Remember Tucson? —

WATCH MY POWER — ASU's Sun Devil mascot whispers a warning to the UofA Wildcat at Saturday's game. But then, what hope was there against the fighting Devils aided by the popping of 8,000 metal crickets? 41,141 fans including Senator Goldwater and Governor Fannin saw what a University is made of. Remember Tucson? They remember ASU.

41,141 Watch Devils Crush Arch Rivals

By AL MICHAELS

Arizona State ended a three-year period of frustration Saturday night when the Sun Devils bombarded Arizona's listless Wildcats, 35-6, before 41,141 Sun Devil Stadium fans.

A-State's win was its first over the UofA since a 15-9 decision in 1959 and its 11th over Arizona in 37 meetings.

The Wildcats, underdogs in the three previous clashes, whipped ASU 35-7 in 1960, 22-13 in 1961 and 20-17 last season.

However, a diversified Sun Devil offensive attack and a staunch defense proved too much for Arizona to overcome Saturday.

The Wildcats' Rickie Harris ran the opening kickoff back 95 yards to give the UofA its only score of the evening.

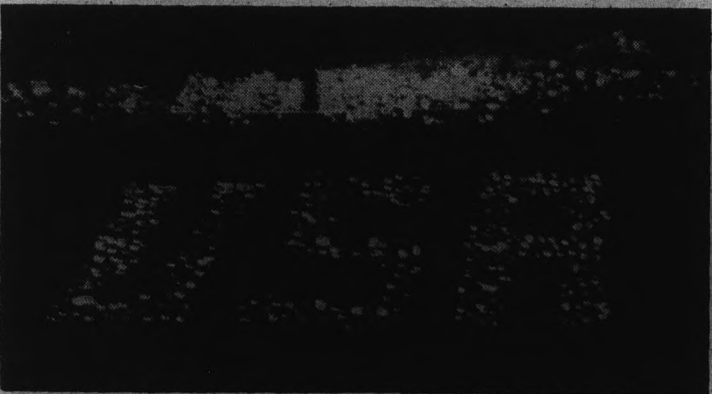

After that, it was all ASU.

Tony Lorick rushed for two touchdowns, scored another on a pass interception return. John Jacobs and Benny Hawkins added one apiece to bolster the Devils to their eighth consecutive victory and a season's mark of 8-1.

A-State finished with a Western Athletic Conference record of 3-0 but are ineligible for the league championship because of their lack of a sufficient number of conference games.

Hence, the Arizona-New Mexico battle in Tucson Saturday will decide the "official" WAC crown even though Saturday's game left no doubt in anybody's mind concerning the conference's top team.

HALFTIME SILENCE — Awed spectators watched in the dark stadium Saturday as the card section flamed with USA. A lone spotlight focused upon a high Tempe Butte rock where four ROTC cadets re-enacted the famous flag-raising at Iwo Jima. Taps were sounded. When the lights went on the sky was filled with sparkling bursts as the bands went into a series of patriotic formations.

Students Discuss Life By Spiritual Exploration

Spiritual Exploration Week is underway as over 100 persons were present Monday evening for the first annual SEW banquet.

According to Ronald Hockenberry, a member of the SEW steering committee, the increased attendance was due in part to the death of President Kennedy and the awareness of students of the need for religion.

SPONSORED BY the Student Religious Council, this year's SEW was built around the theme "Religion in Crisis."

In a statement concerning the purpose of SEW, President Durham said, "Let us pause then during Spiritual Exploration Week and rediscover the truth of 'Religion in Crisis.' Let us reach toward the infinite strength, hope, love and peace offered by religion throughout the centuries."

CLASSROOM visitations, buzz sessions and vespers (sample services) are planned for the rest of the week.

The classroom visits and the buzz sessions will be conducted by outstanding resource leaders from various denominations.

For those interested in acquainting themselves with the liturgy and style of other services, sample services in Danforth Chapel are scheduled.

National Honorary To Induct Scholars

Forty-nine students will be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honor society, at a banquet Saturday in the MU at 6:30 p.m.

The former president of University of Oregon and Montana State University, Dr. Harry K. Newburn, will give the address entitled "The Uncommon Man." Dr. Newburn is now a professor of education here.

Also, William Jackson, Patricia Koch, Ulrich Muhr, Larry

Nelson, Erma Penman, Kathleen White, Bedford Douglass Jr., Sue Creswell, Carol Davidson, Gerald Meyhew, Janet Pipes, Naomi Cohen, Paul Culom, Jo Ann Hennington, Beatrice Jorgensen, Barbara Peck and Rosalyn Paven.

Also, Dennis Dorin, Robert Golay, Norma Etheridge, Patricia Rovey, David Skov, William Yoder, Sandra Axson, Donetta Smith, Beverly James, Christian Bjorklund, Arnold Crowder, Mary Ittner, Donald McBride, William Schwinkendorf and Daryl Winn.

Author, Speaker To Review Study Of Soviet Union

Dr. Erik Von Kuehnelt-Leddihn, noted author, will speak on "The Evolution of the Soviet Union" at 8 p.m. today in the MU upper lounge.

The speaker has recently returned from a six week study tour of the U.S.S.R.

Dr. Kuehnelt-Leddihn attended the Thersianic Academy in Vienna and the University of Budapest. He has taught at Beaumont College in England, Georgetown University and Fordham University in the U.S.

He is the author of books such as "Moscow 1979," "Menace of the Herd," "Liberty and Equality," "Black Banners" and "Democracy Revisited."

Dr. Kuehnelt-Leddihn has had his works published in the National Review, Commonwealth, America, Modern Age and The Freeman.

The program will be sponsored by the ASU Forum and is open to the public free of charge.

Contest Reset For Next Week

The third annual Pi Delta Epsilon Ugly Person Contest has been rescheduled for Dec. 11 to 13, according to Jerry Reilly, Pi Delt president.

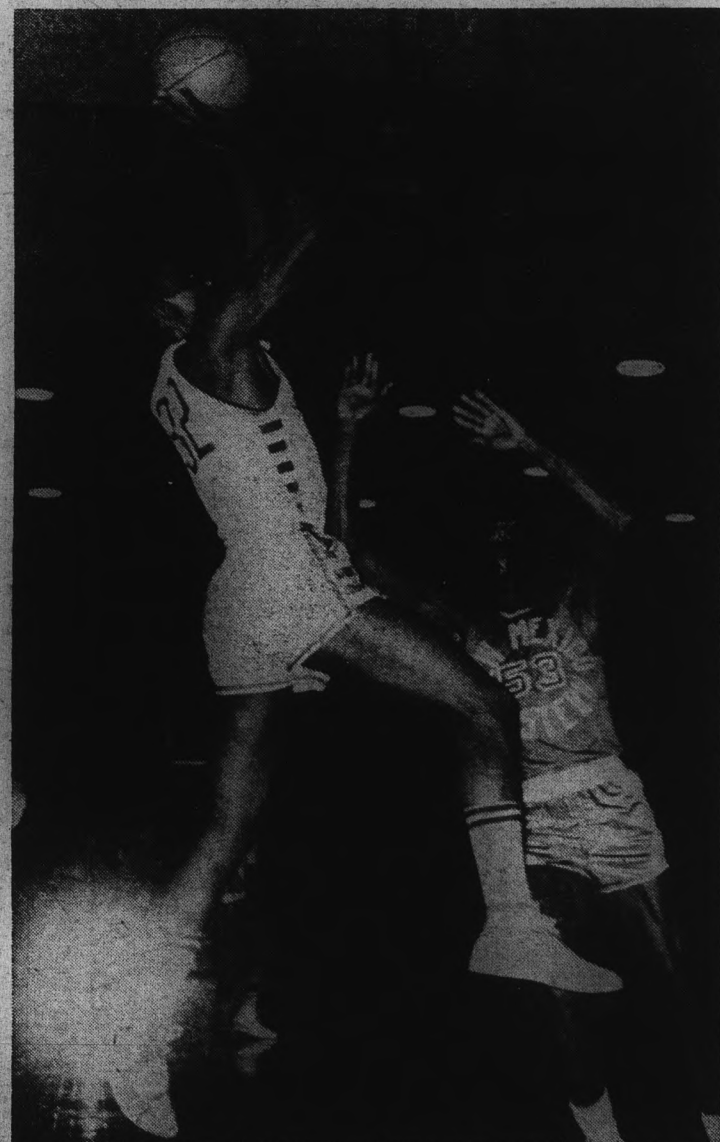

Due to a lack of contestants, the deadline for getting ugly pictures in is 3 p.m. Monday. All the contestants have to do is make themselves up — Pi Delt will pay for the picture.

Sahuaro Sales

Sahuaro yearbook sales will end this Friday. Organizations or groups who would like space in the annual should contact the yearbook office in MU 2 or call 966-3227.

Prices are $50 for a whole page and $30 for a half page.

Payments should be made to the Finance Office Ad 101.

GO, GO, POGO — Joe (Pogo) Caldwell, ASU 32, gets an early start on the scoring records against defending Sidney Gunn, 53, of Western New Mexico in the opening minutes of last night's season opener. ASU won 121 to 79. Caldwell was high scorer for both teams with 28 points. (Photo by Ed Ryan)

Half Million Dollars Aid Research And Projects

Nearly $532,000 in research contracts and grants, gifts and grants for undergraduate scholarship, graduate fellowships, grants of research equipment, funds for educational institutes and financial support for the Nininger Meteorite Collection has been received by Arizona State since Oct. 19.

The report of gifts and grants was made by President Durham during the Board of Regents meeting here Saturday.

Largest award was a $212,500 grant from the National Science Foundation in support of an academic year institute, directed by Dr. Alan T. Wager, professor of physics, for secondary school teachers of physical science and mathematics.

NSF ALSO awarded a $41,700 grant supporting a summer institute on desert biology for college teachers of the biological sciences, directed by Dr. Gordon L. Bender, professor of zoology.

A grant of $88,581 from the National Institutes of Health will support the research of Dr. Roland K. Robins, professor of chemistry, who is conducting research on the synthesis of compounds which will be tested for anti-cancer activity.

Three research contracts totaling $111,000, ratified Saturday by the Regents, cover the following projects.

— An experiment in verbal behavior under investigation by Dr. Arthur Bachrach, chairman of the psychology department, for the Office of Naval Research.

Carbon 14 Talk

Beta Beta Beta, biological society, will host Dr. Paul E. Damon, professor of geology and geochronology at the UofA during tomorrow night's meeting at 7:30 in LSC-61.

"Problems in C-14 Dating" will be the title of Dr. Damon's talk. The public is invited.

— The solid state chemistry of rare earth oxides by Dr. LeRoy Eyring, chairman of the chemistry department, for the Atomic Energy Commission.

— A study of pellets containing grasses and legume seeds by Daniel O. Robinson, head of the agriculture division, for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

THE OFFICE OF Education awarded $55,000 for 22 National Defense Education Act graduate fellowships in chemistry, elementary education, guidance and psychology.

The National Institute of Mental Health granted $23,737 for four fellowships for predoctoral study in psychology.

Gifts to the scholarship program include $1,000 from Robbs & Hester, Phoenix, for two $500 scholarships for incoming freshmen planning to study insurance; $250 from J. Lester Shaffer, Equitable Life Insurance Co., Phoenix, for an annual scholarship for an upper-classman majoring in insurance; and a $200 contribution to the scholarship fund from Gerry Wolfe, El Paso, Tex.

A gift of an estimated $6,000 from Herbert G. Fales, New York City, in the form of 13 shares of IBM stock, came in support of the Nininger Meteorite Collection.

The title to six items of research equipment, valued at $2,183.74 has been transferred to campus in connection with a research project being conducted by Dr. Harry Whitehurst, associate professor of chemistry, for the Army Electronic Material Agency, Fort Monmouth, N.J.

Yuletide Attire To Bedeck MU

Santa's Workshop, a white Christmas and Bethlehem will be coming tomorrow night 7:30-10 with the annual MU Christmas decorating party.

All groups and individuals are invited to attend and help decorate the lower lounge, upper lounge, entranceways, staircases and ballroom.

Dancing is planned and refreshments will be served, according to Activities Vice President Perry Gooch.

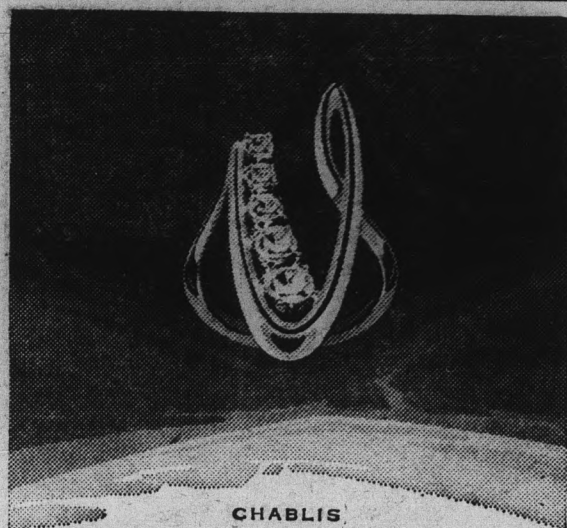

All decoration will be furnished by the MU.

This year's Organization Christmas Tree, located in the MU patio, will be sponsored by Freshman Hostesses. Each campus organization is urged to bring an ornament that is symbolic of its organization.

is it me...or Jack Winter!

It's you, princess, when you have the Jack Winter look. But whoa... take a minute to learn about the subject of stretch. Because once you put yourself in Jack Winter stretch pants, you are going to get the eye test. Be darn sure you can pass. Questions. Should you wear stretch pants? What kind of figure does it take? Most all figures are flattered by stretch, whether angular, triangular, or a figure eight. Even if you have an hourglass figure where all the sand has sunk to the bottom, stretch pants can do quick subtracting. You won't need a grease job to slip in, but there's no sag, bag or bind either. Jack Winter cuts 'em just right...lean and ladylike...proportioned in your proper leg-length. So it's you and Jack Winter getting all those straight-on, slant-eyed, turn-about-face looks. You and Jack Winter causing that campus stir.

Projects Reflect Internationalism

The International Student Relations Committee held a short meeting Monday to discuss the upcoming events.

Tomorrow night the I.S.R.C. is sponsoring a speech by Gary Pickard on Mexican-United States Relations at 7:30 p.m. in the Senate Chamber Room.

This Saturday there will be a People to People Workshop at ASC.

A caroling party on Dec. 11 for all foreign students and anyone else interested will start at 6:45 p.m. in front of the MU.

Plans for January include an open panel discussion of all facets of American and international life.

Traffic Appeals Board

The Traffic Appeals Board is meeting today at 3:45 p.m. in MU 225 to hear the appeals of those who have paid bond on their citations.

Friday's State Press will include a list of the board's decisions made in the last two weeks.

Oboist To Perform

Oboist Fred Capps will present his senior recital this evening at 8:15 in Cosner Auditorium.

Play Brings Mirth, Praise From Lysistrata Reviewer

By ELEANOR PELOW

If you should, in the next few days, find yourself overcome with a desire to laugh uproariously, go to the Lyceum and see the University Players' production of "Lysistrata."

And if you are suffering under the mistaken notion that the twentieth century has a monopoly on candor, go see "Lysistrata." But prepare yourself for one of the most riotously funny shows you'll ever see and leave a few inhibitions at home.

"Lysistrata," admirably played by Jill Fisher, is the ringleader of the Greek women who refuse to have anything to do with their husbands until the wars are ended. Mrs. Fisher is utterly in command, but she manages to slip in a subtle gibe or two which add to the general antics.

Even the Athenians had their "Southern Belles," and Cindi Buchanan plays Myrrhine so beautifully that you can almost smell the magnolias. Her charms prove to be too much for Kinesias, her husband, played by Ray Icely with all appropriate confusion and frustration.

In short, this play has everything — humor, a great deal of talent from everyone, panoramic stage settings, brilliant costuming and the unmistakable hand of Aristophanes.

Tests Set

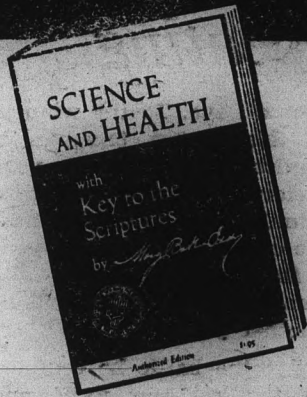

English Proficiency Exam

The English proficiency exam will be conducted tomorrow from 2 to 5 p.m. in LSC-191 for all second semester sophomores and upper classmen who did not receive a grade of B or better in EN 102.

Foreign Language Tests

The Foreign Language Reading Examination in French, German and Spanish for graduate students will be given tomorrow, 3:30-5:30 in the Science and Technology Reading Room on the second floor of Matthews Library. A dictionary is allowed; paper will be furnished.

Days Of Wine And Football

What goes on behind the scenes at a college football game — that is behind the spectator scene? Besides observing the action on the playing field, more and more fans are beginning to indulge in some of their own week-end games.

Saturday night football games offer a good percentage of the non-student adult fans a chance to apply their "sophisticated" behavior to new surroundings. Drinking, betting, cussing and arguing, it seems, are more healthful in the open air. This junior F. Scott Fitzgerald populace is setting an example that, from all outward appearances, looks good to the students — so good that they try and imitate it.

Outside the stadium the traditional ingredients for a football game are clearly reflected in the festive mood of the crowd. Good-natured jostling, shrill greetings and laughter characterize well-intentioned fans mingling in the crisp autumn air. Once inside the stadium it smells like the aftermath of an Elliot Ness raid. The first warm wave of alcoholic breath causes a nauseous effect that sets your insides quivering. After being conditioned to the smell, you are lulled into the same mellow feeling that's radiated from the liquor lappers in the crowd.

Opening Kickoff

The opening kick-off is the signal for the "fans" to loosen their bottles. Bottles are drawn from coat pockets, purses, bankets and rolled-up programs, just to name a few of the more obvious sources. The soft-drink sellers are kept hopping providing mix for the football game bartenders. Bags of crushed ice and boxes of paper cups are also smuggled in so the alleged fans won't be kept thirsty too long.

When the "well-oiled" fans get into action it's something to see — especially between downs (football down, that is.) They cheer their hearts out under the direction of a self-appointed cheerleader — usually armed with a bell or a horn.

"C'mon now, let's hear it for good ol' SAU, USA?" His comrades snicker and then bend their elbows. Finally the cheerleader rings his bell and blurts out, "Go you Badgers!"

Meanwhile bewildered non-drinking fans are further distracted by the drinker's incessant chatter. "Betcha five we get a touchback, er touchdown on this drive." "Hey Charley pass the ice." "Anyway we got a bigger band than they do." "I dropped my bottle! Let me down, I gotta get it."

These are just a few of the familiar cries that echo from these adult fans. Others range from the usual drunken obscenities to the mumblings of an incapacitated mind.

Fans Take Abuse

For the fans who come to actually view the game — well they've resolved to take the abuse and try and concentrate on the game — or leave. The ticket-takers are usually harrassed by latecomers looking for their seats and do not even attempt to ask the rowdy fans to sit down. After observing the drunken stupor on some of the faces in the crowd — they probably realize it wouldn't do any good.

Students are regulated by state and university liquor consumption laws. Of course there are still infringements and a few discreet drinkers dot the student area in hopes of reaching the Roman orgy state of their elders. Nevertheless the student is still held responsible to tangibles that the alleged adult fans don't have to worry about.

The solution to this problem, if there is one at all, is varied and complex. What is needed? More stringent liquor regulations in the stadium, warning signs, more policemen may form the basis for control, if and when University officials decide it is necessary.

Maybe more regulations would irritate adults who are so jealous of their rights and privileges. Yet these same adults abuse their privileges and then flaunt them for everyone to see.

Economic Factor

In cold, hard economics, if too many fans took offense at increased liquor control and decided to stay home there might be a big slash in athletic appropriations. Obviously this doesn't look good for athletics, but it is good for a healthy student body who are taught, coaxed, warned and threatened about illegal consumption.

The real fans are being driven away.

Students are being shoved into a stadium with thousands of drinking examples. University control seems far away when you're snuggled into a stadium with these same fans.

As the janitors sweep up broken bottles on Sunday morning, they think of the days when they contained soft drinks and people did their drinking in bars.

Letters To The Editor -

'A JFK American'

TO THE EDITOR:

There is a tattered, sun-bleached sticker on the rear bumper of my car. When this bumper sticker was legible it read "A JFK DEMOCRAT."

I placed it on my car six months ago for political reasons. At that time I felt no feelings of the philosophic or historic importance in connection with the initials JFK.

Now the mortal being of John Fitzgerald Kennedy is gone from our presence; he was taken from us by a savage and brutal death, but he left with us an immortal re-statement of the moral and philosophic foundation of our constitutional democracy.

He said we must reaffirm our belief that all men are created equal and that our country must be the example of freedom for all. President Kennedy played a decisive role in maintaining world peace.

John F. Kennedy would not tolerate tyranny, deprivation of rights or the oppression of freedom; whether it occurred in Mississippi, Georgia, the Dominican Republic or South Viet Nam.

It would be presumptuous to say that this man was successful in all of his endeavors to improve the world; however, we may state that the world is the benefactor because of the life and the deeds of John F. Kennedy.

I now realize that I am more than a JFK Democrat and I am proud to say that I am "A JFK AMERICAN."

Guy J. Blackburn Jr.

TO THE EDITOR:

By means of the present, we, the Cuban students who have confronted the communist tyranny of Fidel Castro, want to reach all the students of American learning center with our most sincere message of sympathy for the vile assassination of Mr. John F. Kennedy, President of the United States of America.

The Cuban students, who know of the dedication of this great statesman to the cause of justice and liberty in all countries, unite in this grief with the student body and with the people of this great country.

Worth Repeating

(The following is a statement given before Saturday night's game with the UofA)

The President of the Board of Regents, Hon. Elwood Bradford, has authorized me to make the following statement:

During this game, we expect that each of you will support the team of your choice; however, in the light of the events that have taken place in recent days, we ask each one of you to maintain the dignity that a citizen of our great state and country should have. To the winners of this contest tonight, we implore you to accept your victory graciously and with humility; and to the defeated, we expect you to accept your defeat with honor — and remember that there will be another year!

Let the battle be confined to the gridiron itself and whatever the outcome, let us all unite for a better Arizona and a better United States.

Here's your chance.

A genuine, bona fide chance to slip into the holiday spirit while aiding the underprivileged.

For the past three years Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism honorary, in conjunction with the Arizona Republic's Lady Fare has joined forces to "Dress A Living Doll."

THERE ARE thousands of underprivileged children in the Valley area who do not have enough clothing to protect them from the December chill. This population includes babies and children up to 14 years of age.

Pi Delta's "Ugly Person Contest" is one of the money raising events to help provide warm clothing for these youngsters. The contest is not complex — the children need the clothing.

ALL THE honorary asks is that any responsible group or organization make-up an "ugly" person and bring him to the State Press office to have his picture taken. Pi Delta will pay for the picture.

The pictures will be displayed on the Devil's Den patio. There will be corresponding numbered jars where you may cast your vote — a penny counts as a vote.

After the contest, next week Wednesday through Friday, the votes will be counted and the winner announced the following week. The "ugliest" person will receive a trophy and a $10 gift certificate.

Phrateres Plans Banquet To Honor Founder's Day

Eta chapter of Phrateres will hold its annual Founder's Day Banquet, Thursday in the MU.

Guest speaker at the banquet will be Mrs. Marjorie Chilstrom, grand president of Phrateres International.

Mrs. Chilstrom has participated in Phrateres since she was president of Alpha chapter at UCLA. She has served for 17 years on the Board of Trustees for Phrateres International as executive secretary. She became grand president in 1957.

She will bring the scrapbook of the late Dean Helen M. Laughlin, founder of Phrateres in 1924 at UCLA.

In addition to her activities with Phrateres she is an active member of the UCLA Alumni Association, an honorary life member of PTA and participates in the League of Women Voters.

Other special guests at the banquet will be Dean Nichols, members of the office staff and Phrateres alumnae.

Ceramic And Photography Works Will Be Exhibited

Two exhibits are currently being featured in the Arts building. They are displays of ceramics and photographs.

The ceramics may be seen in room 119 or in the main lobby. Some of the ceramic, porcelain and stoneware works are for sale and are priced from $1 to $6.

Among the displayed works is a State Fair first prize winner by Miron Webster.

A photography display also is on exhibit in the main lobby. The photographs, all by Don Worth, are of various subjects, primarily in natural settings.

Devils Whip The Cats For Win Number Eight

By AL MICHAELS

Arizona State's classy Sun Devils parlayed a devastating offensive attack and a brick-walled defensive performance into a 35-6 victory over the University of Arizona Saturday night.

A crowd of 41,141, the largest gathering ever to witness a sporting event in the state's history, watched the Sun Devils coast to their eighth consecutive triumph since a season-opening 33-13 loss to Wichita.

By virtue of its win, A-State all but cinched an opportunity to participate in the Sun Bowl, Dec. 28, although dropping a notch to 13th place in the weekly United Press International poll.

FOLLOWING THE Shocker defeat, the Devils, in succession, whipped New Mexico State, 14-13, Colorado State, 50-7, West Texas State, 24-16, Texas Western, 35-7, Utah, 30-22, San Jose State, 21-19, Wyoming, 35-6, and Arizona to turn in its most successful campaign since Frank Kush took over at head coach.

In six years at Arizona State, Kush has compiled an overall mark of 48-13-1.

ASU'S VICTORY over the Wildcats was the first over its intra-state nemesis since 1959 when the Devils squeezed out a 15-9 decision in Tempe. The rivals have now met 37 times in a series that originated in 1899 with the UofA holding a 26-11 margin.

A-State utilized the power running of Tony Lorick and Charley Taylor and the passing of John Jacobs to full advantage in defeating Arizona.

LORICK, WHO earlier in the day had been the first round draft choice of the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League, netted 115 yards in 15 carries to wrap up the rushing championship of the Western Athletic Conference.

Taylor, meanwhile, scooted for 98 yards on 16 carries and, along with teammates Lorick and John Seedborg, was selected to play in the annual East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco later this month.

The 6-3, 200-pound Grand Prairie, Tex., senior was also the first round draft pick of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League and second round selection of the AFL's Houston Oilers.

JACOBS COMPLETED five of eight throws for 127 yards and one touchdown to chalk up his top performance of the season.

"Jake" was the WAC's first team quarterback in 1962 but had turned in spotty showings all season long before letting loose against the Wildcats.

The Braddock, Pa., senior won the conference's back-of-the-week honor for his display while center-linebacker Chris Stetzar won the lineman award for the second time this year.

IFC FOOTBALL

Not only did the Sun Devil football team beat the UofA for the first time in four years, but the Inter-Fraternity Council turned the same trick.

The A-State IFC representatives pinned a 25-6 whitewash on the Arizona boys Saturday afternoon in the friendly confines of Goodwin Stadium.

The win was the first in the four year history of the game to be captured by ASU.

An Editorial -

New Season Pledge

As we prepare for another (and I hope successful) basketball season, I feel a few pertinent remarks from a person intimately involved in the program are in order.

In past years, it has been commonly felt that as a student body we are exceedingly hesitant in giving rousing support to the Sun Devils at the games in the gym. As an example, our students last year were obviously "out-cheered" by a group of about 30 visiting BYU Cougarettes and band members.

This type of support is probably not from lack of energy as much as it is energy that is often mis-directed. Much of the vocal efforts have issued forth in a negative manner in the form of ill-mannered remarks, boos, and jeers directed toward individuals and coaches of the visiting team and especially toward officials. I will admit, in the case of the latter, that this negative attitude has often been incited by myself.

In preparing for this season, I pledge myself to a much more positive attitude toward the overall conduct of the game and sincerely urge all of you to do the same.

I'm sure that we are all exceedingly proud of what our players have accomplished these past few years. Let's improve the program even more by developing a positive atmosphere of solid vocal support for the Sun Devils. This should be done by being extra vociferous in our cheering when our team succeeds and displaying our real knowledge of the game by recognizing exceptional plays and performances by both teams. At the same time, we should restrain ourselves from the negative outbursts against the visitors and officials.

I am going to try, will you?

Imp Cagers Play Kerr's

A-State's freshmen basketball team plays host to a strong Kerr Sporting Goods team Saturday at 6 p.m. in the preliminary to the Sun Devil-Wichita contest that tips off at 8 p.m.

In facing the Kerr team, the Imps will be battling several former ASU basketball stars including Jerry Hahn, Paul Howard, Ollie Payne, Raul Disarufino and former Phoenix College star, David Wright.

Ex-Sun Devil great Tony Cerkenik earlier had intentions of playing with the Kerr squad, but changed his mind when he was offered a chance to sign with the Phillips 66ers of the National Industrial Basketball League.

Coach Bill Mann's frosh team ranges in height from 6-8 Bob McConnel all the way down to the shorty of the team, 5-9 Jim Rowles.

Frosh Schedule includes:
Dec. 7—Kerr Sporting Goods (H)

Jan. 4—Williams AFB (H)
Jan. 11—Mesa 15th Ward (H)
Jan. 28—Camelback Extension JC (H)

Soccer Squad Wins And Loses

The University of Arizona soccer team slipped by the Arizona State Soccer Club in a sudden-death playoff last Saturday afternoon on the ASU soccer field.

At the end of regulation play, two 45 minute halves, the score was deadlocked at 3 apiece.

Going against regular procedure the two teams agreed to go into a 10 minute overtime. During this time the UofA scored its final goal to give them a 4-3 edge.

AT THE HALF the UofA led by 2 to 0. In the second period ASU started to move. Cemil Gunyuz scored a goal with his head. A few minutes later Terry Cotter headed another one past the goalie. Dele Oderinlo added the final point for ASU by smashing a third one into the net.

With a few minutes remaining in the game the UofA shot one through the ASU defense to tie the score.

On Sunday the Soccer Club played its first league game against Motorola here. This time ASU came out on top with a score of 4 to 0. It was the soccer team's first shutout of the season.

Goals were scored by Pete Idano, Terry Cotter, Mehmet Hasal and Pete Versteegen.
