Vol. 45

No. 8

Final Votes Top Primary Tallies

Ted Marsella and Chuck Cowley won seats in the Student Senate in yesterday's Freshman general election.

Marsella received the top total of 414 in a close contest. Cowley pulled 380 votes.

Losing candidates Bill Nelson and Alan Warne had totals of 334 and 312, respectively.

A RECORD 941 turned out for the general election, according to Alan Bunch, chairman of the Election Board.

This is contrary to the trend of having the number of voters drop off from the primary. Probable cause for the reversal is the heavy campaigning done in this election, said Bunch.

Bunch said the assemblies presented to the women's dorms might have increased voter participation.

THERE WAS a steady flow of voters throughout the day with no congestion problems.

The IBM ballots were counted mechanically and the results were released at 7 last night.

Marsella is majoring in economics, is president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon pledge class and co-chairman of the homecoming coronation committee.

Cowley is a chemistry major, a Theta Delta Chi pledge, a member of a special investigation sub-committee and a member of the ASU Forum.

Music Society Will Perform First Concert

The recently formed ASU Chamber Music Society will present the first in a series of eight Wednesday night concerts at 8:15 Oct. 23 in the MU ballroom.

Featured selections for the concert will include "Kammertrio, No. 24" for oboe, bassoon, cello and piano by G. F. Handel; "Sonata for Flute and Piano, Opus 94" by S. Prokofiev, and "Trio, Opus 114" for clarinet, cello and piano by J. Brahms.

Members of the music department faculty who will perform in the program are Herbert Fawcett, bassoon; Donald Isaak, piano; Edwin Putnik, flute; Jack Ratterree, clarinet; Frank Stalzer, oboe, and Harvey Wolfe, cello.

Under the chairmanship of Edwin Putnik, assistant professor of music, the concerts, sponsored by the music department, will feature resident as well as guest artists throughout the season.

Construction Shoots Into Campus Skyline

Plans continue to develop as construction crews change the campus skyline daily. In months to come, the view from Sun Devil Stadium will maintain the pace of the past few years. Shown below is a model of a section of one of the most rapidly changing areas of the University grounds.

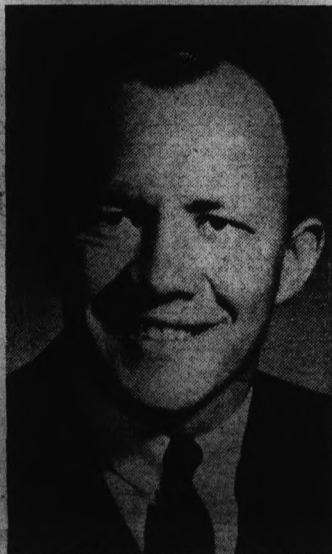

In the foreground is the Palo Verde women's dorm complex with its white domed cafeterias. Now under construction is the X-shaped dorm to the right, Palo Verde West.

Connecting the Palo Verde complex with the campus is a utility-pedestrian bridge which arches high over Eighth Street on to Palm Lane.

Future campus expansion calls for two more similar bridges to span Eighth Street.

Toward the middle of the picture and directly behind the circular fountain is Old Main, built in 1894. To the right of the fountain is the Language and Literature building, which will be built at a cost of $1,080,000.

To the upper left situated at the intersection of Van Ness and Orange Streets is the Federal Forest Service Hydrology Lab, now under construction. To the right of the lab is a conception of the three-story wing to the Engineering Center now being built.

Ensemble Draws Applause

By RICHARD CANTOR During a regular concert of the ASU Symphony last year, the Percussion Ensemble, under Mervin Britton's direction, entertained during intermission. And entertain they did. The music shook most of the MU. As did the applause.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT the ensemble, complete with three marimbas, did it again. The audience that greeted the eight percussionists was small and rather quiet. The audience that called the performers back after their last number was loud and enthusiastic. In between, a lot of interesting music was "pounded" out.

The most unusual item on the program was a shortened arrangement for three solo marimbas of the Andante movement from Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony. Strange as this combination sounds, the music was beautiful with Jeff Morse playing the melodic line that, in the original orchestral version, is played by the French horn. ALL ENSEMBLE playing was sharp and above reproach, no doubt due, at least in part, to Mervin Britton's conducting. The concert was short, lasting about half an hour. It seemed shorter though . . . because it was thoroughly enjoyable.

Hale's Speech To Analyze Communists' Case Studies

By LINDA HELSER "Psychological Case Studies of Three Communists and Two Fellow Travelers," is the title of a talk to be given by Dr. J. Douglas Hale, assistant professor of art history, during a noon luncheon meeting today of the Tempe business and professional men's club in MU 218B.

Dr. Hale will discuss three rank and filers of the Communist party whom he has personally known.

THE POINT of his talk is to show the different ways in which people are lured into the party and how he himself was tempted to join because it was a fashionable trend in the 1930's.

Examples that Dr. Hale will use include a college friend who was a member of the Young Communist Movement and was so devoted to the party that he died fighting for it in Spain.

Another was his college roommate who was extremely unpopular and joined for the benefit of his social life.

ONE MEMBER'S wife, who is one of the fellow travelers, worked together giving support and sympathizing with the party. They were finally dropped, however, because they kept social friendships with party outcasts.

The second fellow traveler was also a college friend who was affiliated with the Hollywood Communists. This branch used their party for promotion benefits.

Following the talk, Dr. Hale will answer questions and members of the club will discuss the problems of Communism.

Fete Set To Honor Durhams

President and Mrs. G. Homer Durham will be honored by the Tucson alumni of ASU at a "Meet the President Dinner" at the HiWay House in Tucson at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The evening program will feature a speech and brief report by Don Deder, chairman of the University's 1963 Alumni Development Program and columnist for The Arizona Republic.

President Durham, in his "State of the University" address, will report on the recent academic and physical developments of the University.

Slides of the growing campus will be shown by Alumni Executive Secretary James Creasman.

Also attending the dinner will be Alumni President Harry Mehrtens, local members of the Board of Regents and other community leaders.

English Professors To Attend Convention

Six members of the faculty will participate in the 53rd annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English in San Francisco during the Thanksgiving weekend.

Representing ASU will be Dr. Jerome W. Archer, Dr. Raymond C. Emery, Dr. Brice Harris, Dr. J. J. Lamberts, Dr. L. M. Myers and Dr. Collice Portnoff.

Danforth Chapel Utilizes Space By Renovation

Remodeling of the south wing of the Danforth Chapel to make better use of the existing space will be completed in about a month, according to Dr. Sanford Cary Crouch, coordinator of religious activities.

A staircase inside the chapel is being removed and the space turned into a reception room. The chapel's chime system, which is heard twice daily, will be housed in this room.

Access to the balcony will be by an outside steel stairway. The balcony will be used as a conference and work room.

Homecoming Needs Alumni

Homecoming time is here again. Nov. 11 to 16 will honor old grads who come back and relive a few moments of their good old college days.

Preparations run hot and heavy to make the old grads welcome and provide a good time for the students — mostly a good time for the students.

We doubt if Homecoming preparations are aimed at the alumni. In fact, the alumni are lucky to get in the stadium to see the lavishly prepared floats.

This year's overall theme, "Great Discoveries," honors a specific returning class. We don't know which one yet — we do hope the Homecoming steering committee comes up with one.

Homecoming is no longer Homecoming. It emphasizes the student instead of the grad. To prove our point we would like to bring to your attention what a few universities and colleges around the country are doing to honor their "good, old grads."

Colorado State College is planning a parade, and dance, not to mention a snake dance and pep rally — all with the alumni in mind of course.

The Montana Kaiman reports that their men will elect a Homecoming Queen.

The Kent Stater reports a bigger and better Homecoming this year, a Homecoming Queen, torchlight parade and a hootenanny — all with the alumni in mind of course.

On the other side of the picture, West Texas State University will have all the student "goodies," parade, floats, etc. But they will have dinners, dances, teas, receptions and smokers for the alumni. In fact they even register the alumni.

The Lumberjacks in Flagstaff will feature an alumni brunch, buffet (after the game) and an after dinner dance.

We do think our Homecoming plans should center on the alumni with more events specifically planned for the honored class and a program to let them know about it.

Otherwise let's change the name from Homecoming to an even bigger and better Saturday night at the football game.

Survey Tells The Tale

"I am taking a survey. Would you mind answering some questions?"

"Did you vote in the last student election?"

"You didn't?"

"Oh, you didn't know the qualifications of the candidates running?"

"Did you read the State Press; I know it carried the information."

"You did glance at the State Press. But then you didn't know the candidates' platforms?"

"Did you read the candidates' pamphlets on their ideas for student government?"

"You didn't have time?"

"Did you get a chance to meet any of the candidates? I know they were trying to meet you."

"You don't live on campus?"

"But you are a student at ASU?"

"Yes, of course you are."

WHY IT RINGS TRUE

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK, OCT. 15-19

I Cover College Avenue

By JERRY LIPMAN

John R. Ellingson, director of the physical plant, has detailed the reasons why the bridge over Eighth St., and the fence enclosing the Palo Verde dorm complex were constructed.

WITH THE completion of Palo Verde East, an additional system of utility connections from the central heating and refrigeration plant were required to carry both chilled water and steam to the new housing units.

A tunnel to project the conduits beneath the street was considered. It would not have been for pedestrian use. Ellingson explained that other universities experience problems with undesirable people loitering in campus pedestrian tunnels.

IN VIEW of an anticipated increase in Palo Verde's population to an eventual 4,000, the need for a safe means of access to the area was readily apparent.

Hence the decision was made to enclose the utility piping within a dual-purpose pedestrian bridge above the street. A traffic signal might have been considered if the sole purpose had been pedestrian control.

The bridge's height is beyond University control. Eighth St. is a by-pass to the federal highway (Apache Blvd.) adjacent to campus. It is partially maintained by federal funds, and subject to specifications set by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

IF THE REQUIRED clearance is not met, the only alternative is a vastly more expensive cloverleaf interchange.

Ellingson adds that the slope of the bridge meets usual engineering standards, and that the steps may be extended as use increases.

Resident assistants in the Palo Verde units reveal that the few handicapped girls apparently have devised satisfactory ways of coping with the problem the bridge presents.

ACCORDING TO Ellingson, "The pedestrian traffic across the dirt grounds at Palo Verde has been so heavy it was impossible to prepare the grounds for landscaping."

It was stressed that the fence is a temporary structure, to be removed, section by section, as construction and landscaping are completed.

Letters to the Editor

Devil's Disciples Derailed

TO THE EDITOR:

In most national elections campaigning is not allowed near the polling places. This includes signs that are readable either upon entering the polls or in the polls and tags and buttons worn by the voters.

Why is this practice not used at ASU? Signs are right next to the polling places and are readable from within the polling areas. Persons voting are wearing tags campaigning their favorite.

Since these campus elections are training and practice for future public elections, I think that the school elections should be run according to national election rules.

Maybe my assumptions are wrong. If so, please tell me what the policies are for school elections.

Alan L. Kenworthy Yours,

TO THE EDITOR:

I want to express my appreciation for the unusually sane article by Bob Reilly, "What's Nhu With You?"

Lucile B. Kanpman

TO THE EDITOR:

As originally organized, the Devil's Disciples was to have been a group dedicated to the promotion of school spirit and pride and to the establishment of tradition and identity at ASU.

The members have worked very hard to accomplish these goals. However, there seems to be certain faculty and/or administrative elements on campus who have taken it upon themselves to curtail the organization and its activities.

These self-appointed censors are implanting apathy and indifference in the minds of the students.

What have these elements to fear of a proud student body, united in spirit?

It's The Law -

State Consumption Statutes Spelled Out For Students

Unawareness is prevalent among individuals about the provisions of the law concerning the consumption of alcoholic beverages in public places and by persons under 21 years of age.

To give an awareness of this law, the editor of the State Press has asked the writer to expose its provisions.

Violation of the law can involve an individual, an adult or a minor into a breach of the University rule (P. 82 of catalog) which provides:

"3. Has serious or repeated difficulties with law enforcement authorities."

When serious or repeated difficulties with the law by a student is reported to the Discipline Committee, suspension or dismissal from the University can result after an opportunity is given to the accused to be heard. This committee is not an official judicial body. It acts only when breach of the rules, and therefore a breach of the contract between the University and the student, is proved.

Arizona Revised Statutes, Sec. 4-244, Vol. 2, provides:

It is unlawful:

"9. For a licensee or other person to sell, furnish, dispose of, give, or cause to be sold, furnished, disposed of or given to a person under the age of twenty-one years, or for a person under the age of twenty-one years to buy, receive, have in his possession or consume, spirituous liquor."

"19. For a person to consume spirituous liquor from a broken package in a public place, thoroughfare or gathering, and the license of a licensee permitting a violation of this paragraph on his premises shall be subject to revocation. This paragraph shall not apply to sales of spirituous liquors in individual portions by an on-sale retail licensee."

"Courts will take judicial notice that whiskey, brandy, gin, rum, porter and strong beer are intoxicating." (Wilson v. State 28 Arizona Reports (Supreme Court) 539.)

The penalty provided for violations, Arizona Revised Statutes Sec. 4-246:

"A. A person violating any provision of this title is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable, upon each of the first two convictions, by a fine or not less than one hundred nor more than three hundred dollars, by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or both.

"B. A person convicted more than twice under the provisions of this title shall be punished for each successive conviction by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, by imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both."

Certainly any meeting place on campus could be considered a public place. While your reporter hasn't found any cases dealing with possession of alcoholic beverages in fraternity houses, it is his opinion that if the house and land are wholly owned by the fraternity it wouldn't be a public place. But if it is not so owned and the title is in the University or under some contractual arrangement which can assert control upon default, it can be considered a public place.

Even though it isn't a public place, it is well to re-read No. 9 of Sec. 4-244 here quoted.

For this year's movie, "ONCE UPON A WAVE", I've taken shots of "Sunset BEACH" with top riders like PETER COLE, RICKY GRIGG, FRED VAN DYKE, and many more.

Top shots of "BANZAI PIPE LINE," "ALA MOANA", and the Heavies at "WAI-MEA BAY" with GREGG NOLL, MICKEY DARA, JOSE ANGEL plus the others who rode WAIMEA at its biggest in 5 years. These are truly giant waves with great rides and horrible wipe outs. Plus the best comedy from my other movies which adds up to 90 minutes of surfing, wipeouts & hilarious comedy.

See you . . . "Once Upon A Wave."

Journalism Head Presents Speech At Tempe Rotary

Professor Donald E. Brown, acting director of the department of mass communications, addressed the Tempe Rotary Club yesterday at the Tempe Sands.

In observance of National Newspaper Week, Professor Brown spoke on "Newspapers Make a Big Difference in People's Lives."

"The absence of the newspapers had powerful social and economic impacts upon the community," Prof. Brown said, referring to newspaper strikes in New York City and Cleveland.

Prof. Brown also talked of the "unique" newspaper situation in Phoenix with competing daily newspapers, new papers competing with firmly entrenched publications, and a relatively liberal scattering of nearby suburban newspapers, several of which are dailies.

Film Shows Copter Crashes

THEY DO THIS ON PURPOSE — This crash is a simulated accident created for research purposes by the Aviation Crash Injury Research Foundation. This has been the agency's chief project for the past three years.

A military transport helicopter flies low over enemy held territory. Suddenly the engines quit and the craft plummets to the earth. Will the passengers survive?

FINDING THE answer to this question has been the main project of the Aviation Crash Research Foundation of Phoenix for the past three years. A movie and lecture on the progress of the foundation's tests will be presented tonight at 7:30 in room 139 of the Engineering Center.

Guest speaker for the program, sponsored by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will be Don Carrol, chief project engineer for the foundation.

The film and narration will show many of the actual crashes which were conducted at Paradise Valley Airport along with an explanation of their results.

ALSO COVERED in the film-lecture will be progress on new products such as rupture-proof fuel tanks, new methods of suspending passenger seats to absorb shock in crash landings and jelled aircraft fuel, all of which have been developed due to the results of the foundation's tests.

State Of Fraternities Chamberlain Says They Are Their Own Insurance

By MIKE LONGSTRETH

"The future of fraternities on the Arizona State University campus will be determined by the fraternities themselves," stated Bob Chamberlain, Interfraternity Council president while presenting the first State of the Fraternity Message last night.

Chamberlain disclosed that the address was given "to set the goals for the fraternity system for the coming year and to give IFC something definite to work toward."

IN A fifteen-point program, Chamberlain outlined issues which were in his opinion "of vital concern," and expressed his hope that this year's council would enact necessary legislation to support each phase.

The fifteen-phase program includes the following:

—To establish a three-man committee to study a junior IFC fall program and present their findings to IFC for consideration.

—EXPAND the jurisdiction of the Conduct Committee to include cases involving individual fraternity men thus encouraging stronger self-discipline.

—Maintain close communication with the Dean of Men's office, thus providing the various fraternities with information regarding a man's projected academic ability.

—Adopt Dec. 1 and April 1 as deadlines for scholarship lists.

—Enact a measure to restrict a man who depledges or is depledged from repledging another group for a two month period.

—DEVELOP, through research, a formula that would improve the selection of the potentially academically successful fraternity rushees.

—Evaluate the effectiveness of the IFC rush book, summer mailing, Rush Week, rules, informal rush and rush registration.

—Formulate and enforce rigorously a policy that will require high standards of successful financial management.

—Investigate the possibilities of co-operative buying among the Alpha Drive and off-campus fraternities.

—CREATE a news agency to co-ordinate information for publication in the State Press and Valley newspapers as well as establishing a Greek paper to disseminate fraternity news.

—Evaluate colonization requests for new groups to begin during the coming year.

—Develop scholarship for its true purpose.

—Assist Western Regional Interfraternity Conference in every possible way to insure its success.

—PROVIDE for the fraternities a list of available speakers.

—Formulate a Greek Week worthy of the Fraternity-Sorority system.

—Strive for a "pursuit of excellence" in scholarship, fiscal responsibility and pledge education by using IFC as a clearinghouse of ideas and ideals.

Off The Cuff

By JOE HEATH

Arizona State 24, West Texas 16, Joe Kerbel, 0.

The Texas head mentor gained absolutely no ground Saturday night in his one man versus the masses contest. Late in the third quarter he found his men trailing in the scoring department and ordered them to their feet.

AS SOON AS they were all up, the fans commenced to litter the field with debris. Kerbel, however, was very well protected from the flying objects as he found himself surrounded by three of our campus guardians of the law.

As quickly as it started, order was restored with the fourth quarter acting as an anti-climax.

KERBEL WILL be missed by the fans here for the next couple of years as the Devils will be traveling to Canyon to meet the Buffaloes.

I have to hand it to the little-big man though — he shows a lot with his type of football and I hope that the fans noted that he was the first man across the field to congratulate winning coach Frank Kush. Good luck in the remainder of your games, Coach Kerbel!

Imps Fight Back -

Frosh Prevail By 27-19

By NORDY JENSEN

A spunky Sun Imps football team fought back from a 13-point deficit to dump San Diego State JV's Saturday, 27-19.

The Aztecs exploded for two quick first period touchdowns then saw their offense stall until the fourth quarter when they tallied against the ASU reserves.

COACH BILL Kajikawa's troops went ahead to stay on two second quarter scores, the first on a 73-yard pass from quarterback Alex Sotomayor to halfback Jerry Hoffman and the second on a four-yard dash by Jess Fleming.

ASU added two more TD's in the third stanza on a 26-yard end sweep by Pat Genell and Ron Barber's 11-yard jaunt.

ASU halfback Hal Lewis was the game's leading ground gainer with 65 yards on 10 carries. Genell and Barber each gained 34 yards.

SOTOMAYOR suffered from slippery-handed ends who dropped seven passes but ended with 116 yards with five completions in 18 tries.

Hoffman and end Frank Lawson each grabbed two passes.

The Imps, now 1-0-1, have an open date this weekend, then challenge the University of New Mexico Wolfpups Oct. 26 in their only home game of the season at Sun Devil stadium.

Sun Devil Facts

ASU's Herman Harrison has taken over the pass receiving leadership in the Western Athletic Conference with 13 completions for 241 yards.

Utes On Top In WAC Play After Win

The hot Utah Redskins took over the Western Athletic Conference lead last weekend, upping their conference record to 2-0 with a 15-6 victory over Brigham Young.

The key to the Utes' success has been their ability to move the ball on the ground. The 1962 Redskins were primarily a passing team and with ace quarterback Gary Hertzfeldt returning, the same was expected for this season.

UTAH LEADS the conference in rushing offense with an average of 231.8 yards per game.

Other team leaders are the Sun Devils in total offense, with a 355.8 average, and the Wyoming Cowboys in passing, with

Wildcats Run Past A-State

A-State's cross country team dropped a close dual meet to JofA, 37-26, Saturday at Randolph Park in Tucson.

Freshman Louis Scott was an upset individual winner over the three mile course with a time of 16:01.

Phoenix College also competed but their score was not tabulated.

John Silverthorne placed sixth, Art Reade eighth and Joe Smart ninth to help the Devils' showing.

162.3 yards per game.

Individual conference leaders include Wyoming sophomore quarterback Tom Wilkinson in passing and total offense and A-Stater Tony Lorick in rushing. Phil Brady of BYU is second in both rushing and total offense.

LOOK OUT RAY — Ray Young (29) hugs in turf after adding to his yard gain record with a run in the fourth quarter of the ASU-West Texas State contest Saturday night. Young is probably unaware of the blow yet to come from Jack Mayfield (62) of West Texas. Also shown are Jim Denny (63) and Tony Lorick (26). The Devils won the game 24-16.

Lorick Runs Wild; Devils Net Big Win

By AL MICHAELS

West Texas State found it rougher to corral Tony Lorick than a runaway steamroller Saturday night as ASU whipped the previously unbeaten Buffaloes, 24-16, before a Sun Devil Stadium crowd of 28,815.

Lorick, who'd be an odds-on choice to pick up a first down, against the Tempe Butte, blasted for 124 yards in 16 carries to lead the Devils to their third win in four tries.

A-State Coach Frank Kush felt his team's performance was its best of the season.

"WE OVERCAME our mistakes and didn't let down," analyzed Kush. "Our aggressiveness was impressive and I was especially pleased with the defense."

The Buffaloes took a 7-0 lead in the first period when quarterback Dave (Hoot) Gibson, an excellent field general, scampered 28 yards on a roll-out option for the TD.

THE DEVILS managed to get even in the second quarter after two earlier scoring threats had been repulsed by pass interceptions.

Ray Young's interception of a Gibson pass and his subsequent 43-yard return gave ASU a first down on the Buffs' 25.

It took four plays to get it over from there with John Jacobs sneaking in from the one for the score.

"JAKE," who was acclaimed the best quarterback in the Rocky Mountain area in pre-season reports, seems to have found the range after a mediocre start.

The 6-1, 195-pound senior engineered the Devils to two of their touchdowns and was at the helm in a third-quarter drive that resulted in a field goal.

CHARLEY TAYLOR gave ASU a brief 14-7 lead when he slashed over from the nine but the Buffaloes marched 85 yards to knot the score before the first half ended.

The Devils moved in front for good in the third period when John Seedborg recovered a Buff fumble at the WTS 22 and kicked a 21-yard field goal four downs later.

Lorick added an insurance tally in the fourth quarter on a 32-yard gallop.

A Buffalo safety closed out the evening's point-making as Seedborg was trapped in his own end zone after center Chris Stetzar had snapped the ball over his head in a punting situation.

WHO put the "roll" in Van Heusen's Button-Down Collar?

Our designer has bowed to plaudits from the college man for producing the exacting patterns which create such a softly flattering collar roll. While our cloth specialist proudly claims that Van Heusen's traditional shirt fabrics are the finest, most supple . . . an essential for such ingenious draping!

However, upon reflection, it is our experienced stitchers who, almost fanatically, tailor that graceful roll into each individual collar that deserve the most credit of all.

Come, see the Van Heusen "417" Collection of dress and sport shirts at your local retailer. They are featured in a choice array of stripes and solids all cut in the new V-Taper trim, slim look. If you happen not to be a Button-Down fan, then snap to with our Snap-Tab! $5.00
