The lawn next to the Administration Building was sprayed recently to give the appearance of green, lush, happy, health grass. The coloring used was of a vegetable compound nature and was used to save the cost of replanting turf.

ASU Receives Grants

Five grants, one for student aid, one for faculty projects and three for scientific research, have been awarded the University.

A $141,600 grant has been awarded ASU by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The grant is to support the education of eight pre-doctoral students in space-related sciences and technology.

The grant provides allowances for the students' tuition, fees and dependency for two years and also includes funds for strengthening the University's graduate program. The recipients of the awards will be announced this summer by the Graduate College and the graduate students will begin work toward doctorates next fall.

THE ASU Research Committee has awarded 56 grants totaling $71,000 to support creative projects by faculty members in 28 departments and schools.

Dr. William J. Burke, chairman of the committee, announced the awards following a two-month study of 100 applications. The stipends range from $220 to $2,552.

Projects include a study of press relations of Mexican governors, venom pathology and histology, social attitudes toward business and foreign exchange-rate stability in the United States relative to other major industrial nations.

FUNDS FOR the projects are derived from research contracts and grants awarded to the University by federal and private agencies and firms.

The National Science Foundation of Washington, D.C., has awarded Dr. Theodore M. Brown, assistant professor of chemistry, $25,400 to conduct research on heavy transition metal compounds. He will be working with zirconium, niobium, tantalum, molybdenum and tungsten.

Through various reactions and experiments, Dr. Brown will attempt to discover compounds of the elements which are stable in the air and might have practical uses.

The Research Corporation of New York has awarded ASU $4,776 for cancer research. Dr. Allen L. Bieber, assistant professor of chemistry, will conduct the studies.

THE GRANT will be used for the purchase of equipment and chemical supplies. It will also enable Richard Miller, a graduate assistant, to devote full time to cancer research.

Ultimately, the studies of Dr. Bieber and Miller may reveal effective anti-tumor agents.

Preliminary experiments on the project were supported last summer by the Arizona Division of the American Cancer Society.

A $6,500 grant for research in space re-entry has been awarded the University by the Research Corporation of New York.

According to Dr. Ronald Watson, associate professor of engineering, the grant will be used for purchases of a spectograph, an instrument which can measure the amount of heat that occurs at high speed in a "shock tube."

Dr. Watson said, he will conduct the research, a concern to designers of nose cones, decoy missiles, lunar probes and spacecraft.

The spectograph will arrive next month.

Committee Results

The University Discipline Committee has issued the following results from its Jan. 5th meeting:

—A student was allowed to re-enroll on strict disciplinary probation for an indefinite period of time. The student had broken office probation.

—Two students were allowed to re-enroll on strict disciplinary probation for an indefinite period of time. Both had been suspended for cheating on final examinations.

—A student was allowed to re-enroll in good standing. The student had been guilty of financial irresponsibility.

—A student, who had previously been suspended for forging the signature of his adviser on a blue slip, was re-

Jaycees Choose Dean To Vie In Contest

Dr. George Hamm, dean of men, was one of three chosen by the State Jaycees to represent Arizona in the national Jaycee-sponsored "Ten Outstanding Young Men" contest.

Dr. Hamm, state Senator-elect John B. Conlan Jr., former ASU lecturer, and Sherman Frederick of Glendale were chosen Tuesday night at a banquet in the Westward Ho Hotel.

PAST NATIONAL winners have been the late President John F. Kennedy, humanitarian Tom Dooley, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Herman Chanen, Phoenix building contractor.

Dr. Hamm is a member of the Student Affairs Committee, Counseling Services Committee, Discipline Committee and the Board of Athletic Control.

He is also adviser to the Rally and Traditions Board, Interfraternity Council, Inter Hall Council, Associated Men Students and resident adviser to Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

HE IS ALSO Arizona membership chairman of the American Personnel and Guidance Association, a member of American Psychological Association, Tempe Toastmasters Club, Scottsdale Knights of Columbus, Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, and Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honorary.

He came to ASU in 1962 as counselor of men and a year later became dean of men. He is also an assistant professor of education.

ROTC Applications

Applications for the advanced Air Force ROTC program are being accepted by the student records section, Main 214.

Students reaching junior standing in February who want to pursue the advanced program for a commission in the United States Air Force should contact the records section before spring semester registration.

Selection of advanced cadets will be Jan. 11 through 13.

Financial Board Scans Requests

The Board of Financial Control Monday reviewed five requests for appropriations.

A request for money to hire a second secretary to be responsible to the AS secretary was referred to the Senate for legislation to provide her salary.

Decision is pending on a request from the Leadership Board for a $575 increase in expenditures.

Also pending is action on a request entered by the Rally and Traditions Board to reimburse the cheerleaders for uniforms they independently purchased.

R&T also requested an $162.77 increase in its budget. This amount would come from money paid for the telegram sent to the College Bowl team last fall.

The board granted to the Faculty-Student Relations Board a request for $58.43 for cost of transportation and refreshments for the College Bowl team.

The board passed a request by the Administration Coordination Council for $122 for the Who's Who banquet.

Appropriations granted by the board are drawn from a contingency fund of five per cent of the total activity fee. This fund is used for making appropriations to organizations for non-budgeted expenditures admitted on strict disciplinary probation for an indefinite period of time.

—A student was not allowed to re-enroll without permission of the University Discipline Committee. The student had been involved in loitering, reckless driving and not possessing a driver's license while driving.

—The committee tabled action concerning a student seeking re-admission. He was denied re-admission at this time. He had been involved in growing and possessing marijuana.

A student was suspended for one semester, Jan. 31, 1965, for a period of one semester because of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

In Indian Language -

Student To Write Three Dictionaries

Three dictionaries will be written by The Rev. Jano Asterio Bajo, a Roman Catholic priest on educational leave of absence from his mission in Venezuela, who is studying Indian education at ASU.

Five years ago Father Jano, from Ison, Spain, was sent to a mission 150 miles from Maracaibo, Culia, Venezuela. The Indians there, he discovered, spoke three indigenous languages.

He then set about the monumental task of finding out the vocabulary and grammar of each language and setting up written forms. Now he plans to write three dictionaries and establish an effective method to teach the Indians to read and write their own language.

Father Jano received a scholarship to study subjects essential to his work from the Creole Foundation nearly a year ago. ASU also was awarded a grant of $500 for the school year 1964-65 in recognition of the gap between tuition fees and the actual cost of instruction from the Creole Foundation.

In September 1964, Father Jano enrolled here to study Indian education.

His interest is "practical anthropology applied to education with Indians," explained Father Jano. The structure of Indian families and the needs of Indian students are basic parts of the classes and will be used to plan a curriculum for the Indian students.

Prior to enrolling in ASU, Father Jano took extensive courses in linguistics at the University of Washington and the University of Southern California.

Institutional grants amounting to $43,500 have been awarded by the Creole Foundation to U.S. educational institutions where Creole scholarships are being used by Venezuelans.

Banquet To Honor Students

Thirty-six students, selected November for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" will receive their certificates at a banquet arranged by Associated Students, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in MU 218.

Each "Who's Who" member is asked to invite a faculty member.

Interested students may attend by paying $2 to AS Secretary Emily Getsinger, MU 202, by 5 p.m. Monday.

Classes About Asia Urged By Durham

"The basic 'China problem' so far as nearly all Americans are concerned is that we are completely ignorant of China," declared President Durham in his annual address yesterday to 1,500 Air Force cadets in Gammage Auditorium.

"The Historical Background of the China Problem in American Foreign Policy" was Dr. Durham's topic.

He said: "If, as Grayson Kirk says, one of the marks of an educated man is to 'look squarely at the world and its problems — and always with hope', there are few educated men among us."

The cadets were urged to enroll in history, geography and political science courses that deal with China, Asiatic civilization and the Far East.

"We can deal intelligently only with what we know. Our general ignorance, as a people, of China, its history, and people, is the basic problem at which more of us must work and become knowledgeable," Dr. Durham said.

The Board of Traffic Appeals issued the following results on Dec. 16:

200 Additional Parking Spaces Now Available

Two hundred parking spaces are now available to off-campus students according to John Duffy, director of Campus Security. The parking changes were necessitated because 38-space lot 16 is being used for library construction purposes.

Changes in parking areas are marked by signs and Campus Security will ticket violators for infractions, Duffy said.

Regents To Ask Capital Outlay

The Board of Regents will request the state legislature to appropriate $15,454,884 for the construction of buildings and land acquisition at Arizona's two universities and state college in 1965-66.

Of the capital outlay request ASU will be appropriated $5,265,000 for buildings, and $400,000 for land acquisition.

O. D. Miller of Phoenix was elected president of the State Board of Regents. He succeeded John G. Babbitt of Flagstaff.

Other new officers are George Chambers, Tucson, secretary; Arthur B. Schellenberg, Phoenix, assistant secretary; Mrs. Vivian L. Boysen, Douglas, treasurer, and Leon Levy, Tucson, assistant treasurer.

The Regents also authorized ASU to award the degree of business administration beginning July 1.

In requesting authorization to grant the degree, President Durham pointed out the program leading to a doctorate in business has been under study for more than two years. The proposal has been approved by the College of Business Administration and various University faculty organizations.

Dr. Durham also said that 73 petitions for doctoral study have been received during the last two years. Nationally, only 226 doctorates in business and commerce were granted last year.

Dr. Durham told the board that 46 faculty members in the college presently hold doctorate degrees and eight other members lack only dissertations.

Study Used As Punishment

A Tempe judge may have the solution to the problem of college students breaking the law.

City Magistrate E. W. (Mike) Halloran suggests the answer might be to jail students who repeatedly ignore laws concerning consumption of alcoholic beverages and other misdemeanors.

THE SENTENCE would be served on weekends, beginning at 7 p.m. Friday and ending 7 p.m. Sunday. According to Judge Halloran students would be required to bring their textbooks with them.

Judge Halloran believes students are just adults and not privileged characters. As such, he says, they should be punished the same as any other offender brought before his court. The University has a working agreement with the City of Tempe, but this does not permit University students to disobey Tempe laws or excuse them from paying the same penalties as other persons brought before the municipal court.

Judge Halloran's main problem is student drinking. He treats all cases alike, regardless of whom is involved. Drinking cases include driving while intoxicated, disorderly conduct and drinking by minors. All offenses carry a minimum penalty of $100 or 40 days in jail.

THE JUDGE is considering suspending students' drivers licenses if they are found guilty of driving while intoxicated. He believes this might aid the fight against drunken driving, since most students value their driving privilege more than their pocketbooks.

Anyone consuming liquor from an open bottle or can in a public place, thoroughfare (including in an auto) or at a gathering is violating a provision of the state liquor code. The offense is punishable by $100 fine or 40 days in jail. The judge may place a student on probation and give him six months to pay the fine, if he feels that the student needs this consideration.

Students over 21 years of age can be convicted of drunken driving, disorderly conduct, drinking in public either in a car or on the sidewalk by someone's home or yard, or "aiding and abetting" and thus contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

THIS "AIDING and abetting" is a sticky charge. Any adult who permits a minor to drink in his presence, even if he himself is not drinking, is guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor by his inaction. This charge also carries a minimum penalty of $100 or 40 days.

The judge emphasizes that the minimum penalty is only used for first offenders and that a second and third offense will merit a stiffer penalty. Maximum penalty in a magistrate court is a $300 fine and six months in jail. Thereafter the offender is sent to the Superior Court.

CONSUMPTION of liquor, or possession of it, by a minor is punishable by a minimum fine of $100 or 40 days in jail. One fact that students forget is that even though a minor is not drinking but is with other minors and adults who are drinking, he is guilty of illegal possession and can receive the same penalty. Adults with him could be convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor even if the minor was not drinking.

The way the judge looks at it, any college student illegally drinking is in for a rough time in city court.

To help in his dealings with students the judge welcomes suggestions concerning what students consider fair punishment for breaking city and state laws. The judge's job is to impress the importance of the law and the severity of penalties upon all students, but he needs cooperation if he is to achieve his goal.

Letters To The Editor -

Students, Instructor Express Opinions

To the Editor:

I apologize to Mr. Davis, Mr. Todd and the others signing their letter for some of my unfair criticism of our athletes. In part it should have been directed toward the cafeteria which allows situations to exist which can cause a flare-up in tempers.

I certainly agree that all types of students violate school rules. It's just that our athletes are so well known that it's more noticeable when they display poor manners. I'm sorry I gave the impression that they are the only ones to set a bad example. They are not, and should not be singled out for this.

As for the amount of work and effort put forth in behalf of the school, they are unmatched by any group. Our Athletes do a tremendous job in bringing credit and honor to our school.

I still think Larry Todd's comments toward our coaching staff (unless, of course, he was badly misquoted) showed poor judgment and made the school program look bad, but you are right. It is his own business.

But I did not refer to anyone as "animals," although your apparent threat - "Mr. Carlton should feel lucky that the 'animals' did not take the letter he wrote too seriously" - may cause some people to wonder.

BOB CARLTON

To the Editor:

Although enough has been said about the situation of athletes vs. cafeteria, the five athletes replying to Bob Carlton's letter of Dec. 9 apparently missed the entire theme of its contents.

Not dining in the MU Cafeteria, myself, I can only speak as an outsider looking in. I can, however, see no way in which Carleon "insulted" our athletes or implied doubt as to their sincerity or dedication to the sport.

Sure, football players must endure intensive training and weeks of hard work to become proficient, as do all athletes, but that is not the point. These men should be respected and admired for their efforts and loyalty to their school and certainly have a right to feel a sense of high accomplishment. However, this does not give them the right to act or conduct themselves in a manner superior to their fellow students, whether others do or not.

I submit that if every athlete would live on the basis of equality and follow the Golden Rule, all fuss and criticism would be eliminated, and he will get the respect and admiration he deserves of all, on the field, court, etc. as well as off.

GLEN FISHER

To the Editor:

Just a note to congratulate Joan Skipper on her very fine article regarding the use of the computer in our Placement Center. Your story was accurate, well written and emphasized the one main point we are so concerned with - our belief that this mechanical method really improves our professional approach to each and every student who registers.

It was a pleasure working with you and, as always, we will continue to look forward to reading our school's fine State Press.

ROBERT F. MENKE
Director of Placement

To the Editor:

A review of the directory fails to disclose the existence of a James W. VanDuren. Similarly there is no Room 199 existing in the Social Sciences Building and the Bureau of Government Research is in Room 220. Colleagues inform me that they know of no student study hall in the Social Sciences Building, although they recall a lounge on the second floor; therefore, I am convinced that the letter to the editor in Wednesday's State Press is a big hoax designed to harass hard-working, serious-minded graduate students and faculty. It seems a pity.

We Believe -

Messy AS Campus Needs Attention

Some wise sage once said the rains would come and wash away the problems of the world. Although he may have been just a little whacky, he may have a point.

At Arizona State University the rain has done many things. First, it has taken off the layer of dust that has so skillfully concealed the condition of our sidewalks. Those along College and Forest avenues and others have many cracks and little rises between cement blocks.

SOMEONE IS constantly stumbling after hitting one of these rises. Besides being embarrassing to the stumbler, the lumpy sidewalks could cause him to fall.

A lake has been formed in the parking lot across from the McClintock dorms . . . and a very muddy one at that. The huge amount of water has accumulated in a depression which sits in the middle of the parking lot.

EACH TIME it rains this lot and all the others which have no asphalt, fill with water and get muddy. The mud remains for days and the hole is deepened by erosion. If the rain continues much longer, and if the lake gets any bigger, why doesn't the administration stock it with fish? Then the school could charge each student to fish . . . it charges for everything.

Granted this might not work, so another suggestion is to have all the parking lots and sidewalks repaired. But, if the school is going to have the lots black-topped, better quality than was used to extend the sidewalk along College Avenue should be used. This area has sort of melted forming a tar-mud puddle.

Oh, Brother

The University has announced that due to extreme weather conditions beyond its control, 1965 telephone directories have not yet been distributed.

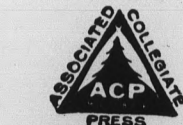

Those who have extreme requirements for the directories, they say, can go over to the general store, across from the MU and pick them up.

Says Professor -

Chiang's Policy: Guerrilla Warfare

By PAM CRAGIN

Dr. Bruce B. Mason, professor of government, recently spent a year in Taiwan as professor-adviser to the Republic of China.

In an interview, Mason said that President Chiang Kai-shek's policy is to resist Communists on the mainland through guerrilla warfare, and to eventually return there.

One reason, according to Mason, is that there are about 600,000 free China troops and two to three million Red troops. Also, Chiang's navy is limited to destroyers — gifts from the United States. Thus, Chiang lacks even logistical support for his inadequate force.

INVERSELY, Mason said, there is little chance that Mao Tse-tung will try to invade Taiwan. Mao also lacks naval transportation, and the U.S. 7th Fleet, which far excels the Red navy, patrols the Formosa Strait between Taiwan and the mainland.

Mason, director of the Bureau of Government Research, said, "The Taiwan situation is better than it has been for a long time. Economically, Taiwan is better off than China has ever been, as far as the average man goes. The people look fat and healthy."

CHIANG'S land reform is "the most successful anywhere in the world," Dr. Mason said.

Reference Grant Awarded

The College of Business Administration has been awarded $1,000 by the Price Waterhouse Foundation of New York to establish a permanent set of reference books in accounting for the student reading room in the Business Administration Building.

Guy R. Neely, a representative of the Phoenix office of Price Waterhouse, presented the award to Dr. Glenn Overman, dean of the College of Business Administration, on behalf of the foundation.

Dean Overman said, "A committee of faculty members in the accounting department will select volumes to be included in the collection."

"The fair and equitable distribution of land among the farmers is an example studied by officials from Latin America, Africa and Asia."

In the land reform, wealthy Taiwanese received shares of industrial stock as compensation for their appropriated land.

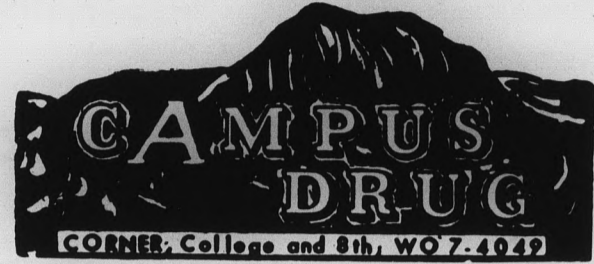

Mason pointed out that Taiwan is the fourth largest cement exporter in the world and has strong steel and petroleum industries, originally developed by the Japanese.

KAET Will Increase Coverage, Air Power

New equipment, scheduled for installation before June, will relay Channel 8's signal to community antenna systems in Flagstaff, Prescott, Payson and other northern areas of the state. Most of Arizona, with the exception of the southern part, served by the UofA's KUAT, will be able to pick up a good signal from

The University-owned educational station now covers most of Maricopa County with 27.5 kilowatts; a new antenna and more powerful transmitter will increase KAET's video power to 115 kilowatts.

Purchase of a second videotape machine will allow programs to be recorded while the other is on the air.

THE NEW videotape machine will be in use by mid-February and will allow KAET greater flexibility in programming. However, no major changes will be made in program format until fall.

The equipment was purchased on a "matching funds" principle. Under regulations of the Educational TV Facilities Act, the federal government will pay half the cost of establishing an educational TV station. Station owners match federal funds.

KAET, however, was given credit for its existing equipment, so the federal government will be paying approximately 75 per cent of the equipment's tab. Total cost is $188,000.

According to Robert H. Ellis, director of the Bureau of Broadcasting, KAET's job "is not to entertain, but to inform and to educate."

Professors Occupy New Offices

Over 120 professors, assistant professors, graduate assistants and secretaries moved into offices in the new Language and Literature Building during the winter recess.

The largest move was made by the English department from various offices located in Old Main and the English Building. The English department is now situated on the fifth and sixth floors of the new building. The main office is on the fifth floor.

The foreign language department is on the fourth floor. The speech and drama department is sharing the sixth floor with the English department, but its speech and hearing clinic is on the first floor.

Your life at Du Pont | one of a series for technical men

You never stop growing at Du Pont

Growth is a 160-year habit with us. Take sales. Since 1937 they've increased 750%—to $2.4 billion in 1962.

We spend more than $90 million a year in R&D. In fact, there are at least 200 new products under investigation at this writing and more being developed each day.

What could Du Pont's growth mean to you? Since we always fill important positions from within, it could mean fast advancement, new responsibilities, new horizons—growing financial and creative satisfaction.

It could mean, too, more numerous and more varied opportunities. The new Du Pont engineer is likely to move from his original assignment to one or two others in the course of his first five years. This gives him a chance to "change jobs" right inside Du Pont.

In 1963, more than 700 new B.S. graduates planted their feet at Du Pont. Perhaps you'd like to join us, too. Write today.

Contest Winner

Freshman William Paul Johnson received a $25 honorable mention from Seventeen Magazine's 14th annual International Art Contest for his tempera painting. His painting illustrated the prize-winning short story, "If You Can't Lick 'Em."

Amateur Hour To Feature ASU Singer

Senior Vicky Anne Bond, will sing "Un Bel Di" from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" Sunday on The Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour.

Miss Bond won first place in the second Arizona State Fair Talent Competition. The prize was a monetary award of $750 and an appearance on the nationally televised talent show.

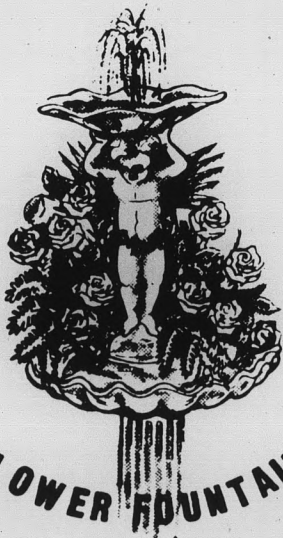

Vicky has been singing for only three years. A voice major, she has won two scholarships to the Chatauqua Institute Summer Music Festival in New York State and was soloist with the Youth Symphony Orchestra there.

For women, Gant makes shirts, not blouses. The difference is in the tailoring, which reflects in the fit, the flair, the look. Of course, the cut is in women's proportions. Most important, Gant's a shirt that elegantly "says" quality, and it keeps saying it after myriad washings. In cotton oxford . . . white, blue or maize. $ 6.95

Devils On The Road?

Fabulous Starters Tabbed Flynn For Wyoming Test Flying

By JOE HEATH

When basketball's All-America awards are passed out this year it will be even tougher for the experts to pass up the Western Athletic Conference than they have in the past. And, Sun Devil followers will get a chance to see why tomorrow night when ASU faces the Wyoming Cowboys.

The man to watch will be the Pokes' hot-shooting Flynn Robinson, an All-WAC player for the past two seasons who is on his way to another record breaking season.

ROBINSON, who holds the Sun Devil Gym record of 48 points made in a losing effort last year, is currently burning the nets with a 25.6 per game scoring average.

Fabulous Flynn, a 6-1 outside man from Elgin, Ill., averaged 26.2 as a sophomore and 25.6 last season.

His patented shot is a back-of-the-head, one-hand jumper he throws in from any angle.

Keeping with the current fad of the WAC, Wyoming has yet to lose a home game as it has won four straight in Laramie. (It hosted the UofA last night). The wins have come over Nebraska, Weber State, Montana and Idaho State.

THE POKES' big man is 6-6 Leon Clark, the team's leading rebounder with a 10.3 average. He is also averaging 15.3 in the scoring department.

A-State has yet to beat Wyoming on its home court in two tries while the Cowboys have been treated in the same fashion in Tempe.

The Devils return home next weekend to host two more WAC foes, Utah and Brigham Young.

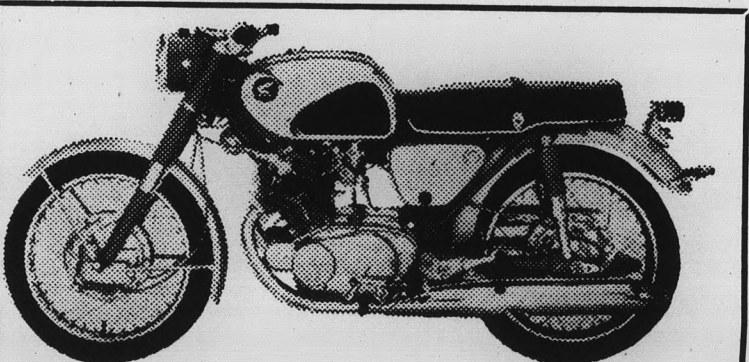

THE UTES, strong favorites to capture the conference crown, have suffered only one setback — that coming at the hands of the national champion UCLA Bruins in the championship game of the LA Classic.

In the tentative starting positions for tomorrow night's game are Dennis Dairman, John Myers and Dennis Hamilton at inside slots and Rich Coppola and Freddie Lewis on the outside.

Kennecott's Corner

REPLENISHING THE CUPBOARD

Mother Hubbard just didn't look ahead. Proper planning would have kept doggie from spending a boneless night. It's a good lesson for industry. Kennecott learned it long ago. During the past 50 years, copper ore deposits have contributed six and one-half billion dollars to Arizona's economy — yet there's more known copper available now than ever! That's because research, exploration and investment by Kennecott and other Arizona copper producers make the most of every asset, to benefit the economy of the whole state. Our copper cupboard stays well-stocked, thanks to sound planning and thrifty management.

HOW TO WIN — Freddie Lewis pots two on the way to another Sun Devil home court win—this one over Rhode Island. The story's different now though as the Devils are on the road for their first two WAC games.

Wrestlers Test Poly

Sun Devil wrestlers end their four-week vacation at 8 p.m. tomorrow when they host Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo in Sun Devil Gym.

Cal Poly will wrestle a dual meet with the Devils for the first time this season. They have met twice in tournaments and Cal Poly won the team trophy both times. Cal Poly took the ASU Invitational and the UCLA Invitational.

The Sun Devils and Cal Poly have built up a rivalry second only to the ASU-UofA rivalry.

Over the vacation four Devil wrestlers entered the Phoenix YMCA Wrestling Tournament unattached and walked away with championships.

Glenn McMinn won the 123-pound division, Ralph Hughes won the 130-pound class, Tony Russo captured the 137-pound title and Buz Hays took the crown at 157 pounds besides winning the Outstanding Wrestler trophy.

NOW WHERE — Intramural football is currently under way with action each afternoon, weather permitting, on the MPE Field.

Intramurals

Intramural football, with just a few games remaining in league play, has been temporarily halted by wet weather.

Tournament play to decide the championship should get under way sometime next week with the top two teams from each league competing.

Following the football season, softball and basketball play will start. Interested organizations should contact the intramural office in the MU.

Current intramural standings are posted in the Men's Gym and include all sports through volleyball.

Devil Swimmers Start Season

The Sun Devils plunge into the 1965 swimming season at 4:30 p.m. today against New Mexico, runner-up to conference champ Utah last year.

Again short on top-flight performers, swimming coach Walt Schlueter and diving coach Dick Smith expect the club to be improved over last year. However, the chance for a bid at the Western Athletic Conference title are remote, they said.

Bernie Wrightson, national AAU senior men's diving champion on the three- and 10-meter board in 1963 and defending conference champ on the one-meter board, heads the list of returnees.

Dave Rietow, fifth in the 100-yard butterfly in last season's conference meet, and George Carey, fourth in one-meter diving, complete the nucleus of the Devil squad.
