Choice of Exam or Class Standing

Deadline Set for Application For Draft Deferment Test

A midnight, April 23, deadline has been set by the Selective Service System for application to take the spring test for college student draft deferment.

Current selective service regulations require students to be in the upper portion of their respective class or to attain a satisfactory score on the deferment tests.

Applications for the tests are now available at the Dean of Students office and at the Selective Service state headquarters, 1014 N. Second St., Phoenix.

THE TESTS WILL be administered on campus May 14, May 21 and June 3. The specific location will be announced later.

Dr. George F. Hamm, dean of men, said an early filing of the applications is recommended, and the Selective Service office will return the applications with the date assigned for the test.

To be deferred under current regulations, freshmen must be ranked in the upper one-half of their class; sophomores in the upper two-thirds and juniors and seniors in the upper three-quarters. A test score of 70 per cent is required of undergraduate students.

GRADUATE STUDENTS, in order to be deferred, must pursue a full-time course of instruction leading to a degree and must attain a score of 80 per cent on the test. All graduates are required to take the test. An alternative to the test is class standing in the upper one-fourth of his class the final year of undergraduate work.

ASU OFFICIALS are not entirely sure how the class rankings will be made as no information on the subject has been provided by the Selective Service System.

Alfred Thomas, registrar, said the rankings will not be made until after the second semester ends. By that time, additional information should be available he said.

CAPT. KENNETH S. Goodrich, chief manpower division, national headquarters, Selective Service System, will address the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers April 21 in the Westward Ho Hotel, Phoenix.

Capt. Goodrich will discuss "Selective Service and Student Deferments." Mr. Thomas is hopeful his address will clear up the situation.

EXAMPLES OF UNFAIRNESS —

Writer Condemns Minority Laws

By VALERIE JONES

In New York's East Harlem a young boy was stopped and searched by the police with no reason given.

The owner of a tenement house ignored complaints of rats in the building and a child was mauled.

These were some examples of the unfairness of the law to minorities cited by William Stringfellow, noted author, theologian, social critic and New York attorney. They were given yesterday in a speech entitled, "The role on minority protest in the law."

STRINGFELLOW'S clientele is made up of the ghetto dwellers in Harlem. His other customers include those on the extrimities of society, political non-conformists, and the social cast-offs.

Stringfellow said the accumulation of grievances the poor have against the law are becoming more than can be humanly endured.

PART OF THE cause for the feeling of discontent is the role of police in the ghetto. They function as an occupational army. "Most policemen are working men and just want to keep their jobs," Stringfellow's solution to the problem is representation of all those involved. "If those who exist on the borders are not represented, all society is aborted," he said.

"If equality before the law is not functional it is a fiction. Contemporary America is profoundly decadent."

STUDENT ELECTIONS . . .

. . . A CLOSER LOOK

AS Senators

WHY THEY RUN ONCE

AND NEVER AGAIN . . .

OR THREE YEARS STRAIGHT

First of a Series

By BOB JOHNSON

Student Government Writer

It's usually the case that incumbent candidates stand a better chance at the polls than newcomers, but despite that fact only seven of the 42 students serving in the AS Senate this year ran for re-election.

One of the major reasons for this small number of returning senators is that many of them are seniors this year and will not be eligible to serve next fall.

TEN OF THE senate seats are appointed positions and some senators may return again through the vote of individual councils which choose their representatives in the fall. The seats for the two graduate senators and freshman senators will be filled in the fall election as usual.

Many senators gave personal reasons for not seeking re-election, such as grade average requirements, marriage, and lack of time to devote to the office. Two senators decided to run for higher offices and one senator was defeated in his bid for re-election.

Terry Forsberg, who this year was appointed to fill out an unexpired AMS senate seat term, said he ran so that he could start a more intensive legislative program dealing with many areas of student concern that have been neglected.

BRUCE MAXWELL, the senator with the seniority after serving for three years in the senate, gave many reasons for not running again. This year Maxwell serves as junior class senator and is president pro tempore.

"I wanted to devote my time to the Student National Education Association (SNEA) because I feel I can get more out of it," Maxwell said. He serves as president of the ASU chapter of SNEA and as state vice president and is a candidate for state president.

MAXWELL said he was dissatisfied with the operation of the senate this year but hoped he would be able to continue working in student government in other capacities.

THE SENATOR, who ran last year as "the tall man" in business administration, Gary Patten, says he decided not to run again because he is a junior this year and needs to carry a heavy load of courses next year to attend law school after he graduates.

"I won't have the proper time to devote to the office, but hope to work with other branches of student government and return eventually to the senate."

Off-campus women Sen. Maryann McGovern feels that the experience she gained through serving this year will be a valuable asset in representing the interests of the off-campus women again in the senate next year. She ran unopposed.

LIBERAL ARTS Senator Bill Sage is vice chairman of the International Student Relations Board and gave that as the main reason he did not seek re-election. Although he was very pleased with the response he received in serving this year, he expressed his desire to devote his time to that group next year.

Two other senators, Nursing Senator Pat Horn and Fine Arts Senator Linda Vogel, were unopposed for re-election. Both felt their previous experience in the senate would enable them to serve their constituents more adequately next year.

Next in the series — the costs of being elected.

WORLD BRIEFS

Bitter Fight for 1st Cavalry

By United Press International

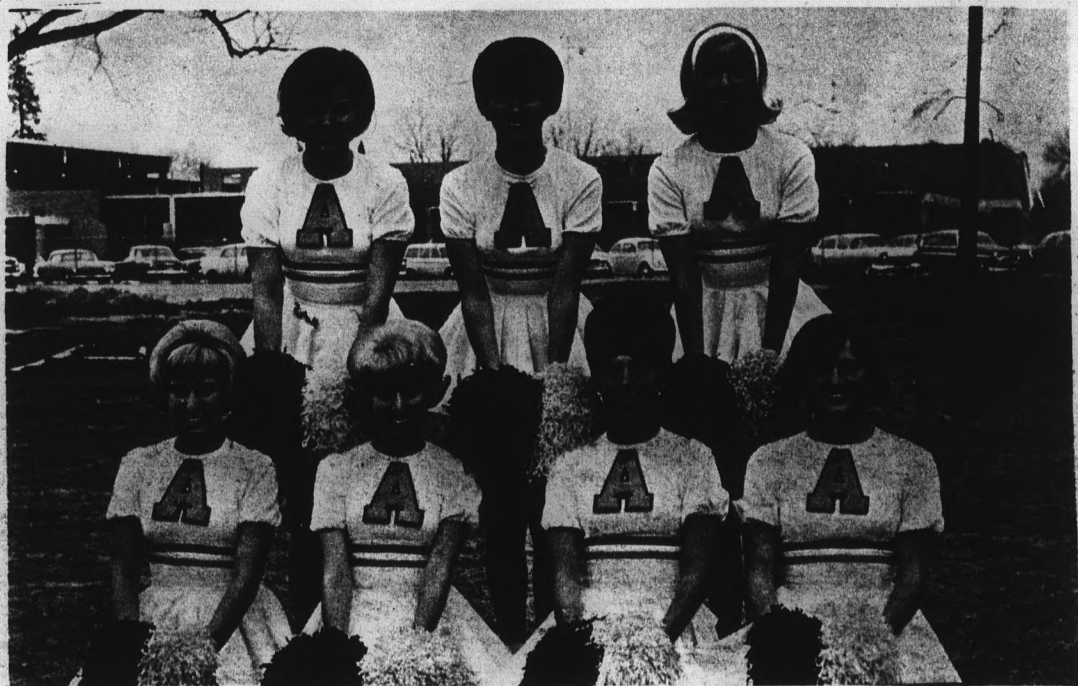

VIET NAM — First Cavalry Division troops were involved in a bitter fight near Chu Pong mountain in South Viet Nam yesterday. A cavalry division unit was surrounded and trapped by a much larger force of Communist North Vietnamese outnumbering the Americans 10 to one.

WASHINGTON — The FBI has broken up a series of draft-dodging rings making about 38 arrests in the New York City area, Ohio, upstate New York and Illinois. Those arrested were charged with paying from $1,500 to $5,000 for false Air Force Reserve credentials.

DA NANG — A minor truck accident involving a U. S. Marine and a Vietnamese touched off an anti-American demonstration in Da Nang yesterday. Blown-up rumors said the Marine beat up the Vietnamese. Student leaders demanded that President Johnson apologize within 48 hours for the alleged beating and for "interference in Vietnamese affairs."

CAPE KENNEDY — A 117-foot Atlas-Agena rocket carrying a stargazer satellite roared into life and then shut down an instant later without leaving its launching pad yesterday. It was the third ill-fated launch attempt at the cape in three days.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson told newsmen yesterday that he had "absolutely" not made up his mind whether tax increases are needed to combat inflation. He mentioned two alternatives, imposing price controls and cutting federal expenditures.

Pom Pon Girls to Perform In Scottsdale Civitan Follies

ASU's pom pon girls will perform a dance routine in the Scottsdale Civitan Follies Friday and Saturday.

The follies show is sponsored annually by the Civitan Club of Scottsdale as a charity project. Proceeds from this year's show will be donated to various Girls' Clubs in the state.

The girls were asked to perform by Dr. William Reed, chairman and coordinator of the production, after he witnessed the girls at a recent basketball game.

Pom captain Carol Tessitore noted that tryouts for next year's line will be held April 13 and 14 in the MU ballroom. Candidates must attend both practices to be considered. Miss Tessitore urged any freshman, sophomore or junior girl with a minimum 2.2 grade index to come to the tryouts.

Parties Planned For Greek Week Celebrations

Greek Week Progressive parties will be held at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu and Theta Delta Chi houses tonight from 8-11:30 p.m. Decorations will follow the theme of the British Isles.

Seventeen groups participated in the annual Greek Sing at Gammage Auditorium last night.

Singing in the sorority division were Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

First, second and third place trophies were presented to the winning groups, and the Greek Sing sweepstakes trophy will be awarded Saturday night at the Grecian Ball.

Archons also presented a skit and tapped new members. This group represents top fraternity men who have shown outstanding leadership characteristics and service to the Greek system.

Will Rogers Jr. KAET Host For 8th Annual Indian Fair

By ANNE MULLEN

Will Rogers, Jr. will host a special preview of the Heard Museum's 8th Annual Indian Fair Friday evening at 8 on KAET (channel 8). The show will highlight the fair to be held Saturday and Sunday from 10 a. m. to 6 p.m. at the Heard Museum, 22 East Monte Vista Rd. in Phoenix.

Rogers is the son of the late Will Rogers, Sr. of movie fame who was killed in an airplane crash along with Wiley Post in Alaska during August of 1935.

THE COLORFUL career of the versatile Will Rogers, Jr. includes being a foreign correspondent, United States Congressman, a tank commander in Europe in World War II, a newspaper publisher, chairman of the California State Park Commission, movie actor and TV commentator.

In 1951 Rogers played the part of his father in Warner Brothers' movie "The Story of Will Rogers." He also starred in "The Boy From Oklahoma" and "Wild Heritage."

Rogers, who is part Cherokee, is active in Indian and recreational affairs and is the honorary chairman of ARROW, a national organization for Indian Welfare whose main office is in Washington, D. C.

ROGERS DIVIDES his time between his home in Beverly Hills, Calif., and his ranch in Tubac, Arizona.

The 30-minute show, to be video taped in the studios of KAET, will be the only complete TV program Rogers will do during his stay in the Valley. However, he will be interviewed, briefly, on another channel.

Producer-director of the show is Mrs. Mary Jo Fritsch. Don Burgess is executive producer. The program is produced in cooperation with the Heard Museum.

WILL ROGERS, JR., takes Channel 8 viewers on a preview tour of the Heard Museum's 8th Annual Indian Fair.

Bombs Away

A light plane made at least two passes over the campus yesterday evening, dropping about 10 rolls of toilet paper near Irish Hall.

Campus Security Director John B. Duffy said officers saw a red single engine craft drop the rolls over Apache Boulevard in an apparent attempt to hit University targets.

Residents of Irish Hall reported their building and grounds were bombed as the plane made at least four passes.

Duffy said last night authorities were trying to determine the owner and pilot of the craft. "It's a possible violation of FAA regulations," Duffy said, "but so far it looks like a violation of state littering laws."

CINDERMEN STILL FALL TO SOONERS, WILDCATS —

Devils Set Three Marks

By BRIAN TRACY
The thinclads of Coach Baldy Castillo managed to break three meet records but still finished third best in a triangular track meet with the UofA and Oklahoma in Tucson Tuesday night. The Wildcats took the overall honors, compiling 75 points to Oklahoma's 58 and the Devils' 48. Husky Jon Cole tossed the discus 188 feet for ASU's most impressive victory of the evening, breaking the meet record by some 15 feet. The old standard of 173-1 was set by Jim McArdle of the UofA in 1964.

THE HEFTY HEAVER — Muscles straining, shot putter Larry Hendershot gets off a lengthy toss. Hendershot set a meet record Tuesday night in Tucson with a throw of 59 feet.

LARRY HENDERSHOT captured the other heavyweight field event, heaving the shot 59-0. Hendershot's best for the season previous to Tuesday night was 56-7. Cole took second in the event with a toss of 58-4½. The existing meet mark until Hendershot's toss was 58-6 set by Chuck Lindsay of Oklahoma in 1960.

Little Louis Scott toured eight circuits of the UofA track in a time of 9:21 to set a meet record in the two-mile run. Scott actually finished second behind George Young, but Young was running unattached and was not awarded points. His time of 8:58, however, set a stadium record for the event.

SCOTT FINISHED second in the mile behind Marcell Hetu of the UofA. Hetu's time was 4:14.9 while Scott turned in a 4:18.2 effort. Art Reade of ASU was third at 4:19.3.

The jumping jack, Mike Lange, tallied second-place points for the Devils in the high jump by clearing the bar at 6-8. Ed Caruthers of the UofA won the event, also at 6-8. He was awarded the victory on the basis of fewer misses.

Caruthers went on to clear seven feet easily after the competition was concluded, but missed three tries at 7-2.

JAVELIN THROWER Glenn Winingham could manage only 231-7½ for a second-place finish behind John Tashauss of the UofA (232-2). Winingham's season best is 238-10.

Devil Paul Longstretch turned in his finest performance of the season in the grueling 880 with a second-place finish in the time of 1:52.4. He was beaten by less than a stride by Sooner Jim Shields.

Bruising Booters

If variety is the spice of life, the ASU soccer team is spicier than the Follies Bergere. This team is so varied that it would take an advanced course in probability to ever figure out how they got together.

In spite of the fact that they're playing in the old Southwest, their roster sounds like role call at the United Nations. Countries represented include Guatemala, Kenya and Norway, to name a few.

To name a few more, there is Italy, Peru and Nigeria. If you're not satisfied with that, they have players from Brazil, Holland, Germany, Spain and (surprise) the United States. Incidentally, the coach is Scottish.

THE TEAM was organized three years ago and some of the original players are still playing with ASU. Judging from their most recent game it's a wonder that the players have lasted three weeks.

The boys tangled with the Luftwaffe, a team composed of German pilot trainees stationed out at Williams Air Base. The Germans play with what ASU team captain Pete Versteegen calls "enthusiasm." Enthusiasm means one near-concussion, one broken nose and a very sore stomach for ASU.

With a fine 11-3 record going into this weekend's game, the squad has a chance to take the League Cup if they win. They are presently tied with Hollandia and will meet that team for the big decider one weekend hence.

A CUP FOR THE soccermen at this point means even more than just winning. The possibility of NCAA recognition hinges on whether they can come up with proof of their ability and a cup ought to do the trick.

NCAA recognition is not the most imposing thing in the world but it does mean that soccer could become a school-supported event and that is what the team is gunning for. Paradoxically, if the school did decide to support the team, some of the present players would become ineligible because they are graduate students.

According to Versteegen, about half the team is composed of grads while most of the others are freshmen with very few falling in between. Being a regular old sophomore or junior is a little too normal for these boys.

Besides the League Cup, which is sponsored by the Phoenix Gazette, two more cups are up for grabs this season. One of these has the appropriate name of the Knockout Cup and is won through a single elimination tournament conducted during the regular season.

THE OTHER IS put up by the Luftwaffe and the winner has to eliminate all competition in one weekend! This means three or four games in two days. That's like spending the weekend in a washing machine . . . wringer type.

HE'S IN THERE — Reggie Jackson slides safely into third in Tuesday's game with Michigan after advancing from first on a single by pinch hitter Jeff Pentland. Wolverine third sacker Keith Spicer gloves ball too late as Bobby Winkles gives slide sign to Jackson. Photo by Larry Ward

★ ★ ★ Devils Finally Beat Michigan

The Wolverines of the University of Michigan found out yesterday that the "big inning" can work both ways.

After being smashed three games in a row thanks to big run-producing innings by the Wolverines, the A-Staters finally turned the tables and had a few themselves, winning 10-6.

A five-run third stanza got the Devils started, the big blow being a three-run homer by Reggie Jackson over the right field wall.

Having himself a big day at the plate was second sacker Jack Smitheran. "Yocko" chimed in with two singles and two doubles. Glen Smith, back in action after a recent leg injury, ripped a triple in the three-run eighth inning.

Starter John Pavlik was lifted after three innings of work and there was some speculation his sore back was bothering him. Mike Gallagher relieved, but couldn't find home plate (four walks and a wild pitch) and he had to come out for eventual winner John Choat.

Michigan ASU 100 230 000-6 7 1
005 000 32x-10 9 0

It will undoubtedly seem odd to a lot of people, but there is no baseball game today. The Devils will take a much-needed day off, after 14 games in 15 days, before opening PAC action tomorrow with New Mexico.

The Lobos will visit Sun Devil Field for a single game tomorrow at 3 p.m. and then face the A-Staters in a day-night double header Saturday.

The afternoon contest at 1 will be at Scottsdale Stadium, the 7:30 night tilt is set for Phoenix Municipal Stadium.

Coach Winkles will probably open with lefty Jeff Pentland tomorrow, but hasn't named any prospects for Saturday's twin bill.

Yearbook Editor, Dr. Stites Share This Week's Spotlight

Pat O'Neil, junior speech major, and Professor William H. Stites of the speech department have been spotlighted this week by the student faculty relations board.

O'Neil, editor of the Saharo yearbook, is also active on the Election Board and is secretary of Inter-hall Council.

ALTHOUGH he is an avid outdoors type who enjoys shooting and camping, he also likes writing and hopes to be a short story writer.

After he graduates he plans to attend graduate school and pursue study in public relations, psychology or law. His work in one of these fields will probably provide a basis for his writings, he says.

O'Neill feels his work on the Saharo is preparing him well for the future.

He says this year's book will be good but thinks some improvements are still necessary. A general modernization of the staff is needed.

DR. STITES is up-dating the entire speech department, according to O'Neil. This is part of the reason why he chose Stites to share the spotlight with him.

Rodeo Teams Win First, Third Places

The Girl's Rodeo Team won the first place trophy and the Boy's Rodeo Team placed third at the Eastern Arizona College Rodeo in Thatcher last weekend.

Barbara Swedlund was the runner-up for the all-around cowgirl trophy buckle. She earned this honor by being the second high individual in the barrel race and in the goat tying contest.

Susan Hammon won the goat tying contest and placed third in the barrel race contest.

The boy's team was busy chalking up individual honors that enabled them to place third in the total team standings.

Stan Harter was the high individual for Firday's round in the calf roping contest. He also split first place honors in the ribbon roping contest.

Pete Beers was the second high individual in the bulldogging contest, while Lewis Grantham and Fred Martin were the third and fourth high individuals respectively, in the ribbon roping contest.

Part-time Jobs Available Now

A few part-time jobs at the Phoenix Post Office are available under the Youth Opportunity Program starting later this week, Richard T. Wootton, director of financial aids, reported Friday.

"These jobs are available for students who need a job to remain in school," Wootton said. Those interested should contact Wootton in BA104 "as soon as possible." Work probably will start later this week, he added.
