Groups' Help Asked For Viet Dispatch

The Christmas "Send a Telegram to Viet Nam" committee will meet tonight in the MU student senate chambers at 6 p.m.

All honoraries, fraternities and sororities, residence halls, and interested groups are encouraged to have a representative in attendance.

The telegram will be sent to Viet Nam to express season's greetings to service men and express support for the nation's policy in Viet Nam.

Students who wish to have their names included on the telegram may sign up at the AS offices or the State Press until booths are set up.

AWS Appeals To Regents

The Arizona AWS convention body has recommended that the Board of Regents' state-wide policy requiring female students under the age of 23 to live in dorms be repealed in favor of a 21 year rule.

The resolution concerning off campus age requirements at Arizona colleges was decided during the annual convention last weekend at the Ramada Inn in Phoenix.

The primary order of business was, however, the state AWS constitution. According to AWS president Marty Stellhorn, the 193 delegates and 10 advisers discussed the establishment of a coordinating board for the Arizona AWS chapters.

The regional AWS convention to be held here April 6-9 was the other main topic of discussion by the state's convention delegates.

The recommendation concerning age requirements will be referred to the appropriate administrative channels for consideration in the separate schools, Miss Stellhorn said.

Commenting on the recommendation, Dean Jo Dorris, assistant dean of students said, "Associated Women Students has always been an energetic and respected voice on campus and consequently, serious consideration will be given to recommendations made by the convention delegates when they are officially presented to us."

Karen Johnston acted as chairman of the conclave which was hosted by Phoenix College and attended by delegates from ASU, UofA, ASC and all Arizona junior colleges. State president of AWS, Kathy Rhorer, presided over the sessions.

Guest speakers at the convention included Ernestine Carey, writer and lecturer; Paula Eisenman, IAWS regional co-ordinator; Marilyn Francis, columnist; and Dr. Robert Hannley, president Maricopa County Junior College District.

World Briefs

MOSCOW — Escalation of the war in Viet Nam has forced the Soviet Union to boost its defense budget for 1966 $600 million, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, the nation's parliament, yesterday.

Diplomatic observers said the 5% increase was negligible in money spent for actual hardware and may have been intended for propaganda purposes.

KARACHI, PAKISTAN — An anti-American demonstration was launched against a U. S. Congressional delegation in the portion of the disputed Himalayan state occupied by Pakistan Azad Kashmir yesterday.

About 100 students shouted anti-American slogans, displayed such placards as "go home" and "Yankees, no, no" and painted the cars of the American delegation, "red, 2," said Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis.

SAIGON — Suspected Red bases and supply routes in South Viet Nam were pounded by U. S. fighters and bombers while ground fighting again slackened off.

MANILA — Though a series of fires broke out on the U. S. Aircraft Carrier Kitty Hawk in the South China Sea yesterday, the 76,700 ton ship continued launching planes for strikes against Communist North Viet Nam.

VATICAN CITY — Pope Paul VI yesterday announced the last four decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council and promised the questions it did not answer, such as birth control, would not be neglected after the end of the three-year council.

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON — Prospects brightened today that astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell, Jr., would complete their space adventure a day earlier than planned.

Senate Mulls Who's Who Naming Task

A bill revising the Who's Who selection procedure will be introduced by AMS Sen. Bill Harris at today's senate session.

"The two primary provisions of the revision bill are the addition of the deans of the colleges on the selection committee and ASASU officers become ex-officio selections to Who's Who," said Vice President Sam Linder.

Linder added that the latter change was suggested recently by President Durham.

"The idea is that if an individual is elected to an ASASU office this should be a sufficient endorsement for selection to Who's Who," commented the vice president.

Senate Directive One and Senate Bill 258 will have its final vote at the 3:45 p.m. meeting in the MU Senate Chamber.

The directive requests the Student Education Board to study married student housing and graduate student facilities.

S.B. 258 establishes a Campus Affairs Board to replace the Student Education Board.

A bill that abolishes the position of financial manager on the Board of Financial Control, another that allows the appointment of three faculty members to the Cultural Affairs Board and a third that defines the responsibilities of the executive manager to the Associated Students will all be discussed in a committee-of-the-whole session.

YD's Suspend Further Action; Wait For Executive Decision

Young Democrats have decided to hold tight on any action concerning Students for a Democratic Society until some decision is made by the AS Executive Council or President Durham, YD president Mark Steinberg said Monday.

Executive Council heard an appeal by the SDS for recognition on campus last Tuesday.

AS President Fred Reish said Friday the appeal is now under advisement and that a final decision would be made at the council's next meeting Dec. 14.

Reish said the Executive Council will vote whether or not to recognize the SDS as an official campus organization. He added that once the council makes a decision next Tuesday, the issue will be dead as far as ASASU is concerned.

If the SDS is voted down, their next avenue of appeal would be the Student Affairs Committee.

Reish said, whatever the vote, the final decision must rest with President Durham. He added that the council's decision would go to the Student Affairs Committee.

Reish said that the Student Affairs Committee is a committee which makes recommendations to President Durham on various issues.

Peace Corps To Give Information In MU Meeting

Students interested in service with the Peace Corps or Latin American affairs may attend a meeting at 2:30 p.m. Friday in MU 209.

Leo Fanning, an ASU alumnus who is director of Peace Corps activities in El Salvador, will speak and answer questions about Peace Corps work.

Fanning will also speak in several classes Thursday and Friday, in the areas of liberal arts, agriculture, and home economics.

Students Sign, Don't Read

The Education Board proved that the old adage that some people will sign anything has considerable truth, by conducting a poll on the housing refund system.

Members of the Board interviewed 400 students living in dormitories and asked three questions. The first one; "Do you know how much of a refund you would be entitled to if you checked out before the end of the semester under housing's present refund policy?"

Seventeen students replied "yes," but further questioning revealed that only four students, or one per cent of the total number interviewed, actually knew.

Before students are admitted to residence halls, they must sign a contract in which the refund system is clearly outlined.

The refund policy as stated in the general catalog and the contract says, "Students forfeit their room deposit and will be charged 10 per cent of the total semester rate for each week or partial week of registered occupancy, beginning with Sunday prior to the first week of classes. Total rent charges shall not exceed the semester rate except when added charges are assessed for losses and or damage to institutional property."

The second question asked "After nine weeks approximately half of the semester how much of a refund do you think you would be entitled to from housing? Answers were: one

Informal Life Charms Visitors

By TONY AULT
 "What struck me as the most extreme characteristic of their culture was their non-involved attitude," said Linda Ambrose, commenting on the recent cultural exchange trip with the University of Sonora in Hermosillo, Mexico.

Miss Ambrose, chairman of the International Student Relations Board and 12 other students and advisers returned from Hermosillo Sunday night from the first student exchange arranged by IRSB and the University of Sonora students.

Each student learned that the Mexican way of life is very informal and unhurried. Time is relatively unimportant except where a class or schedule is concerned.

Miss Ambrose said "An example of their non-involved, non-anxious attitude is their stores' closing after lunch and opening when ever they wake up from their siestas."

"One thing, said Chuck Walrad, Cultural Affairs Board chairman, "I just couldn't understand, but wish I could acquire was the rather casual attitude toward going to classes and studies in general."

Students at the Mexican university can miss 25 classes and receive no penalty. They usually have only one test for the entire class. If they fail the test they have two chances to make it up through more difficult tests over the same material.

Miss Walrad arranged with the UofSonora Art Department to send an exhibition of 20 paintings and sketches by Sonoran art students and faculty for Western Week, scheduled Jan. 6-8. The university also agreed to send five coeds to demonstrate Mexican traditional costumes and a flamenco guitarist. Final arrangements have yet to be made.

Every student on the exchange was impressed by the hospitality the Mexican students extended. Some of the comments were:

—Bill Sage, ISRB member, "Everything they have is yours. And there is sincerity in this hospitality."

—Eldon Smith, ISRB member, "An atmosphere of honesty and mutual respect prevailed."

—Carol Hyde, ISRB member, "What impressed me most was the people I met. They were so friendly, always wanting to help."

—Harley Jarvis, Faculty Student Relations Board chairman, "There was great brotherhood among them, and tremendous interest was shown in our behalf."

—Ron Harmon, IRSB member, "The first and dominant characteristic I noticed about the Mexican people was their unhesitant acceptance of us and their wonderful hospitality."

—Linda Ambrose, "I enjoyed the hospitable attitude of the Mexican people far more than anything else."

 half one fourth or none."

Sixty-two per cent or 248 students replied half while the remaining 152 or 38 per cent said one-fourth. None of the students said they were entitled to no refund.

The final question was: "After nine weeks how much of a refund do you think you would receive?" Forty-three per cent or 172 students said they would receive none while 41 per cent or 164 students said they would receive one fourth. The remaining 84 students or 16 per cent said they would receive one half.

Edward Hickcox, director of housing said the refund policy exists because the dormitories are self-supporting.

Guest Editorial --

Standards Should Rise

The Board of Regents has recently fostered an incongruity which has special significance for the future of Arizona State University. The refusal to grant higher entrance standards for undergraduate admittance is very incompatible with starting a law school and maintaining high standards of graduate business, engineering, architecture and graduate sciences.

Can the unqualified undergraduate and the graduate student exist side-by-side? I think not.

While it is true that Arizona lacks the junior college system of neighboring California, it is time to stop accommodating the children who come to play in the sun. This will require higher retention standards also, but the draft will help to solve this in the immediate future.

Arizona State must be allowed its place as the pinnacle of academic pursuit not only in the great metropolitan area of Phoenix, but in the entire Southwest, just as the urban universities of U.C.L.A., N.Y.U., George Washington, Chicago, and Harvard have done.

Support of Presidents Durham, Harvill, and Walk-ups' move for higher standards can start by the realization that A.S.U.'s graduate and professional schools will not continue to grow and gain prominence until academic and behavioral standards are raised. This must be a University dedicated to the "ordering of minds" and not to the "scrambling of emotions" by "academic bums" in the name of free speech.

Graduate students need to be accorded the academic atmosphere and facilities commensurate with other urban universities.

If such an incongruity persists, can any of Arizona's Universities be anything more than "sheepskin pastures?"

Cry Of 'Wolf' Is Dangerous

Freshmen will be Freshmen but there are limits — especially when the safety of approximately 260 girls is involved.

Reminiscent of Palo Verde East incidents last year residents of the Quad found themselves on the lawn at 4:30 yesterday morning waiting for a fire which didn't happen.

Officials were unable to determine person or persons responsible for the incident.

By the time one reaches college age it is usually safe to assume that he is beyond certain phases. It should no longer be funny to call people out of bed in the middle of the night or frighten them with something that doesn't exist.

Not only does the filing of a false alarm endanger residents but it places a financial burden on officers and firemen who must cover each report.

Fun is one thing — fun at the expense of someone else is another matter.

Freshmen, grow up!

Letters To The Editor

Editor the Arizona state Press:

I want to congratulate Arizona State University for having some of the best-natured, most tolerant and most wonderful people in the world on its staff and faculty and among its alumni. These include Tilman T. Crance, assistant to the President; Nina Murphy, head of the Women's PE Department; Rudy Lavik, and Bert Fireman.

I know because I sat in their section at the ASU trimming of the UofA and yelled myself hoarse. (I also applauded and yelled a little (a little) for good plays by ASU.) They took me with the best of nature despite the fact I must have been a little offensive.

Who will remember the score ten years hence? But if I am alive then, I will not have forgotten the wonderful forbearance of those mentioned above and others near me, including one very fine woman whose name I don't know who swatted my back sore when ASU made its score after the effort to place kick just seconds before the first half ended.

Cordially yours,
Dave Brinegan

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the "Sun Devil" wrestling team at Arizona State University, I wish to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to the State Press, to the Rally and Traditions Committee, to the A.S.U. Cheerleaders, and to the faculty, staff, and students who have displayed so great an interest in our wrestling team and especially in our team's season opener last week.

We desire and need your continued support and enthusiasm and as the season progresses we hope that our accomplishments may be added to the ever growing list of national acclaims already heaped upon this great University.

We will be at "home" in "Sun Devil" gym only five more times this season. Next week we entertain WAC member-school New Mexico (Thursday, December 16, 8:00 p.m.); February 11-12 is our 4th Annual ASU Invitational Championships with such schools as UCLA, Southern Illinois, Utah, Utah State, Wyoming, etc., coming; February 26, the Arizona Open Championships; March 3 and 5, we host BYU and Arizona respectively.

Collegiate wrestling is a "new-comer" to our campus and to those individuals who have yet to witness a "Sun Devil" wrestling meet - BEWARE, Collegiate wrestling is frequently referred to as "the most strenuous spectator sport of sports."

Again our sincere thanks. Your "Sun Devils" appreciate everything you have done heretofore and will do in the future.

Ted C. Bredehoff
Sincerely,
Wrestling Couch

Dear Sir:

I am a transfer student at ASU and have taken much interest in reading the issues of State Press.

At the college where I last attended the school newspaper published, as a regular feature, crossword puzzles which were keyed to campus life and activity.

I was wondering if perhaps State Press could run something similar to this. The puzzles in the other newspaper were submitted by students on campus and the best one was selected to be run.

Thank You,
Merle Tanni

Ed. Note: Anyone interested in submitting puzzles should send them to State Press office MU 3.

Board Honors Two

By BOB JOHNSON

Liz Foreman, a junior in secondary education, represents the student who manages to attend class full-time and hold down a job. For this reason she was chosen to be "in the spotlight" by the Student-Faculty Relations Board this week.

A transfer student from San Diego State College, Mrs. Foreman is active on campus in Delta Delta Delta Sorority, Election Board, Rally & Traditions Board, and keeps a 2.94 grade average.

She is employed by the Inter Fraternity Council as office secretary.

To share the spotlight with her, she selected Dr. Mack A. Ralston, chairman of the Department of Educational Foundations in the College of Education, because, "I was impressed with his dedication to the subjects he teaches, and the interest he has in his students."

Dr. Ralston, who came to ASU in 1955 because he "wanted to see what it was like in the Southwest, and got tired of walking in melted snow," teaches an integrated sequence of foundational courses.

He studied at both Indiana University and Indiana State University, and served there as a secondary teacher and high school principal for 15 years before coming to ASU.

His main interest lies with library development, and he has served on the Library Board of Scottsdale and is presently a member of the Executive Board of the Arizona Association of Library Trustees.

"The most exciting thing at ASU is the potential that I see here in providing educational leadership for the state and the southwest," he remarked.

Deutscher Klub To Sing Carols

Members of the Deutscher Klub will meet at 3 p.m. Thursday in the MU upper lounge to decorate a German Christmas tree and practice Christmas carols.

A German buffet will be served at 5 p.m. there. The price of the buffet is $1.00 without a meal ticket.

Cantata Scheduled

First performance of a commissioned Christmas Cantata by Dr. Grant Fletcher, professor of music, will be performed at 8 p.m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church in Tempe.

Entitled "O Childe Swete," the work is in six sections for mixed voices, with solos for flute, soprano and cello. It is accompanied by brass quartet and organ.

Dr. Fletcher was commissioned by Gamma Mu chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota for the music fraternity's annual Vespers to be performed with members of Phi Mu Alpha.

One of the work's central melodies, now used as a Pastorale-Introduction for the cantata, was originally composed for solo cello and piano as christening music for the composer's son.

The public is invited to attend.

Devil Rally Downs Phi Sigs Lengthen Lead Tired Tigers 87-75

By JOHN ENK

Four starters hit double figures for both basketball teams but the hustling Sun Devil's big four accounted for 78 points compared with 63 for the University of Pacific quartet as the Demons won 87-75 Monday night.

Hustling Devil's big four is a true statement, as the muscular Pacific Tigers had only a four pound edge per man on the host team.

The smallest of the Devils, Freddie Lewis (6-0, 175) led all scorers with 26 points, Dennis Hamilton (6-8, 210) potted 22 points, while leading the Devils rebounders with 10.

John Myers, (6-5, 205) playing steady ball, inspired the Devils by hitting for 19 points, coming up with 8 rebounds, and putting plenty of defense pressure on his opponent.

Randy Lindner, (6-4, 220) had 11 points and 6 rebounds, while Mike Lange (6-6, 210) accounted for 8 rebounds.

Hitting at a 45 per cent clip from the court, the Sun Devils slid into a 14 point deficit during the first half, but scrambled to within five points at the half (ASU 44 - UoP 49).

Exploding on offense the demons tied the game in a little over four minutes in the second half, see-sawed for almost four more minutes and then began to stretch the lead by applying a tough defense.

Hitting hot in the first half, but cooling from 50 per cent to 38 per cent the Pacific Tigers David Fox (6-1, 175), junior -1 (6-7, 235) with 22 points and 14

Phi Sigma Kappa downed ATO in the intramural volleyball finals last week, and stretched their overall point lead in season standings to 15.

The Phi Sigs copped the volleyball crown with two straight victories over the ATO squad, 15-10 and 15-9. Some 250 fans witnessed the games in Sun Devil Gym.

Third place in the tournament went to the Fijis with Sigma Chi fourth.

Composing the victorious six-man squad for the Phi Sigs were Dick Wiley, Don Trotter, Barry Eichorn, Barry Connolley, Ed Reeve, and Jim Uhl.

Intramural football play is underway with the championship to be decided after Christmas vacation.

Current intramural standings, including badminton, tennis, swimming, cross country, wrestling, and volleyball, are as follows:

1. Phi Sigma Kappa	99
2. Alpha Tau Omega	84
3. Sigma Chi	78.5
4. Delta Sigma Phi	77.5
5. Fijis, tie	69
5. Sigma Phi Epsilon, tie	69
7. Phi Delta Theta	67

Coach Ned Wulk, happy over the increase in offensive power by the squad, and pleased over the hard working defense, will prepare for the first away games against Oklahoma State, Colorado State, and Utah State.

Thursday the Devils meet Oklahoma State's Cowboys for the first time in Gallagher Hall, Stillwater, Okla.

Coached by Athletic Director Henry P. Iba, sporting a 720-258 career record, the Cowboy's were 20-7 last season, and are the defending Big Eight Champs (12-2).

TENNIS TRYOUTS

Men interested in trying out for varsity tennis may attend a meeting today at 2:30 p.m. in the Varsity Squad Room, up stairs in Sun Devil Gym, according to Coach Ted Bredehoff.

LITTLE HERO — Freddie Lewis, 6-0, 175 lb. sparkplug, poured in 26 points against the University of Pacific Monday night to lead all scorers. The little co-captain's points included eight in the last 3:22 of the first half, and six of the Devil's first eight points in the second half to mark the turning point in the game. The Devils won 87-75.

Devils Outlast Swagerty Power, Muscle

By JON MORRIS

A portly 6 foot 7, 235 pound brute of a man walked just outside Sun Devil Gym Monday night.

Gigantic Keith Swagerty barely missed catching his lift to the team's headquarters at the Tempe Sands, and, lucky for the Sun Devils he had also missed blowing ASU out of the gym that night.

I recalled only too vividly Swagerty's ballhawking efforts while canning 22 points. But, as Coach Ned Wulk said, "the Devils were able to wear down their opponent physically" and withstand Swagerty's onslaught for an 87-75 victory.

Wulk said the Devils' come-from-behind victory after being down as much as 14 points in the first half was a "quality to look for in a team." The turning point came when "ASU utilized the press to narrow the gap and muscular Pacific ran out of gas."

The Coach had words of praise for 6-1 sophomore guard Frank Bailey, who "was a team asset in the press along with Freddie Lewis."

The Devil Coach said ASU "still didn't play that well," and must win on the road. He was citing the upcoming road swing involving Oklahoma State, tomorrow night in Stillwater, Okla.

"We may be a little shy on talent," said Wulk, but we'll give them everything we have in excitement and hustle."

Handel's Messiah Planned

The traditional presentation of Handel's "Messiah" is scheduled at 3 p.m. Sunday, in Gammage Auditorium.

Featuring the 350-voice University Chorus and the 65-piece University Symphony Orchestra, the program will include the Christmas portion, Part I, of the oratorio, plus selected choruses from Parts II and III.

Sharing the podium will be Dr. Henry A. Bruinsma, dean of the College of Fine Arts, and Eugene Lombardi, associate professor of music.

Student soloists, chosen by competitive auditions, include Barbara Morris, Dorothy Beeson, Betsy Bell, sopranos; Joan Weinzapfel, alto; Lawrence Hoogerhyde, tenor; and William McLaughlin, bass.

Because of the overflow audience at last year's performance of the "Messiah," it was decided to charge a nominal fee of 50 cents this year for general admission in order to be sure of seating all those planning to attend. Tickets are on sale now at the Gammage Auditorium box office, 966-3434.

Entries For Rodeo Due Soon

Eight coeds will be chosen as finalists Friday at the Sun Devil Rodeo Horsemanship Contest.

Entry blanks for the contest can be obtained in dormitories or by calling Janiece Johnson at 967-0161.

The blanks must be turned in to the MU information desk by noon Friday.

Interested coeds are asked to meet in front of the MU information desk or at the corner of Southern Avenue and 56th Street by 3 p.m. Friday, according to Miss Johnson.

Horses will be provided for the contest and coeds should wear levis and white blouses, she said.
