

Carr, Carter Named Top Men

Professor To Join Faculty

President of Montana State University, Dr. H. K. Newburn, recently has been appointed professor of education at ASU and will assume duties next fall.

Dr. G. Homer Durham, in announcing the appointment, stated, "President Newburn's acceptance of the position as professor of education brings to the campus a teacher-scholar of national prominence, one who is thoroughly familiar with the problems of American higher education."

After serving as dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Iowa State University and president of the University of Oregon, Newburn left the United States to work as an educational consultant for the Agency for International Development in Venezuela.

In 1957 he carried out a similar assignment with the U.S. Operations Mission in Brazil.

Last year Dr. Newburn was appointed as one of Montana's delegates to the Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education.

As ASU's new educational professor, he holds two doctor's degrees — a doctor of philosophy and an honorary doctor of humane letters degree.

Moeur Award To Be Given At Assembly

Betty Lu Franks will be officially presented the Moeur Award at the ASU Honors Convocation Friday at 10:40 a.m. in the MU ballroom.

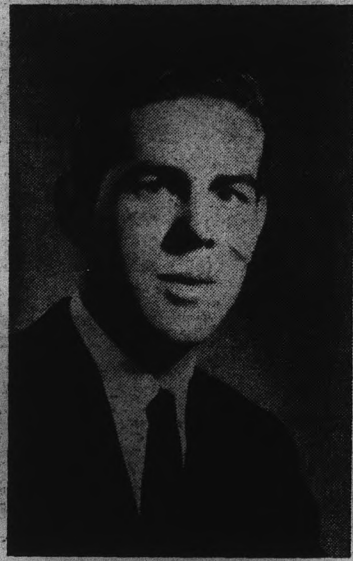

The Moeur Award is annually given to the senior with the highest scholastic record.

Mrs. Franks will receive the Kappa Delta Pi scholarship key for the best grade index in the College of Education. She will also be honored by Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary.

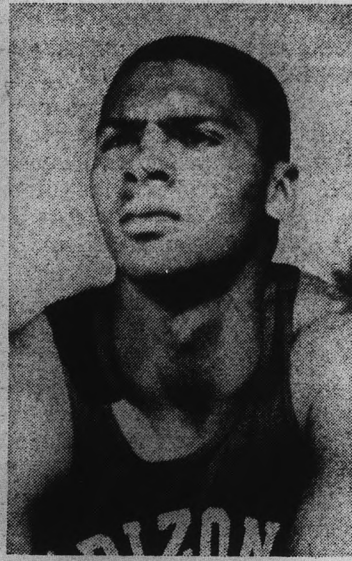

Approximately 50 other students will be honored at the convocation.

Speaker for the assembly will be Dr. Laurence M. Gould, president-elect of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and professor of geology at the UofA.

The convocation is open to the public.

Outstanding Men Honored By AMS

ASASU President Bob Carter was named ASU All Around Man last night at the AMS Awards Banquet in the MU ballroom.

Henry Carr, ASU football and track star, was named ASU Athlete of the Year. The Outstanding Men's President Award went to Doug Zimmerman, AMS president.

Selections were made from nominees picked by a committee of students and administrators.

OTHERS honored were Staff Member, Dean George Hamm, assistant to the dean of men; Outstanding Adviser, Richard O. Findley, executive manager, Associated Students, ASU, and ASU-AMS Committee Chairman Award, Dick Scott.

Peter Shepard Rose received the Academic Achievement Award and Bob Reynolds was selected for the Rally and Tradition Board Pep Award.

INTRAMURAL Athlete of the Year is Rick Clelland of Hooters, Inc. with 59½ points. Following him were Dave Reitow, also of Hooters, Inc., with 51 points; Mike Holmes, Hooters, Inc., 51 points; Stan Sims, Hooters, Inc., 35 points; Chuck Holley, Hooters, Inc., 27 points.

Also, Art Holley, Independent, 27 points; Ron Jepson, Delta Sigma Phi, 26½ points; John Pontier, Phi Sigma Kappa, 23 points; Skip Adams, Hooters, Inc., 23 points, and Pete Tyson, Phi Sigma Kappa, with 22 points.

Intramural trophies were also presented. Phi Delta Theta received the volleyball trophy; Rejects, the football trophy; Alpha Tau Omega, the basketball trophy; F.A.C., the softball trophy.

Also, Hooters, Inc., the swimming trophy; Hayden Hall, track trophy; Sigma Nu, bowling trophy; Delta Sigma Phi, wrestling trophy.

THE Outstanding Hall was Hayden Hall. Outstanding managers were Mike Holmes, Hooters, Inc., and Stan Wright, Phi Delta Theta.

1962-63 champion was Hooters, Inc., and in second place was Phi Delta Theta.

The top 10 organizations included: Hooters, Inc., with 222½ points; Phi Delta Theta, 214 points; Sigma Chi, 194 points; Delta Sigma Phi, 191 points; Alpha Tau Omega, 188½ points; Phi Sigma Kappa, 173½ points.

Following were Sigma Nu, 162½ points; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 152½ points; Pi Kappa Alpha, 124½ points, and Theta Delta Chi, with 121 points.

Special Session Set By Senate

New and old senators will meet today for a special training program in the year's last session of the Senate in the Senate chambers at 3:45 p.m.

Newly elected senators are required by statute to attend the training session, stated Karl Wochner, chairman of the program.

"Outstanding Senator of the Year" will be announced at today's meeting.

Special Session Called By Governor Fannin

Governor Paul Fannin said Saturday that he will call a second special session of the 26th Arizona Legislature, with ASU's capital outlay funds for fiscal 1963-64 being among its business.

Fannin indicated Monday that he may call the legislature into session immediately rather than waiting until the first of June as previously planned.

Governor Fannin stated that the business of the special session will be limited to:

Providing funds for construction and land acquisition at the state's two universities and college.

Amending the law so the state hospital can complete its half-finished new administration building.

Providing operation funds for the state hospital's mental health clinic in Tucson.

Arizona's three schools of higher learning originally requested through the Regent's $13.7 million. The Senate cut it in the regular session to $9,066,000 with the House slicing this to $6.6 million.

The regular session adjourned without solving the differences over the capital funds.

Saturday, Fannin proposed both sides accept the Senate figure of $9 million. The House held firm to its $6.6 million.

ASU Foundation Grants Fellowships

ASU Foundation Graduate Research Fellowships for the 1963-64 academic year have been awarded to Mrs. Barbara B. Knowles and Ronald M. Meldrum, both of Tempe.

Announcement of the fellowships was made recently by President G. Homer Durham, following selection based on recommendation of the University Research committee.

MRS. KNOWLES, who is working with Professor Charles Woolf on problems in genetics, received the bachelor's degree from Middlebury College in Vermont.

In 1961 she started her graduate work at ASU and will complete her research for a master's degree in the fall of 1963.

Along with Dr. William Northey as her research adviser, Mrs. Knowles will do research and doctoral work in immunology.

MELDRUM completed undergraduate study at the University of British Columbia.

From the University of Washington at Seattle, he received a master of arts degree where he was a teaching assistant in the department of English.

With special emphasis on Shakespeare, his doctoral work is in English literature.

Dr. Bruce Harris is his faculty adviser.

"THE PROBLEM of the Allegorical Interpretation of Shakespeare's Last Plays" is the title of Meldrum's master thesis.

Tomorrow Set For Sahuaro Distribution

Nearly 4,000 copies of the 384-page Sahuaro yearbook will be distributed to students beginning at 9 a.m. tomorrow, according to Gary Avey, editor.

The books may be picked up in the MU cloak room (200c) from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

The 9-by-12 inch book will feature 14 full color and 60 two-color pages. This year's cover is white with a silver and blue design.

Only students who have receipts may pick up copies.

Final payments of $3 must be made upon delivery.

Summer Registration Material To Be Distributed May 27, 28, 29

Registration materials for the first summer session will be distributed in the patio of the Social Sciences building May 27, 28 and 29 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., according to Galen Cassity, associate registrar.

If materials are not picked up on these days they will be available in the PE Annex on registration day, June 17.

A pre-session, a post-session and two regular summer sessions will be offered.

The pre-session will begin June 3. The first five-week summer session will run from June 17 to July 20. A second session will run from July 22 to August 24. August 26 to September 7 has been set for a post-session.

Fees for the summer sessions are $11.25 per semester hour plus a $3.50 service fee.

Architects' Award Agenda Lists $4,200 For Recipients

The ASU School of Architecture will present awards totaling $4,200 to students at the sixth annual awards dinner tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the MU ballroom.

Guests are invited to a selective exhibition of student work in MU 218 at 6 p.m.

Houston architect William Caudill will address the group on the subject "Architecture and People." Lewis J. Ruskin will preside during the presentation of awards, prizes and scholarships.

Greetings at the dinner, which is co-sponsored by the ASU student chapter and the Central Arizona Chapter of the American Institute of Architects will be extended by David Klemt, student chapter president; Charles Hickman, president, Central Arizona Chapter, and James W. Elmore, director, ASU School of Architecture.

Additions, Changes Fill New University Catalog

The official publication governing the educational procedures at ASU during 1963-65, the biennial catalog, will be released Monday, May 20, according to Dr. H. D. Richardson, academic vice president.

Only a few first copies will be available on the 20th with none being available to students until a later announcement.

ASU's 1963-65 catalog will include listings of new degrees, new fees, organization changes and new courses plus more general and specific information, according to Dr. Richardson.

SEVEN ADDITIONAL bachelor degrees and a variety of master and doctor degrees will be available in the four undergraduate colleges, four professional schools, two divisions and 43 departments.

Those bachelor degrees available will be bachelor of arts, science, architecture, science in engineering, science in nursing, arts in education and music and fine arts.

This fall a single registration fee will be in effect; $115, instead of the present $103.50 plus laboratory fees.

DR. RICHARDSON said that these organization changes will take effect: the College of Applied Arts and Sciences will be the College of Engineering Sciences; the School of Nursing will be independent of the College of Liberal Arts; Sociology and Anthropology will be separate departments and an addition will be the Graduate School of Social Service Administration.

Conversion of the Division of Industrial Education into the Division of Industrial Design and Technology has resulted with fields of specialization in aeronautics, electronics, graphic arts, tool, manufacturing and welding technology and technical design.

Award Initiated For Best Thesis

Dr. Arnold Tilden, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, has inaugurated an annual $100 award to the Liberal Arts student who writes the most outstanding honors thesis.

Each of the 120 senior students enrolled in the program must complete a thesis to fulfill graduation requirements.

Seven theses are entered in the 1963 competition. The seven will be judged by the honors council of the College of Liberal Arts and the winner will be announced later this month.

Dr. Tilden was originator of the honors program, now in its fourth year.

British Professor To Lecture Here

Dr. Kurt A. Hirsch of Queen Mary College, University of London, will lecture at the ASU Math Club Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Physical Sciences 100.

Dr. Hirsch will speak on "The Axiomatic Method." The talk is open to all ASU students and the public.

The National Science Foundation Visiting Scientists Project is sponsoring Dr. Hirsch's visit.

A Need Defined

Prayer Breakfast Address Links Faith And Leadership

By TOM WING

What leadership in America needs today more than anything else is a return to the "basic truth—a realization that there is a God, as is indicated by the Declaration of Independence."

This was Dr. J. Edwin Orr's message for the 50 honored guests at the first annual ASU Presidential Prayer Breakfast hosted by President Bob Carter Friday morning in the MU.

Dr. Orr, distinguished Oxford scholar, speaker and author, emphasized his point by declaring a need for a return to the type of living exemplified by a fear of God.

"Necessity of Faith Among Leaders" was the title of Dr. Orr's 40-minute address.

The Irish scholar, who has traversed 140 countries and spoken on university campuses in six continents, opened by quoting, "We hold these truths . . . that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights . . ."

Thus, he said, the Founding Fathers avoided the mistake we often make today—attributing our land and success to ourselves and our fighting victories. The Founders justly gave credit to the "Creator."

Secondary Guidance To Be Institute Topic

The U.S. Office of Education has awarded ASU a $78,043 contract to conduct a guidance and counseling training institute beginning next September.

The Guidance and Counseling Institute is designed to improve the qualifications of secondary school teachers preparing for careers in guidance and counseling.

ASU is one of 23 universities in the country selected to conduct such programs under the National Defense Education Act.

This institute will be the sixth of its kind on the ASU campus.

Thirty teachers will receive fellowships to the institute which will be directed by Dr. Sanford Davis, chairman of the ASU department of educational psychology and guidance.

Summer's Easy - What About Fall?

By BOB HUDNALL
Theoretically and lyrically, too, summertime is traditionally easy living time; the time when we rush away from books and live it up.

It also is the time to make all that money for next year's struggle.

WE HOPE everything is summer and roses with your vacation plans, but we would like to pass a little information along to the unfortunate student who might get nipped by an unusual financial frost.

If your plans go awry and your budget flies away, don't give up school this fall. If you live close enough to the University, visit Dr. Woodrow Nold, financial aid officer.

IF YOU LIVE too far away, write to Dr. Nold. Send him an estimate of how much you need for school, give your accumulative grade index and ask him for the proper loan application forms.

Don't wait until registration day to try and get a loan, for applications take 20 to 30 days to process.

DON'T PANIC when you find yourself in a deep freeze. You aren't alone. This current school year over 1,400 loans in the total of $515,700 were approved and processed by the University.

According to Dr. Nold, any qualified needy and worthy student who has the proper grades, good character and who can show a reasonable budget or is able to substantiate extenuating circumstances to the above, may receive a loan.

So whether this summer is a financial breeze or a blizzard don't give up school - you'll lose a lifetime investment needlessly.

Plaudits To ASU Forum

Congratulations to the ASU forum for sponsoring the appearance of William Buckley, Jr., editor of National Review magazine, on campus this week.

It's time more emphasis was placed on sponsoring national figures who are willing to speak before Arizona State audiences.

ASU is a growing university with a top notch athletic department, a constantly increasing honors program, an accredited architecture, business and engineering school and promised advancement in many other phases of university life.

Intellectual and cultural events are a vital part of this growing university, where dances, receptions and light discussions are confused with real intellectual and cultural events.

The 1962-63 school year at ASU was marked by the appearance of Thruston Morton, Vance Packard and William F. Buckley, Jr.

These names will set the pace for future ASU guest lecturers. Congratulations, both to those who planned it and those who were fortunate enough to hear any of these speakers. ASU is on the way up in every facet of our education program, not too much emphasis on any particular part, but a solid educational program with extra curricular activities equally balancing it.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I am trying to contact any students on the campus who will be juniors, seniors, or graduates next year, and who are interested in the cold war.

If enough such people exist, it might be possible to form an ASU Cold War Study Group, beginning next fall.

PREFERABLY, members should have an above average cumulative grade index, and be willing to spend from three to five hours per week studying and discussing such books as "The Ugly American," "Darkness At Noon," "Protracted Conflict," and "American Strategy for the Nuclear Age."

The sort of people best suited for this endeavor would be those who are not so far Right as to think that the United States Supreme Court is filled with subversives, and not so far Left as to think that the only way to world peace is through unilateral American disarmament.

IN SHORT, I am looking for students who do not already know all the answers, but who have a desire to learn through careful and scholarly inquiry.

An ASU Cold War Study Group could perform several valuable services for the university and surrounding communities. It could compile booklists of the many excellent works in the field, providing a guide for the use of other groups and individuals.

IT COULD either stage or sponsor debates, discussions, and speakers on cold war topics, thereby helping to foster objective and rational attitudes toward cold war problems.

Students interested in joining such a group should send a post card stating their interest, together with their name, phone number, campus address, and home address to:

TO THE EDITOR:

The University Players would like to express their appreciation for the excellent coverage the State Press has given to theater activities on our campus during the past year. The large student attendance at our plays this year attests to the effectiveness of the articles and pictures that have appeared in the Press.

We are very grateful for your support.

Sincerely,
The University Players

TO THE EDITOR:

Why are some students noisy in the MU upper lounge?

I realize that it is usually reserved for meetings, but the main floor lounge is filled with noisy piano music and card players, so where is a student to study between classes?

The few times the upper lounge is open, the uncouth, inconsiderate students there make it hard for one to study.

They seem to talk about anything but schoolwork. Others bring everything except a pillow and "flake out" on a convenient couch.

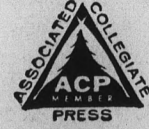

If only the talkers could talk softer and the sleepers save their sleep for the classroom, a study atmosphere might prevail.

Bill Conklin

It's The Catalog That Was Wrong

Only two weeks of school remain. Everyone seems to be walking faster to and from classes. Backlogged assignments and semester-end term papers demand immediate attention. The rush is on to read remaining chapters before finals. The pace is always quickened this time of year.

BUT EVEN with studies extending into early morning, now is the time and opportunity to examine our courses and instructors. How different are things than we first expected?

Taking a moment for scrutiny, you may find that for your course in Eskimo Social Subcultures (ESS 396), you're frantically trying to finish the reading assignments on migration problems of ruby eyed kinglets. What do ruby eyed kinglets have to do with ESS 396?

YOU DON'T know of course, but since the class has studied the kinglet bird for the last six weeks, you ask your instructor. You soon realize that was a mistake! He pulls out his Audubon membership card and then proceeds to tell you how he spotted his first kinglet in the pine country of northern Wisconsin in Sept., 1932. He can give the exact location, time of day and maybe even the weather conditions at the time.

But you plead, what has this to do with the Eskimos of ESS 396 you were anxious to learn about? The real answer is—precisely nothing. It was you who thought Eskimo Social Subcultures was about Eskimos. If you had the intention of learning about Eskimos, that was your misconception. Just because the catalogue read: "ESS 396—the study of Eskimo social patterns, living conditions and customs," that doesn't mean the instructor would lecture on Eskimos.

WELL, the final is coming on and the closest any of his lectures came to Eskimos was the one he gave on the increasing scarcity of the fake-tusk walrus. And you can bet that he's designing the final as if you were an ornithologist devoting your life to the study of ruby eyed kinglets or had hunted walrus for the Alaskan fur market.

By the end of the year you've probably learned your lesson. Next year if you're still interested in Eskimos you can take a course in Devonian Geology and satisfy your curiosity about Eskimo culture.

Why doesn't the instructor teach what the catalog lists for the course? Ask him and he'll say the catalog was wrong. And he's nearly right—he has to be. He's been giving the same lecture for nine semesters. It's the darn catalog that wasn't up to date!

Goldwater Will Keynote ROTC Honors Ceremony

Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, an often cited possible 1964 Republican nominee for president, will deliver the key address at ASU's annual ROTC honors ceremony and parade at 8 p.m. Friday, May 31, in Goodwin Stadium.

Lt. Col. Jack Armstrong, professor of air science and project chairman, announced the choice of speaker yesterday.

THE JOINT Army-Air Force ROTC program, in which approximately 2,300 cadets will participate, will honor members of both corps for their outstanding ROTC achievements. Many awards will be presented to seniors who will receive commissions in the Air Force or Army during ASU's 77th annual Commencement exercises June 4 in Sun Devil Stadium.

Senator Goldwater began his first national term in 1953, has been elected twice and will be up for re-election in 1964. He served on the Phoenix City Council from 1949 to 1952.

AUTHOR OF the book "Conscience of a Conservative," Goldwater is considered to be the leader of one conservative branch of the GOP.

The speaker was chairman of the senate Republican campaign committee for four years.

Goldwater is a member of the Senate's Armed Services and Labor, Education and Welfare committees and previously served on the Interior and Insular Affairs committee.

A lieutenant at the end of World War II, Goldwater organized Arizona's Air National Guard and now holds the rank of major general in the Air Force Reserve.

Senator Goldwater was a ferry pilot in the Air Transport Command and participated in the only trans-Atlantic flight of a single-engine fighter aircraft during WW II.

Annual Publication Awards Go To Campus Journalists

By MIKE LONGSTRETH

Outstanding student journalists were honored with awards which included two $1,000 scholarships at the annual Publications Awards Banquet Friday.

John Nadel, sophomore journalism major, received the annual Eugene C. Pulliam-Sigma Delta Chi scholarship along with Bob Zache who received the renewal scholarship.

The grant, awarded for the junior year and renewable for the senior year of study, is awarded yearly by Pulliam, publisher of the Arizona Republic and Phoenix Gazette, to a male sophomore student chosen by the campus chapter of the national professional journalism society, Sigma Delta Chi.

Speaking at the Mass Communication's banquet, was Dr. Nicholas Dallis, creator of the nationally-syndicated cartoon series "Rex Morgan, M.D.," "Judge Parker" and "Apartment 3-G." Dallis spoke on "My Life With Comic Strip Heroes."

Paul Schatt, journalism student at Central High School, was presented the Pi Delta Epsilon Outstanding Valley High School Journalist trophy.

High scholarship honors for a graduating senior went to John F. Lovett who received the Sigma Delta Chi Outstanding Graduating Senior Award. Lovett, who has a 3.5 cumulative average, will receive the bachelor's degree in June.

Awards for outstanding achievement in journalism sponsored by Valley publishing firms went to four students.

The McGrew Printing Co.

award was presented to Robert Zache, spring semester editor of the State Press.

The Tyler Printing Co. award was made to Jerry Reilly, recently named fall semester editor of the State Press.

The Tempe Daily News award was presented to Mrs. Linda Warren Sims, editor of the State Press last semester.

The Mesa Tribune award for an outstanding freshman journalism record was presented to Janet Bergman.

Eight awards were presented to State Press staff members for outstanding work on the student newspaper. Awards and their recipients included, most valuable staff member, Tom Wing; outstanding freshman, Troy Irvine; outstanding reporter, Betsy Frith.

Regional IFC Meet Held

The Western Regional Interfraternity Council, which includes all associations of IFC in the Western regions of the United States and all of Canada, recently held its annual meeting in Los Angeles, Calif.

Members attending from ASU were IFC President Sandy Chamberlin, Past President Jerry Sullivan, Richard Vincent, Ed Royse, George Abbey, Graham Dorland, Allen Bunch, Steve Bingham and Dean Gary Anderson.

The meeting was a workshop to exchange ideas and information on projects and rush techniques.

Bob Bonitati, ASU graduate student, was elected president for the coming year and George Abbey was elected treasurer. Dean Anderson was elected as adviser.

ASU will host the next Western Regional Interfraternity Council in April, 1964.

Bob Alberti Will Leave

Robert Alberti, MU program director, will join the staff of his alma mater, California State Polytechnical Institute, next fall as assistant to the vice president, MU director, Mrs. Cecelia Scoular, announced today.

Alberti has been the program and activities director here since June of 1962.

Alberti revealed Tuesday that he decided to accept the California position only after long consideration. He said he had not planned to leave ASU, but the opportunity was one which he could not turn down.

Army Basics' Uniforms Due

Freshmen Jo Lockhart and Susan Quick will represent ASU Aug. 29-31 at the biennial Christian Science meeting at the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Each student will participate in plenary sessions, workshops and on panels.

Experienced workers will share inspiring messages during the meeting.

Miss Quick is the president and Miss Lockhart is the secretary-treasurer of the ASU chapter.

Hillel will install officers May 19 at 7:30 at the Jewish Community Center, 1710 W. Maryland, Phoenix.

Officers are Stan Grossman, president; Diane Rosen, vice president; Myrna Kadish, secretary, and Mel Miller, treasurer.

The Phi Psi chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma will have a banquet May 20 at 6 p.m. at Harman's.

Following the banquet, all members of the LDS faith are invited to the Honors Night at the Institute.

Dr. Lv. Richardson will present the diplomas for graduate and post-graduate studies at the Institute.

Twenty-two students will receive the 3-year degrees which requires 12 hours of religious studies. Three students will receive the 4-year degree which requires 16 hours.

'Anne Frank' Movie Planned

Cultural Affairs will present "The Diary of Anne Frank" tomorrow and Friday at 7:30 in Cosner Auditorium.

Starring Millie Perkins in her film debut, the motion picture involves eight people hiding in an attic during the Nazi occupation of Holland.

Anne Frank, one of the eight Jewish people, was a sensitive 14 year old girl, who daily recorded her feelings and experiences.

Rodeo Team To Compete

The Sun Devil rodeo team, third ranked in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, will compete at the Pierce Junior College rodeo in California this Friday and Saturday.

In the recent rodeo at Flagstaff, ASU's Connie Bateman won first place in the Ribbon Roping, and Mike Thomas third. Dick Felton took third in the second go-round of bull-dogging.

The rodeo at Cal Poly in Pomona, Calif. on May 25-26, will be the last in which to compete for points to be eligible for the National finals at Denver in June.

Honorary Elects '63-64 Officers

Members of Pi Omega Pi, national business education honorary, elected officers for 1963-64 at a dinner meeting Monday evening.

The officers are Barbikay Bissell, president; Joycelyn Ong, vice president; Marilyn Dotterer, secretary-treasurer; and Joann Hennington, historian.

Two Pi Omega Pi members will receive awards at the annual convocation Friday. Cecilia Denogean will receive the Pi Omega Pi award for the outstanding undergraduate business education student.

Kathryn Sefferovich has won the outstanding undergraduate secretarial student award given by Alpha Pi Epsilon, secretarial honorary.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it. Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes. So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably? Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect. How intelligent!

Sun Devils Capture Third Place Honors

By ALAN MICHAELS

Victories in three relay events and the javelin sparked Arizona State's track and field team to a third place finish Saturday in the West Coast Relays at Fresno, Calif.

A-State's mile relay combine of Mike Barrick, Henry Carr, Ron Freeman and Uli Williams "loafed" to a 3:10.3 win in its specialty but the 440 and 880-yard relay outfits sped to school records over the Ratcliffe Stadium oval.

Tom Hester, Ben Hawkins, Williams and Carr recorded a 40.6 clocking in the quarter, snapping the 40.7 standard set last season.

In the half-mile event, Hester, Freeman, Williams and Carr turned in a blistering 1:22.9, just three-tenths of a second off the world's record.

Sun Devil Frank Covelli topped his best previous mark of 259-11½ with a heave of 263-9½ in the javelin. Covelli's mark is the second best in the nation this season, ranking only behind a 267-3 effort by Larry Stuart of the University of Southern California.

ASU's John Rose cleared 15-8, his best mark of the outdoor season, in a third place pole vault finish. Rose's previous high was 15-6¼ set in a triangular meet with USC and the UofA March 23.

Ron Morris of the Southern California Striders won the event with a leap of 16-1, a new meet and stadium record.

Rose was involved in a near-miss at the winning height. "I thought Rose had 16-1 made," said Sun Devil Coach Baldy Castillo. "It looked like he cleared the bar with plenty to spare, but he must have flicked it with his elbow."

Final team standings at Fresno placed Southern Cal on top with 56 points to 53 for Stanford and 41 for A-State.

ASU Nine Takes Three From Lobos

By NORDY JENSEN

ASU's Sun Devils closed out a successful baseball season on a happy note last weekend taking three conference games from University of New Mexico.

The Devils bombed Lobo pitching for 11-2 and 10-4 victories Friday and Saturday afternoon and won a squeaker Saturday night, 3-2, on two bases-loaded walks in the bottom of the ninth.

Sterling Slaughter and Gary Graham ended their college careers with wins Friday and Saturday night.

The third graduating hurler, Larry Smith, wasn't quite as fortunate as he suffered control problems and was removed for winner Sam Cook in the Saturday afternoon game.

Slaughter struck out 14 Friday night while scattering eight hits for his 11th win of the season. His nation-leading strike out total now stands at 154.

Graham fanned 12 in the night game Saturday giving up two unearned runs in the fifth. He finished with a 6-3 record.

THE DEVILS went into the ninth inning of the nightcap trailing 2-1, put pulled out the win when Lobo hurler Jay Higgins walked Rich Oliver and Doug Westley with two outs and bases loaded to force in the tying and winning runs.

Slaughter, who played third base for injured John Ruedy, and Dick Heiden each got two hits for ASU.

Ruedy, who collided in short centerfield with Dennis Starkins while chasing a pop fly, collected two hits in the first game, driving in a pair of runs.

LUIS LAGUNAS drove in four runs on two hits before leaving Friday's game after being hit by a pitched ball on the elbow. Doug Westley contributed two hits in the opener.

Supplying the hitting punch in the afternoon game was Dennis Starkins who went three for four and drove in two tallies.

Westley added two RBI's and Jack Handley ended with two hits.

Intramurals

The Intramural program at ASU for the 1962-63 season has come to an end with the Hooters, Inc., being the overall winner.

Phi Delta Theta placed second with Sigma Chi hanging on to the third place spot.

The Hooters polled 222½ points to 214 for the Phi Deltas.
