Regents Accept Hike For 1964-65 Budget

A total operating budget of $13,602,592 was approved for ASU by the Board of Regents at a meeting last Saturday on campus.

The budget is based on a predicted enrollment of 17,500 and is an increase of $960,145 over the current operating budget.

THE BOARD of Regents approved a total operating budget for 1964-65 of $37,879,442 for the state's two universities and college. This amount represents an increase of $3,761,039 over the current operational budgets for the three institutions.

ACTION involving several ASU building projects, totaling more than $4.5 million, was adopted by the board.

The Regents approved final plans for the construction of the Language and Literature building, a 64,000 square-foot addition to the Physical Science building, and seven tennis courts. They authorized Phoenix-area Regents to advertise for bids and award contracts for the projects.

Also approved were preliminary plans for an Industrial Design and Technology building and the contract for construction of a new women's dormitory, Palo Verde West.

The tickets, which may be purchased at the MU information desk, will be offered at $12.50 for the entire series of 10 events, Scouler said.

In other major action, the Regents increased the non-resident tuition $50 per year at all three institutions effective July 1. They rejected a request to hold a professional football game in Sun Devil stadium on Sept. 5, 1964.

The board approved the televising of the ASU-UofA football game on a two-year trial basis, beginning next year at Tucson, providing all tickets are sold by the first of the month preceding the contest.

A TOTAL of $417,342 in research contracts and grants, contracts for educational services, contributions for student financial aid, and gifts of funds and equipment has been received by ASU since July 13, it was reported to the board by President Durham.

It was also reported that the federal government has allocated ASU $250,000 under the National Defense Student Loan Program for use during 1963-64.

Football Coach Clarifies Recent Press Statements

Head football coach Frank Kush clarified a statement this week attributed to him by Dave Hicks in last Friday's Arizona Republic.

The remark concerned a "lack of student body tradition" cited by Kush. It appeared among a list of "shortages" he enumerated on the Sun Devil football scene.

Other named were the lack of internal competition on the squad, ineligibility to win a conference title and lack of so-called "name" opponents on the schedule.

Kush said yesterday that by Others named were the lack he did not mean lack of response from the student section at football games.

Rather, he feels that the situation is much more widespread and fundamental. Specifically, he believes the fact that most ASU students do not live on campus robs them of much of the closeness and identification they would otherwise feel with the University.

Pep rallies, dances, the intramural program and many other areas and activities all demonstrate this, he pointed out.

Scholarship Winner -

A. D. JACOBSEN, president of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, accepts the best accumulative average award for a fraternity from Sandy Chamberlain, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, in the Senate Chamber. The award was presented Thursday afternoon during the meeting of the IFC.

Greek Seminars Commence; First Meet Set For Today

The first of four Greek seminars, co-sponsored by the Inter-fraternity Council and the Dean of Men's office, is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. today, according to Bob Bonitati, assistant to the Dean of Men.

"Financial Management" of limited budget houses is the subject of today's seminar. Bonitati and A. D. Jacobson, president of Phi Delta Theta, will lead the discussion. Nine fraternities are expected to participate.

A seminar on the same subject, for houses with annual budgets of more than $50,000, will convene Oct. 9.

Topics for future meetings will be "Pledge Education" and "Fraternity Scholarship."

Purpose of the series of seminars is to collect new ideas and exchange old ones, said Bonitati.

Forum To Schedule Prominent Speakers

By JERRY LIPMAN

George Stewart, ASU Forum president, has announced the Forum's plan to feature four prominent public affairs speakers during 1963-64.

Among last year's guest lecturers were William F. Buckley, author and editor of National Review; and U. S. Senator Roman L. Hruska (R-Neb.).

DUAL PURPOSES of the Forum are (1) to develop students' cultural, spiritual, and intellectual resources (2) to foster a better understanding of domestic, national and international affairs. Speakers will be contracted who can best support these aims.

Stewart confided, "We feel that students should have an intellectual approach to politics. Too many turn against it because it doesn't incorporate their intellect."

ASU FORUM is described as a non-partisan political education group. It operates with funds received from volunteer contributions and private, interested sources. No student funds are used to finance any speaker's visit.

Student officers, in addition to Stewart, are Marilyn Fullerton, first vice president; Ingrid Swenson, corresponding secretary, and Ann Schneider, recording secretary.

Dr. Keith Davis, professor of management, serves as faculty advisor.

Student Teacher Forms Available

All students planning elementary or secondary student teaching during the spring semester or during the first summer session, 1964, should apply now in ED 119.

The office of student teaching operates on a first-come, first assigned basis in determining where a student teacher will do his student teaching.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

How intelligent!

How come you always buy Keds Court Kings every Fall? Why can't you be like me and try new things—like KEDS' new 'WALKING TWEEDS'?? They're the AUTHENTIC Scottish 'Fannich' check, loomed by Guilford in washable wool, and EXCLUSIVE WITH KEDS!! Why don't you ever try new things, hm?

I guess I just like COURT KING, that's all.

On Being A Cheerleader

Where have all the head cheerleaders gone? Gone from the campi every one—when will they ever learn?

The hazards of being a head cheerleader reached a climax last week when Robert Fifield, University of Arizona "yell king," resigned his cheerleader post.

FIFIELD STATED in his resignation that he "went too far" in trying to generate enthusiasm at their football game with Utah State.

How far is "too far?" What is in "good taste" and what is in "bad taste?" When a head cheerleader is faced with this question, he can only answer on the merits of what he has learned in two or three years as a college student.

IF HE OR SHE FEELS they cannot justify an answer on their collegiate background, they could answer the proposed questions on the merits of who is attending the athletic event.

Parents, brothers, sisters, relatives, friends attend these functions as well. Think of the "Knothole Kids" at each end of the stadium when you get ready to give a cheer—is it good enough for them to hear?

Our own head cheerleader, battle-scarred from the cheering war of '62, related to the State Press one very important point that helps keep him in business.

HE REALIZES the power that is seated in the stands in front of him.

Bordering on the edge of frenzy during a close football game, students can be tempted, cajoled, teased and persuaded to do almost anything he asks.

He realizes this and tries to hold the imaginary reins of control. So far he has succeeded—let's hope he keeps it up.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"NAW-HE ISN'T TH' COACH! HE PASSED TH' ENTIRE BACKFIELD ON AN ENGLISH EXAM JUST BEFORE TH' GAME."

I Cover College Avenue

By ROSS FISH

The blazing "A" above the stadium lasts only a few minutes during half-time ceremonies.

But the view for those who light it remains a lasting memory.

LIGHTING the "A" is an experience each student should include somewhere in his college career.

A few years ago groups covered the rocks of what Tempe called "Pikers' Peak" to watch the game.

This year, the cops outnumber the rocks. They're doing this to be sure no fifth grade athlete will hike up the road to a good-sized rock from where he can cheer on his Sun Devil idol.

The cops also guard off those sweat-shirted slobs who would choose to conceal their stagitis.

AH, BUT then think how many cops are being kept off the dark streets.

Do they have a weekly sweepstakes to see who draws duty on the butte? Just think how revolting it must be to watch the games free and get paid for it.

Of course, there are a few gung-hoers who flash their flashlights around to scare the few who bravely hike over the top of the mountain and discretely select their seats.

WHAT A SHAME that the only ones who can appreciate the best seats in the house are the cops, the organization lighting the "A" and the few flashlight dodgers.

If ever you get the chance, help light the "A".

Watching the game, the half-time ceremonies, the knothole gang, the card section, the rockets—all are impressive.

But even more awesome from the butte is the massive campus skyline.

COLLEGE Avenue sparkles with lights.

They twinkle down the streets, along the palm lane and all over the dorms. Floodlights on the Social Sciences and Education buildings add a glow.

It's hard to believe that only a few years ago ASU was fighting to prove its ability to be a university in name.

Today, there's no question.

FROM THE ROCKS beside the blazing "A", it's plain to see that Arizona State University is every bit the part it's playing.

College Avenue has grown.

From the "A" you can see it all.

Believe me, you walk down the mountain with a new supply of school spirit.

Letters to the Editor—

Legend City Rides Again

In regard to a letter published in the "State Press" on Friday, Sept. 27, 1963 I would like to comment on the treatment of personnel at "Legend City."

I am presently an employee at "Legend City" and have been since the park opened. A lot of college students working out there this summer gave up other jobs because they were told they would have full time employment during the summer.

The hours of park operation were supposed to remain the same during the summer and be cut in the fall. During the first two weeks of operation almost everyone was working 48 hours a week.

During the third week hours were cut and employees laid off.

One employee was cut from 48 hours a week at $1.50 to 11 hours a week at $1.30. Some of the students must rely on a job to pay for their college education. How can a student depend on "Legend City" to earn enough money for school.

I hope something is done to make "Legend City" treat their employees with fairness and respect.

Students Reminded Of Contractual Obligations

By E. J. DEMSON

Student Affairs Committee

To keep students reminded of their contractual obligations to themselves and their university, the editor of the State Press, as a student service, agreed to a request by the university's Student Affairs Committee to print a series of articles dealing with standards of conduct.

THE FIRST, printed last week, alerted the students about their general contractual obligation: to abide by the requirements of the Standards of Conduct as specified on Page 82 of the 1963-64 ASU catalog.

This piece, more specific, exposes the contractual obligation of students under Rules No. 3 and No. 6, which provide:

3. "Has serious or repeated difficulties with law enforcement authorities."

6. "Does not meet his just financial obligations in relations with others and the University."

The university's discipline committee considers a proven breach of these rules — a breach of a contract which can subject a student to suspension or dismissal.

HOWEVER, Government authorities upon complaint of a person other than the university in either of these infractions can deal with it as a civil or criminal offense. The only duty the university's personnel has, when governmental authorities become activated by others, is, upon service of subpoena, to testify.

Hypothetical case concerning Rule 6: A student makes payment of his university tuition or as rent to a landlord by a check which is returned for "insufficient funds." This is a breach of the student's contract with the university, and if it proves to be an inadvertent and not intent, as most of such payments are, the university likes to believe, correction by the drawer can follow immediately by the university's acceptance of a payment by cash, redeposit, or another good check. If the new or redeposit check is again returned marked "insufficient funds," it is a breach of contract, a failure to "meet just financial obligations." Serious counseling is indicated, and if this fails, appearance before the Discipline Committee under Rule No. 6 is in order.

NOW SUPPOSE a student issues an "insufficient-fund" check to, say, his off-campus landlord and doesn't quickly correct the error. It would immediately appear that university is not concerned, and yet under Rule No. 6 it is: "Doesn't meet his financial obligations . . . with others." If a student doesn't pay his bills, the overall rule also applies: . . . detracts from the good name of the university." Many members of the faculty and staff believe the student should be taught, as a part of the educational process, a sense of responsibility to his creditors.)

If the student doesn't make good the check immediately, the landlord can enter a complaint with the proper governmental authorities under provisions of the Arizona Revised Statutes, Sec. 13-316, which in part reads:

"A. A person, who for himself or for another, willfully with intent to defraud, makes, draws, utters, or delivers to another person a check for draft on a bank or depository for the payment of money knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering, or delivery that he or his principal does not have sufficient funds in or credit with such bank or depository to meet the check . . ."

THIS IS a criminal violation, and in U.S. v. Balint 258 United States 250, the court held that ". . . it is immaterial that defendant acted in good faith or did not know that he was violating the law." And in the case of Hargrove v. U.S. (C. C. A. 5th) 67 Federal (2nd) 820, the court held ". . . the law imputes criminal intent from the doing of the act." And again, in Caldwell v. State 55 Texas Criminal Reporter 164, ". . . willful is used in the sense of intentional as distinguished from accidental or involuntary."

The statutes cited above can result, upon trial and finding of guilty, at the discretion of the judge, in a jail or even state penitentiary sentence. (DeConcini v. Sullivan 66 Arizona 348)

IF THE student is in ". . . serious or repeated difficulties with the law . . ." (Rule No. 3) he is notified to appear for a hearing before the Discipline Committee on charges of breach of contract. If he should refuse to appear, the Committee can act to suspend him without his presenting a defense. The opportunity to be heard is the essential requirement.

'White Hats' Take Over Legend City

TO THE EDITOR:

Now that "the eyes of Texas" have been closed on Legend City (the former management having been released) perhaps the true wearers of the white hats, the Crandalls, will have an opportunity to apply scientific management principles, policies and procedures applicable to the Phoenix area.

The trinity of managers claiming youthfulness, vitality and experience gained from the granddaddy of family fun parks, Disneyland, and other theme parks (Freedom Park, New York; Pleasure Island, Boston, and the sacred Six Flags Over Texas, Big-D, Texas) faltered in their attempt to sell Legend City to the Phoenixians.

As early as the 19th of May, when the recently hired students waited 45 minutes for the Legend City Express train to limp around the 87-acre area, an ominous grey cloud of skepticism rose over the six-million dollar project. Shortly before this choking trip, the future hosts and hostesses were told to take a two-week vacation for the first two weeks of June since training would not begin until the 18th.

When the "sparkplugs" of the park returned on the 18th, they were told that training would not be full time, so "rest and recuperate from the vacation;" the park would open the 29th. After two weeks, schedules were cut; another two weeks, and partial layoffs; two weeks more and 50 per cent of the original 300 hosts and hostesses were gone — told that if "things pick up" they would be called.

How many students found other jobs? How many were recalled? How many couldn't find other jobs? How many couldn't return to ASU this fall? How many obligated to apartment landlords, utility companies, etc., were severely inconvenienced by poor planning, organizing and personnel practices?

Guidance Is Job -

Placement Center Purposes Outlined

The ASU Placement Center is not an employment center, but a vocational guidance center that works for the student by trying to match job potential with job opportunity, said Dr. Robert F. Menke, placement director.

Every year, hundreds of government, industrial and business representatives seek promising graduates for employment in their particular branch of business.

The Placement Center functions in these instances by comparing the background information in the files of the registered students with the job qualifications.

The students are interviewed by the business representatives. Not only do these interviews give the student a preview look of what interviews and real job hunting is like, but they give them the early chance for immediate employment upon graduation.

The business representatives want more than just good accountants, teachers and lawyers. They want men and women who will be a credit to their firm because of their sincere job interest and personality, as well as their basic academic qualifications.

A student can't necessarily evaluate for himself what kind of working conditions, job satisfaction and opportunity he needs and wants without the inside look that these interviews can give him in this, his senior year in college, said Dr. Menke.

It is especially important that all seniors and graduate students register at the Placement Center in BA 101 this fall.

The opportunity is there for every student. Registration is the first step.

Radio Panel To Discuss Reservation Attractions

The bureau of business services, College of Business Administration, will present "Tourist Attractions on Arizona Indian Reservations" on the Best of Western Business Roundup radio program this Saturday and Sunday.

Program panelists include Marvin Hull, chairman of the San Carlos Apache Tribal Council; Pete Homer, senior chairman of the Colorado River Tribes; Nelson Jose, governor of the Gila River Indian Community, and Dr. Robert Roessel, director of the ASU Indian Education Center.

Valley residents may hear the broadcast on Saturday at 9:35 a.m. over KOOL radio.

Stations broadcasting the program on Sunday include: KYND at 8:30 a.m.; KALF at 9:30 a.m. and 6:05 p.m.; KPHO at 5:05 p.m., and KOY at 7:30 p.m.

Peace Corps Recruits Help

Placement tests for the Peace Corps will be given at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 19 in room 201, Main Post Office Building, 522 North Central, Phoenix.

Persons volunteering must be American citizens and at least 18 years old. Anyone with the equivalent of a high school education is eligible to take the test.

Married couples may also qualify if they have no dependents under 18.

Campus Security Moves, Changes

ASU's Campus Security has undergone considerable changes and additions since last year.

The Security office is now located at the southeast corner of Orange and Van Ness.

"Campus Security is a 24 hour operation," said John B. Duffy, Director of Security. "We needed larger and more efficient quarters," he said.

Two new patrolmen have been added to the Security staff: Theo Neilson and Robert Seager, both ASU students.

The security staff includes 17 full-time officers, five reserve officers to assist at special events and four full-time clerical employees.

Campus Security's extension number is 3456.

Pi Sigma Epsilon

Two officers were elected by Pi Sigma Epsilon, national professional fraternity of marketing, selling, and sales management.

They are John Long, vice president, and George Wolecki, treasurer.

Visiting Professor Joins Department

Dr. Daniel Glaser, a member of the University of Illinois sociology department since 1954, has joined ASU as a visiting professor in the graduate sociology program.

The new professor, a sociologist-actuary with the Illinois State Parole and Pardon Board from 1950 to 1954, received the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Glaser has been the chief investigator and supervisor for the research programs on the federal and state correctional systems and juvenile delinquency projects sponsored by Ford Foundation grants.

The Encyclopedia Britannica has published an article by Dr. Glaser on criminology and the Encyclopedia of Social Sciences is about to publish one of his articles about pardons and paroles.

In addition to these publications, professor Glaser has a book coming out early next year by the Bobbs Merrill Co. on the "Effects of a Prison and a Parole."

At present Dr. Glaser is secretary-treasurer of the criminology section of the American Sociological Association, vice president of the Illinois Academy of Criminology, and a member of the American Correctional Association, the National Council of Crime and Delinquency and the Midwest Sociological Society.

Station Ushers In Eleventh Year

For the eleventh consecutive year ASU's campus radio station KASN, 670, is on the air. KASN serves students with news, weather, sports and music.

Special features of this semester's broadcasting will be live coverage from the MU, home football games and music to study by.

In addition to being heard in dorms, KASN plans further expansion facilities in fraternity row.

The station gives on-the-air experience to fifty radio and television majors. Bob Davies of KOOL-TV and Ray Cox of KTAR radio are among Valley personalities who received their start on KASN.

THE DEAN YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Colleges are complicated and bewildering places, filled with complicated and bewildering people. Today let us examine one of the most complicated and bewildering—yet fetching and lovable—of all campus figures. I refer, of course, to the dean of students.

Policeman and confessor, shepherd and seer, warden and oracle, proconsul and pal—the dean of students is all of these. How, then, can we understand him? Well sir, perhaps the best way is to take an average day in the life of an average dean. Here, for example, is what happened last Thursday to Dean Killjoy N. Damper of the Duluth College of Belles Lettres and Penniccan.

At 6 a.m. he woke, dressed, lit a Marlboro, and went up on the roof of his house to remove the statue of the Founder which had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

Dean, Policeman, Confessor, Shepherd, Seer...etc.

At 7 a.m. he lit a Marlboro and walked briskly to the campus. (The Dean had not been driving his car since it had been placed on the roof of the girls dormitory by high-spirited undergraduates.)

At 7:45 a.m. he arrived on campus, lit a Marlboro and climbed the bell tower to remove his secretary who had been placed there during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 8 a.m. he reached his office, lit a Marlboro, and met with E. Pluribus Ewbank, editor of the student newspaper. Young Ewbank had been writing a series of editorials urging the United States to annex Canada. When the editorials had evoked no response, he had taken matters into his own hands. Accompanied by his society editor and two proofreaders, he had gone over the border and conquered Manitoba. With great patience and several Marlboro Cigarettes, the Dean persuaded young Ewbank to give Manitoba back. Young Ewbank, however, insisted on keeping Winnipeg.

At 9 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with Robert Penn Sigafos, president of the local Sigma Chi chapter, who came to report that the Deke house had been put on top of the Sigma Chi house during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 10 a.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and went to umpire an intramural softball game on the roof of the law school where the campus baseball diamond had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates.

At 12 noon the Dean had a luncheon meeting with the proxy, the bursar, and the registrar, at the bottom of the campus swimming pool where the faculty dining room had been placed during the night by high-spirited undergraduates. Marlbors were passed after luncheon, but not lighted, owing to dampness.

At 2 p.m., back in his office, the Dean lit a Marlboro and received the Canadian Minister of War who said unless young Ewbank gave back Winnipeg, the Canadian army would march against the U.S. immediately. Young Ewbank was summoned and agreed to give back Winnipeg if he could have Moose Jaw. The Canadian Minister of War at first refused, but finally consented after young Ewbank placed him on the roof of the metallurgy building.

At 3 p.m. the Dean lit a Marlboro and met with a delegation from the student council who came to present him with a set of matched luggage in honor of his fifty years' service as dean of students. The Dean promptly packed the luggage with all his clothing and fled to Utica, New York, where he is now in the aluminum siding game.

THE MIRACLE WORKER — Anita Byron, left, and Helen Winters playing Helen Keller in the University Players' "The Miracle Worker," struggle over a suitcase in a scene when Miss Keller rebels against her teacher. The play will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Lyceum Auditorium.

Colors Of Rainbow Appear In Fashions

By SUSAN MARIONNEAUX

New fall fashion colors to please a lady's eyes are red ink, parchment, blueprint blue and brass. They are as vital to a well-stocked closet, as ball point pens and scratch pads are to a desk.

This season boot-lengths will range from the ankle to above the knee.

For the short skirt a pair of stockings, some of which are wildly patterned or cleverly textured, will come in handy to cover bare knees.

The common campus fashion is the coordinated blouse with wrap-arounds, culottes and A-line skirts. The pin striped pattern with elbow patches on the long sleeves are popular blouses.

Versions of wool, suede and corduroy will combine with beautiful fall Madras plaids, patches, unusual patterns and dark cottons. These cute coordinates are perfect for the peppy coed at football games, pep rallies and other casual evening dates.

Cocktail dresses at sports events are similar to combining cut-offs and rhinestones or cookies and martinis, they just don't mix.

This year the vest does everything. It can be worn under suits or can make a simple shirt and skirt look out of the ordinary.

A shift of either cotton or chiffon, given a lift by a "zingy" color and an empire waistline is very "in". This dress has a high waist, with the skirt often flowing into an "A" line.

Dormitory Lists New Positions

Mary Voita, Kitty Silsbury and Virginia Sherbundy have recently been appointed by Wilson Hall Council to positions of publicity chairman, Women Athletic Association representative and Associated Women Students representative, respectively.

Elected to sit on the hall council as wing representatives are Tonja Fineout, Ruth Brenden, Peggy Dahl, Sandra Rovey, Irene Barriga and Margaret Dacons.

'Miracle Worker' Production Praised

By ELEANOR PEPLow

If the high quality of their first production is any indication of what the remainder of the season will be like, we can depend on the University Players to provide first-rate theater entertainment this school year.

The Miracle Worker is a beautiful and moving play. The cast and crew have done a commendable job in making it believable and enjoyable in all its pathos and humor.

Ten-year-old Helen Winters, in the role of Helen Keller, displays unusual talent and a deep understanding of her role. Besides mastering the difficult task of reacting as a blind and deaf child would, Miss Winters also successfully portrays, without the aid of dialogue, a child of immense sensitivity, drive and intelligence.

The role of Annie Sullivan, Helen's teacher, is adequately filled by Anita Byron. Miss Sullivan was one of those rare persons who becomes stronger in the face of each new obstacle.

She met each challenge with fierce determination and a ready humor. Combining extraordinary talent and a deep understanding of her role, Mrs. Byron has created a human being from a handful of printed pages.

The comic relief is centered mainly around the character of Mr. Keller, very well performed by Gary Stevens. Mr. Keller was, in this play, a blustering, domineering, self-righteous man who more than once backed down to the equally domineering Miss Sullivan.

Technical aspects of the production added much to its high quality. The costumes were both realistic and beautiful; the set was authentic and practical. Every available inch of space was utilized and yet the stage was never crowded or unbalanced.

Greek To Me -

Greeks Push Scholarship

By SUE JEFFRIES

And MIKE LONGSTRETH

Greeks are sometimes criticized by non-Greeks for lack of academic interest.

Scholarship is of prime importance among Greek chapters. Sororities and fraternities consider good scholarship an important prerequisite for pledging members. Sorority and fraternity grade averages are higher than the overall university undergraduate average.

SORORITIES

Sororities have study tables for their pledges and frequently for actives with low grades. Last spring semester the average index of all actives and pledges in sororities was 2.64 while the overall women's average was 2.53.

ASU's Panhellenic Council, for the 11 national sororities, ruled a year and a half ago that a sorority pledge must attain a 2.2 index instead of the previous 2.0 to be initiated into a sorority.

In order to register for sorority rush an ASU coed must have a minimum of a 2.2 accumulative index. Several sororities require higher grades in considering a girl as a pledge.

Incentive is added in scholarship through competition among the sororities. Both fall and spring semester trophies are awarded by Panhellenic to the sorority with the highest active chapter grades and the sorority with the highest pledge grades. Last spring semester a new trophy was awarded by Delta Sigma Phi fraternity to the sorority with the most improved grades.

FRATERNITIES

A fraternity pledge must earn a minimum of a 2.0 index to be initiated, although men need not have a definite grade average to register for rush, according to the Inter-fraternity Council. One fraternity, Phi Kappa Psi, requires its pledges to earn a 2.2 minimum index beginning this semester.

IFC adds incentives to the scholarship of the 19 national fraternities and two colonies just as Panhellenic does. Trophies are awarded to the fraternities for highest grades and for the most improved grades. A further goal for the fraternity man is membership in the 3.0 and 3.5 club.

A seminar was organized last year by three fraternities for their pledges. Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon conducted a series of three lectures on "how to study." Information from the seminar has been given to all the fraternities for their individual use.

Dr. George Hamm, dean of men, is organizing a workshop for all fraternity pledge-scholarship chairmen this fall "to emphasize better scholarship habits among fraternity pledges." Another of Dean Hamm's projects is the development of a prediction formula for choosing fraternity pledges. According to IFC ruling, if a fraternity does not attain a 2.0 index for a semester, it is put on academic probation. If it continues for two semesters to fall below a 2.0, the group is put on social probation. If for a third semester it fails to attain the minimum average, its chapter is re-evaluated by IFC and University officials.

The fraternity grade average spring semester for all actives and pledges was 2.24 while the overall undergraduate men's average was 2.19.

Greeks emphasize scholarship more than many other campus organizations.

Opera Workshop To Sponsor Three Musical Presentations

Smetana's "The Bartered Bride."

The first production, "Solomon and Balkis," scheduled Nov. 26, requires a cast of two sopranos, an alto, tenor and baritone and a chorus of three sopranos and four altos.

Based on the story, "The Butterfly that Stamped," the libretto was adapted from the "Just So Stories" by Rudyard Kipling.

Interested students should contact Dr. Kenneth Seipp in Annex XI. All students, including music majors, are eligible.

Scores can be examined from 4-5:30 p.m. beginning today. For further information call ext. 3398.

Sargeant Mikuleky Retires As Officer

Sergeant Ben Mikuleky, military science instructor for the past six years, retired recently with the rank of major. He was a commissioned officer for 15½ years.

Military Science Department Chairman Lt. Col. Theodore Wyckoff decorated Sgt. Mikuleky with the Army Commendation Medal, third highest peace-time tribute a soldier can receive.

Sgt. Mikuleky also has received the Bronze Star and 12 service ribbons.

During World War II Sgt. Mikuleky served on the west coast and in the Philippines. He has served three tours in the Far East and one in Europe, totaling five years.

In 1947-48 he was battalion commander of the 82nd Field Artillery.

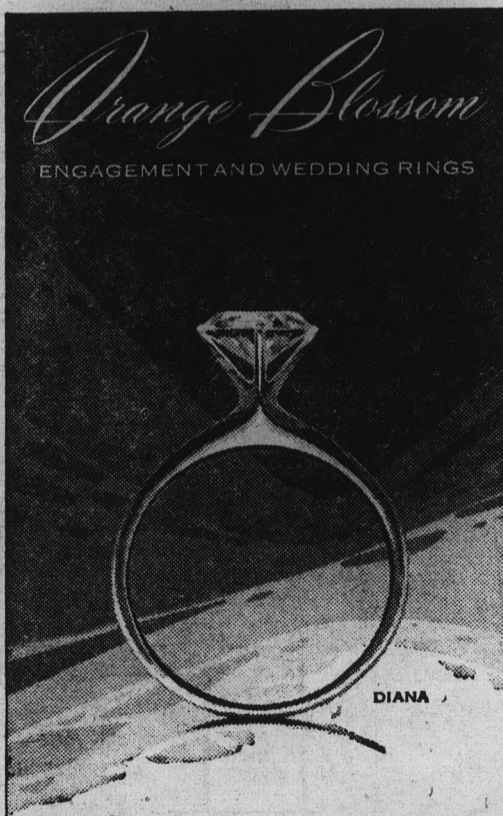

In his 35 years in the service, mostly in artillery, Sgt. Mikuleky has seen field artillery weapons change from horse-drawn "caissons" of the World War I era to the Corporal missile of today's modern defense system.

Sun Devils Capture Initial Victory

Aggie Point After Fails, ASU Registers 14-13 Win

By AL MICHAELS

Gene Foster, playing for more than three quarters with a fractured right arm, intercepted a New Mexico State pass, leading to one touchdown and scored the other himself as the Sun Devils squeaked by the Aggies, 14-13, Saturday night. A crowd of 26,882 watched Arizona State cement its 20th victory in 27 meetings with the Aggies when freshman Louis DiMartino's conversion attempt sailed wide after Lee Sampson had streaked 80 yards on an end-around sweep for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The win evened A-State's record at 1-1 and snapped a two-game losing streak dating back to last season's 20-17 loss to the UofA.

New Mexico State is also 1-1.

FOSTER'S interception of an Armando Alba pass in the third quarter set up the drive that tied the score at 7-7 after Alba had accounted for the only score of the first half on a 5-yard end run.

Junior quarterback John Torok, taking over for under-the-weather regular John Jacobs, engineered the Devils' tying thrust with end Herman Harrison gathering in a 24-yard Torok pass for the TD.

It was the first time the Devils had scored since the waning moments of the first period in last week's loss to Wichita when Charley Taylor swept 54 yards on a punt return.

THE DEVILS were right back in business as the final stanza opened and Foster capped a 76-yard drive by skirting 41 yards around right end for the go-ahead tally.

John Seedborg's second successful conversion of the evening turned out to be the difference.

James (Preacher) Pilot, the Aggies' record-breaking halfback, was held to 64 yards in the rushing department, accounting for just 18 in the second half.

SAMPSON turned out to be the big gun in the visitors' attack, accumulating 95 yards on three end-around carries.

In addition, the big 6-3 senior from Los Angeles picked up 37 yards on four pass receptions and recovered a fumble.

For the Devils, fullback Tony Lorick crashed for 80 yards on the ground and contributed a 53-yard kickoff return, but his three fumbles practically caused a repetition of last week's disaster.

The Sun Devils will take on whatever's left of the Colorado State football team at Fort Collins this Saturday.

The Rams, who broke a 26-game losing string in their opener against Pacific, were annihilated by the Air Force, 69-0, last weekend.

Off The Cuff

By JOE HEATH

When I was a kid, I read a poem entitled "Casey At The Bat." To me, this piece of well-written literature was very impressive—I really felt sorry for ol' Casey.

Saturday, the Sun Devil football team travels to Fort Collins, Colorado to play a team that is probably more of an underdog than were the opponents of the Mudville nine.

Until they beat the University of Pacific two weeks ago, Colorado State University had lost 26 games in a row. Last weekend they were "nudged" by the Air Force Academy, 69-0.

If we beat the Rams, it won't be that big a deal. If we lose, a Mudville silence will become the plague of the Valley.

ASU'S WIN Saturday night was more or less of a team effort. If I had to single out anyone in particular as an outstanding player though, I think that I would have to go with quarterback John Torok.

The El Camino (Calif.) JC transfer came off the bench to put on a real display of passing and ball handling. He connected on six of 10 passes for 73 yards including one of the two TD's. His four passes that did fall incomplete just weren't that bad.

One pass was caught and ruled out of bounds by the ref, and a couple of the others were just plain dropped.

ON THE OTHER HAND, New Mexico State had one "very" outstanding player.

If player-of-the-week honors are in order, I'm handing them to Aggie end Lee Sampson.

The big man caught all of his team's completed passes—he picked up 95 yards on three rushing plays—and was in on several tackles.

In the first half, Sampson recovered an ASU fumble and on the Aggie's first offensive play, skirted left end on an end-around play to set up a New Mexico score.

With his team trailing 14-7 late in the contest, another end-around was called and this time Sampson outran the ASU defense and recorded an 80-yard TD.

MEANWHILE, Preacher Pilot spent most of the time on his knees. Devil defensive men did a real job in bottling up the Aggie flash. It was interesting to watch Pilot when he didn't have the ball.

Maybe I wasn't watching all the time, but I never did see the Pilot throw any blocks. On one of the New Mexico kickoff returns, Armando Alba took the ball and headed up the middle of the field. While all this was happening, Pilot was headed the other direction.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not taking anything away from the two-time NCAA rushing leader, he is without doubt tremendous, when he has the ball!

Well, it's time for a World Series prediction. Being a Giant fan at heart, I just can't pull for the Dodgers. I'll pick the Yanks in six with Koufax winning at least one game for the NL champs.
