same door.

ALTHOUGH the twins look like carbon copies, they are individuals in many ways.

Pamela and Tina Beers, for example, live in two different dorms and dress entirely differently. However, even though they have different wardrobes, they still wear each other's clothes. One may frequently see Pam carrying a dress from Wilson Hall to exchange it for one of Tina's at Palo Verde.

Pam, who is an English major, likes to read or sketch in her spare time. Tina changed her major from medical technology to anthropology. Music is Tina's spare time pleasure.

THE BEERS TWINS were born in Springfield, Ohio and have lived in Phoenix for two and a half years. Both belong to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshmen women's honorary.

The Bramley twins, Marilyn and Margaret, are elementary education majors. Both are active in Women's Athletic Association and the Wesley group. They room together at Wilson Hall.

Margaret is president of the Association of Childhood Education, and Marilyn is vice president.

ALTHOUGH these girls have nearly identical tastes and habits, there are a few differences. Marilyn likes to write poetry, play the piano and is fond of art. Margaret likes sailing and playing the accordion. She is fond of swimming and teaches it during the summer.

These girls have a shiny new tandem bicycle which they frequently ride to and from classes.

Bobbie and Billie Bokelman, freshman girls majoring in elementary education, live in North Hall and work for Saga foods. They both like horseback riding, bowling and watching television, and both are allergic to grass. Bobbie plays the French horn and Billie the saxophone and bassoon in ASU's band.

THE BOKELMAN TWINS were born in Torrington, Wyoming and later moved to El Mirage where they graduated from Peoria High School. After graduation, these petite brunettes wish to teach in the primary grades.

Senior twins Susan and Sheila Foster are from Montreal, Canada. Both are elementary education majors and Susan is currently doing her student teaching. Both belong to Kappa Delta Sorority and to Golden Hearts of Sigma Phi Epsilon. They are fond of music and live in Palo Verde Hall.

These girls both wear glasses to correct similar eye conditions.

SANDI AND SHARI Frederickson, freshmen, came to ASU from Hutchinson, Minnesota, and also are majoring in elementary education. Their hobby is collecting things including stamps, foreign money and souvenirs. They like spectator sports, but participate in water skiing.

Both reside at Palo Verde, but do not room together. They are taking the same courses at different times. (Imagine the confusion presented to some instructor who has both twins the same day, but at different times!)

Terrell and Gerald Thomas and Sandi and Shari Frederickson.

Sandi and Shari say they like ASU because all the people are so friendly.

SENIORS Terrell and Gerald Thomas are majoring in finance with minors in real estate. These red-haired, freckled twins belong to Delta Sigma Pi, national business professional fraternity, and the Young Republicans. Terrell is vice president of the Business Administrative Council.

Both play the saxophone and like sports, particularly basketball. The Thomas brothers have a sister who is a sophomore at ASU.

The boys have many of the same habits and similar tastes. Years ago Terrell was going to buy Gerald a billfold and in the first store he entered he found the one he wanted. However he decided not to buy it at that time, and went home. Unknown to Terrell, Gerald went into the same store and bought the same billfold for him a short time later.

HAROLD AND GERALD Waltman, freshman originally from Massillon, Ohio like sports, particularly football. Harold is majoring in secondary education and Gerald is majoring in sociology. Both work for Saga foods.

The Waltmans feel that since they have spent all their lives together, now is the time to separate. Therefore, Harold lives in Irish Hall and Gerald is in Hayden Hall. Oddly enough, Harold is right handed and Gerald is left handed.

LOOKS THE SAME EITHER WAY — Those crossed optics won't help State Press news editor Jerry Reilly determine which is Margaret and which is Marilyn Bramley. (A tip: Marilyn is on the right.)

The Waltmans say having a twin is like watching yourself run around, yet they enjoy it.

In spite of being called by the wrong name most of the time, and being constantly asked if they are twins, the seven sets of twins agree on one thing; they enjoy being twins.

OSU Finishes Devil Hopes

By JOHN NADEL

The 1962-63 basketball season, the most successful in Sun Devil history, came to an abrupt end last Saturday as the hot-shooting Oregon State Beavers were never headed in defeating ASU 83-65.

The victory gave the Beavers a slot in the NCAA semi-finals in Louisville this weekend.

Oregon State shot a fantastic 66 percent in the first half, sinking 11 of their first 13 shots.

This excellent display of shooting was made up mostly of long jump shots by 7-footer Mel Counts and 6-4 forward Steve Pauly.

The Beavers finished the evening connecting on 31 of their 54 field goal attempts, a 57 percentage.

Meanwhile, ASU shot at a warm 52 percent in the first half, to stay within five points of the Beavers, 43-38.

But the second half was different, as no Sun Devil shots seemed to go through. The Devils finished hitting 35 percent, their lowest mark of the season.

COUNTS LED the Beavers with 26 points, as well as 13 rebounds. Pauly finished the evening with 21 markers.

Leading ASU were inside men Joe Caldwell and Tony Cerkvenik, with 17 and 16 points, respectively.

Friday night it was the Sun Devils who put on a shooting display.

The Devils ran the UCLA Bruins right off the floor in racking up a 62-31 halftime lead. With reserves playing most of the second half, UCLA cut the final margin to 14 points, falling by a 93-79 score.

LEADING ASU were Caldwell with 24, center Art Becker with 21 and Cerkvenik with 18.

All five Sun Devil starters hit double figures as the Devils played perhaps their finest game of the season.

The top Bruin scorer was forward Jack Hirsch, who meshed 19 points. All-American Walt Hazzard was held to 13, including only two in the first half.

The All-Tournament team was made up of Counts and Baker of OSU, A-State's Becker and Caldwell, and sophomore center Ollie Johnson of San Francisco.

Lobos Sprint Pass Devils

By ALAN MICHAELS

For the second straight week ASU's track and field team fell victim to its depth woes as the Sun Devils dropped an 85-60 decision to the University of New Mexico Saturday.

The Devils took nine first places to the Lobos' eight, but it was not enough to curb the Lobo depth in the lower places as they extended their 1963 victory skein to four.

In a spectacular mile relay finish, A-State's Ullis Williams nipped the Lobos' Adolph Plummer at the wire to push the Devil quartet to its 23rd consecutive win.

Williams, who walked away with the 880 earlier in the day, blistered to a 45.4 clocking on the relay anchor lap. It was the fastest quarter mile ever run by the Devil sophomore.

ASU's Henry Carr picked up wins in the 100 (9.5) and 220. His 220 clocking was recorded on a curve and is just .1 off the world's record.

ASU's other firsts were accomplished in the shot put (Larry Hendershot, 54-5), javelin (Frank Covelli, 243-4), 440 (Ron Freeman, 48.1), pole vault (John Rose, 14-6), and 440-yard relay (Tom Hester, Darrell Jansen, Williams, Carr, 41.0).

The Devils met the University of Utah at Goodwin Stadium last night. Results will be in Friday's issue.

Off The Cuff

JOE HEATH
Sports Editor

Duke, Loyola, Cincinnati, and those Beavers from Oregon State will start cutting each other down Friday night in Louisville to determine who is the best of the best.

For obvious reasons, I'm pulling for Oregon to be the team wearing the crown Saturday night. If they do win, it will be the first time since Wilt Chamberlain that the national champs can cut down the net by using a man standing on his tip toes.

The man for this job is the 7-0 Devil killer Mel Counts, and he's only a junior!

When the Count and his crew meet the defending NCAA champion Bearcats Friday night, the Cincinnati defense will have to be as good as the experts say they are.

ON THE brighter side for ASU, Jumpin' Joe Caldwell has been honored once again.

This time it is by Look magazine, where Joe made the all-American district 3-A first team.

Joining him on the team are Wayne Estes, Utah State, Bill Green, Colorado State U., Ira Harge, New Mexico, and Flynn Robinson, Wyoming.

Joe was just a few votes from making the top ten listed by the magazine. The players were selected by the United States Basketball Writers Association.

BASEBALL FANS at ASU will have no trouble seeing top notch college baseball this year. All they have to do is wander over to the Devil diamond most any afternoon.

For example, in the next ten days the Sun Devils have ten games, all at home.

For the Devil students that like to look for revenge, they'll get their chance in the series starting Thursday afternoon.

It will be a four-game affair with Oregon State University concluding with a double header on Saturday.

All I can say is that I hope the great football-basketball player Terry Baker doesn't play baseball too.

The reason for all the home games is that teams such as Oregon State, Oklahoma, and Wisconsin are still fighting the weather, and a trip to Arizona is just what they need.

Havertine Top Bowler

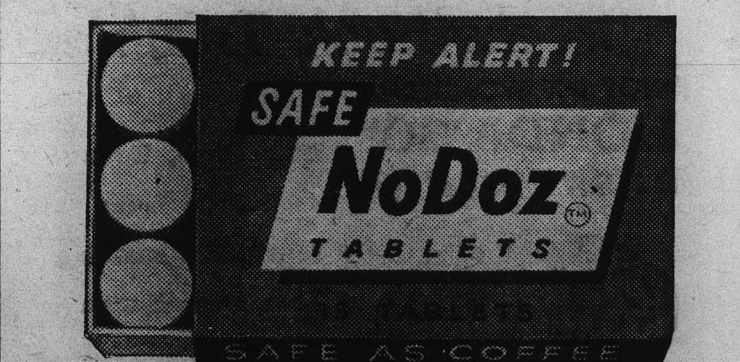

The New Mexico Union Invitational Bowling Tournament, held last weekend in Albuquerque, proved to be a worthwhile trip to Sun Devil Dick Havertine.

The ASU junior won the singles event by rolling a 647 series. He placed second in the overall tournament.

In team competition, ASU placed sixth as 12 teams from Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, North Dakota and Texas competed in the two day event.

Baseballers Drop CSU, 7-0

By NORDY JENSEN

Its hot batting streak momentarily cooled, the ASU baseball team turned to pitching and base running to dump Colorado State University 7-0 in the first game of a three game series Monday.

The set concludes today at 3 p.m. at Sun Devil Field with Lad Nemecek on the mound for ASU. Tuesday's score is elsewhere on the sports page.

Oregon State University begins a four game series Thursday with a single contest at 3 p.m.

Saturday, the Devils took a twin bill from University of Utah 14-5 and 7-4, banging out a total of 22 hits.

MONDAY, Sterling Slaughter picked up where the hitting left off and spun a one-hitter against CSU while striking out 22 for a new school record.

Only a fourth inning single by Julio Landa ruined the no-hitter.

Slaughter struck out the side during five different innings and walked only two. The hit by Landa was the sole ball hit out of the infield off Slaughter.

The Devils used their speed to set up several scores, stealing six bases in as many tries.

John (Roadrunner) Ruedy raced for three successful thefts alone.

ASU put the game on ice in the third with two runs.

Slaughter walked and scored from second on Jack Handley's slow rolling single that got by shortstop Al Apo. Handley stole second and came home on Bob Kavgian's single to left field.

Five runs scored in the sixth for ASU on two hits by Tony Alesci and Rich Oliver and a sacrifice fly by Handley. ASU managed only five hits off three hurlers.

Bulletin

The Sun Devil baseball team defeated Colorado State College yesterday afternoon, 4-2.

SUN DEVIL pitcher Sterling Slaughter, shown sliding safely back in to first base on an attempted pickoff play, could do nothing wrong Monday afternoon as he led his team to a 7-0 win over CSU. He established a new school strikeout record by fanning 22 opponents.

Gold Bops Maroon In Grid Workout

An abundance of passing highlighted last Saturday's spring football game at Sun Devil Stadium. The Gold defeated the Maroon, 25-20.

The contest provided a test for the arm of newcomer John Torok, an El Camino JC transfer at quarterback, and a workout for the steady flinging of veteran John Jacobs.

Torok was the more spectacular, hitting on 15 of 24 attempt for 189 yards, but Jacobs was more effective, tossing two scoring pitches in his six completions. Jake attempted 13 passes.

The Gold was composed of the first string backfield and second team line, the Maroons, the second string backs and first team line.

A 26-yard pass to sophomore end Brian Tyler from Gold quarterback Jacobs with 3:11 left in the game won the contest for the Gold.

Jacobs also hit Charley Taylor on a 31-yard scoring pass in the second period.

The first two times the Maroons had the ball in the first quarter they scored on drives of 68 and 66 yards.

Larry Todd went over from 10 yards out and Torok from one yard out for the Maroon touchdowns.

Sandwiched between the two scores was a 90-yard touchdown run on a kickoff return by Maroon back Taylor.

Other scores came on a three yard run by Gold halfback Gene Foster and a 15-yard dash by Maroon back Ray Young.

Golfers Try CSU

ASU's golf team will try to regain its winning ways when it plays host to Colorado State University at Moon Valley Country Club.

The Devils will meet the Rams again tomorrow at Indian Bend Country Club.

The University of Utah will move in for a pair of weekend matches, meeting the Devils at Arizona Country Club Friday and at Century Country Club Saturday.

Representing the Sun Devils in the upcoming matches will be Tey Lyford, Mike Farrell, Jim Gafke, Pete Hirmer, Dud Merkel and Kim von Tempsky.
