Winn vs. Zimmerman

Close Finish Seen In Presidential Race

Today's general election will end two weeks of campaigning in the closely contested ASASU presidential race between Daryl Winn and Doug Zimmerman.

Climax to the campaign was an election rally last night which featured Winn and Zimmerman and other candidates speaking on their respective platforms and qualifications.

Winn's major comment dealt with strengthening the president's office. In his speech he said, "I stand for using the presidency to lead the students to their own accomplishments. I put my faith, not in the dynamics of government, . . . but in the maturity of our campus. . ."

Winn believes that, although campaign promises serve only to mask the real problem, there are areas of concern apparent to everyone. Some of the areas Winn pointed out included dorm rules, board appointments and academic policies.

Winn concluded by saying, "I will strive to meet these problems with vigorous action and responsive leadership, but with deliberation, as well."

Contrary to his opponent, Zimmerman feels that student government can best be strengthened through its branches. Zimmerman said, "I have offered programs to the ASU student body which are currently needed to allow ASASU to keep pace with our growing university."

Zimmerman further said, "A candidate for office must take a stand on those ideas and programs which he feels should be accomplished." Zimmerman then continued to list some of the possible improvements, among which were re-evaluation of freshman week, re-evaluation of the present structure of student government and the establishment of a more direct means of communications.

Zimmerman closed with, "I hope that people who vote will not consider names and faces, but consider ideas and those who will work."

Both vice presidential candidates Dan Baker and George Stewart felt that strong communication between student and student government is essential.

ASU Students Face Kidnaping Charges

By GORDON BLACK

Twin ASU students from Iran are being held under $50,000 bail each in Phoenix today on charges of kidnaping 3-year-old Mike Auther of Phoenix on April 5.

Nassar Haghghi, a chemical engineering major, and his brother Mansour, an electrical engineering major, both have entered pleas of innocent to the charges.

THE TWINS, in denying the kidnaping charge, said they believed the child was lost and were taking him to the Scottsdale police department when they were stopped 30 blocks from where they picked up the boy.

Police said a routine search of the twins' apartment at 926 East Apache Blvd., Tempe, revealed stolen articles worth more than $15,000.

The twins have been identified as the men who took $3,100 in the robbery of a Safeway food store in Scottsdale on March 23, police said.

THE TWINS admitted taking articles from homes, cars and shops in the Phoenix area, police added. The twins said they "couldn't resist the wonderful things in this country," police said.

Nasser has also been arraigned on a federal charge of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle as a result of an accident involving a stolen California car and is scheduled to face deportation proceedings, police said.

AFROTC Commandant Downey Comments About Officer Program

By ED HEATH

Col. William G. Downey, AFROTC Area I Commandant, recently expressed belief that the Officer Education Program to be submitted to Congress early in May will be passed.

He added that when the proposal was studied by the Bureau of the Budget last month, it was suggested that the original yearly scholarship of $1,100 included in the program might be raised to $1,300.

THE PROGRAM, to be submitted by the Department of Defense, is a revised two-year ROTC program which will provide, if approved, for the gradual elimination of the current compulsory four-year program.

The proposal recommends the adoption of a voluntary two-year course for those students, including graduate students, competing for commissions and will discard the present program in effect at 187 colleges and universities.

The first of two summer camps will replace the present basic course. Three hours of weekly class will replace the current five hours required of those cadets now enrolled in the advanced course.

IN ADDITION, a $1,100 yearly scholarship has been recommended in the original proposal.

If approved, the proposal will give junior college transfers the opportunity to enter competition for commissions.

Currently 65 per cent of all male college students, especially junior college students, are being denied eligibility because of the standing four-year requirement.

A change-over period will be necessary before complete elimination of the basic course can occur. The final decision on how this phase is to be handled is to come from the universities.

TENTATIVE Air Force plans are to drop freshman ROTC and to change the junior year courses the first year after approval.

The second year, the sophomore course would be dropped, senior year courses would be changed and summer camp would be held for the juniors.

Only students who have junior standings will be eligible for entrance consideration.

PROVISIONS will be made to enable the individual colleges and universities now offering an ROTC program to accept the two-year voluntary program or continue the current four-year compulsory program.

Graduation Forms Due

All seniors must file applications within the next week to be eligible for graduation in June, 1963, according to Dr. Irving W. Stout, dean of the Graduate College.

Application deadline for final Master's oral examination is April 15. Theses and/or dissertations must be filed by May 1.

Pianist To Appear Here Next Week

Mieczyslaw Horzowski, renowned Polish-born pianist, will appear April 18 at 8:15 p.m. in the MU ballroom as part of the Concert and Lecture series.

One of the few child prodigies who fulfilled the promise of his early career, Horzowski amazed European critics by playing Bach at the age of five. His first New York recital was given at Carnegie Hall when he was 14.

The program will include Four Duets from Part III of the "Clavierbung" by J. S. Bach, "Fantasy in C minor" and "Sonata No. 14 in C minor" both by Mozart, "Etudes and Polkas," by Martinu, and "Sonata in B flat major, Opus Posthumous" by Schubert.

HORSZOWSKI has participated as soloist at the Beethoven Festival in Barcelona, the Bach Festivals in Perpignan and Prades, France, and the Chopin Festival at Majorca, Spain. The press and audiences have acclaimed him as a recitalist throughout the United States, Europe and South America.

One of the outstanding landmarks in Horzowski's life of innumerable performances was his participation with Pablo Casals, eminent cellist, and Alexander Schneider, in a White House concert in November, 1961.

The concert, repeated on television's Festival of the Performing Arts, has been recorded on Columbia Records.

Also distinguished as a recording artist, Horzowski has been recorded by Columbia, Decca and Mercury records.

IN ADDITION to his concert schedule, Horzowski teaches at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, and is guest artist-teacher at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

Pickets Halt Work On New Dormitory

A picket by the cement masons against the general contractor has halted work on the Palo Verde East Dorm.

The picket is a jurisdictional dispute. Cement masons claim that contractor's laborers are doing work that should be performed by them.

The general contractor and sub-contractors have recognized the picket line and will not cross. This has led to a complete shutdown of work.

According to Charles Mason, of ASU physical plant, the dispute should be settled within the next two or three days.

The addition to the Life Science Center is 95 per cent completed. All that remain are finishing details.

No date has been set for completion of construction.

Deadline Set On Scholarships

A May 1st deadline has been set for all scholarship applications the scholarship office announced today.

This deadline applies to both new scholarships and those which must be renewed for the 1963-64 academic year.

Application forms and scholarship information may be obtained at the scholarship office, MU 212.

AIFT Scholarships

Scholarship applicants for the American Institute for Foreign Trade must have their application submitted by April 25, according to the scholarship office.

French Poet, Composer Gives Musical Address

By JOHN LEE

Pierre Boulez, young French intellectual, poet and composer, discussed the relationship of poetry to music last Sunday in MU Ballroom.

Boulez, presently a visiting lecturer at Harvard and occupying the Charles Eliot Norton chair of poetry there, was sponsored by the Concert and Lecture Series.

Illustrating his talk on the piano, Boulez said that the relation of poetry to music must be a transfusion or transcription of the deep, intrinsic—not superficial—qualities of each, "entwining their substances together."

"Structure is the key word of our epic," Boulez continued. To this end, structure of the musical meter and the rhythm of the poem should blend as if they were meant for one another, he said.

Two forms of structure prevailed. The syllabic form, where a single musical note entwined with a poetic note is presented without flourish. The second form, the ornamental, dominated by poetic expression, is presented with flourishes in the music.

The twelve-tone music of Boulez's compositions, needs the piano, celesta, vibraphone, chimes and harp with their high resonance qualities to be presented effectively. Boulez demonstrated this in one of his selections.

Boulez commented that his conducting was like the "red and green light signals," very unlike regular orchestral conduction.

For one to really enjoy and appreciate the musical and poetic qualities of his music, Boulez said that one should read the sonnets before attending the concert. His twelve-tone music will be appreciated at its best when the poetry is understood and savored, Boulez concluded.

'Efforts In Soviet Union' Noted By Forum Speaker

By MARY McLAUGHLIN

"What efforts are being made in the Soviet Union to increase the amount of consumer goods being offered to improve the lot of the Soviet citizen?" was the main topic of a talk given by Marvin Jackson of the economics department at the ASU Forum last Friday in the MU upper lounge.

Jackson, who toured the Soviet Union and Poland in 1960, said that the Russian factories were modern, but the standard of living of the people was low.

HE OBSERVED that the Russian streets were dull and dark because of a lack of neon lights and there was little traffic except for busses and trucks.

The Soviet people were drably and shabbily dressed and their homes and other buildings were of old-fashioned Victorian architecture.

He said that, although the average Soviet citizen is furnished with necessary material goods for his needs, he consumes only one-half the amount of food and clothing per capita as the average American.

BEFORE 1955, a Russian was allotted only 15 per cent of the amount of living space that the American citizen had.

"Every Soviet citizen I talked with showed me that he was aware that his consumption standard was lower than that of the American citizen," Jackson said. He further commented that, since 1953, the Soviet consumption rate has been rising from five to six per cent a year and people have more personal goods available to them every year.

Awards Offered Undergraduates

Two scholarships have been made available for undergraduate women students by the Insurance Women of Phoenix, the scholarship office announced today.

The scholarships for $375 and $300 will be granted to women majoring in insurance or related fields.

Applications will be accepted at MU 212 until April 18.

Party's Over -

MU 'Jumps' Through 'The Sands Of Time'

By JON MORRIS

The Memorial Union came alive Saturday to the delight of about 6,000 people as the MU Birthday Party marched through "The Sands of Time."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon captured the Sweepstakes Award at the Blue Key Carnival on East Hall lawn. The carnival took in about $400, according to Bob Bonitati, assistant chairman of the carnival.

"I CAN'T get over it," exclaimed Mrs. Cecilia Scoular, MU director. "The overtones of the party are just as great as the party itself."

A highlight of the party was the Coconut Grove night club in the MU ballroom. It featured Chuck Dodds, Hollywood singer and Susan Stahlberg, a local blues personality.

The basement of the MU offered rock and roll music, as opposed to the slow music played by Bob Roth's Orchestra in the Coconut Grove.

BUT GETTING to the Prehistoric Age in the basement was the problem. A subterranean tunnel thwarted easy passage to "Flatstone City" where the "Rockettes", ASU pom pom girls, and a swinging band played twist music.

Upstairs, the cafeteria was transformed into the Roman banquet room where "wine" (grape juice) was served and student wrestlers performed.

The faculty dining room was the main scene in the Renaissance period. It was decorated with original furniture obtained from the Phoenix Art Museum.

LOUIS RUSKIN'S collection of authentic Renaissance paintings was the main attraction of the room.

The MU lawn conveyed a medieval theme, as several plays were performed. A fencing exhibition was staged. Devil's Den was called "Boar's Head Inn" where minstrels played.

Upstairs, the Century Room had modern advances in the scientific age. The Greenwich Village banquet room featured the "Cafe Wha" where several folk singing groups performed.

JOHN BROOKING, chairman of the party, stated, "This year there were both technology and fun spots. There was an equal balance of activities."

SAE's pie booth collected $135 and was named best booth and the most lucrative in the men's division besides copping the sweepstakes award at the carnival.

In the women's division Alpha Delta Pi's cake walk took in $90.10 and nabbed best booth and most lucrative honors.

THE CHI OMEGA Phi Gamma Delta water dunking booth copped best booth in the combined division. Men's and Women's groups of Lambda Delta Sigma's fun house won the most lucrative award. They collected $73.55.

Applications Ready For Legend City

Application forms and interview appointments for jobs at Legend City Amusement park may be obtained today and tomorrow in MU 8, according to Lawrence C. Yehle of the Placement Center.

Approximately 400 jobs are open to ASU students 18 years old and over. The park, located just across the Tempe bridge, will hire 100 hostesses and 300 hosts to staff rides and attractions.

Yehle reports that to his knowledge "this is the biggest single employer we've had occasion to work with."

Interviews will be April 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and April 18 and 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Students will be scheduled for one-half hour interview periods.

Students must sign up in person for interview appointments.

Applications must be completed before the time of the interview.

Students who have already applied to Legend City must re-apply through the Placement Center.

Students will start work in mid-June when the park is officially opened. The base pay will be $1.30 per hour.

Both day and evening jobs are available for cashiers, ticket sellers and takers, ride operators, hostesses, fry cooks, bus boys, soda jerks, janitors, parking lot attendants, security guards, stenographers and first aid attendants.

Model UN Delegates Picked

Eight ASU students will represent Thailand in the Far West Model United Nations meeting April 24-27 at San Jose State College, Calif., according to Dr. T. James Leonard, assistant professor of political science.

The delegates are Maggie Bartholomeaux, Roger Baymiller, Vicki Littin, Pat Maines, Charles Stewart, George Stewart, Jim Stoffa and Robin Vair.

The Model UN will be conducted on the same order as the United Nations in New York. Each participating student delegation will be expected to maintain the position that the actual country has, according to Dr. Leonard.

ASU Collegiate Council for the United Nations and the ASU International Affairs Club sponsored the delegate selections.

Selections were made on the basis of grades, year, knowledge of the UN, knowledge of Thailand and personal qualifications, according to CCUN President Steve Sargent.

BRIDGE CLASS

An intermediate bridge class will be offered by the MU games room committee beginning April 17.

MU Party Great Except For Cleanup

By MARY GORMAN

Congratulations to all those who made the MU Birthday Party such a success, as all those who attended will agree.

This year's party, "Sands Of Time," was a real credit to those who spent so much time and effort on it.

At this time a special thanks should be given to those maintenance men who have to clean up the mess.

EVERY YEAR at this time they are given the immense job of putting the MU "back to normal."

Since the Birthday Party is a student project, it should also be a student project to clean up after ourselves.

After all, the fellows who work in the MU have enough work to do without the added burden of the Birthday Party.

LET'S GET IN and give them a hand, students; after all, it was our party.

Congratulations should go to Mrs. Cecelia Scoular, MU director, and her staff for the tremendous job they did again this year.

However, many students have been asking if it is really worth it to have the party. The question should be answered by you, the students. Do you think it's worth it? Let's have your comments, everyone; they will help with next year's party.

THE ELECTIONS, oh yes; today's the big day for all the candidates running for student body offices.

Everyone should keep in mind the purpose of student government when he is voting.

Our officers have a big job to do, and when you're voting, remember that it's not always the "good guy" that does the best job. Qualifications have a lot to do with it.

Get out and vote today. It's your duty — or something like that.

I'd like to tell you all to drive carefully during the vacation in case you're traveling somewhere, however, since we have only four days break, I don't figure you'll be going very far.

If you're around campus during Easter vacation (?) there are a few things you can do on campus.

There'll be a few baseball games and a track meet which you can take in if you're interested.

No matter what you do, though, have a Happy Easter Holiday everyone.

Academics Could Learn From Athletes

Arizona State University's athletic program is growing larger every day. In fact it is growing so fast that one can't tell if the athletic program is growing with the school or the school is growing with the athletic program.

One good reason for the success of the athletic department at ASU is the recruiting efforts of the staff. Outstanding high school athletes in Arizona and other states are contacted by the athletic staff and given an idea of what kind of school is located in Tempe. And if the student is particularly talented, he may be offered a scholarship.

MANY PEOPLE, student and teacher, look down on this method of recruiting athletes and say that it puts too much emphasis on sports. They go on to say that the purpose of a university is to excel in the academic field rather than playing football or basketball. But everyone will admit that some sort of athletic program is necessary for any university.

Do the tactics of the athletic department hinder the growth of our school or interfere with the progress in the academic fields? Of course not. If anything, the other departments should consider using some of the coaches methods themselves.

SCIENCE award winners in the state should be contacted by the school and be shown the merits of ASU. We should try to recruit the students who excel academically as well as athletically.

recruiting, the academic standards will rise to the point where recruitment won't be necessary.

Let's make our academic program grow with the athletic program.

Try 'Happy Easter' Salute

"Feliz Pasquas," "Heureux Paques" are expressions of happy Easter in Spanish and French respectively, but how many times is the English heard on the ASU campus?

Easter, as well as any other holiday, is fast becoming so commercialized that one thinks of it as a mere vacation. Students are often heard wishing someone a "happy vacation" and not "Happy Easter." You should think of the reason that the vacation is observed and not just that there is a vacation from school.

Christmas and Easter are the ones that are the most offended by these tactics. How many times have the stores decorated two months ahead, just to capitalize on the prospective consumer season?

Blue Key Carnival added to the Eastertide by one of the booths giving away baby chicks for throwing a ring on the neck of a goose. Many farms grow baby chicks, rabbits and ducks just to sell at Easter. Some even go to the extreme of dyeing the animals another color. These tiny animals delight the children and add to the observance, but still the commercial aspect is there. True, more people attend the church of their choice during these two religious holidays, but then why not all through the year?

Easter is a time for family outings, student vacations, family dinners, egg hunts, the new spring outfit and the Easter bunny. Coeds all over the globe and here at ASU have already purchased their new outfits for Easter Sunday.

ASU is not different from any other campus and the students are not different, so instead of the annual wishes of vacation happiness, why not try "Happy Easter!"

By MARTIN VANIER

Shed A Sad Tear

Tsk. Tsk. Tsk. Our brethen to the south have had their Easter Vacation cut from ten days to four. Poor things.

They resisted vigorously, though, against the oppressive forces governing them. Monday night the UofA campus was crowded with 1,500 students who hung and burned in effigy their president, Dr. Richard Harvill. Stout hearts.

Protesters then threw firecrackers and eggs at the old party-pooper campus cops and valiantly chanting "Down with Harvill," and "Burn Old Main," they proceeded to break some dorm windows. Brave Souls.

HAMPERING Tucson firemen who came to extinguish their effigy flames, the group then moved to the women's dorms to stage a panty raid. Prudish head residents had locked the doors, however, and this venture was unsuccessful. Poor things.

According to reports, school officials said the holiday was shortened to permit earlier ending of the school term and offer a longer working period for students during the summer.

Many students, however, attributed the cut to UofA behavior last Easter in Mazatlan, Mexico, when one student was shot by a Mexican policeman.

WHATEVER the reason, organizers of the protest seem to have lost sight of why they are attending a university. Contrary to popular opinion, it is not to have a good time and go on vacation; it is to get an education.

They are tired and need a rest about mid-term? Sorry. We've been on the four-day Easter vacation for two years now and it hasn't seemed to hurt us.

HOW TO GET EDUCATED ALTHOUGH ATTENDING COLLEGE

In your quest for a college degree, are you becoming a narrow specialist, or are you being educated in the broad, classical sense of the word?

This question is being asked today by many serious observers—including my barber, my roofer, and my little dog Spot—and it would be well to seek an answer.

Are we becoming experts only in the confined area of our majors, or does our knowledge range far and wide? Do we, for example, know who fought in the Battle of Jenkins' Ear, or Kant's epistemology, or Planck's constant, or Valsalva's maneuver, or what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?

If we do not, we are turning, alas, into specialists. How then can we broaden our vistas, lengthen our horizons—become, in short, educated?

Well sir, the first thing we must do is throw away our curricula. Tomorrow, instead of going to the same old classes, let us try something new. Let us not think of college as a rigid discipline, but as a kind of vast academic smorgasbord, with all kinds of tempting intellectual tidbits to savor. Let's start sampling tomorrow.

We will begin the day with a stimulating seminar in Hittite artifacts. Then we will go over to marine biology and spend a happy hour with the sea slugs. Then we will open our pores by drilling a spell with the ROTC. Then we'll go over to journalism and tear out the front page. Then we'll go to the medical school and autograph some casts. Then we'll go to home economics and have lunch.

And between classes we'll smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. This, let me emphasize, is not an added filip to the broadening of our education. This is an essential. To learn to live fully and well is an important part of education, and Marlboros are an important part of living fully and well. What a sense of completeness you will get from Marlboro's fine tobaccos, from Marlboro's pure filter! What flavor Marlboro delivers! Through that immaculate filter comes flavor in full measure, flavor without stint or compromise, flavor that wrinkled care derides, flavor holding both its sides. This triumph of the tobacco artist's art comes to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box and can be lighted with match, lighter, candle, Welsbach mantle, or by rubbing two small Indians together.

When we have embarked on this new regimen—or, more accurately, lack of regimen—we will soon be cultured as all get out. When strangers accost us on the street and say, "What was Wordsworth doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey, hey?" we will no longer slink away in silent abashment. We will reply loud and clear:

"As any truly educated person knows, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats used to go to the Widdicombe Fair every year for the poetry-writing contests and three-legged races, both of which they enjoyed lyrically. Well sir, imagine their chagrin when they arrived at the Fair in 1776 and learned that Oliver Cromwell, uneasy because Guy Fawkes had just invented the spinning jenny, had cancelled all public gatherings, including the Widdicombe Fair and Liverpool. Shelley was so upset that he drowned himself in a butt of malmsey. Keats went to London and became Charlotte Bronte. Wordsworth ran blindly into the forest until he collapsed in a heap ten miles above Tintern Abbey. There he lay for several years, sobbing and kicking his little fat legs. At length, peace returned to him. He looked around, noted the beauty of the forest, and was so moved that he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees . . . And that, smart-apple, is what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey."

Campus Leaders Announce Meeting To Brief Spring Workshop Delegates

Students planning to attend the Payson leadership workshop must be present at the pre-Payson meeting April 18, at 7:30 p.m. in BA 105, according to Dean George Hamm, workshop advisor.

Students who attend will receive instruction, room assignments and workshop materials. A $5 registration fee must be paid to the business office, MU 207, before the meeting.

Eighty-five students are expected to attend this year's workshop which will feature speakers Dr. Kurt Klein, University of Bonn professor and Robert Bale, outstanding public relations figure.

Included in the workshop program will be discussions and panels on every phase of student government, social and religious activities and addresses by outstanding ASU figures, according to Dean Hamm.

More About—

Candidates And Speeches

dent handbook should be published so that the students can be made aware of what the senate does and what it can do for them."

Stewart pointed out that since the senate has a dual purpose, to investigate and to legislate, the vice president should be equally qualified to serve in both capacities.

Joe Sparks, candidate for AMS president feels that AMS can be best strengthened through two programs, academic and intramurals.

Karl Wochner, also seeking the AMS presidential office, stressed improvements in five areas. Among those mentioned were improved academic atmosphere and the creation of a student participation chart. Wochner added, "The average college man owes two things to AMS — participation and respect."

AWS presidential candidates Paula Eisenman and Martha Dillner expressed a desire for better understanding of AWS and the women's place in it.

While discussing proposed improvements, Martha Dillner said, "I feel that AWS could and should raise its own scholarship fund." She added, "Perhaps we could sell monthly late night privileges."

Paula Eisenman, while elaborating on the idea of better understanding of AWS said, "I would like to see more just for fun get-togethers for the women students. In this way I think the girls would come to know one another better and would thus contribute to better cooperation when working on AWS projects."

Other candidates on today's ballot include Ann Malene and Charlotte Land — AWS secretary; Marty Stellhorn and Jill Johnson—AWS treasurer; Dick Shankland and Alan Bunch — AMS vice president. ### Book Review -

Cartoonist Creates Smiles With Warm Puppy Humor

By ED GASSER
Happiness Is A Warm Puppy - Charles M. Schultz, Determined Productions Inc. ($2.00)

"Happiness Is A Warm Puppy" combines homespun definitions of happiness, such as "Happiness is sleeping in your own bed, Happiness is a bread and butter sandwich folded over" and 28 others, with enjoyable Peanuts cartoons.

THE PAGES in this epitomy of simplicity sport colors as warm as any puppy, colors designed to warm the hearts of prospective buyers chilled by the realization that this $2.00 hard-bound book can be read cover to cover in 3½ minutes.

Here is a book that can be read and understood while unobtrusively browsing through it at the book shelf. Does this hurt sales? No!

The publisher identifies himself as Determined (to make sales). Readers who want to reach for "Happiness" when feeling sad, regardless of where they are, are willing to buy the compact book of overflowing warmth.

Schultz stokes the definitions with cartoons of his ever-smiling friends, Charlie Brown, Lucy, Linus, Schroeder and warm puppy - Snoopy. Their happy carefree childhood activities add universal appeal and understanding. The cartoons could even be colored in - with warm colors of course.

Cartoonist-author Schultz could well be muttering this new definition, "Happiness is your book on the best seller list." "Happiness" fluctuated on the ten-best-seller list and after more than four months of maneuvering, last week was number one (Time Mar. 29).

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin-Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving-nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

How intelligent!

Entered for ASU are Craig Carlson, Ted Winston, Paul Cullom, Jan Powell and Keith Miller.

The match will be held at the University courts adjacent to Apache Blvd. and Forrest Ave., in Tempe.

Bulletin

Arizona State's baseball team defeated the Grand Canyon College nine yesterday afternoon in Tempe, 6-4.

The Sun Imps downed Santa Monica City College, 6-2, in the preliminary contest.

Kavgian, Hyde Injured Wildcats Win Two Of Three

OUT FOR THE YEAR? — Bob Kavgian, Sun Devil outfielder from Somerville, Mass., injured his back last weekend in the series with the University of Arizona. Team trainer Jim Railey said the ASU batting star will probably be out of action for the remainder of the season. Kavgian was batting at a .327 clip and will be a definite loss to the Sun Devil batting strength.

ASU's baseball team, suffering defensive lapses afield, regrouped itself behind the shut-out pitching of Sterling Slaughter to dump the University of Arizona, 2-0, in the final of three games Saturday.

The Wildcats capitalized on Devil errors in the first two games Friday night and Saturday afternoon for 6-2 and 9-8 victories at Tucson Hi Corbett Field. The wins gave UofA a 2-1 Western Athletic Conference record.

Slaughter threw strikes by the Wildcats for 11 innings before the Devil batsmen, who continued their hitting slump, picked up two runs. The 5-11 senior hurler only allowed two men as far as third base.

Slaughter, in fanning 15 men, set a new school record for a single season, 87 strike outs in 51 1/3 innings. The old record was 74.

A SINGLE by Dick Heiden, his first hit of the season, drove home John Ruedy with the winning run. Alan Schmelz scored the other tally on a throwing error by UofA shortstop Bob Maxwell.

The Devils were minus their two top hitters as Merrill Hyde (.346) suffered a twisted knee while chasing a fly ball Friday (which turned into an inside-the-park home run) and Bob Kavgian (.327) was left home with a back injury.

ERRORS RUINED ASU in the Saturday afternoon 9-8 contest, losing 4-1 and 8-5 leads on five boots and only four UofA hits. For contrast, all eight ASU runs were earned while the Wildcats tallied only four.

Devils Blessed With The Best

By DICK MULLINS

When Henry Carr was eight years old he was the fastest kid in the block. Today he very likely could be the fastest man in the world.

Not very long ago, Henry was not widely known. Then came the night of March 19 and a dual track meet between Utah and Arizona State University. The 6-3, 190-pound Sun Devil soph ran the 220 around a curve in 20.4 seconds, or one-tenth of a second under the world record.

Unfortunately, however, although Carr was in world record form, ASU's Goodwin Stadium was not. Officials had not anticipated any world record efforts and as a result the wind guage was not properly positioned, the starting line was not in the right place and the track had not been surveyed.

NONPLUSED, Carr did it again. The next Saturday night in a triangular meet between the Devils, University of Southern California and Arizona, Carr ran a 20.3 in the 220 around a full curve. This time the wind guage was properly positioned and showed no wind, the starting line was correct and the track had been surveyed.

It appears Henry will get his world record. The former mark of 20.5 was held jointly by Stone Johnson of Gambling, Paul Drayton of Villanova and Ray Norton of the Santa Clara Youth Village.

"There's no telling how fast Carr can run," is the statement of ASU Coach Senon (Baldy) Castillo. "I think he's a world record threat in three events — the 100, 220 and 440."

CARR'S TRACK career started in a most un auspicious manner. As a sophomore at Northwestern High School in Detroit, Henry answered the first track call of the spring. His events — the high jump and cross country.

Fortunately for Henry, his coach — Tom Hendricks — had all his track prospects take time trials in the sprints. One look at the watch after a sprint and Henry was converted from 26-mile to 100 yard races.

Carr's track career in high school was fabulous. Three times he won the state title in the 100 and 220. Twice he was state broad jump champion.

He was equally impressive in football. In one game he scored seven touchdowns. He won all-city, all-state and all-America honors in football and track. He also was a standout in basketball.

IT WAS FOOTBALL, however, that brought him to Arizona State University. Frank Kush, ASU head coach, corralled Henry and maintains his football potential is equal to his track.

"If you get 'Coach of the Year,'" Kush tells Castillo, "I'm expecting you to acknowledge me in the audience." Kush did not require Henry to participate in spring football drills, thus stepping up his pace in training for track.

Henry's plans for the future are clearly defined. He hopes to qualify and participate in the 1964 Olympics in Japan. He also hopes to make the U.S. team which will compete against the Russians in Moscow this summer.

Saturday's Meet Could Be Tops

By ALAN MICHAELS

Some of the greatest track and field performers in this country will display their talents Saturday night when ASU hosts an all-comers meet at Goodwin Stadium.

The meet is replacing a dual affair, originally scheduled for that evening, between the Sun Devils and Long Beach State.

Most of the Devil opposition will be provided by the Southern California Striders, under the guidance of former Occidental track coach Chuck Coker.

THE STRIDERS BOAST Olympic broad jump champion Ralph Boston, 16-foot pole vaulter Ron Morris, high jumper Joe Faust and a mile relay team capable of providing A-State's record holding foursome with their toughest competition of the season.

Boston, the first man in history to clear 27 feet, will be trying to regain his old world's record presently held by Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan.

Former USC product Morris can expect some tough competition from ASU's John Rose in the pole vault.

Rose has cleared 15-6 1/4 this year and has an indoor leap of 15-8 to his credit.

IN THE 440, A-State's Ullis Williams will be facing Mike Larrabee (45.9), Bob Karlsrud (46.4), Gary Comer (46.6) and teammates Ron Freeman (47.0) and Mike Barrick (47.6).

Williams has an all-time best of 45.8.

In the two-mile event the Striders have entered ex-San Jose State great Charley Clark (8:45.2).

IN THE SPRINTS, ASU's Henry Carr will be facing Doug Smith and Willie Williams

While Carr is the best in the world at 220 yards, both Smith and Williams have run the 100 in 9.4.

Field events will commence at 7:30 with running events slated at 8.

Basketball Team Honored By ASU

By JOHN NADEL

Sun Devil veterans Tony Cerkvnik and Joe Caldwell shared the Most Valuable Player Award presented at the annual basketball banquet in the MU ballroom Monday night.

Caldwell led the nationally ranked Devils in scoring while Cerkvnik was rated the most consistent player.

"Cerk" capped his college career with a 14 point game and a leading 18 rebound effort in the West's 82-79 victory over the East Sunday in the 12th annual Shrine game at Kansas City.

Cerkvnik also won the "E" or effort award. Junior center Art Becker won the Most Improved Player nomination.

Honorary co-captains for the 1962-63 season, selected by team members, were Cerkvnik and Bobby Howard.

Caldwell and Becker also were honored for their national recognition.

Joe won Helm's All-America honors and Look Magazine's All-District honors, while Becker was named to the All-Academic All-America first team.

Off The Cuff

JOE HEATH
 Sports Editor

A good chance for publicity for the Arizona State track team was spoiled last weekend by ole' man weather as the Berkeley oval soaked up rain like the Arizona desert.

A good clean victory over the Bears and the Spartans would have been a step higher in the national recognition of the athletic program at ASU.

However, a good night this weekend would put the Devils on the front section of the L.A. sports pages.

This all-comers track meet could possibly be one of the highlights of the year in track and field and its a good bet that it will be the toughest all around competition that the Devils will face this year.

Henry Carr, Ullis Williams and the Devil mile relay squad will have to be in top form to keep with their undefeated ways and with the keen competition that will be facing these men, fans have a good chance of seeing records fall by the way.

BASKETBALL FANS AT ASU were somewhat disappointed last weekend when the coast-to-coast television broadcast of the East-West Shrine basketball game in Kansas City was canceled.

The game had been scheduled for a Sunday afternoon broadcast but was called off due to a conflicting program.

Nevertheless, Tony Cerkvnik, about the only unall-American in the game paced the West to an 82-79 win over the East.

"The Horse" pulled down 18 rebounds and netted 14 points for the winning team.

He missed the most valuable player award by the thickness of the glass backboard and I personally feel that the reason he didn't get it was that he was comparatively unknown.

All that Tony had to say when he got home is that "it sure was a pretty trophy."

HOWEVER, Tony and the rest of the Devils, took home more brass this past season than ever before and you can bet that they're darn proud of it.

"The Horse" even has a new watch compliments of the Shriners.
