San Jose Game Rooters To See Sun Devil Band

The Sun Devil Marching Band left yesterday for Bakersfield, Calif., where they will stay overnight and then continue on to San Jose to perform the ASU-San Jose pre-game show Saturday night.

Under the direction of Harold Hines, the 120-piece band then moves to San Francisco where they will be featured during the half-time of the 49'er game Sunday in Kesar Stadium.

The band then will head home to prepare for Homecoming.

Peter, Paul & Mary Step Into Spotlight

Peter, Paul and Mary will arrive in Phoenix tomorrow on their concert tour of college campuses. For the last few weeks they have been performing on the West Coast to sell out audiences.

Their concert tomorrow evening at 8:30 at Goodwin Stadium is sponsored by Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Tickets may still be purchased on campus at the corner of College and Orange, Hill's Records, Tempe; Tempe Music Center; Bills Records, Phoenix; Burnetts and Hanny's, Scottsdale, and at the gate of the stadium. Additional seating has been added.

They have given concerts in Carnegie Hall, Hollywood Bowl, Philadelphia's Town Hall and the Queen Elizabeth Theater in Vancouver, B.C.

Archons To Tap New Members

New members will be tapped today for Archons, national fraternity men's honorary, according to Richard Vincent, president.

Names of the men tapped will be announced at the Saturday evening performance of Peter, Paul and Mary.

NO ISSUE NOV. 13

The State Press will not be published Wednesday because of Veteran's Day, Monday. Staff members will be preparing a special Homecoming issue for Friday.

Smelly Polls Draw Voters

Fertilizer and misprinted ballots caused headaches for the Election Board during Wednesday's Homecoming election, according to Board Chairman Alan Bunch.

A record 3,596 voted in the election. Bunch said this was the "biggest turnout ever."

The fertilizer, spread over many campus areas, made campaigning difficult and voting unpleasant.

Two mistakes were made on the IBM ballots. One name was left off the ballot and another was misspelled.

Despite these problems, Bunch said, "The board was pleased with the way candidates handled their campaigns, except in a few minor instances."

No protests have been filed in light of the misprinted ballots or campaigning. Written protests are required to be turned in to the Election Board within five school days after the election.

Ballots were counted twice because of the narrow margin separating candidates, said Bunch. The second and final count was finished at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

Results of the election will be revealed Tuesday night at the Homecoming dance in the MU ballroom.

Library Receives Valuable Volumes

The valuable Selig Heller book collection, assembled and kept for over 55 years by a 69-year-old bookbinder has been purchased by the University and now compliments Matthew's Library with 10,000 volumes.

Dr. Alan Covey, librarian, purchased the collection during the summer for $40,00.

The volumes, including many first editions, were stacked in Heller's third-story apartment, where the bookbinder found inspiration to write Yiddish poetry.

Dr. Covey asserted that it took three days to pack and prepare the volumes for their transfer from Chicago.

Enclosing in Matthews Library's entrance-way showcase are first editions from the collection including "Boswell's Life of Johnson" and "Samuel Johnson's Dictionary of the English Language."

The collection also contains first editions of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "The Essays of Montaigne."

"The Lusiad," or "Portugal's Historical Poem," one of the rarest editions in the collection, is the only copy in America, according to Heller.

The tiniest volume in the large collection is an autographed copy of one of only 13 of James Joyce's "Poems Penneach."

Inter-Hall Council -

Shofstall Focuses Speech
On Dormitory Democracy

By BUDDY PYLANT

Hall councils from all eight of the men's residence halls met Tuesday at Sahuaro 'A' to discuss student government as it concerns the halls.

Dean of Students W. P. Shofstall addressed the group on the essentials of student government and how it stands as a practical organization.

THE ESSENTIALS of student government outlined by Dean Shofstall were a dominance of principle over feeling, a dominance of freedom over prescription and a dominance of protection over control. He also said that the student government should attempt to lift everyone and lower no one.

The dean continued by stating that the reason most forms of student government in the halls seldom work is due to the lack of a system of checks and balances.

In general, the person that makes the rules also enforces them. When this is done there can be no democracy, said Shofstall.

DEAN SHOFSTALL concluded by stating, "The hall is a place where men can learn management and leadership."

Richard Scott, assistant to the director of housing, then spoke briefly on how to conduct a meeting.

IT WAS DECIDED that Inter-Hall Council would meet once a month.

All hall treasurers were asked to meet with Richard Scott next Thursday at 4 p.m. in MU 225.

ASU-UofA Debaters
Slate Verbal Clash

Debate squad members will host seven UofA teams Saturday for a two-round practice scrimmage.

Debates will be in the ground floor rooms of the Social Science building at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Teams will debate both the affirmative and negative sides of the current national topic, "Resolved: The federal government should guarantee a higher education to all qualified high school graduates."

The next major tournament will be the Western Collegiate Forensic Meet Nov. 28-30 at Humboldt State College, Arcadia, Calif. ASU debaters will participate.

Plans Begin For PSPA

A meeting for students interested in planning the 38th annual Pacific Students President's Association Convention will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. today in MU 211, according to Charles Stewart, assistant to ASASU President Daryl Winn. Student body presidents and other executive officers from 157 PSPA-member schools will attend the convention here on April 29 through May 2, according to Stewart.

Military Groups To Stand Guard Over Butte, Bell

Silver Wing and Pershing Rifles will jointly guard the campus from UofA vandalism Nov. 12 to 30.

Silver Wing will be responsible for property north of Eighth St., including the dorm bridge.

Pershing Rifles will guard the victory bell and the rest of the campus.

Patrols will be on duty at the bell, stadium, bridge and both buttes from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. They will be equipped with walkie-talkies and will be in constant communication with the Department of Security.

Scholarships Offered Marketing Students

A new $250 stipend, the George Ghis Scholarship, is now available to marketing and selling students of freshman, sophomore or junior status, according to Prof. William H. Harris of the marketing department.

Named for George Ghis of Paddock Pool Construction Company in Phoenix, the scholarship for the 1963-64 academic year is now available.

Requirements for the scholarship include a 3.0 grade index and enrollment of at least 15 hours this semester. Applications will be judged on the basis of scholarship, character, promise of success in field and financial need, said Harris.

The scholarship is renewable if the recipient is still qualified at the end of the academic year, he added.

Hitchcock Thriller Set

"Psycho" will be shown tonight for the last time at Cosner Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The movie, directed by Alfred Hitchcock, stars Tony Perkins and Janet Leigh.

Admission is 25c.

Next week's movie will be "Bernadine", starring Pat Boone. There will be no charge.

Besides Federal Aid

The three old standbys of getting through college; a scholarship if eligible, working your way through and borrowing are undergoing a change—or rather a shift.

The big shift is towards borrowing enough money to finance a college education. After all, almost every other kind of major purchase can be made on the installment plan.

The federal government is already in the field of making funds available for college, under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act. There was controversy over the act when some educators said it was unfair to make a 'youngster' mortgage himself for a higher education.

Congress passed the loan program and a good record of loan repayment has been established.

Before this program came into being a good record of college loan repayment was established with non-federal sources. The good faith of students who borrowed for an education was necessary for the federal program.

There are a number of state programs for underwriting student loans and commercial bank credit is available for families who are willing to pay tuition if they can budget the cost on a monthly basis.

United Student Aid Funds, Inc., allows colleges to deposit their loan funds as an eight per cent reserve for loans made to their students by commercial banks.

Thus $4,000 deposited becomes the reserve for $50,000 in loans, to be paid by the students after graduation.

There are alternatives to federal subsidized loans. A college education is already subsidized because, traditionally, tuition amounts to about half the actual costs.

The student if he really wants an education, should be able to repay his half.

International Understanding

The International Student Relations Committee is now in the process of initiating a program for the betterment of understanding between the foreign students and the American students.

This new program will provide each foreign student with an American brother or sister.

Each American student with a brother or sister will help acquaint him with our campus, state and country.

The foreign student, on the other hand, will acquaint the American with his native land. It is an opportunity for an exchange of culture that no student should miss.

There are posters accompanied with applications now being distributed on campus. It is hoped that a great many American students will want to participate in this program.

The plan has the wholehearted support of the foreign students, so let's show them that we, as Americans, are interested.

Iron On What?

College students, traditionally famed for fads and fetishes, are always seeking something new. The flagpole climbing and goldfish swallowing kicks of an earlier decade have been replaced by feats much easier to accomplish — constant changes in campus styles.

Iron-on emblems touting their schools, sororities, or fraternities have been added by many "cut-off" jeans fans, on several eastern campuses.

A coed with a number of weekend dates during the semester does not show favorites on her own campus. Her blue jeans will be decorated with as many as five or six emblems from different schools and fraternities. The practice has proved popular among male students because of an unexpected bonus. A school or fraternity emblem is a lot easier on the budget than "pinning."

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Will some one please answer these questions for me?

1. What useful and beneficial functions and purposes do the Homecoming activities prove to have for this University?

2. And providing that these activities are, in some manner, useful and purposeful, could the same objectives be attained by a better method?

3. In what way will the positions of Homecoming king and queen be of worth to the persons holding them?

4. Are the positions' worth possible attainable by better methods?

5. How would the value of this university be lessened if Homecoming activities were non-existent here?

6. Do the Homecoming activities and all their various aspects merit the effort put into them in their planning and execution?

7. What is the reverence due campus traditions and what should be the proper attitude of a person against them?

Please try to avoid such glittering generalities as: "campus spirit," "well-rounded individual," "alumni enthusiasm," "popularity"... you know the type.

Roger A. Frantz
(See College Avenue for the answer)

TO THE EDITOR:

The enthusiasm being shown in the campaign for Homecoming king and queen is truly impressive. It is undoubtedly the best manifestation of the reasons why the students taking part in this kind of activity have come to college.

Jane Jackson

TO THE EDITOR:

I'd like to question the quality of the humor being expressed recently in "Little Man on Campus." In literature there is high comedy and low comedy.

These cartoons lack the intelligence and subtlety of high comedy. They aren't exactly low comedy, but then they aren't funny, either.

Sandra Comstock

(Today's cartoon was pretty funny Sandra — if we don't run it, do you think anyone will care?)

TO THE EDITOR:

Concerning elections:

I think it is nice that the student body elects numerous kings, queens and officers. However, must the campus be cluttered with posters two weeks after the voting? Also, some of us are either in night classes or studying. The loud horns and screaming is distracting. Could we have some discrimination or maturity?

A Senior

TO THE EDITOR:

What is an educated man? We are told by certain professors on campus that man is an intelligent being and nothing else. Of perhaps, some will "allow" a student to believe in the dualism of man, such as that set forth in Plato's "Phaedo," in which the spiritual side of man is a separate substance and only externally related to the body. But this idea leads towards aesthetic attitudes towards love and gives a false explanation of evil in the world.

Instead, most believe that by reason, the pure reason by which Descartes determined the essence of God, then the nature of man, and thus his problems, can be solved.

What deplorable me is for a professor with high academic achievements in the field of political science, for example, to hold himself as an "adequate authority" in the realm of theological matters. If a physics question were presented him, I'm sure he would refer me to a physicist. How does a background in political science, for example, qualify him to answer such theological questions. Perhaps, there is a spiritual side to man, a side that such a person hasn't experienced or considered.

May the enthusiasm shown in Wednesday's king and queen contest spur our energies to produce a campus spirit that will pride returning alumni, the administration, Valley friends and, most of all, ourselves.

IF THE originality used in vote-getting schemes spreads to the decoration contest, ASU should become famous over-night for its "Great Discoveries."

Now that the royalty elections are over, plans that have been on the drawing board for weeks will suddenly burst from the test tube to huge conglomerations of papier-mache, wire, two-by-fours, napkins, cardboard and special mixtures of paint.

NO CLASSES Monday! This takes some of the fun out of bragging about how many classes you cut to slave on your decoration. But, it also means that no one has an excuse for not pitching-in on the work.

Whispers about campus-reveal impressive preparations for the decorations. Sounds like they might top anything ASU has ever seen.

OF COURSE, that four-foot sweepstakes trophy gives a little extra incentive to produce a winner.

From this weekend until next Friday, the concoctions will look like nothing.

About 3 o'clock that afternoon, for some unknown reason, the decorations will begin to shape into inventions of reality.

As finishing touches are carefully placed into position and colored lights are focused, all the worry and sweat will suddenly seem worth it.

THANKS TO a well-organized Homecoming steering committee, next week is chock-full of exciting activities.

A special round of applause should go to the one and only Cindi Buchanan, Homecoming steering committee chairman. Her enthusiasm has set the pace for Homecoming. Her responsibilities have been innumerable. Her devotion to these has been amazing.

HOMECOMING week will officially begin at the dance Tuesday evening where the coronation of the king and queen will highlight the evening.

Finale to their reign will be their presentation at the Homecoming game Saturday where we must prove to every returning class that no Homecoming has ever surpassed 1963's.

Now, what's the word-of-the-week?

Action Urged Of Off-Campus Men To Stimulate Group Participation

A small but growing group of male students met last Wednesday night to discuss ideas and problems of reorganizing the Off-Campus Men's organization.

AMS President Joe Sparks said that to arouse interest in such an organization, the group would have to enter actively into intramural sports, student government and social functions.

Sparks proposed that the group elect its own senator and that it become acquainted with the people running and their platforms.

A plan for forming an advisory council to the AMS executive council was disclosed by Sparks. This council would consist of representatives from Inter-Fraternity Council, Off-Campus Men, Inter-Hall Council, Blue Key and Sophos.

The function of the council would be to represent the various facets of college life so AMS can better serve the men on this campus.

Social participation is necessary to bring the group closer together on a friendlier basis, said Sparks. Phrateres, national off-campus women's group, and the house mothers of the women's residence halls have pledged support.

Evening Free? Try 'Night Out' Clancy's Style

So the Devils are playing in San Jose and you don't know what to do Saturday night?

Plan to attend the Social Activities Committee's "Night Out" at Clancy's from 8-10 p.m.

An old fashioned San Francisco nightclub atmosphere will feature live talent, free eats, checkered tablecloths and sorority girl waitresses.

Master of ceremonies will be Mitch Murdock who has quite a bit of talent to introduce. Barbara Brock and Dan Baker (who in more serious moments is an ASASU Supreme Court Justice) will sing, Robert Vujkov will be at the piano and Rick Wood will supply comedy.

This is the second in a series designed to provide entertainment for non-game weekends, according to committee chairman, Tom Anderson.

AMS Vacancies Named

Applications are now being taken for several AMS positions, according to AMS President Joe Sparks.

Those positions are AMS publicity chairman, a constitution committee, a rules committee and men interested in working on Water Sports Day.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: ERNIE SELZER

Five assignments in less than two years would indicate Ernie Selzer (B.S., 1961) is a man on the move at Pacific Telephone. He is presently a senior engineer working on the design of a worldwide data system for a large customer in the Los Angeles district.

Men with technical and scientific backgrounds are needed to understand the new concepts and growing complexities of communications. Ernie has been involved in engineering toll switching equipment, data transmission lines, and the design of private switching systems.

Ernie has made rapid strides to earn a reputation as a competent, versatile engineer. He has proved his abilities on every assignment and has gained the personal satisfaction and recognition that go with a job well done.

Ernie Selzer, like many young engineers, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Business Leaders Initiate Advisory Council To Dean

A dean's advisory committee of 16 business and community leaders has been organized for the College of Business Administration, according to Dr. Glenn D. Overman, dean.

The committee will assist in development of major policies designed to integrate the instructional, research and service functions of the college into the business activities of central Arizona, Overman said.

James E. Patrick, president of the Valley National Bank, has been named first chairman of the group. Committee members will serve three-year terms with one-third of the group appointed yearly.

Research and service activities of the college are coordinated through the Bureau of Business Services, a department of business administration college.

Traffic Appeals

The Traffic Appeals Board met Wednesday and granted the appeals of Richard Weiburg, Richard Asmuth, Sheila Kessler and Douglas Rupp. Appeals were denied Alan Rozefsky, Joseph Flynn, Gary Walston and Tom Biggs.

The board meets each Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in MU 225.

Inspection, Tour Slated Of Campus

Members of the Arizona House Appropriations Committee will make their annual inspection of ASU tomorrow, according to Gilbert Cady, vice president of business affairs.

Cady and John R. Ellingson, director of the physical plant, will lead the 15 visiting legislators on a walking tour of 25 major campus facilities. The tour begins at 9:30 a.m.

Committee members will lunch at Palo Verde East and afterward visit Grady Gamme Memorial Auditorium, designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

G. O. Biles, of Morenci, is chairman of the committee.

Placement Article Merits Menke Recognition Award

The first annual Gordon A. Hardwick Journal Award for the outstanding article of 1963 in the Journal of College Placement has been awarded to Robert F. Menke, director of placement at ASU and Robert Calvert, Jr., director of placement at the University of California.

A plaque and a cash prize were presented to the men for their co-authorship of the article, "Salaries, Budgets, Physical Facilities" in the April issue of the college placement magazine.

THE ARTICLE concerned the placement centers as they exist today, their contributions and the philosophies under which they work.

The award was given in honor of Gordon A. Hardwick, an early founder of the college placement council, by the Middle Atlantic Placement Association, one of the eight regional placement associations in the U.S. and Canada.

DR. MENKE was president of the Rocky Mountain College Placement Association 1961-63 and president of the Western College Placement Association, 1955 to 57.

He has been at ASU since 1947 as professor of education and is currently director of the Placement Center.

He is author of over 30 articles concerning the fields of organization and administration of higher education and placement services.

Sigma Nu House Receives Brazilian Student Visitors

Sigma Nu fraternity is acting as host this week for 12 Brazilian students, two interpreters and one State Department official.

The visitors were greeted at Sky Harbor Airport and taken to the Sigma Nu house where they will stay during their week-long visit on the campus.

AS GUESTS of the U.S. State Department, the Brazilian students have been touring the United States for two weeks.

According to Dale Bailey, cultural affairs officer for the State Department, the students said the highlight of their tour on campus was the new auditorium now in construction. They didn't think much of the outside but were impressed with the interior of the structure.

The students, from the University of Ceara in Brazil, are majoring in law, economics and engineering.

LAST NIGHT the visitors attended a dinner at the Sigma Nu house which featured guest speaker Dean Bob Bradford, assistant dean of men. A question and answer period followed.

The Brazilian students will leave the University next Tuesday for California.

Constitution Revising Action Begins

The Constitutional Revision Committee of the student Senate will conduct its first meeting Saturday, it was announced in the Senate Wednesday.

The committee, formed for the purpose of studying and revising the ASASU constitution, will be chairmanned by Senator Karl Wochner.

A mid-December deadline has been set for the committee's findings and recommendations, according to the Speaker of the Senate George Stewart.

In other action, the Senate passed SB-199, an act revising requirements for representation of councils in the Senate.

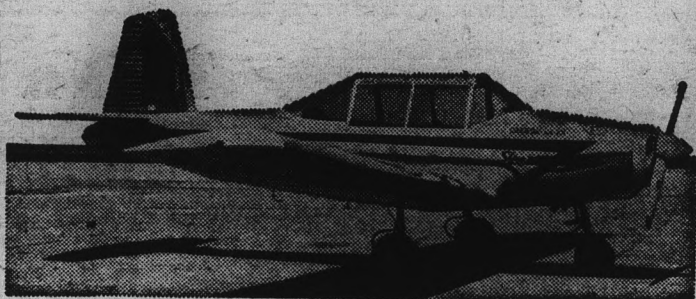

The Senate also gave its consent to the appointment of A. D. Jacobsen as chairman of the Education Board.

In a report by the Committee on Unrestricted Funds, it was suggested that the Senate appropriate $16,000 for a marble crete finish for the base of the Grady Gammage Memorial Auditorium.

Instructor Will Show Art In Oil And Water Colors

Tom J. Harter, professor of art, will display his paintings in oil, lacquer, casein and water-color at the Phoenix Women's Club in November.

Harter, who has been a commercial artist, designer and illustrator, painted the portrait of the late ASU President A. J. Matthew, which hangs in Matthews Library, and that of Dixie Dee Gammage, wife of the late president, displayed in the lounge of Gammage Hall.

In Arizona, Harter's work has been honored by juries at the Arizona State Fair. Among his other credits are a Valley Bank Purchase Prize in 1955, first in oil in 1959 and 1962, first in water color in 1961, and three honorable mentions and one popular prize in the past three years.

Harter, who is listed in "Who's who in American Art," has had one-man shows in New York City, Palos Verdes, Calif., Tempe, Phoenix, Scottsdale and Tucson.

Valley Women Ask Professor To Give Talk

A slide and lecture presentation entitled "The Iron Curtain—Backstage" will be conducted for the Valley Business and Professional Women's Club Monday evening at 7:30 by Dr. Sanford H. Couch, professor of Russian.

Reciting an objective view of Soviet life illustrated by color slides, Dr. Couch will address the club at a dinner meeting in Litchfield Park. The pictures were taken by Professor Couch while he lived in Russia during 1961-62.

Last Saturday at the UofA in Tucson, Dr. Couch explained to the Arizona Foreign Language Teachers Association how the Russian educators are facing problems in the improvement of teaching foreign languages.

His paper, "The Teaching of Foreign Languages in the Soviet Union," contrasted the Russian methodology system to that of the US which has been under criticism by several authors.

'Lysistrata' Set As Third Play

The University Players will present their third production of the season on Nov. 21 to 23 and Dec. 5 to 7, in the Lyceum building.

"Lysistrata," a comedy by Aristophanes, will be directed by Dr. James Yeater.

The two-act play is about a plan by the women of Greece to stop wars.

Women To Sing

The local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's professional music fraternity, will present its annual Silver Tea Musicales at 3 p.m. Sunday at the studio of Mrs. Louise Kerr, 6102 N. Scottsdale Rd., Scottsdale.

From Mozart To Moderns -

Chamber Concert Lauded

By ROBERT ARCHER

From the paradoxical freedoms of a Cage Monday evening to the precise chamber orchestration of a Mozart!

This was the transition required of many University concert-goers Wednesday evening, as Eugene Lombardi, the Chamber Orchestra, and guest soloist Patricia Keating adroitly restated the importance of traditional music on our cosmopolitan campus.

IN SPITE of a slight over-emphasis on the bass parts, the orchestra's opening selection — Mozart's familiar Eine Kleine Nachtmusik — succeeded surprisingly in musically transforming the MU ballroom into the very court in Prague where the Maestro wrote and premiered this evening serenade nearly two centuries ago.

THE SHIFT from Mozart to the moderns was accomplished by solo pianist Patricia Keating, a member of the music faculty and a former student of the renowned Egon Petri.

Mrs. Keating sensitively interpreted Epithalamium, a melodious set of piano-orchestra variations based on a Lebanese wedding theme and composed by the contemporary American, Anis Fuliehan.

The orchestra then responded with Ravel's Trois Chansons which, though not typical of Ravel's orchestral coloration, served as a pleasing poetic interlude that preceded the evening's finale.

LEADING US back to the late Baroque, the orchestra and solo violinists Karen Jones, Laurel Davison, Jack Thomas, Chris Bonds climaxed the evening with a spirited rendition of Vivaldi's Concerto in B Minor for four violins.

Throughout the three movements there was a forcefulness that kept the piece moving in the Vivaldi tradition and propelled it to a fine conclusion. Tongue in cheek, we might call this a moving selection.

For the future, the insertion of the traditional intermission is heartily recommended. Even the experimentalists Cunningham and Cage had that.

Porter Wins Golf Tourney

Joe Porter, 18-year-old freshman, is the 1963 Arizona State Amateur Golf Champion via his win over Payne Palmer at the Moon Valley Country Club.

He led the field in the first two rounds of qualifying with a 69-74-143 and ended with a 219 total for the 54-hole qualifying play. Porter then defeated Loren La Prade and defending champ George Boutell in match play before defeating Palmer.

He added the tournament victory to his State Junior Amateur, State high school and City Amateur titles.

In addition to Porter, the others among the eight A-State quarter-finalists in the tourney were Boutell, a junior from Phoenix, Ted Lyford, varsity team veteran and Rick Talt, a freshman from Whittier, Calif.

Devil Eleven At San Jose For Road Test

By AL MICHAELS

Arizona State Sun Devils, an invincible outfit in its first two away-games of the year, faces its concluding road test of 1963 tomorrow night against the San Jose State Spartans at San Jose, Calif.

A-State (5-1) has whipped Colorado State (50-7) and Texas Western (27-0) in road clashes this season.

Facing the Spartans, the Devils will encounter a team that is fresh off a stunning 13-7 upset over the University of Oregon last Saturday and a squad they have been able to whip

Harriers Head For Conference Championships

By JON MORRIS

Coach Baldy Castillo's cross country runners take a crack at unseating UofA's Western Athletic Conference champs tomorrow at Salt Lake City.

The Devils will send eight harriers to the WAC meet, hosted by University of Utah.

Louis Scott, freshman from Detroit, will give stiff competition to WAC defending individual champ Eric Owers, junior from Australia.

CASTILLO SAID that there is a very good chance that Scott will be individual winner. Scott has won two of three ASU meets this year.

Other Devil thinclads making the trip are Art Reade, junior from Phoenix Camelback High; John Silverthorn, senior from Phoenix North High; Joe Smart, junior from Trinidad; Bob Stiffler, Tucson; Larry Berryhill, Ceres, Calif., and Phil Lunn, Glendale Washington High.

Coach Castillo said ASU, UofA, Brigham Young and New Mexico will be the top teams in the meet.

Off The Cuff

By JOE HEATH

Sports-minded people should be having a field day at A-State these days. In football — it's the talk about a possible bowl bid, the homecoming game and the rapidly approaching "Big Game" with Arizona.

CROSS COUNTRY—the Western Athletic Conference championships take place this Saturday at Salt Lake City with Eric Owers attempting to defend his first-place finish of last year.

BASKETBALL — the tip-off is just around the corner with the first game set for Dec. 3. Who will be the fifth starter on the nation's number three team?

BOWLING? — that's right BOWLING. Tryouts for the A-State bowling team will be in the MU games room Nov. 14 and 15 from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday, the 16th, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Team tryouts are open to all male students with a charge of $3 for the nine lines needed to qualify.

Returning from last year's team is Dick Havertine. In last season's New Mexico Invitational at Albuquerque, Havertine was a second place finisher in all events by only one pin.

He also posted a 200 average in the western division of the National Intercollegiate Bowling Association. The A-State team finished second to Oregon State in Mail Division Bowling.

INTRAMURALS — a never forgotten aspect of campus athletics. The program is in full swing now and will continue for the remainder of the school year.

Cross Country was yesterday, volley ball finishes today, tennis is still going and football starts soon.

A well-rounded athletic program for all of A-State? Well, you surely can't say that it's lacking.

Spartans To Host Devils

only once in the last five meetings.

Furthermore, it's Homecoming at the Bay Area school and a crowd of 15,000 is expected to antagonize the Devils in their attempt to record their sixth consecutive win.

Meanwhile, the Devils have picked up a full head of steam after an opening game loss to Wichita and will enter tomorrow's fray in near-perfect physical condition.

The Sun Devil backfield will open with John Jacobs at quarterback, Ray Young and Charley Taylor at the halves and Tony Lorick at full.

Jacobs is determined to improve his performance over the first five contests and took a giant step in that direction with an outstanding showing in last Saturday's 30-22 win over Utah.

LORICK, on the other hand, picked up 57 yards in 12 carries against the Redskins to increase his season's production to 570 yards in 69 attempts for a robust 8.3 yards-per-carry average.

Taylor, meanwhile, was lauded by Coach Frank Kush for his performance against the Utes. "All our boys played well," remarked Kush, "but you'd have to single out Charley. He had his finest night."

THE SPARTANS (3-4) possess an outstanding 1-2 punch at quarterback in the presence of sophomore Ken Berry and senior Rand Carter.

Berry has clicked on 35 of 58 throws for 479 yards and four touchdowns, while Carter, a former junior college All-American at Santa Monica City College, has been successful on 52 of 99 attempts for 517 yards and three scores.

Game time is 9 p.m. (MST).
