ASASU Constitution Revision Scheduled For Senate Vote

By BRET BATCHELOR

Today's Senate agenda has been cleared by Speaker George Stewart so the Senate can take immediate action on the revised ASASU Constitution.

Stewart said he kept all bills out of the committee of the whole and off the agenda to allow the Senate enough time to discuss and vote on the new constitution at today's session. The session will convene at 3:45 p.m. in the MU Senate Chamber.

A student-faculty committee approved the new constitution yesterday morning.

Dr. Heinz Hink, Dr. John Ryan and Dr. W. P. Shofstall were appointed by President Durham to the committee. Barbara Brock, Nick Hagen and Karl Wochner, all student senators, were appointed by ASASU President Daryl Winn.

The committee made several minor changes, according to Dr. Ryan.

Major changes in the constitution made by the Senate were the establishment of an administrative vice president, re-organization of the executive branch, enumeration of the supreme court justices' qualifications and addition of an impeachment article.

The body of regulations, which was first approved by the Senate several weeks ago, must now be approved by the Senate again.

Fifteen days after the Senate gives its final approval of the constitution, it must be put before the students at a special election for approval.

ID Card Fraud Called Rumor By Shofstall

By DAVE HOYT

The report of the existence of over 200 false ID cards remains unsubstantiated.

Dr. Weldon P. Shofstall, dean of students, while emphasizing that precautions should be taken to ensure student elections, stated, "My feeling is that this (alleged block of 200 false cards) is pure, unadulterated rumor . . ."

Those who misuse their ID cards, Dr. Shofstall pointed out, destroy the card's value for other students. Merchants and others in the community who honor the cards, may no longer do so in the future.

Told last fall that 200 cards had been stolen during September registration, Dean of Men Dr. George Hamm maintains that since then there has been, " . . . no evidence of a serious problem."

DEANS SHOFSTALL and Hamm stressed that the problem of student ID falsification is not being dismissed and that student misuse of any identification would result in referral to the Disciplinary Committee for action and possible suspension from the University.

Dean Shofstall further suggested that ASASU officers call the student body's attention to the seriousness and possible consequences of ID card misuse.

Dean Hamm and Daryl Winn, ASASU president, acknowledged that student ID card infractions are not new to the campus. Students in the past have misused their cards by obtaining athletic tickets and later selling them at "scalper" prices.

There have also been attempts to alter cards in order to obtain extra tickets to the ASU-UofA football game.

ALTERING or reproducing ID cards may soon become more difficult, if not impossible. Dick Finley, financial manager of ASASU, reports that a budget request has been made to provide for four-year ID cards. These will be encased in plastic so that they will be unalterable and will be used by the student through his four undergraduate years.

The cards would be of a different color for each freshman class and transfer students would receive cards of the color appropriate to their class standing.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

President Discusses Students, Education

By LINDA HELSER

An imaginary barometer placed in college classrooms throughout the nation would be an interesting device to measure the quality of knowledge possessed by students, according to President G. Homer Durham.

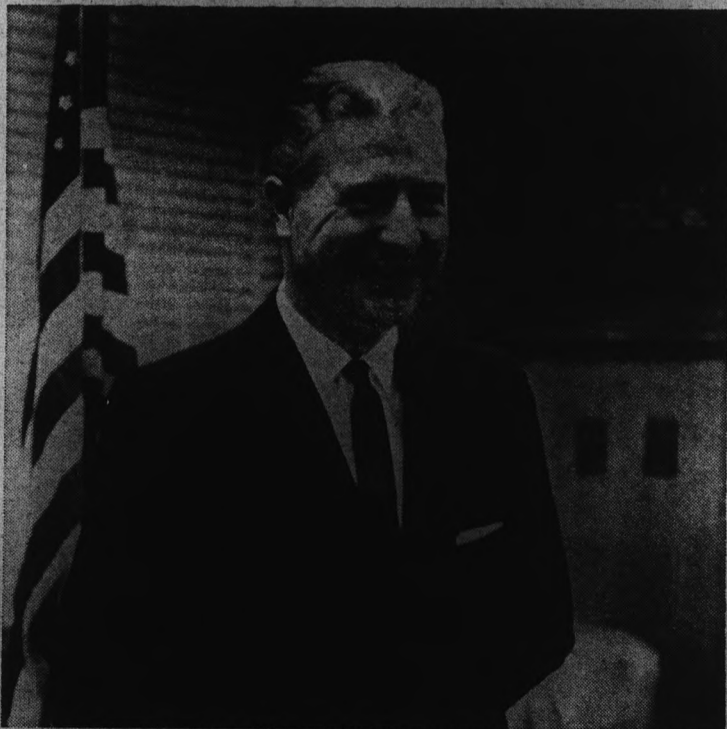

Author, editor, political scientist, college professor, administrator, and consultant on public administration and higher education, Dr. Durham is concerned about the lack of responsibility and curiosity students bring into a classroom.

"Increased desire and student effort would help ASU achieve stature if just one student in each class was better prepared tomorrow than yesterday."

IF THE students will recognize their role, then the greatest challenge and opportunity for them will be when they are matched with a teacher they think is dull.

Students should bring desire, curiosity and preparation into each class. Those who leave the responsibility to the teacher, or blame the teacher for student disinterest, are missing something.

President Durham is also convinced that investment in higher education, particularly in universities, is currently the critical factor in new economic growth.

President G. Homer Durham
Author, Political Scientist, Professor, Administrator

He encourages the development of research and graduate work and is concerned that each graduate be capable of doing independent thinking and communicating his ideas clearly and concisely.

To achieve these goals he believes students should do more writing than is the current trend, due to machine-scored examinations.

One important index of a university's strength is the number of essays written, and the quantity of those that are critically read by top professors, not by graduate assistants.

"AN EDUCATED MAN," he is fond of saying, "is a literary man. He reads. He writes. He understands. He can and does communicate."

President Durham also recognizes a lack on the students' part of enhancing their education through research in Matthews library.

"True, our campus size has outgrown the present library, but as long as there are books in it, it should be used extensively," said Dr. Durham.

"The search for ideas is the important strand of knowledge which gives scholarship its raison d'etre."

BORN FEB. 4, 1911, in Parowan, Utah, Dr. Durham received a B.A. degree in history and

Western Week Events Planned

Western Week, sponsored by Associated Students, will be Feb. 19 to 23. The Western Week committee, headed by co-chairmen Ivan Hunt and John Rasmussen, urges everyone to dress western during that time. The week's activities will start at 5:30 p.m. Feb. 19 with an all-school barbecue on the MPE field. Beard and cigarette-rolling contests are scheduled to provide entertainment, with trophies being awarded the winners.

A western dance featuring RCA recording star Ray Sanders is another activity the committee has planned. It will be 8 p.m. to midnight Feb. 21 at the National Guard Armory, northwest of Palo Verde Hall. Trophies will be awarded to the best western dressed man and woman.

Experimental Art Now On Display In MU Lobby

"Irradiatum 6," an experimental word meaning "to bring light," is the theme of an exhibit of experimental art now on display in the Arts building lobby.

The show is open to the public and includes paintings, sculpture, photographs, assemblage and collages. The works on display are the results of a graduate seminar under the direction of Raymond R. Fink, associate professor of art.

Participants in the show are advanced students whose works have been exhibited on previous occasions.

"Irradiatum 6" will be on display until March 1.

Society Honors Two Instructors

Two professors have received positions in the Phoenix Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management.

Joseph C. Schabacker, professor of management, was named programs vice president, and Robert L. Blomstrom, associate professor of management, was appointed to the board of directors of the society.

Rodeo Queen Diane Rosenzweig and her attendants, Audrey Lane and Janice Johnson, will be presented. The rodeo team from each school competing in the Sun Devil Intercollegiate Rodeo, sponsored by the Sun Devil Rodeo Association, will also be introduced.

ASU, UofA, PC, ASC, Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo, Cal Poly of Pomona, Pierce Junior College and Fresno State College are participating in the two-day rodeo, Feb. 22 and 23, at the Scottsdale Jaycee Arena.

It will feature bareback riding, saddlebronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, ribbon roping, team roping, steer wrestling, girl's barrel racing and calf tying.

A novelty event will be the fraternity-sorority calf-bloomer race.

The queen and her attendants will ride in the grand entry and appear at both rodeo performances.

Pillars Poured, Building Begins

By BOB MELBO

Concrete foundations and supporting pillars were being poured this week for a $500,000 Industrial Design and Technology building, the latest in a series of campus building projects.

Designed by Horlbeck-Hickman and Assoc., Mesa architectural firm, the building is on the northwest corner of McAllister and Tyler Streets.

A $481,543 contract for the building has been granted to Manhattan-Dickman Construction Co. Inc., Phoenix, according to John R. Ellingson, director of the physical plant.

THE STRUCTURE will house classrooms; engineering drafting and aeronautical labs; automobile and electrical shops.

Although the building will initially be built with two levels, Ellingson said, it will be structurally designed to receive a third floor.

It is scheduled for occupancy in September.

Basement walls and ground floor columns for the $1,187,570 Language and Literature building, west of Old Main, are now being poured.

Parking Changes

Three parking lot changes were announced today by the Campus Security office. Lots 87 and 90, on McAllister just south of 8th St. were changed from off-campus student lots to staff lots, and a new motorcycle area has been arranged at the north lot of Sahuaro Hall.

Although the changes have been effective since Feb. 3, citations have yet to be issued to violators according to John R. Duffy, director of Campus Security. "Students have been very cooperative and understanding of our critical parking problem in the past," said Duffy. "We will not cite violators until the students have been informed."

A Matter Of Honor

(This is the second editorial on men's dormitories, the study problems and the opinions and plans the administrators have for a men's honor dorm.)

Three mens dormitories, Best A, B and Hayden, carry the brunt of the athlete population posing the problem of maintaining an adequate study atmosphere. Students complain the dorms are an academic wasteland — a place to try to sleep, but not to study.

We asked Mr. Edward Hickcox, director of housing, why the three dorms contained such an unusually large percentage of athletes.

HE REPLIED, "Yes, most of them are in Best A, B and Hayden. There is a problem in the feeding schedule, so we don't put them in Sahuaro. It's better to locate them in the center of the campus because of the distance to the practice areas and cafeteria."

Certainly convenience is an important factor in prime housing but why are the athletes spread among the three dormitories instead of all in one? "We don't feel it would be actually desirable to put them in one dorm. It's important that the members of the athletic team be put in with the rest of the students so they feel a part of the University life and the students a part of the athletic programs. I've seen the all-athlete dorms at other school and they didn't work," said Hickcox.

THIS IS WHY HE felt they didn't work, "I got the very definite opinion that students felt the athletes were a special, separate group. The athlete didn't relate to the student, nor the student to the athlete." Hickcox added, "I think we have a good relationship between the athlete and the student here."

Dr. W. P. Shofstall, dean of students, showed considerable interest in the dormitory problem and the possibility of a men's honor dorm. "They tell me a lot of students in the dorm don't come here to learn, but for a degree. They are the ones we object to. The hall should be an educational facility and not a motel."

Nevertheless, the dorms seem to be far from "educational facilities" and a partial solution would be to have an honor dorm for those men who do come here to study.

"IT'S PERFECTLY feasible. If there would be enough men to fill an honor dorm," said Dr. Shofstall, "I would be willing to try it. There ought to be something done. I'm with you if the State Press can get some sentiment going on an honor dorm."

Dr. George Hamm, dean of men, has been working on a program of instituting male honor dorms and plans to put the first phase of the plan into operation immediately.

"We're working on it. We plan to have an honor dorm for men next fall. This year we have one honor floor at Hayden and we plan to have another at Sahuaro this semester. There is no question in my mind," said Dr. Hamm, "that those who do better than others, deserve to live in an honor dorm."

"THE DIRECTOR OF housing (Hickcox), the dormitory head residents and I are coordinating to work out the qualifications. I'd personally like to see it higher than 2.5. (McClintock B, the women's honor dorm, requires a 2.6 and in selecting the coeds, a strong emphasis is placed on good citizenship.) If the scholastic average (for undergraduates the second semester last year) is 2.34, then to have only a 2.5 is no particular honor," said Dr. Hamm.

The administrators expect to reach a decision on the qualifications by the end of next semester and if there is enough enthusiasm among the male students, ASU should have a individual honor dorm for men by next fall.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

—AND IF YOU COME TO THIS CLASS LATE—WEAR A SLICKER.

I Cover College Avenue

By ED HEATH

So there's a big petition going around to "save the VI."

It's a little late don't you think?

For years the University has intended to raze the complex and close off College Ave. from Eighth St. to Orange.

SO, WHY wasn't something done before now?

The University is holding conferences with the City of Tempe to get its approval to close College Ave. and begin whatever construction is necessary to make a mall out of it.

This project also has been met with considerable student approval. Students enrolled now and in the past have thought it would be to their advantage to be rid of bothersome traffic along the street.

IT ALSO has been the idea of many students that the street's closing would aid in beautifying that part of campus. This would centralize the campus around that area rather than having it criss-crossed by so many streets and alleys.

If this idea is to become a reality and the University says it can only be done by including the destruction of the VI complex, then it boils down to a decision of how bad the students want a closed College Ave.

This is in conflict with the concept that the VI is a center of tradition on the campus and therefore, should be "saved."

COULD IT be that because of the location close to campus that the VI, JD's Campus Barbershop and Campus Launderette are merely convenient?

Or could it be that these places cater primarily to students and therefore the students get a better deal of some sort?

Would it be possible to establish another VI? Not just in the sense of a place to eat but in the sense of another place where students could gather and obtain the same service, create the same atmosphere, establish the same understandings with the proprietor, and, in general, replace the many personal feelings that have arisen from a continually visited establishment such as the VI.

OR IS there something in the idea that, next to Old Main, the VI is a campus landmark nearly 40 years old and therefore should be preserved as a monument to that tradition which the students cannot establish in any other location?

It is indeed a mighty sorry situation when one building has the power over the presence or lack of campus tradition at a university with a history of 78 years and an enrollment of over 15,000.

Letters To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

As a new student here and an athlete as well, I must raise my objection to that piece of literary nothingness entitled, "Dormitory or Zoo?"

Many of the athletes here have come with a true study attitude. I will concede, however, that there are a few who have come here for the social aspects only.

Many study and get good grades; the ones who don't, usually don't remain in the dorm very long.

The noise that does result from the studying "animals" is usually the result of tension that is built up before an athletic contest.

It seems as though you had never experienced the anxiety and tension that is placed on an athlete when he is representing a university as fine as this one is.

Bob Stiffler

Editor's Note:

We don't doubt that athletes work under considerable strain but so do non-athlete students, most of whom find it also necessary to take on part-time jobs to finance their self-paid college education.

TO THE EDITOR:

Thanks for the very strong editorial on study conditions in the dorms.

As an instructor in engineering, it comes to my attention in advisement the difficulty engineering students have in the dorms.

Straight, honest talk in the State Press about what is right and what is wrong can undoubtedly mean much in answering what is wrong on campus.

J. W. Morrison
Instructor

TO THE EDITOR:

Well once again the chaos of registration is upon us and despair envelopes the campus. When will the school realize that there is much that can and should be done to improve and facilitate registration?

As a pre-medical student

I am acutely aware that there are many subjects I am required to take and many of these courses have definite prerequisites. Yet I find (as a majority of students do) that one is very fortunate to even get a course in his major!

Why can't we have preliminary registration so the number of classes available in a certain course can be altered to suit the number of students desiring the course?

After all, what student can afford the time and money to spend 10 years in college just to get the courses needed in his particular vocation?

Janey Sanderson

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to add my voice to the protest expressed by Mr. Howlett.

What is needed is more tradition, not less; more culture, not less; more atmosphere, not less! There is too much destruction, when there should be expansion.

All effort should be put forth to engage the creative genius of our age in developing a program of expansion, not destruction of the VI.

Robert L. Karen

TO THE EDITOR:

The piano in the MU lower lounge needs fixin' bad!

Jeff Noble

TO THE EDITOR:

Sometimes I wonder how many readers are aware of the great need for vitamin-pill salesmen on the campus.

To get evidence for this need, simply peek into the lounges of the MU. Passers-by could very easily become confused at the sight. Did they miss the Civil Defense alert that sent their fellow students sprawling?

Why not look alive? Finals are over. Besides, it's not an unidentified persons morgue but a student union.

Student Injured

Richard Leos, a junior in the School of Architecture, was injured in a head-on auto collision on Scottsdale Road near Lilac Lane Friday evening.

Leos, whose condition is listed as fair, received head and eye injuries and a fractured knee cap. He is expected to be discharged from the hospital this weekend.

The driver and passenger of the other car, both teen-age girls, have been discharged from Scottsdale Baptist Hospital.

Leos explained he was driving north on Scottsdale Road when the other car was forced over the double line by a car passing it on the right.

ARF!

Benjamin Franklin (or The Louisville Slugger, as he is better known as) said, "A penny saved is a penny earned," and we, the college population of America, have taken to heart this sage advice. We spend prudently; we budget diligently. Yet, despite our wise precautions, we are always running short. Why? Because there is one item of expense that we consistently underestimate—the cost of travelling home for weekends.

Let us take the typical case of Basil Metabolism, a sophomore at UCLA majoring in avocados. Basil, a resident of Bangor, Maine, loved to go home each weekend to play with his faithful dog, Spot. What joy, what wreathed smiles, when Basil and Spot were re-united! Basil would leap into his dogcart, and Spot, a genuine Alaskan husky, would pull Basil all over Bangor, Maine—Basil calling cheery halloos to the townfolk, Spot wagging his curly tail.

The results were not all Basil had hoped

But the cost, alas, of travelling from UCLA to Bangor, Maine, ran to $400 a week, and Basil's father, alas, earned only a meagre salary as a meter-reader for the Bangor water department. So, alas, after six months Basil's father told Basil he could raise no more money; he had already sold everything he owned, including the flashlight he used to read meters.

Basil returned to California to ponder his dilemma. One solution occurred to him—to ship Spot to UCLA and keep him in his room—but Basil had to abandon the notion because of his roommate, G. Fred Sigafos, who was, alas, allergic to dog hair.

Then another idea came to Basil—a stroke of genius, you might call it. He would buy a Mexican hairless chihuahua! Thus he would have a dog to pull him around, and G. Fred's allergy would be undisturbed.

The results, alas, were not all Basil had hoped. The chihuahua, alas, was unable to pull Basil in the dogcart, no matter how energetically he beat the animal.

Defeated again, Basil sat down with G. Fred, his roommate, to smoke a Marlboro Cigarette and seek a new answer to the problem. Together they smoked and thought and—Eureka!—an answer quickly appeared. (I do not suggest, mark you, that Marlboro Cigarettes are an aid to cerebration. All I say about Marlboros is that they taste good and are made of fine tobaccos and pure white filters and come in soft pack or Flip Top box.)

Well, sir, Basil and G. Fred got a great idea. Actually, the idea was G. Fred's, who happened to be majoring in genetics. Why not, said G. Fred, cross-breed the chihuahua with a Great Dane and thus produce an animal sturdy enough to pull a dogcart?

It was, alas, another plan doomed to failure. The cross-breeding was done, but the result (this is very difficult to explain) was a raccoon.

But there is, I am pleased to report, a happy ending to this heart-rending tale. It seems that Basil's mother (this is also very difficult to explain) is a glamorous blond aged 19 years. One day she was spotted by a talent scout in Bangor, Maine, and was signed to a fabulous movie contract, and the entire family moved to California and bought Bel Air, and today one of the most endearing sights to be seen on the entire Pacific Coast is Spot pulling Basil down Sunset Boulevard—Basil cheering and Spot wagging. Basil's mother is also happy, making glamorous movies all day long, and Basil's father is likewise content, sitting at home and reading the water meter.

Pacific Coast, Atlantic Coast, the great Heartland in between—not to speak of Alaska and Hawaii—all of this is Marlboro Country. Light up and find out for yourself.

Leap Year's Asking Time For Women

"Happiness Is . . . Leap Year" will be the theme for this year's girl-ask-boy dance Feb. 20 from 9 p.m. to midnight in the MU ballroom.

The event, which is sponsored annually by Associated Women Students, will center around leap year and its connotations.

Linda Blalock and Beth Mitchell are co-chairmen of the dance. Committee chairmen include Sheri Bundy, decorations; Olivia Lague, invitations and flowers; Judy Patrick, programs; Marty Stellhorn, band, and Donna Wahley, refreshments.

Tickets may be purchased from any AWS representative for $1.50 per couple. Competition is underway among the halls for the best attendance and ticket sales. The winner will be chosen on a percentage basis and will receive an award on Woman's Day.

Music for the evening will be provided by the Clarissa Hall Band.

Burdick Critical Of U.S. Policy

"Everyone knows that imperialism is over and out except the Communist."

This was a statement made by Eugene Burdick, co-author of "The Ugly American," at the Founders Day banquet last Friday night.

He said that while America is discarding many forms of national public relations, the Communists are conducting a most unique imperialistic campaign — and making it work.

They are behind the new game that has arisen in countries overseas Burdick called "Let's Go Burn the American Embassy."

He said America has lost its image overseas. And, at the same time, is losing a home battle for individualism.

"THE CORPORATIONS, political parties and the universities are suffering a terrible crisis."

Burdick likened them to a crystal palace. "Everything is public and therefore must be very proper; everything is sensitive to public opinion and suffocated by affection."

However, Burdick felt these problems could be overcome. He said, "Although I write terrible things in books, I'm very optimistic for a number of reasons."

"FIRST," HE said, "we are the only nation I know that is possessed by the ethic of work. And this is what the world wants."

This ethic recognizes abilities first above political and social standings.

The second characteristic mentioned was that Americans do not confuse political ideology with humanity.

He said America has the technical resources to end starvation and foreign illnesses and that America has a surplus of drugs and the competent administrative techniques.

FINALLY, HE pointed to the American sense of humor; humor not in the sense of sentiment but humor related to friendliness on the terms of the overseas countries.

Burdick concluded that although the tide is swinging against us, if we are friendly abroad, the surge will reverse itself.

"And if America will use its natural aptitudes and strengths, we will win whatever kind of cold war we're in."

Taylor Directs 10 Week Kiddy Arts Workshop

A Saturday Creative Art Workshop for children will begin this weekend in the Arts building. It will run for 10 weeks. The program will be under the direction of Jack J. Taylor, associate professor of art, and Max R. Rennels, instructor in art.

"The workshop is designed to capture and hold, examine and understand the excitement of art," Taylor said. "By sharing and exploring ideas and material with other interested and perceptive children, under the guidance of skilled teachers, students may stretch and test the framework of their creative abilities."

The workshop is open to children between 6 and 18. Parents may enroll their children by contacting Taylor at 966-3163, or they may be enrolled during the first session Saturday. Tuition is $20 and includes all materials.

Alpha Phi Plans Heart Fund Dance

Valentine's Day, this Friday, is the scheduled date for the annual Alpha Phi Heart Fund Ball. The event will begin at 8 p.m. at the Executive House in Scottsdale.

Highlighting the evening will be the crowning of the Queen of Hearts by last year's royalty, Mrs. Edward Logan, formerly Judy Drage.

Members of Alpha Phi are selling votes in front of the Memorial Union this week for queen candidates Kay Bergman, Andrea Conkey, Stevie Haines, Judy Lay and Mary Ann Miller. Each penny counts as one vote with all proceeds donated to the National Heart Fund Association.

The Ball is sponsored by Alpha Phi sorority each year in connection with their national philanthropic project.

This year's event is under the general chairmanship of Gail Patterson and Betsy Clark. Publicity is being directed by Karen Krichbaum and Mary Jo Willis.

Sun Devils Back In WAC Scramble

Jumpin' Joe Caldwell Sparks A-State To 'Do-Or-Die' Win

By JOHN NADEL

A sparkling all-around performance by Joe Caldwell plus some clutch Sun Devil free-throwing were the contributing factors in Arizona State's first road victory of the season, a 67-66 triumph over the UofA.

The victory, which really wasn't cinched until the final gun, was a must win for the Devils, perhaps their biggest of the year. It gives A-State a 1-2 league mark, and with a favorable schedule in the weeks to come, the Sun Devil's league chances look very promising.

The game was as close and hard fought as any rivalry could be. The score was tied six times, and the lead exchanged hands eighteen times before the Devils took a permanent lead with 56 seconds remaining on two Dennis Hamilton free throws.

HAMILTON contributed four other vital foul tosses in the late going, while fellow sophomore Rich Coppola also contributed two important bonus shots.

Even with all the free throws, the Devils probably would not have been in the game at all if not for an outstanding effort by Joe Caldwell.

The 6-5 senior from Los Angeles played perhaps his best game ever at Arizona State, tossing in 28 points and grabbing 16 rebounds.

Jumpin' Joe scored 25 of A-State's first 45 points before being slightly injured and sitting out a few minutes midway in the second half.

And in the final few minutes, it was Caldwell pulling down many crucial rebounds.

AMONG OTHER things, ASU had to overcome a sloppy first half for their victory. The Wildcats had a 32-27 lead at intermission. But, behind an amazing third quarter by Caldwell, the Devils stayed in the game and were able to pull it out. Arizona led by as many as seven points midway in the second half.

Final percentages showed A-State hitting a hot 48 per cent, far over their seasonal average. The main scoring support for Joe Caldwell came from Art Becker, who hit 7 of 9 field goal attempts en route to 16 points.

Denny Hamilton coupled a field goal with his six free throws for eight points.

THIS WEEKEND, the Sun Devils host BYU, 1-2 in the league, Friday, and the league-leading Utah Redskins, 3-0, Saturday.

Along with their road game at Arizona Friday, the Redskins will be playing their first league road games of the season. What with home teams winning eight of the first 10 home games this season, it will be rough for the Utes this weekend.

Also this weekend, Wyoming, 2-2, will visit New Mexico, 3-1, Saturday.

Redskins Head League Fight; Lobos Second

University of Utah heads the Western Athletic Conference standings this week with a 3-0 mark, but faces a tough road schedule, Friday at Tucson and Saturday at Tempe.

New Mexico (3-1), in second place, has a chance to take over the lead Saturday at home against Wyoming (2-2).

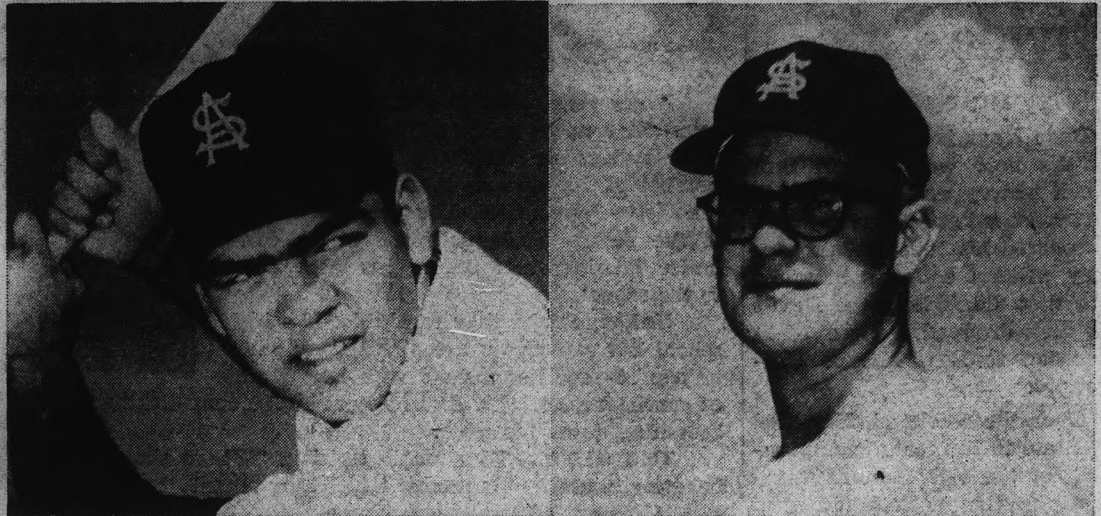

Wyoming, Arizona State and Brigham Young (both 1-2), and Arizona (0-3), complete the standings.

The Cougars are at Tempe and Tucson this weekend.

BYU's 6-8 John Fairchild leads WAC scoring with a 26.3 game average. ASU's Joe Caldwell is third at 23.7.

Mound Staff Will Be Key To Sun Devil Baseball Fortunes

By JON MORRIS

Arizona State's baseballers might find things a bit monotonous this season: they play 28 straight home games.

Pitching, hardly a problem with last year's 34-13 squad, is Coach Bobby Winkles' biggest headache this season. "If our hurlers don't come through, we could be in for a long season," Winkles said.

Graduated are the top two WAC pitching leaders, Gary Graham (6-3) and Second Team All-America Sterling Slaughter (11-2), both now with the Chicago Cubs. The other starter was Larry Smith (2-3).

THE LONE returning mound veteran is senior team captain Sam Cook (9-1) who logged 74 1/3 innings in 18 games last year. Cook is from El Centro, Calif.

Also back are four lettermen hurlers, Lad Nemecek, Tom McDougal, Jim Merrick, Ron Lea, and three squadmen Dave Cartun, Larry Cochell and John Torok, none of whom threw over 27 innings in 1963.

Jim Neely, a PC transfer, also should see action on the mound. In all other departments, Winkles feels the Devils, with 12 returning lettermen, can repeat last year's great games. "We will have better power at the plate and should improve on defense."

TOP CANDIDATES for the infield are catchers Tony Alesci (.276) and Ray Stadler (.280), first baseman Doug Westley (.188) and Jan Kleinman (out with a broken collarbone last season).

Second basemen Jack Handley (.215) and Jack Smitheran (.280), shortstop John "Roadrunner" Ruedy (.302) and third baseman Sal Bando are the other returning infielders.

Luis Lagunas, the top hitter at .331 last season, will be at second or third base. He surrendered his spot at shortstop last year to slick fielding Ruedy.

RETURNING outfielders are senior Merrill Hyde (.346) who missed 30 games with a knee injury and Dick Heiden (.311) and junior Rick Oliver (.226).

The Devils open with Long Beach State here March 5. They face perennial powers, Michigan and Wisconsin, and play four tough conference games with UofA in the WAC's southern division.

Hays Sparkles As Wrestlers Divide Pair

By MIKE HELFNER

Buzz Hays is considered one of the best wrestlers in Sun Devil history and he proved it last weekend and Monday night. He scored his 10th straight victory without a defeat Monday, but that didn't help the Devils as they dropped a close 16-14 decision to New Mexico University.

Over the weekend, Hays led A-State to the team championship of the 16th Annual Naval Training Center Tournament at San Diego. He scored five pins and three decisions in his eight matches and won the outstanding wrestler trophy.

TONY RUSSO, the regular 147 pounder, also won the championship in his 138½ pound class at San Diego. Russo scored five decisions and three falls.

Hays won his championship match on a 3-2 decision over Werner Holzer, a former NCAA runner-up from Illinois, and Russo took a 3-2 win over Ron Finley, also a NCAA runner-up from Oregon State. Finley also holds the Pan-American and AAU championships.

Monday night's loss put the Devils at 6-4 for the season while NMU is 8-1.

Manual Aragon upped his record to 10-0 by beating Jeff Hubner 9-0, Russo beat Bill Moore 5-4, Hays decisioned Mike Moore 12-2, and heavyweight Fred Wilcox, in his first appearance, pinned Dave Ambriz in 36 seconds of the second period for all of A-State's wins.

THE DEVILS have three remaining dual matches before the WAC tournament. First they meet Utah Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in the Sun Devil gym. On Monday they meet Phoenix College in Phoenix at 7:30 p.m., and on Feb. 28, they hope to avenge an earlier 16-14 loss to the UofA.

A-State meets the U at home this time and with the addition of Wilcox at heavyweight, Coach Ted Bredehoff feels the Devils can win this big match.

Arizona State's head basketball coach, Ned Wulk, was the coach at Xavier (O.) University when Dave Piontek was performing for the Midwestern school. Piontek has had experience with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association.

The Hot Spot

By AL MICHAELS
Sports Editor

Every year about this time, you pick up your daily newspaper and read where another college or university has declared a number of its athletes ineligible because of scholastic deficiencies. You have to wonder if the fella's academic merits ever came under consideration before his acceptance to the school.

Unfortunately, they rarely do. If a high school kid can throw a football sixty yards or pop 25-foot jump shots with any degree of consistency, he's in. And he's got 40,000 chop-licking coaches breathing down his neck.

THE KID'S GOT A tough decision. "Where should I go?" he asks himself. "Badlands U?, Klutz Tech?, Smedley College?, Vassar?" What determines his choice? Let's take an inside look at a typical situation.

Calvin "Killer" Hardnoggin has just graduated from Snort High School. "Killer" was an all-state fullback, scored 46 touchdowns in his senior year, averaged 37 unassisted tackles per contest and maintained the 14th best grade point average in his class. His graduating class numbered 15.

Tuffy Brasoon, the head football coach at Scrubbydale University, hears this and decides to pay Hardnoggin a visit.

The conversation goes something like this:

COACH BRASOON: "Killer, baby, let me tell ya about Scrubbydale. Our athletic program, as you know, is the best in the state but I'm sure it's an education that you're really interested in. Right, Killer?"

Killer: "Er, ya hit da head right on da nail, I mean da rail right on da bread, er, da sled right on da hail, er, I mean you're right, coach."

Brasoon: "Attaboy, Killer. Ya know, Scrubbydale has a diversified academic and cultural program. What are ya planning to major in, kiddo?"

Killer: "Well, I haven't really given da subject much thought, coach. But I once got an 'A' on a book report so maybe I oughta go inta da English field."

Brasoon: "That's great, baby. What book did ya read?"

KILLER: "IT WAS 'Da Bobbsey Twins Go Roller Skating.' And I once got halfway through 'Dick and Jane At Da Seashore' a coupla munts back."

Brasoon: "Tremendous, kid, We'll enroll ya in intermediate coffee table polishing, elementary sandpapering, paperfolding 101, advanced cuticle removing and beginning knuckle cracking."

Killer: "Great, sir. Sounds like kicks. But what about books, room, board, wituition, er, I mean terition, and da rest?"

BRASOON: "DON'T worry about a thing, Killer. Your scholarship takes care of that. And you'll get $800 a month laundry money. How's that, baby?"

Killer: "Dat's swingin', coach. A scholarship. Boy, are my buddies gonna be jealous. Da ol' Killer on a scholarship. Dat'll make 'em wish day studied in high school like da ol' Killer. See ya in September, coach."

And friends, da preceding ain't dat far from da trute.

Wildcats Whip Opponents, Favored To Capture Crown

The Wildcats posted notice they fully intend to defend their Western Athletic Conference gymnastic championship in Tempe on March 13 to 14.

Arizona scored two important and impressive victories over the weekend. First, they edged highly-regarded Southern California, 70-58, and then topped Arizona State, expected to be its chief WAC rival, 67½-60½.

The Wildcats will have a major test this weekend when they face the University of Denver away. The Pioneers have won 32 successive dual meets.

Arizona State, with four defending WAC champions, Jim Nelson (floor exercise, tumbling), Jerry Stansbury (all-around, long horse), James Johnson (parallel bar) and Chris Evans (still rings), will have plenty to say about the conference title winner.

Arizona's dual record is 6-0 while ASU is 4-2. Brigham Young (2-2-1), New Mexico (1-2) and Utah (0-2) with at least one result yet to be received. Utah is competing in gymnastics for the first time in 1964.

Kansas City, Mo., is the site for this year's championship round of the NCAA basketball tournament.
