State Auditor critical of ASU books

By PEGGY DOYLE and CHERIE TAYLOR

The state auditor has issued a statement highly critical of the University's accounting operations as a result of an independent accounting firm's investigation of procedures conducted last year.

State Auditor Ira Osman said accountants from Arthur Anderson and Co. found the University's books in poor shape, saying "the University does not have an adequate accounting system for financial reporting services."

Osman said he found it "hard to believe" that the University maintained such business management "despite the fact that they have instructors writing books on proper management."

He told the State Press yesterday, "The University has the same basic problems as the big businesses in Arizona and they have to make some changes."

He refused to elaborate further in a telephone conversation, but said the reports in Phoenix newspapers were "very factual" and invited a reporter to his State Capitol office for an interview.

Asked for a copy of the report submitted by the Anderson firm, Osman said he would not send a copy through the mail but would provide one if the reporter would call for it.

University Business Vice-President, Gilbert Cady took issue with Osman on the matter. In accounts published Wednesday, he said, "Arthur Anderson gave us a certificate attesting to the accuracy of our records and there were no exceptions on it."

Cady was reported unavailable for comment when attempts were made by the State Press to contact him yesterday. Members of his staff said he was occupied with the assessment of a fire which did $350,000 damage to the University garage and motor-pool early yesterday morning (see story page five).

Dennis Mitchum of the Anderson firm said the report is "not a matter of public record," and refused to comment on it, saying an accountant has the same professional relationship with a client as a doctor has with a patient.

A Phoenix newspaper quoted the Anderson report as saying the University "tends to rely heavily on the data processing department to assign priorities to new applications, make equipment decisions and develop their own internal organization."

The Anderson firm's report also said the University's data processing produces "unnecessary costs in terms of inefficient use of equipment and personnel."

Osman was quoted as saying the University has yet to "smooth out" one particular computer operation despite working on it a year and a half and there is no computer back up in the event of equipment failure, which the auditor noted could be quite hazardous when payrolls are due.

Howard Tench, University comptroller, said, "It is hard to reconcile some of the things said by Osman and the auditing points and managing report, but the fact is we have an unqualified certificate from Andersen."

"How they can do this and be so vicious must be just to make headlines," he said, but stressed that he "didn't want this thing to generate into a dogfight."

The Arizona Republic quoted Cady as saying, "Andersen and company gave us a certificate attesting to the accuracy of our records and there were no exceptions on it."

Newburn to decide soon

Advisory committee selects candidates for dean

By JAY HOVDEY

A new dean of the College of Education will probably be named by the second semester, Dr. Robert Strom said yesterday.

Strom, chairman of an advisory committee to select a dean, said a name was recommended to President H. K. Newburn last Tuesday.

Strom declined to reveal the name of the candidate until the selection was official.

"The committee," said Strom, chairman of the department of elementary education, "has come up with the best possible choice."

The new dean will step in for Acting Dean Delbert Weber. Weber has headed the college since President Newburn left the position in 1969.

Strom said it is conceivable that Newburn will make his decision on the new dean in time to submit the name at the Board of Regents meeting, Jan. 16.

The Regents must approve all staff appointments at the University.

Strom's 13-member advisory committee has considered candidates for dean since last April.

Six of the more than 100 persons nominated for the post were from the University College of Education, Strom said.

"Dr. Weber was one of those considered for permanent dean," he added.

Other names for the position came from institutions throughout the country, Strom said.

Strom outlined several criteria that the committee used in screening the candidates. Qualifications included:

- administrative experience
- experience in college and public school systems.
- scholarly ability evidenced by some writing and research.
- budget formation ability.

-good physical health.

Strom said age was an influencing factor in the committee's decision.

"We didn't want a man who would be with us for only two or three years then retire," the chairman said.

The committee set an upper age limit at 55, Strom continued, but made exceptions with candidates of "extraordinary ability."

"Some of us on the committee favored youth over age," Strom said, "while recognizing that age many times means greater experience."

He added, "We were looking for someone who would be here for at least five or 10 years to carry through programs."

The committee submitted a second name to the president in case he does not accept the first recommendation.

"I think the president will move with dispatch in making his selection," Strom said.

The candidate named, said Strom, was eligible as far as coming to the University is concerned.

"His final availability, though, will be based on the contract offered by the president," he added.

Joining Strom on the committee were College of Education faculty members Roy Doyle, assistant dean of the college, Robert Ashe, John Bell, Larry Faas, Norman Higgins, Susanne Shafer, Kenneth Stafford and Morrison Warren.

Also on the committee were Dr. Lohnie Boggs, chairman of the office administration and business administration departments, and Dr. Ernest Stewart, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

University students Sybil Todd and Tom Stein from the College of Education also served on the committee.

All classes not listed will follow this schedule.

Examinations for classes that are scheduled with "Time Arranged" and for classes that meet at, or after 5:30 p.m. in the evening, will be held at the time scheduled for the last regular meeting of the class during the examination period of January 18 through January 22 unless otherwise scheduled by the instructor during this final examination period. Examinations should be scheduled for three semester hour courses that meet twice a week for 1½ class periods to correspond to the full class hour period for which the course is scheduled.

If conflicts occur or, if under this schedule, a student has more than three exams in one day, he should consult instructor(s) regarding possible schedule adjustment, or, if necessary, the dean of the college concerned.

Faculty member leaves; Wisconsin new home

Donald Burgess, assistant director of the bureau of broadcasting and assistant professor of mass communications, has accepted a post as program director of two television stations in Milwaukee, Wisc., effective next month.

Burgess, a member of the faculty since September 1964, and Program director of KAET-TV, Channel 8, will join the Milwaukee Board of Vocational and Adult Education as program director of stations WMVS and WMVT.

Robert Ellis, director of the University bureau of broadcasting, said Joseph Zesbaugh, mass communications instructor, would fill Burgess' job as assistant director.

Ellis said Zesbaugh and some professional media people would be appointed to take over Burgess' classes for next semester.

This is the last edition of the State Press this semester. Publication will resume Feb. 9 with a new editorial staff.

In a pullout section of today's issue is a copy of the revised Code of Conduct.

University quarterly reports Latin American situation

Dissatisfied voters in Rio de Janeiro cast 400,000 blank ballots in Brazil's congressional election, the University Latin American Digest reported in its January issue.

The Digest, a quarterly edited by Dr. Marvin Alisky, head of the Center for Latin American Studies, interpreted the large number of blank ballots as protest votes aimed at the military regime in Brazil.

The election, which the Digest reported as the first popular nation-wide election in four years, saw 30 million Brazilians increase the government National Renewal Party (AREAN) majority in the federal Congress from about 2-to-1 to 3-to-1 over the Brazilian Democratic Movement (NDB).

The Digest also pointed out the April 4 municipal elections in Chile will test the promise of Chile's President Salvador Allende not to deny civil or political rights to non-Marxist, or anti-Marxist forces in the country.

The Digest States the 277 municipal Chilean governments are ultimately controlled by the national government in Santiago through taxes and budget controls.

Periodicals showed the conservative daily newspaper El Mercurio and 29 radio stations owned by opposition Christian Democrats have come under pressure by Communist members of Congress in Chile, the Digest reports.

An analysis of Mexico's federal budget in the current Digest issue indicates 38 per cent of the budget goes for economic development, and more than 28 per cent of the budget goes for public educational and cultural services of the Ministry of Education.

Dr. Alisky has served as a news correspondent in several Latin American republics. He was the U.S. delegate to the UNESCO Conference on Journalism in Ecuador in 1960, where he helped found Latin America's first graduate school of journalism in Quito.

Deadline is near for staff positions

Next Friday is the deadline to apply for State Press staff positions for spring semester. All interested members of the student body may apply.

Application blanks may be obtained in ASB 304 for the following editorships: managing editor, news editor, campus editor, assistant campus editor, feature editor, sports editor, assistant sports editor, copy editor (three positions available), chief photographer and Weekend editor.

The spring semester editor of the State Press will be selected at next Monday's meeting of the Board of Student Publications.

The new editor will be one of three mass communications students.

They are Jane Sims, senior-journalism; Randy Bailey, junior-journalism and David Jensen, senior-radio-TV. Deadline for application for the editorship was Dec. 17.

Burke's academic fate to be decided

The academic fate of a suspended student, Joe Burke, rests with the Office of Student Affairs this week.

Dr. Leon Shell, assistant dean of student affairs, said yesterday that Burke lost his case in Superior Court on Dec. 22. Now the University can impose the original sanction against Burke and remove him from the campus if it wishes to.

Shell added Burke has been attending classes this semester while the case was pending.

"We are still considering the appropriate action to take in this case," he said. "The University will probably decide what is appropriate within a day or two."

Shell said the University would decide what course to follow after it is known if Burke decides to file an appeal.

He added that after talking with the attorney general it was decided that Burke would be allowed to remain in school until any appeal decision would be rendered if Burke does appeal.

Burke's attorney, Cornelius O'Driscoll, said "We are considering an appeal and we have 60 days after the Superior Court judgment was entered in which to file."

Burke's petition, filed in October for an injunction against the University, was denied by Superior Court Judge Robert Myers. He contended his civil rights had been violated because he said he was suspended without due process. He was suspended last June for his involvement in a May 6 ROTC demonstration.

He had been attending the University under two temporary restraining orders issued by Judge Myers.

Group to investigate incompetency charge

By JIM SPENCER

Dr. John Cochran, chairman of the Faculty Senate, said yesterday he has appointed a committee to investigate a rift in the College of Engineering Sciences.

The investigation is a result of charges by Dr. Daniel Robinson, professor of agronomy, that administrators in the College of Engineering Sciences and the division of agriculture have acted undemocratically and incompetently. Dr. Robinson named Dean Lee Thompson, College of Engineering Sciences, and Richard Soderberg, director of the division of agriculture in the charges.

Dr. Cochran organized the investigating committee to act as a fact-finding group. He instructed them to talk to everyone involved and to investigate carefully and thoroughly.

They are then to interpret their findings and make recommendations to the Faculty Senate.

"We hope the committee will have a mediating effect on the situation," Dr. Cochran said. "It is possible that bringing the parties together may result in a solution to the problem."

Appointed as chairman of the committee is Dr. Robert Ashe, professor of education. Other members of the committee are Miss Janice Hogan, assistant professor of home economics; Dr. Donald Polenz, associate professor in the Graduate School of Social Service Administration; Dr. David Rasmussen, associate professor of zoology; and Dr. John Tootle, associate professor of general business administration.

JCs: solution to overcrowding?

By ROSALIND MOSOW

As the trend swings toward higher education for the masses, university campuses become more overcrowded than ever before.

The junior college system may well be the key to solving this problem of overpopulation.

A junior college eases the high school graduate's shock of entering into the world of higher education. Most high school graduates are not quite ready to cope with the problems of university life.

A junior college will act as a transition step to help the student become more aware of his upcoming responsibilities.

The classes will most likely be a little larger than his high school classes, but not so large that the professor loses contact with the individual student. The professor is better able to know what progress, if any, the student is making and what the student's individual style is.

An opportunity is given to the student to look at what he may be interested in. Freshman and sophomore students will usually change their majors at least four to five times before becoming satisfied with the field they have chosen.

By the time a student reaches his junior or senior year, he can very seldom afford to change his major.

Junior college will give him a general idea of the fields open to him.

The student can get his general education requirements out of the way at less cost than at a university. Because of this cost reduction more students will receive a higher education even if it is a training in a two-year vocational program.

A junior college will ease the dropout rate of a four year university. It is a proven fact that a large number of freshmen fail to continue their education because of financial or emotional problems.

A junior college aids a university by allowing the classes to be smaller because they are all upper division courses.

It makes the professor's job easier because he will be teaching students with a basic knowledge of the course. The students will all have a foundation upon which to build.

With junior colleges handling the bulk of incoming freshmen and sophomores, universities will be able to concentrate on upper division and graduate studies.

Thus, the solution to the current problem of overpopulation faced by the state's universities may well be right under our noses if we but choose to recognize it. The junior college system in Arizona has come a long way since the days when it was ridiculed as a "high school for high school graduates," and it is at last ready to assume its rightful position as a bona fide institution of higher learning.

Priorities wrongly labeled; solve internal problems first

By JOHN BANASZEWSKI

Babies not yet old enough to walk are dying from rat bites in the slums. Cities not yet old enough to grow and prosper are dying from industrial scum and pollution. People not yet old enough to die are killed on our nation's highways due to overcrowdedness. The blacks, the reds and half-whites fighting for equality are not yet old enough to win them freedom in this land of liberty.

And this nation, which is not yet old enough to realize top priorities belong to domestic problems, is trying to appropriate over $200 million for a supersonic transport plane.

I'm not advocating isolationism. This country is a Big Brother to too many countries already. To discontinue assistance may mean their collapse.

But the federal government should launch a total attack at solving this nation's domestic problems before it gets involved in every foreign problem occurring around the world.

I'm not saying that money is not being allotted to America's problem areas. Money is being appropriated. But much, much more could be devoted if such monetary My Lai's as the SST funds were cut and directed toward America's internal plights instead.

Somehow, finding a cure for the disease that has infected and spread crime, poverty, pollution, racism, illiteracy and inequality throughout America's veins is more important to me than developing an airplane that can carry fantastic amounts of cargo loadage across the country before you can say Melvin Laird.

New calendar would ease out-of-staters' plight

By DAVID JENSEN

The feeling that the proposed new academic calendar will probably not be accepted is unfortunately based on some very solid facts.

I say that the feeling is unfortunate because it will have a highly negative effect on a group of students who makes up a large part of the student community—those students from out-of-state.

The fact that Christmas and semester breaks are separated by about two weeks of classes doesn't really make that much difference to in-state students, because they are able to afford to return home for both breaks.

The out-of-state student isn't in this position. He is able to go home for Christmas, but the economic feasibility of a trip home at semester break is highly questionable.

What it all boils down to is the out-of-state student is stuck in Tempe over semester break.

The proposed new calendar would end the semester before Christmas, thus eliminating the need for a semester break two weeks later. It would combine the breaks so that it would be possible to have more time in one lump rather than having it broken up into two short vacations.

It is really a shame that

Note taking promoted

By RANDY D. BAILEY

Free enterprise—that Great American tradition—has come to the classroom.

Students at a middle-America university have opened a lecture notes service, which allows students to sleep comfortably at home, rather than uncomfortably in the classroom.

The students running the service charge $5 per term for complete notes to a class. The students first check with the instructor to see if he will allow the notes to be used.

Notes are taken by graduate students who are paid $5 per hour for their skills. The notes come complete with graphs, charts and prof's bad jokes.

The project has been successful financially for the owners and educationally for the students getting the notes.

More than 400 students plunked down $5 each during the first week of the service. And attendance in many lectures increased after the notes were published—one professor said it was because after the students saw the difficulty of the course they decided to attend.

Here, fellow students, is a beautiful opportunity for someone to make a bundle and provide the University with a practical service.

With a student population nearing 30,000, there is a $150,000 per semester market on this campus. All it would take is time, dedication and the acceptance of the University community.

Rather than being an "easy way out" the lecture notes service would allow students with poor note taking abilities to have a better chance in a difficult class.

with the support the new calendar has received from students and faculty that it should die because it doesn't make provisions for the state's other universities.

The problem of what to do about vacations has been solved in other parts of the country through the adoption of the quarter system with interim classes being taught during the periods that students are out of school.

The University could easily overcome the necessity of a change as drastic as this by simply adopting the calendar as it has been proposed.

Since 70 per cent of the students and faculty members polled favored the proposed plan, it should be given more than a passing glance by those in power to adopt or reject it.

The calendar will probably undergo some type of change in the future, but it appears that for now we are going to be forced to accept a calendar that is, to say the least, very difficult to live with.

STATE PRESS is published by Arizona State University as the official campus newspaper every Tuesday through Friday during the school year, except holidays and examination periods, and is entered as second class matter at Tempe, Arizona, 85281.

Motor pool, psych lab, storage buildings burn

Flames leaped
high early yesterday morning destroying $350,000 in property.

3 buildings burned

Cause of blaze undetermined

A fire causing damage estimated near $350,000 ravaged the University Motor Pool and adjoining buildings yesterday, University Police Chief John Duffy, said.

The blaze inflicted extensive damage to the Motor Pool, an adjoining psychology laboratory and the University Bookstore storage building which is located between the other two.

At press time yesterday, the cause of the fire was still undetermined.

Chief Duffy said ten automobiles were inside the Motor Pool when the blaze began. Six were totally destroyed and four partially damaged, he said.

The fire was discovered at 12:09 a.m., when University Police Patrolman Gary Mack saw flames leaping from the north-end rooftop of the Motor Pool during his routine patrol.

Following Mack's report to the Tempe Fire Department, Duffy said the fire spread to the buildings connecting the Motor Pool.

The psychology laboratory housed various animals used in experiments. University police officers and firemen succeeded in rescuing eight primates (order of mammals including man, apes, and monkeys) from the fire. Numerous other small animals such as mice and rats could not be saved, Chief Duffy said.

according to a bookstore spokesman. "That's where we used to keep supplies," she said.

The bookstore storage building was "demolished,"

"Luckily," Duffy said, "gas tanks in the area were not ignited."

The Tempe Fire Department uses full equipment to stop the fire at the Motor Pool and adjoining buildings yesterday.

One fireman climbs a wall of the building to get an advantage on the fire.

Junior elected student director of Urban Corps

Sanna Joann Osgood, junior architecture major, has been elected a student director of the newly-formed Board of Directors of the National Urban Corps.

Miss Osgood was elected by fellow Maricopa County Government Urban Corps workers to represent the 10-state western region of the corps. There are four regional student directors on the national board, Miss Osgood said.

She will leave for Washinton, D. C., next Thursday to participate in a conference of the national board.

"There are two purposes for the Washington trip," Miss Osgood said. "First we're going to discuss the Urban Corps funding situation with the International City Management Association (ICMA). Our other purpose is to select the National Urban Corps Director.

"The whole Urban Corps project is very interesting to work with," Miss Osgood added. "Right now the corps is limited to college students but we hope to expand to include high school students. "The jobs offered to students through the program are stimulating and challenging on the whole. All the Urban Corps students are involved in some phase of public agency work," she said.

MASO leader says colleges fail to give Chicanos a planning voice

A leader of the Mexican-American Student Organization (MASO) has charged the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Education with failing to cooperate in hiring Chicano employees in their departments and developing a Chicano studies program.

Gus Chavez, assistant coordinator of MASO, said the Tea is planned for Kaydettes

A selection tea for Kaydettes, an organization of women students who assist the Army ROTC department, is planned for 3:30 p.m. Feb. 9 in Gammage Auditorium.

Jeanne Ballenberger, Kaydettes commander, said all women students with a 2.0 grade point average are invited to attend the tea.

The group represents the University at various parades, banquets and other community activities. Miss Ballenberger said a drill team also participates in competition throughout the West.

"The Kaydettes wish to encourage the women of the University to participate. The organization plans to increase its activities for the campus as well as the community," she said.

organization has had several meetings with Dr. George Peek, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, on the two issues but said Dr. Peek "has not agreed to anything. He just shrugs the question away."

However, Chavez said the biggest problem is the College of Education, which "refuses to hire Chicano professors and will not add important Chicano classes which are relevant to education."

"We want Chicano classes taught in our aspects of Chicano life, like art, music, history and language—all areas which are relevant to Chicanos," Chavez said.

Dr. Peek said an American studies program, which offers one section each of Chicano, Black and Indian studies to Liberal Arts students, was passed last spring and is being considered now by the vice-president of academic affairs and University President H. K. Newburn.

Dr. Peek said he has "every reason to believe the program will be approved." If it is, it will go into effect next fall and will allow students to obtain a minor in Chicano, Black or Indian studies.

Chavez criticized Dr. Peek for not wanting to reach an agreement on Chicano studies, after the dean told him "if you don't like the program don't participate in it."

Dr. Peek answered the charge when contacted by the State Press and said he meant by the statement "the program is a voluntary program and MASO doesn't have to participate in it.

"I meant they should take the proper steps and go to the curriculum committee, not just come from the other side and throw everything out," he continued.

"Let's build on what we have; we already have a good program underway," Dr. Peek added.

A person has yet to be appointed to head up the program. Dr. Peek said the person will probably have to be a qualified person now on the faculty.

He said neither race nor sex should be primary factors in selecting the program's director.

Chavez said the Chicanos want representation on a committee which decides who will be hired as the dean of the College of Education.

He also said they want a decision-making voice in the Chicano studies curriculum development of the Chicano studies program, the selection of professors and representation in recruiting Chicanos.

Special seminar planned to aid returning students

Pregnancy, economic misfortune or work in a defense plant during World War II may have interrupted the academic careers of women now interested in returning to the University.

A "Special Seminar in Personality Development for Mature Students" will be held next semester to help women who may feel hesitant about returning to complete an interrupted education.

Dr. Catherine Nichols, professor of counselor education and director of the seminar, said the experience has proved useful in helping such persons make the transition back to a formal curriculum more easily.

Texts, lectures, readings and discussions all are used in the seminar, which will meet Thursdays from 8:40-11:30 a.m. and carries three semester hours of credit.

Because the limited enrollment is by permission of the instructor only, preliminary interviews with Dr. Nichols are required. Appointments may be requested by calling her at 3150 or 3860 before Jan. 22.

Op-art showing set for Phoenix

Works by the most copied and famous op-artist, Peter Max, will be shown at Phoenix Art Museum beginning Jan. 16 with a special student open house.

"The World of Peter Max" will exhibit 20 Peter Max paintings, some of the posters which made him famous and many of his product designs.

Three live rock groups will entertain at the 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. showing. Free refreshments will be served on the main floor at the museum which is located at 1625 N. Central.

Along with the Max showing, which will remain until Feb. 28, the museum features several other exhibits.

Code of Conduct

DEFINITIONS

In this code of conduct, unless the context otherwise provides or requires:

1. "President" means the president or acting president of the university and any person authorized and directed by him to act for him.
2. "University" means the appropriate university involved: The University of Arizona, Arizona State University, Northern Arizona University and any other university governed by the Board of Regents.
3. "University Community" means administrative and staff personnel, members of the faculty, registered students and all university employees.
4. "University campus" means all land, buildings, facilities and other property in the possession of or owned, used or controlled by the university.
5. "Dean of students" means the administrative officer bearing such title and as used in this code may include the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women and shall include their assistant deans.
6. "Board of Regents" means the Arizona Board of Regents.
7. "Visitor" means any person on the campus who is not a member of the University Community.
8. "Guest" means a person, not a member of the University Community, who is on the campus at the invitation of the university.
9. "Person" means a member or a non-member of the University Community.
10. "Chairman" means the person who presides over the meetings of judicial and rule-making boards.
11. "University Officer" means the president and all vice-presidents, provosts, deans, assistant deans, directors and department chairmen and heads.
12. "University Property" means all real and personal property owned by the university or owned by the Board of Regents and used by the university and includes all such property in the possession of or subject to the control of the university.
13. "Faculty" means all those professors, associate professors, assistant professors, instructors, lecturers and others who have been employed by the Board of Regents at or for the university to perform teaching or research duties with the exception of graduate assistants and associates.
14. "Student" means any person registered or enrolled in one or more classes except a faculty member or full-time employee who takes an occasional course as a privilege of his employment. Graduate teaching and research assistants and associates, and all other students employed part time are classified as students rather than employees.
15. "Faculty Senate" means the highest legislative or representative assembly of faculty members and university officers.
16. "Student Senate" means the legislative or representative organization of the student body.

Note: Should any person affected by this code be of the feminine sex the relative words written herein shall be read as if written in the feminine gender.

CODE OF CONDUCT

I. PREAMBLE

A. THE UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY

The primary purpose of a University Community is the exchange of knowledge and the pursuit of wisdom, ideally conducted in an environment which encourages reasoned discourse, intellectual honesty, openness to constructive change and respect for the rights of all individuals. By accepting membership in this community, an individual neither surrenders his rights nor escapes his fundamental responsibilities as a citizen, but acquires rights in as well as responsibilities to the whole University Community.

Attendance at a tax-supported educational institution is not compulsory. The individual who enters this community voluntarily assumes obligations of performance and behavior reasonably imposed by the institution, relevant to its lawful processes and functions. These obligations are generally higher than those imposed on all citizens by civil and criminal laws.

B. RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

All members of the University Community have the right of freedom of speech and the right to assemble and to petition for redress of grievances, in a peaceful and orderly fashion. All members of the University Community have the right to assume that they will not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

The freedom of all members of the University Community to inquire, study, and evaluate and gain new understanding and maturity is essential to the future of our nation and these freedoms must be protected against even the slightest suppression. Reasoned dissent plays a particularly vital part in the special role of a university. Freedom to dissent and criticize is accepted in an attempt to avoid error, discover truth and to encourage originality and accomplishment.

Freedoms cannot, however, be protected or exercised in a community which lacks order and stability. Any individual who desires freedom must support the constitution, the law and the authority of the university. Although the administrative processes and activities of the university are not ends in themselves, they provide an orderly and stable community without which the work of all members of the University Community can not be pursued. Therefore, interference with members of the university in the performance of their normal duties and activities is regarded as unacceptable obstruction of the essential processes of the university and is actually self-defeating.

Freedom belongs to all members of the University Community. The right of free speech carries with it the responsibility to allow free speech. The right to assemble and listen to the expression of a viewpoint carries with it the responsibility to listen without interruption to the proper expression of dissenting viewpoints. The right to move freely in and out of university buildings on proper business carries with it the responsibility not to deny the same right of ingress and egress to others.

The right to be present on the campus of the university carries with it a responsibility not to interfere with nor obstruct the rights of others to use university facilities for their normal activities and functions. The right to own private property and to be protected from acts of physical violence carries with it a responsibility not to steal or damage the property of others, including the property of the university, and not to commit a violent act against any member or guest of the University Community.

The fact that the rights of the members of the University Community are enumerated in this code shall not be construed to excuse or approve of the disregard of any rules and restraints hereinafter contained nor to justify any practices by the members of the University Community inconsistent with the objective of this code as hereinafter expressed. It is the responsibility of all members of the University Community to maintain an atmosphere in which the violation of rights are not likely to occur and in which the exercise and enjoyment of such rights are fully assured.

C. PURPOSE OF THIS CODE OF CONDUCT

The purpose of this code is to provide an orderly and stable community in which the freedoms to which the members of the University Community are entitled may be protected and practiced and in which the University Community can pursue and accomplish its primary purpose and carry out its normal activities.

It is the intent of this code to set forth in a clear, concise and uniform manner the duties owed by those who join the University Community, to each other and to the university, and to set forth administrative and judicial procedures whereby those who are accused of violating the rules may be afforded due process and, if appropriate, fair and just sanction.

The Board of Regents hereby repeals any and all ordinances adopted by the board and any and all rules adopted by any university which are contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions contained in this revised code. The enumeration in this code of certain rights and duties shall not prohibit any university from adopting or retaining other rules which are not in conflict nor inconsistent with the rules contained in this code, but the procedure followed to hear and determine violations of such rules shall be the same as herein provided. Any pending action or proceeding shall not be affected by this code except that subsequent proceedings therein shall conform with the provisions of this code so far as applicable.

II. THE MAINTENANCE OF ORDER WITH JUSTICE

A. ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURES

1. Informal Procedures

It is the intent of this code that each university, in handling its disciplinary problems, shall continue in the use of informal discussion, exchanges, counseling, persuasion, and its existing informal procedures, so long as such measures prove effective. The formal, procedural provisions of this code should be set in motion only when the above informal procedures prove to be or manifestly will be ineffective. It is expected that the great majority of cases will continue to be handled in accordance with informal procedures.

2. Formal Procedures

A complaint accusing a member of the University Community with the violation of one or more rules or regulations contained in this code shall be in writing on a form prepared by the university advocate and shall be signed by a member of the University Community who shall file it in the office of the president. The president shall then forward the same to the appropriate university officer hereinafter mentioned.

a. Complaint Against a Student

The Dean of Students shall process all complaints filed against students and upon receipt of such complaint shall consult with the person making the complaint and the accused. The Dean of Students shall conduct such investigation of the matter as he deems warranted and may call upon the office of the university advocate for assistance in making such investigation.

The Dean of Students shall report his findings in an oral conference with the accused and shall advise the accused what disposition of the complaint he intends to recommend to the president. If the accused is willing to accept the findings and proposed recommendation, he shall indicate that fact and the matter shall be submitted to the president for his approval or disapproval. If the president approves the recommendation made by the Dean of Students and agreed to by the accused, the facts and the sanction or punishment, if any, shall be reduced to writing on a form prepared by the Dean of Students which shall be approved of and agreed to by the accused who shall sign the same. All action on the complaint shall then be considered closed.

In the event the accused refuses or fails to accept the findings and recommendation of the Dean of Students, or if the president or Board of Regents so directs, the matter shall be referred by the Dean of Students to the office of the university advocate for presentation to a university trial board.

The Dean of Students may not be called to testify as a witness before a university judicial board in regard to a matter with which he has dealt in the foregoing manner.

b. Complaint Against a Faculty Member or Employee

A university officer, appointed by the president, shall process a complaint filed against a faculty member or employee and upon the receipt of such complaint shall consult with the person making the complaint and the accused. The university officer shall conduct such investigation of the matter as he deems warranted and may call upon the office of the university advocate for assistance in making such investigation.

The university officer shall report his findings in an oral conference with the accused and shall advise the accused what disposition of the complaint he intends to recommend to the president. If the accused is willing to accept the findings and proposed recommendation, he shall indicate that fact to the university officer and the matter shall be submitted to the president for his approval or disapproval. If the president approves the recommendation, the matter shall be submitted to the Board of Regents for approval or disapproval.

If the president and the Board of Regents approve the recommendation made by the university officer and agreed to by the accused, the facts and the sanction or punishment, if any, shall be reduced to writing on a form prepared by the university officer which shall be approved of and agreed to by the accused who shall sign the same. All action on the complaint shall then be considered closed.

In the event the accused refuses or fails to accept the findings and recommendation of the university officer, or if the president or Board of Regents so directs, the matter shall be referred by the university officer to the office of the university advocate who shall prepare a charge and present the same to the university trial board.

The university officer may not be called to testify as a witness before a university judicial board in regard to a matter with which he has dealt in the foregoing manner.

B. THE OFFICE OF THE UNIVERSITY ADVOCATE

The university advocate shall be a person, preferably but not necessarily, trained and experienced in the practice of law. He shall conduct a thorough investigation of all complaints referred to him and shall prepare charges thereon and present the same to the appropriate trial and appellate boards.

In making his investigation the university advocate shall collect all available evidence relevant to a determination of the true facts concerning the charge including such evidence as may be considered in mitigation or extenuation. The university advocate has the right to call upon campus security for assistance in conducting investigations.

The university advocate shall also have the right to select and appoint a reasonable number of members of the university community, who are willing to act, to assist him in the preparation and presentation of cases before trial and appellate boards. The university advocate shall be appointed by and shall serve at the pleasure of the president.

In investigation a charge the university advocate or any other law-enforcement officer conducting the investigation shall not interrogate nor request any statement from the accused without first informing the accused of the nature of the charge and advising the accused of the right of the accused to remain silent, of the right of the accused to counsel and the right to have counsel present at the interrogation, and advising the accused that any statement made by the accused may be used as evidence against the accused at any subsequent trial or appellate board hearing.

C. OFFICE OF THE DEFENSE ADVOCATE

The defense advocate shall be a person, preferably but not necessarily, trained and experienced in the practice of law. In the event the university advocate or one or more of his regular assistants are trained and experienced in the practice of law the defense advocate or at least one of his assistants shall also be trained and experienced in the practice of law. The defense advocate shall, upon the request of the accused, assist any member of the University Community in his defense before a trial or appellate board. The defense advocate is not required to assist nor represent any accused who is uncooperative, abusive or who treats with disdain and fails to follow the advice given him by the defense advocate.

The defense advocate shall have the right to call upon campus security for assistance in conducting investigations and shall have the right to select and appoint a reasonable number of members of the University Community, who are willing to act, to assist him in the preparation and defense of cases before the trial and appellate boards. The defense advocate shall be appointed by the president for a period of one year and may be reappointed.

D. DOUBLE JEOPARDY

The members of the University Community are subject to all state and federal laws and are accountable to the state and federal courts for any violations of such laws. As a general rule, a university trial board should not process a charge that a member of the University Community has violated, off campus, a state or federal law unless the matter constitutes a substantial disruption of or material interference with the legitimate purpose and interests of the university. The violation by a member of the University Community of a criminal law which brings the university into disrepute and seriously affects the ability of the university to carry out its normal activities shall be considered of legitimate interest to the university.

A charge alleging that a member of the University Community has violated, on campus, a state or federal law may be processed in university trial and appellate boards. University disciplinary proceedings and university trial and appellate boards proceedings are not criminal proceedings. University trial and appellate boards, contained in this code, have no power to impose a fine on, nor to order the imprisonment of, any person. In those cases where proceedings involving the violation by a member of the University Community, on or off the campus, of a state or federal law are processed by a university trial or appellate board, such boards may consider but are not bound by any action taken in regard to the same violation by city, state or federal courts. To avoid injustice resulting from the imposition of multiple penalties for the same conduct, university trial and appellate boards should avoid subjecting a member of the University Community to a penalty in regard to the same violation substantially in addition to that imposed on such member by a city, state or federal court, when and if such penalty is known, unless there is real justification for such action.

The commission of a serious criminal offense or an attitude of defiance and declared intent to or actual continued disregard of rules and regulations or disruptive behavior or the advocacy of impending violence or unlawful acts or material interference with the efforts and ability of the university to carry on its normal activities shall constitute real justification for additional substantial sanctions.

These matters are, however, addressed to the sound discretion of the judicial boards. There is no legal basis for any claim of double jeopardy and no right of immunity based thereon may be urged in the judicial board or court fast to act.

III. UNIVERSITY JUDICIAL SYSTEM

It is to the best interests of the university and the members of the University Community for the university, when possible, to function in regard to disciplinary matters as a self-contained community in an orderly environment. Assurance that fair sanctions will be promptly imposed on those found guilty of misconduct will help the university preserve order. Having its own responsible judicial system will free the university from any obligation to rely upon off-campus courts. The university judicial system contained in this code is designed to help the university exercise proper control over its own disciplinary affairs. Procedures have been established which are reasonably calculated to facilitate a reliable determination of the issues and, in fundamental fairness, to afford any person accused of misconduct the protection of procedural due process.

A. JUDICIAL AND RULE-MAKING BOARDS

The university judicial system shall consist of one or more university trial boards and a university review and advisory board and there shall be a university conduct board. The chairman of each board shall be a faculty member of the board and shall have the right to vote. In the absence of the chairman a faculty member of the board involved shall be designated by the chairman to act as temporary chairman. Should the chairman be absent and have failed to designate a temporary chairman as aforesaid, the members of the board involved shall select a faculty member thereof to serve as temporary chairman. A majority of the members of the board involved shall constitute a quorum and action may be taken by the affirmative vote of a majority of those present.

1. University Trial Boards

a. Membership

A university trial board shall have five members. The president shall appoint two student members from a list of twenty names of students, no more than five of whom may be from any one college, submitted to him by the student senate and three faculty members from a list of twenty names of faculty members, no more than five of whom may be from any one college, submitted to him by the faculty senate. In the event the accused is a member of the faculty or an employee, the two student members of the trial board hearing that case shall be replaced by two university officers selected and appointed by the president.

In the event the case load becomes an unreasonable burden, the president may appoint additional trial boards from the above-mentioned lists of names. Vacancies on such trial boards, including temporary vacancies due to sustained challenges or disqualifications, shall be filled by the president from such lists. Should the need arise, the faculty senate and the student senate shall, at the request of the president, submit additional lists of names to the president. Should the faculty senate or the student senate refuse or fail, for any reason, to submit the above-mentioned lists of names to the president, the president shall make all required appointments.

b. Term of Office

Members of a university trial board shall be appointed for a term of one year from the 1st day of September to, but not including, the 1st day of September of the following year. Members may be reappointed provided their names are included on the current above-mentioned lists submitted to the president. The chairman shall be a member of the faculty designated by the president and shall serve as such at the pleasure of the president.

c. Jurisdiction

A university trial board shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine charges as to the violation of any rule or regulation contained in this code or hereafter adopted by the University or the Board of Regents, the violation of which is designated to be an offense.

d. Powers

When guilt is found, a university trial board may impose the following appropriate penalties or sanctions: warning; admonition; censure; reprimand; suspension of or forfeiture of campus privileges for a definite period of time; probation for a definite period of time; suspension for a definite period of time; dismissal; expulsion; forfeiture of the right or expectation to an increase in pay, sabbatical leave or summer employment for a definite period of time; failure to renew employment contract; or dismissal and termination of employment. Restitution may be required in addition to any of the above listed sanctions.

2. University Review and Advisory Board

a. Membership

The university review and advisory board shall have five members. The president shall appoint two faculty members from a list of ten names of faculty members, no more than three of whom may be from any one college, submitted to him by the faculty senate and one student member from a list of ten names of students, no more than three of whom may be from any one college, submitted to him by the student senate. The president shall appoint two university officers selected by him. In the event the accused is a member of the faculty or an employee, the student member of the university review and advisory board hearing that case shall be replaced by a university officer selected and appointed by the president. Vacancies on the university review and advisory board shall be filled in the same manner the position vacated was filled and such appointments shall be made for the period of the unexpired term. Should the need arise, the faculty senate and the student senate shall, at the request of the president, submit additional lists of names to the president. Should the faculty senate or the student senate refuse or fail, for any reason, to submit the above-mentioned lists of names to the president, the president shall make all required appointments.

b. Term of Office

Members of the university review and advisory board shall be appointed for a term of one year from the 1st day of September to but not including the 1st day of September of the following year. Members may be reappointed provided their names are included on the current above-mentioned lists submitted to the president. The chairman shall be a member of the faculty designated by the president and shall serve as such at the pleasure of the president.

c. Jurisdiction

The university review and advisory board shall have appellate jurisdiction as to all actions appealed from a university trial board, as to all recommendations submitted to it by the university conduct board and as to decisions made by any other university board or committee from which an appeal to the university review and advisory board is authorized and may be taken.

d. Powers

The function and purpose of the university review and advisory board is to review all matters within its jurisdiction and to advise the president as to what action should be taken by him in regard to the same. When the President has made a decision, the university review and advisory board may enter such order as it may deem necessary to carry out the decision made by the president and to close the matter.

e. Procedure

The university review and advisory board may adopt rules of procedure which are not inconsistent with any rule or regulation contained in this code.

2. University Conduct Board

a. Membership

The university conduct board shall have eleven members. The president shall appoint four faculty members from a list of eight names of faculty members submitted to him by the faculty senate and three student members from a list of six names of students submitted to him by the student senate. The president shall also appoint three university officers as members and one student member selected by him. If the faculty senate or the student senate should refuse or fail, for any reason, to submit the above-mentioned lists of names to the president, the president shall make all required appointments. Vacancies on the university conduct board shall be filled in the same manner the position vacated was filled and such appointments shall be made for the period of the unexpired term. Should the need arise, the faculty senate and the student senate shall, at the request of the president, submit additional lists of names to the president.

Code of Conduct - tg.

b. Term of Office

Members of the university conduct board shall be appointed for a term of one year from the 1st day of September to, but not including, the 1st day of September of the following year. Members may be reappointed provided their names are included on the current above-mentioned lists submitted to the president. The chairman shall be a member of the faculty designated by the president and shall serve as such at the pleasure of the president.

c. Purpose

The primary purpose of the university conduct board shall be to entertain suggestions, consult with others and to review and study the rules and regulations which govern the conduct of the members of the University Community. After performing the foregoing, at the request of others or on its own, the university conduct board may recommend the adoption of new rules or regulations; the revision, modification or amendment of current rules or regulations, or the rescission of current rules or regulations. The university conduct board shall also consider the procedure governing the enforcement of rules and regulations and may make recommendations pertaining to the adoption of new rules of procedure or the modification, amendment or rescission of present rules of procedure.

d. Objective

The primary objective of the university conduct board shall be to give all members of the University Community an opportunity to be heard and to urge that action be taken in regard to the adoption or change of rules and regulations which govern the conduct of the members of the University Community and the procedure governing the enforcement of such rules and regulations. The members of the board shall listen to, consider carefully and comment promptly upon every reasonable request which comes to them from the University Community.

The rights and responsibilities on which the university relies to provide mutual respect and trust should, so far as possible, represent agreement on standards of conduct by an apparent majority of the members of the University Community and such standards should be continually revitalized. This does not mean that the university must acquiesce to all demands nor satisfy all requests. In the process of decision, consultation should be had with those who have to live with the results of the decision and any mode of behavior which threatens the purpose, stability or very existence of the University Community must be found to be unacceptable.

e. Powers

Recommendations adopted by the university conduct board regarding rules and regulations established or to be established by the university pertaining to the conduct of members of the University Community shall be transmitted to the president for final action.

Recommendations adopted by the university conduct board regarding rules of procedure established or to be established by the university pertaining to the enforcement of rules of conduct shall be transmitted to and filed with the university review and advisory board and forwarded by that board, with comments, to the president for final action.

Recommendations adopted by the university conduct board regarding rules of procedure or rules and regulations pertaining to conduct established or to be established by the Board of Regents shall be transmitted to and filed with the university review and advisory board, forwarded by that board, with comments, to the president and forwarded by the president, with recommendations, to the Board of Regents for final action.

f. Procedure

The university conduct board may adopt rules of procedure which are not inconsistent with any rule or regulation contained in this code, and the members shall meet at least once a month during the regular nine-month school term.

4. Nomination Lists

The faculty senate and the student senate shall submit to the president lists of the names of persons nominated to serve on the university trial board, the university review and advisory board and the university conduct board during the month of May of each year or at such other time or times requested, in writing, by the president.

B. PROCEDURE BEFORE A UNIVERSITY TRIAL BOARD

1. Action Prior to Trial

a. Notice

The university advocate shall prepare and file with the university trial board a statement of charge or charges which shall contain the following information:

(1) Trial Board

- The name of the trial board.
- The name and university address of the chairman of the trial board.
- The name and, if known, the address of the accused.

(2) Nature of the Offense

- The rule, regulation or law the accused is alleged to have violated.
- A concise statement of the particulars of the offense including, if known, the time, date and place of the alleged violation.
- The name or names of the accuser and, if not the same, the name of the person who signed the complaint.

(3) Rights of the Accused

The accused shall be advised, in this document, that he has a right to the services of the defense advocate or to an adviser of his choice available to him to consult with and assist him in this matter and that such advocate or adviser may be present during any interrogation of the accused. The accused shall be further advised that he has the right to remain silent and shall be warned that anything stated by him can be used in evidence against him.

(4) Due Process

The accused shall be further advised, in this document, that he has a right to be present at the trial, to hear the evidence and testimony presented against him, to object to such evidence and to question any witness who gives oral testimony against him, that he has the right to present his own defense against the charges and to produce and offer evidence and oral or written testimony of witnesses in his behalf. The accused shall be warned, in this document, that if he, without valid excuse or authorization, fails to appear and attend the trial as scheduled the trial board will proceed to a determination of the matter, and, if appropriate, the imposition of a penalty or sanction in his absence. The accused shall be further advised in his document that a record will be made of the events at the trial and that, in the event timely request is made, he shall have a qualified right to appeal the decision of the trial board.

b. Service

A copy of the above-mentioned statement of charge or charges shall be served by the university advocate upon the accused at least ten days before the date of trial by delivery to the accused in person or, after the exercise of due diligence to locate the accused, by registered or certified mail to the most recent address listed by the accused with the university.

c. Notice of Date of Trial

The university advocate shall give the accused at least ten days written notice of the trial date. This notice may be delivered to accused in person or may be mailed by registered or certified mail to the most recent address listed by the accused with the university.

d. Discovery

The university advocate shall, at least six days prior to the date of trial, furnish or attempt to furnish to the accused a written list of the names and addresses of the witnesses who have given evidence against him, with a concise statement of the substance of their testimony, and shall also furnish the accused with a copy of any affidavits or written exhibits which will be offered in evidence at the trial.

The accused shall, at least three days prior to the date of trial, furnish to the university advocate a written list of the names and addresses of the witnesses who will be called to testify in his behalf and in the event the accused intends to use alibi as a defense the accused shall indicate the witnesses who will testify in support of that defense and shall furnish the university advocate a concise statement of the substance of their anticipated testimony. The accused shall also, within the above-mentioned time limit, furnish the university advocate with a copy of any affidavits or written exhibits which he will offer in evidence at the trial.

e. Challenges

The accused or the university advocate may, in a written statement submitted to the chairman of the trial board at least three days prior to the date of trial, challenge any member of the trial board. The challenge shall be considered and sustained or denied by the chairman. In the event the chairman is challenged and there remain members of the trial board who have not been challenged, the chairman shall appoint a temporary chairman to act on his challenge.

Any member of the trial board who intends to appear as a witness or adviser or who is related to either the accused or the university advocate or the defense advocate or adviser acting in the case, or who sincerely believes that he cannot give the accused or the university a fair and impartial trial and base his decision on the evidence admitted at the trial should disqualify himself and notify the chairman of that fact as soon as possible.

f. Subpoena power

The chairman of a university trial board shall have the authority to issue a subpoena or subpoena duces tecum and require any member of the University Community to appear before a university trial board as a witness. The subpoena shall be in writing and shall be served upon the witness in person.

2. Conduct of the Trial

The chairman shall preside over and conduct the trial, and shall rule upon all matters of procedure including the admission of evidence. There shall be a clerk and a recording secretary and such other staff as may be required by the trial board.

a. Continuance

The university and the accused shall each have the right to a speedy trial and all administrative and trial procedures shall be expedited and completed as quickly as possible. The chairman, on the written application of the university advocate or the accused filed prior to trial, or on his own, may, for good cause, grant a postponement of the trial.

If application for a continuance is based upon the absence of a witness, the opposing party may agree as to what the absent witness would testify to if present and the application for a continuance may then be denied.

b. Order of Trial

- The chairman shall read the offense portion of the statement of charge or charges to the accused and the accused shall plead to the same. In the absence of a plea the chairman shall enter a plea of not guilty for the accused.
- The university advocate shall make an opening statement and offer evidence in support of the charge.
- The accused may make an opening statement and offer evidence on his behalf.
- The university advocate and the accused may then, in turn, offer rebutting evidence.
- When the submission of evidence has been concluded the university advocate and the accused may then argue the case to the trial board with the university advocate opening and closing the argument.
- The trial board shall then clear the hearing room and reach a decision as to guilt and penalty, if any.
- In a complicated or involved case, the trial board may take the matter under advisement and direct the submission of written memorandums.

c. Open Hearing

The members of the university trial board; its staff; the accused; his adviser or the defense advocate; the parents, guardian or spouse of the accused; the university advocate and the person or persons who made the accusation or signed the complaint, shall have a right to attend the trial. No other persons have a right to object to their exclusion. The chairman, as a general rule, shall permit other interested members of the University Community to attend the hearing provided they can be seated and do not crowd the hearing room. The taking of photographs in the hearing room; the broadcasting, from the hearing room, of the proceedings by radio or television, or the recording of the proceedings for non-official use or for later release or broadcast to the general public shall not be permitted. The chairman shall have the right to clear the hearing room of all persons, except those who have a right to be present, at any time to preserve the orderly administration of justice, or, at the request of the accused, may conduct a closed hearing.

d. Witnesses

Witnesses, other than those persons who have a right to be present at the hearing, may, at the discretion of the chairman be excluded from the hearing room except when they are testifying.

When possible, witnesses shall appear and testify under oath before the trial board and shall be subject to cross-examination. The chairman, upon a showing that the presence of a witness, after due diligence and effort has been exercised, cannot be obtained, may permit the presentation of the statement of such witness in the form of an affidavit.

A witness may not appear and testify and the statement of a witness may not be received into evidence, without the consent of the chairman, unless the person offering the same has complied with the foregoing discovery rules and such consent shall not be given unless the chairman believes that the party is acting in good faith and that the case cannot be tried with justice without the admission of such testimony.

e. Applicable Evidence Rules

The trial board shall receive and consider oral and documentary evidence of the kind on which responsible persons are accustomed to rely in serious matters and shall attempt to achieve the expeditious and effective ascertainment of the entire truth regarding the matters involved.

The accused must be given the opportunity to present to the trial board his own defense against the charges and to produce either oral testimony or written affidavits of witnesses and other evidence in his behalf. Evidence shall not be excluded on objections to its credibility or weight. Comments regarding such matters may be included in the final arguments to the trial board.

The chairman may limit the number of witnesses and their direct or cross-examination when it appears to the chairman, in his discretion, that the testimony is not relevant or material or that the testimony is cumulative and repetitious.

No evidence of a conversation between the accused and a law-enforcement officer may be admitted in evidence without first showing that the accused was advised, prior to such conversation, of his rights as set forth in the last paragraph of Section II B of this Code.

The members of the trial board may address questions to any person admitted to the proceedings or to any witness called by the parties. The accused has the right to decline to testify at the hearing and his failure to do so shall not in any manner prejudice him or be used against him at the hearing.

f. Conduct Before a Trial Board

All persons attending the proceedings shall conduct themselves in an orderly and respectful manner. Any person, including the accused, who engages in obstructive, contemptuous, disruptive or noisy conduct in the presence of the trial board may and should be summarily ejected.

The chairman shall have the right to control the conduct of the university advocate and the conduct of the adviser or the defense advocate in his participation in the trial and shall have the right to protect witnesses from improper questions, insulting treatment and unnecessary inquiry into their private affairs. No person shall address the trial board without first being recognized by the chairman and the university advocate and the adviser or defense advocate shall communicate in the hearing room only through the chairman.

g. Right to an Adviser

The accused shall have the right to an adviser of his choice who is available to him. The adviser may be present at all proceedings and may fully advise and assist the accused at all times and during the trial. The adviser or the accused, but not both, may examine and cross-examine witnesses and summarize the evidence in final argument to the trial board.

h. Common Hearing

Should two or more persons commit, at or near the same time, the same or a related offense, a single trial may be held for all or any part of them. In a common hearing each accused should be accorded so far as possible every right and privilege which he would have if tried separately. In a common hearing evidence which is admissible against only one or some of the persons charges shall be considered against only the person or persons concerned and judgment shall be rendered separately as to each accused. The chairman may, upon his own motion or at the request of the accused, grant the accused a separate hearing.

i. Failure to Appear or Attend

The voluntary and unauthorized absence of the accused from the hearing or the ejection of the accused by the trial board for misconduct during the hearing shall not have any effect upon the jurisdiction and power of the trial board to proceed to a determination of the matter and, if appropriate, to impose a sanction or penalty notwithstanding the absence of the accused.

3. Decision by the Trial Board

The members of the trial board shall deliberate in private and reach a decision upon only the evidence adduced at the trial. The trial board should not make any finding of fact which is not supported by substantial evidence. The burden of proof is upon the university advocate and the guilt of the accused must be proven by a preponderance of the evidence. The decision of the trial board shall be reached by the affirmative vote of a majority of those members of the trial board in attendance throughout the trial. The failure of the trial board to find the accused guilty shall constitute a judgment of not guilty.

In the event the accused is found guilty, the trial board shall determine, in the same manner as hereinabove provided, the sanction or penalty to be imposed against the accused. The sanction or penalty should be fairly and justly commensurate to the offense involved. The trial board may then reconvene and announce its decision or it may delay reaching a decision to a later date. The decision of the trial board shall be made within five days after all evidence and written memorandums, if any, have been submitted to it. The decision of the trial board and a brief statement of the reasons for it and, if appropriate, a reminder that an appeal may be taken from such decision shall be reduced to writing and filed with the trial board within three days after the decision is reached. Unless otherwise provided in the decision, the effective date of the decision shall be the date it is filed. Copies of the decision shall be sent to the accused, the university advocate, the Dean of Students or the university officer involved and made available to others with a legitimate interest.

4. Record of Proceedings

A taped record of the trial shall be made and, if it appears vital to the trial board or to the appellate board for a proper disposition of the case, the proceedings and testimony shall be transcribed. The recording secretary in addition to making a verbatim tape recording of the proceedings shall make and file with the trial board a written digest consisting of a summary of the proceedings, evidence, testimony and a true and exact copy of the decision made and filed by the trial board. The accused is entitled, upon request, to a copy of the digest, and the tape recording shall be available to the parties and to the trial board and to the appellate board. The record of the trial, with the exception of bulky exhibits, shall be kept for a period determined reasonable by the university.

C. PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS IN ACTION

Due process is not a technical conception with a fixed content unrelated to time, place and circumstances. It is an elusive concept in that its exact boundaries are indefinable and its content varies according to specific facts. The nature of the right involved, the nature of the proceeding and the possible penalty are all considerations which must be taken into account. The very nature of due process negates any conception of inflexible procedures universally applicable to every imaginable situation. There is no requirement of a full dress formal court-type judicial hearing.

Without procedural safeguards the substantive protections would be useless and without substantive protections substantive rights could not exist. Consequently, whenever a governmental body acts so as to injure an individual, the constitution requires that the act be consonant with due process of law. The state cannot condition the granting of even a privilege upon the renunciation of the constitutional right to procedural due process.

The concept of "in loco parentis" has been historically invoked to confer upon university authorities virtually limitless disciplinary discretion. Such paternalistic procedures probably gave much greater protection to student offenders and, in most cases, the student offenders would probably fare much better under quasi-parental forms of correction than under a quasi-judicial procedure. Many will mourn the passing of the "in loco parentis" concept and resist the codification of rules, the detailed specification of behavioral norms and set procedures of their enforcement. Times have changed and the constitution has come to the campus. It is far better for the university to accept the constitution, as a fact of life and on its own initiative, rather than to wait until it is forced upon it by the courts.

The following fundamental safeguards are required in every proceeding at the university that may lead to a serious penalty:

1. The accused must receive timely notice of the specific charge against him. The charge should be sufficiently precise to enable the accused to understand the grounds upon which the university seeks to impose a penalty against him and to enable him to adequately prepare any explanation or defense which may be available to him.

2. The accused must be given the names of the witnesses who have given evidence against him and a summary in narrative form of the statements of such witnesses.

3. The accused must be given an opportunity to respond to the evidence against him. He should be able to present his position, make such admission, denial or explanation as he thinks appropriate and testify or present such other evidence as is available to him. The technical rules of evidence normally followed in civil and criminal trials are not applicable.

4. The decision of the trial or appellate board must be based upon the evidence presented at the hearing and a finding of guilt must be based upon substantial evidence.

5. The accused must be given the right to be advised and represented at the hearing by any person selected by and available to him.

D. APPEALS

1. Right to Appeal

An appeal may be taken from a university trial board or a university board or committee from which an appeal is authorized to the university review and advisory board.

2. Grounds for Appeal

A decision or judgment of a university trial board may be appealed by either or both of the opposing parties upon the following grounds:

a. Prejudicial error committed during the hearing whereby the aggrieved was deprived of a fair trial.

b. Non-cumulative material and relevant evidence, new or newly discovered, which, with reasonable diligence, could not have been produced at the trial.

c. The decision or judgment is not supported nor justified by the evidence.

d. The penalty or sanction imposed was excessive.

e. The penalty or sanction imposed was insufficient.

The decision of other university boards or committees from which an appeal is authorized may be appealed by the aggrieved party on the ground that the rights of the aggrieved party have been denied.

3. Notice of Appeal

A notice of appeal shall be in writing, shall be filed with the university review and advisory board within five days from the promulgation and filing of the decision or judgment from which the appeal is taken, and shall specify in detail the grounds upon which the appeal is based. Failure to timely file the above-mentioned notice shall constitute a waiver of any right to appeal.

4. Record on Appeal

Every document filed in an action or matter shall constitute a part of the record. The person taking the appeal shall, within five days after filing notice of appeal, file with the university trial board or university board or committee from which the appeal is taken a written notice as to where such record shall be forwarded. The above-mentioned notice should indicate whether the tape recording of the proceedings should be included or whether the person taking the appeal will rely upon the digest consisting of a condensed statement in narrative form of the proceedings and testimony prepared by the recording secretary at the hearing.

5. Procedure on Appeal

The university review and advisory board may adopt rules of procedure which are not inconsistent with any rule or regulation contained in this code. Hearings before the review and advisory board shall not be trials de novo and no oral testimony or oral argument shall be heard by such board on any matter except as directed by the review and advisory board.

A written memorandum in support of the grounds for appeal may be filed with the university review and advisory board within five days after the notice of appeal is filed and, if filed, a copy shall be served at the same time upon the opposing party who shall have five days after the receipt of such copy to file a written answer to such memorandum.

The matter shall be considered submitted as soon as the above-mentioned record and memorandums have been filed with the university review and advisory board and ordinarily a decision shall be rendered within ten calendar days following that date.

In appeals from the decision of a university trial board or other university board or committee, where a prompt decision is required, the parties may agree that the university review and advisory board may render a decision as soon as it feels that it has a sufficient understanding of the matter to make a fair and just decision upon the merits.

6. Decision on Appeal

The university review and advisory board may affirm, modify, reverse or reverse and remand the decision or judgment appealed. In modifying the decision or judgment, the university review and advisory board may correct the decision or judgment of the university trial board or other university board or committee from which the appeal was taken as to the offense charged and the penalty or sanction imposed and then affirm the decision or judgment appealed; the university review and advisory board may set aside the decision or judgment appealed and enter a final decision or judgment; remand the matter for the rendition of a proper decision or judgment, or remand the matter for further proceedings or for a new trial or a new hearing.

The final decision of the university review and advisory board shall be in writing, shall give the reason or reasons for the decision and copies of the same shall be mailed to the persons involved and made available to others with a legitimate interest.

7. Automatic Appeal

In all cases where the accused is a member of the faculty or an employee and is tried by a university trial board, the matter shall be automatically submitted to and reviewed by the university review and advisory board. In such actions, the university review and advisory board shall forward the matter, with recommendations, to the president and the president shall forward the matter, with recommendations, to the Board of Regents. The Board of Regents in taking action in regard to such matter, may take the same action the university review and advisory board may take, as hereinabove set forth, or any other action authorized by law.

8. Dismissal of Appeal

An appeal, other than an automatic appeal involving an employee or a member of the faculty as above provided, may be dismissed when it appears to the university review and advisory board that the university review and advisory board lacks jurisdiction, that there is no right of appeal, that the issues involved are moot, or that the appeal proceeding is frivolous.

E. INTERIM SUSPENSION

As a general rule, the status of the accused should not be altered until a final determination has been made in regard to the formal complaint or statement of charges filed against him. Summary suspension of the accused from the university campus may be imposed when the president is satisfied that continued presence of the accused on the campus constitutes an immediate threat to the physical or emotional safety and well-being of the accused, or being of members of the University Community or guests, or the property or the normal functioning of the university. An accused shall not be summarily suspended prior to the time a formal complaint or statement of charges had been filed against him and if interim suspension is imposed against the accused prior to the time a final determination had been made in regard to such complaint or charge he shall be entitled to a prompt hearing on the charges against him. If he requests and cannot be given a trial within fifteen days from the date of his suspension, the accused shall be entitled to a prompt informal review of the decision to impose interim suspension before the review and advisory board.

IV. RULES AND REGULATIONS

The Board of Regents deprecates the need to make a detailed list of prohibited conduct and does so in recognition of the right of the members of the University Community to be more fully advised as to what acts of conduct must be considered unacceptable if freedom of expression of opinion is to be enjoyed and exercised on the campus and the university is to accomplish its educational purpose.

The effectiveness of these rules and regulations is dependent on the attitude of the University Community and the assumption of a widely shared commitment to the principle of institutional self-government. There must be a general willingness to participate in the proceedings and to respect the finality of the results.

A. INDIVIDUAL OFFENSES

It shall be a violation of the rules and regulations of the university and an offense for any person or persons to commit or attempt to commit any of the following acts of misconduct:

1. Disorderly or indecent conduct or breach of the peace on the university campus or at any university sponsored or supervised function.

2. Use of obscene invective epithets on the university campus or at any university sponsored or supervised function.

3. Entry, occupation, seizure or detention, in any manner, of any university facility or portion thereof for a use which is inconsistent with the customary and normal use of such premises.

4. Actual or threatened physical injury to any person on the university campus or to any member of the University Community while off the campus.

5. Falsely imprison or unlawfully detain or exercise unlawful control over the freedom of movement of any person on the university campus.

6. Contemptuous, disrespectful or disorderly conduct at a meeting of any university or university-connected board or committee.

7. Intentionally obstructing and substantially interfering with the normal flow of pedestrian traffic on the university campus in a manner which substantially interferes with the normal activities of the university.

8. Remaining at the scene after an act or acts of violence have occurred and giving approval or support to such act or acts or remaining at such scene after having been asked to leave by a university officer or campus security or other law enforcement officer.

9. Intentionally delaying, obstructing or resisting any university officer, campus security or other law-enforcement officer or fireman in the performance or attempted performance of his duty.

10. Unauthorized possession, use, or sale of any incendiary, explosive or destructive device or of any firearm on the university campus.

11. Actively encouraging, aiding, inciting or conspiring with any other person or persons to commit any act herein declared to be an offense.

12. Unauthorized use of any sound-amplifying equipment in a manner which substantially interferes with the normal activities or appropriate discipline of the university.

13. Failure to report to campus security the presence of an unlawful explosive or incendiary device when the presence of such device is known or reasonably suspected.

14. Reporting the false presence of an unlawful explosive or incendiary device with the intent to mislead or deceive.

15. Voluntary participation in any activity with the intent to substantially interfere with or disrupt the normal activities of the university or any university sponsored or supervised function.

16. Intentional interference with or denial of the lawful right of access of any person to or from any university facility.

17. Remaining on the campus or in a university facility after dark without authorization after having been asked to leave by a university officer or a campus security or other law enforcement officer.

18. Unauthorized and intentional damage to or destruction of any university property including but not limited to university files, records, research apparatus or library materials, located on or off the university campus.

19. Intentional misuse of any university fire alarm or fire-fighting or safety equipment.

20. Unauthorized possession or use of a key to any university facility.

21. Use of any university facility or area when such facility or area is being used by or the use thereof has previously been assigned to another individual, class, group, or organization.

22. Theft or misappropriation of any university property located on or off the university campus.

23. Theft, misappropriation or intentional damage to or destruction of the property of any person which is on the university campus.

24. Unauthorized reading, removing, copying, photographing, forging, counterfeiting, altering or misusing of any university file, document or record.

25. Violation of any university rule or regulation pertaining to who shall reside in and who may visit or entertain guests in university facilities.

26. Publishing any falsehood expressed by writing, printing or pictures which tends to impeach the honesty, integrity or reputation of any member of the University Community or any member of the Board of Regents or which tends to bring such person into disrepute, contempt or ridicule where the publication is made with knowledge that the material published was false or with reckless disregard as to whether it was false or not.

27. Knowingly making a false oral or written statement to any university board or committee or to any university officer or university officer with the intent to deceive.

28. Unlawful possession, manufacture, sale, or use of any narcotic or dangerous drug, as defined by the statutes of the State of Arizona.

29. Failure by a member of the University Community to provide personal identification by an official document with photo attached, such as a driver's license, military I.D. card or university I.D. card, when requested to do so by a university officer, campus security officer or other law enforcement officer.

30. Changing, without the consent of the president, the position of the Flag of the United States or the State of Arizona while being displayed by the university.

31. Depriving the members of an audience of their right to see, hear or enjoy in peace and with safety to themselves the university sponsored or supervised function attended by them.

32. The violation of any criminal state or federal law on or off the university campus. (See Section II D of this Code.)

33. Violation of any university or Board of Regents rule or regulation while on disciplinary probation or failure to comply with the terms and conditions of disciplinary probation.

34. Failing to obey promptly a subpoena duly issued by a university trial board.

35. Signing a complaint against a member of the University Community without reasonable cause to believe that the accused violated the rule or regulation mentioned in the complaint.

36. Intentional substantial obstruction, disruption or interference with the normal activities or disciplinary procedures of the university.

B. MATTERS NOT INCLUDED

The rules and regulations contained in this code relate to conduct and do not include academic matters. Also excluded are rules and regulations which have been and will be adopted by the university pertaining to motor vehicles. There is no intent to include nor to interfere with any organizations and committees which have been or will be created to deal with academic matters under the authority of the faculty constitution nor to interfere with the internal corporate affairs of the associated students, sororities, interfraternity council, associated women students and similar organizations, including honor societies, except as provided in Section IV C 2 of this Code.

C. FACULTY AND STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

1. Registration

The university shall adopt and enforce such rules and regulations as it may deem to be necessary and proper in regard to the registration, recognition and function of faculty and student organizations which operate on the university campus. The rules and regulations adopted by the university shall provide for the consistent application of reasonable standards and shall afford procedural due process by authorizing and providing for an appeal to the university review and advisory board.

Membership in a faculty or student organization shall be limited to members of the University Community and their spouses except that non-members of the University Community who are also members of scientific, academic, scholarly, and honorary organizations with recognized units or chapters on the university campus may become affiliated with the university campus unit of such organizations.

The registration and recognition of a faculty or student organization by the university does not constitute university endorsement or approval of the policies and activities of the organization. No faculty or student organization shall represent nor imply, in any manner, in its contacts with the public, or otherwise, that it speaks for or in the name of the university.

The Board of Regents finds that any organization which seeks to accomplish its local or national objectives, goals, purposes or activities by the use of violence and which advocates and incites immediate action which will probably materially and substantially interfere with the discipline and normal activities of the university and the rights of others, constitutes a clear and present danger to the property, personnel and orderly function of the university, that the state has a compelling interest therein and that, to preserve the legitimate purpose of the university, no such organization shall be permitted to register at nor be recognized by the university.

In determining whether an organization should be permitted to register and be recognized by the university, the university should make proper inquiry as to the past conduct, declarations and stated objectives of the organization. Inquiry should also be made as to whether the organization advocates the violation of the law and the disregard of university regulations and whether there is a probability that such advocacy has incited or will incite and produce closely related lawless action.

Faculty and student organizations and their members are subject to all state and federal laws and to the rules and regulations adopted by the university and the Board of Regents. Violations shall be handled in accordance with the procedures set forth in this code.

2. Organization Offenses

In the event the majority of the members of a campus organization, club, group or society or its officers shall vote in favor of, actively encourage, join in the preparation of or directly take part in the violation of an offense, a complaint may be filed against the organization, club, group or society. The complaint or statement of charges shall be processed against the president or someone appointed by him to represent the organization and, in the event of a trial, the organization shall be entitled to the same procedural due process granted to an individual. The sanctions which may be imposed against an organization, club, group or society include probation, denial of the use of university facilities for a definite period of time, temporary suspension or cancellation of registration for a definite period of time or permanent cancellation of registration. The filing of a complaint or statement of charges against an organization shall not affect, in any way, the filing and processing of a complaint or statement of charges against an individual member of the organization, club, group or society for the same offense.

D. OUTSIDE OR OFF-CAMPUS SPEAKERS

An invitation to an outside or off-campus speaker to speak on the university campus may be made by the university on its own or at the request of any registered and recognized student or faculty organization. The university may authorize the requesting organization to actually extend the approved invitation to speak. The fact that the speaker may be provocative and strike at prejudices or preconceptions and may hold views contrary to and disliked by the campus and the surrounding community is not a permissible basis for the denial of the right of the faculty or student organization to hear him.

There is, however, no absolute right on the part of any organization to assemble and hear a speech at any particular time or place and under any and all circumstances. Consequently, the university shall adopt and enforce such rules and regulations as it may deem to be necessary and proper in regard to the issuance of invitations to outside or off-campus speakers and no such invitation shall be issued at the request of any registered and recognized organization prior to its compliance with such rules and regulations. Special guest lecturers may, however, speak on scholarly or scientific topics before classes, seminars, or other academic meetings solely at the invitation of the faculty member responsible for the academic content of the occasion.

The rules and regulations adopted by the university may require a disclosure of the name of the sponsoring organization, the proposed time and date of the speech, the expected composition and size of the audience, the name of the speaker, the topic of the speech and any other information needed by the university to help it provide a suitable forum for the invited speaker and to avoid any conflict with academic functions and the normal activities of the university. The rules and regulations shall provide for the consistent application of reasonable standards and shall afford procedural due process by authorizing and providing for an appeal to the university review and advisory board.

A request to invite or for permission to invite an outside or off-campus speaker made by a registered and recognized organization shall be denied if the president determines, after proper inquiry, that the proposed speech will constitute a clear and present reasonable apprehension of imminent danger to the normal activities and the essential purpose of the university. The determination of the president of the existence of a clear and present danger must be based upon the fact that the speaker will probably advocate and incite one or more of the following: the violent overthrow of the government; the willful damage or destruction or seizure or invasion and subversion of university buildings or property; the forcible disruption or impairment of or interference with the regularly scheduled classes or normal university activities; physical harm, coercion, intimidation or other invasion of the lawful rights of members of the University Community or its guests; or any other campus disorder of a violent nature.

The president should weigh the interests of the university in the orderly administration of normal university activities against the interests of the students and faculty in hearing controversial speakers and may consider all relevant facts including whether the proposed speaker has, within the past five years, incited violence resulting in physical injury or the destruction of property at any educational institution or has willfully incited and caused the forcible disruption of regularly scheduled classes or any other normal university activities at any educational institution.

The extension of an invitation to an outside or off-campus speaker to speak on the campus shall not constitute endorsement of the speaker nor approval of his views by the university or the organization which sponsors his appearance and no speaker or sponsoring organization shall represent nor imply, in any manner, that the speaker has been endorsed or that his views have been approved by the university. The university may require the meeting be chaired by a member of the administration or faculty and this fact or the fact that the speaker is introduced by a member of the administration or faculty shall not imply that the speaker or his views have been endorsed and approved by the university.

A speaker is subject to all state and federal laws and all university rules and regulations and by his acceptance of the invitation to speak shall assume full responsibility for any violation of such laws or rules committed by him while on the campus. An utterance of a context of violence, involving a clear and present danger, can lose its significance as an appeal to reason and become part of an instrument of force and as such is not protected by any constitutional right.

Sponsoring organizations are subject to all state and federal laws and to the rules and regulations adopted by the university and the Board of Regents. Violations shall be handled in accordance with the procedures set forth in this code.

E. SUBSIDIARY USE OF UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

As a general rule, parents and spouses of students and members of the faculty, persons who visit and consult with members of the administration or faculty, and others who have a legitimate interest in the university and who desire to occasionally visit the university campus are welcome. The facilities and campus of the university are, however, reserved for and dedicated to educational use, and no use may be made of the same which is inconsistent with that primary use.

Non-members of the University Community, who have not been duly invited nor authorized to transact business with the university or who have not been duly authorized to use university facilities, who repeatedly visit or spend a large portion of their time on the university campus, are not welcome and will be asked to leave. Loitering, by non-members of the University Community, in the facilities of the university or on the university campus, substantially interferes with the normal activities and disciplinary procedures of the university.

The university, acting on its own or at the request of a registered and recognized campus organization, may invite speakers, performers or entertainers to appear before audiences on the university campus. No non-member of the University Community may speak, perform or entertain before an audience on the university campus without such an invitation and the written approval of the university of the time, place and manner of such appearance.

No person or persons who substantially interfere with or who threaten with the apparent ability to carry out such threat, to substantially interfere with the normal activities of the university or to substantially interfere with or deny the lawful rights of others to use the facilities of the university shall enter or remain upon the university campus.

Non-members of the University Community are required, while on the campus, to observe and comply with the rules and regulations adopted by the university or the Board of Regents. Non-members of the University Community are also required, while on the campus, to identify themselves upon the request of a university officer or campus security or other law enforcement officer in the performance of his duty.

The university campus is not a sanctuary and any person who violates any state or federal law shall not be protected nor given any preferred status in the eyes of the law by reason of the fact that the violation occurred on the university campus or by reason of the fact that the violator is a member of the University Community.

When it appears to the president, or any university officer or member of campus security authorized and designated by him to maintain order, that any non-member of the University Community has violated on the campus, any state or federal law or any university rule or regulation, such person or persons may be ordered by such officer or member of campus security to leave the university campus and if such person or persons refuse or fail to promptly comply with such order the person or persons may be escorted off the university campus and the matter should be reported as soon as possible to the local law enforcement agencies and to the county attorney.

The president may make due application to any court for injunctive or other judicial relief in regard to the threatened or actual violation of any of the above-mentioned rules or regulations.

F. RESIDENCE HALLS AND FRATERNITIES

It is assumed that each residence hall and fraternity and sorority has adopted or will adopt its own hall and house rules and procedures for the enforcement thereof. The head resident or president will be responsible for the observance of such rules. When a substantial or continued violation of such rules occurs a complaint may be filed and processed in accordance with the provisions of this Code of Conduct. Trial of alleged violations of hall and house rules shall be held in the university trial board. Rules pertaining to who shall reside in a residence hall, visiting hours and guest privileges have been or shall be adopted by the university.

G. SEVERABILITY

The several sections and provisions of this Code of Conduct are hereby declared to be independent and severable and if any section, subdivision, word, sentence or clause in this code be held void or non-enforceable such holding shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other part or parts of this code which can be given effect without the invalid or non-enforceable portion.

Skiing good in state

Ski conditions within the state should be quite good during the next few weeks, according to the Arizona Automobile Association.

Flagstaff reports that conditions are fair to good, with 14-inches of snow at the base of the Snow Bowl, and 12-inches at the middle and top. No new snow has been reported since last Saturday's four-inch fall. Chains or snow tires are recommended.

Mt. Lemon near Tucson reports excellent powder snow on an ice base. Chains are not required.

Also reporting excellent conditions is Sunrise Park, near McNary, with two feet at the base and 50-inches on top. The slope is closed on Mondays; chains and snow tires are recommended.

Williams reports excellent conditions with 8-26 inches of packed and powdered snow. The slopes are open on weekends.

Art quartet to play in hall Wednesday

The New Art String Quartet will be presented in concert at 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday in the Great Hall.

The concert, open to the public, is sponsored by the Faculty Chamber Music Society.

The musicians will play "Look Down, Harmonious Saint" from Handel's "Cantata for Tenor and Strings," "String Quartet" by University faculty member Ronald Lo Priesti and "String Quartet No. 2 Opus 92" by Prokofieff.

Quartet members are Frank Spinoza and Eugene Lombardi, violins; Gabriel Gruber, viola and Takayori Atsumi, cello. Performing with the group will be Marion Smith, tenor and Daniel Durand on the harp-sichord.

Though icy, roads are open and chains and snow tires are not needed.

Conditions at Glacier Glide, near Strawberry, are excellent for sledding, tobogganing and snurfing with nine to 10-inches of new snow. Roads are open, but may have some icy spots—no chains are required, according to the Arizona Automobile Association.

Due to changing conditions, check with the AAA, Highway Patrol or Chamber of Commerce in the area before starting out to enjoy the snow.

'Soul!' salutes 'Black Woman'

"Black Woman" will be saluted by "Soul!" a weekly series produced by and starring black professional talent, to be aired over KAET-TV, Channel 8, at 10:30 tonight.

The show will feature singer-composer Carolyn Franklin; poet Jackie Earley, who says that her general involvement is survival and her specific involvement is revolution through change; and Sundra Sharp, who has written a collection of poems and has appeared in "Hello Dolly" and "To Be Young, Gifted and Black."

Mandatory feeding '2-3 more years'

Dorms with cafeterias will continue to have mandatory feeding for only two or three more years, Gayle Shuman, director of housing, said yesterday.

A-la-cart service and optional two-meal a day tickets are two of the systems being considered, Shuman said.

Another proposed system is mandatory five-day meal tickets, forcing the students to go elsewhere for weekend meals, he said.

"A lot of students prefer five-day meal tickets. We're anticipating the food will look better to students after a weekend of hamburgers."

"The main problem is abolishing mandatory feeding is the elimination of low cost meals," the director said.

"Nowhere else in Tempe can you eat three balanced meals a day for $2.10. The only reason Saga can afford to feed a student for that price is because of the volume of business," Shuman said.

"When the volume goes down the price goes up," Shuman said. Another reason the price is low is because a student is anticipate to miss a few meals, Shuman said.

"We function on an absentee rate which anticipates a person with a 7-day meal ticket will eat only 19 or so of the 21 allowed," Shuman said. "The five-day meal ticket is only $60 less than the seven-day ticket because we anticipate the student to eat almost all of the 15 meals allowed."

This is true because more students are inclined to miss meals on the weekends, Shuman said.

Consequently the ticket for two meals a day would not be deprecatively lower because it is taken into account in figuring the cost of the regular three-meal ticket that some students will miss breakfast, he said.

"The cafeteria was built as an integral part of the dorm. Students pay $289 for a seven-day meal ticket of which Saga turns around and pays housing a percentage to rent the cafeteria and equipment. The guaranteed income from each student is therefore the room rent plus a small cut of what he pays Saga," he added.

Weather

Any plans for tobogganing down the University Mall tomorrow will have to be canceled as there will be no snow, according to the National Weather Service.

Rumors had infiltrated Valley areas that the flurries would bombard today. However, according to the Weather Service, there is not enough precipitation for snow.

But, that does not change the fact that it will be COLD again today. A trifle warmer than yesterday, the temperatures should barely reach 50.

The remainder of the state will be just as cold and in most places, a lot COLDER tonight. In the northeastern section, it will be clear and cold with temperatures reaching 20 degrees.

In the White Mountains area, cold, fair weather, prevails. A few snow flurries around the Mogollon Rim will enhance the ski areas for excellent conditions for skiing.

Clear, with partial cloudiness and a little warmer today is in store for the southern part of the state.

For the overall outlook for Arizona, there will be scattered snows in the north and some showers in the southwest.

SUNDAY

7 p.m. SPEAKING FREELY — "Senator Sam Ervin, Jr." — Sen Ervin is the second ranking Democrat on the State Judiciary Committee, and is Chairman of its Sub-committee on Constitutional Rights. During this year's 91st Congress, he has conducted hearings regarding the equal rights for women amendment, and fought against government computers and data banks.

8 p.m. KUKLA, FRAN & OLLIE — "Ollie's Ice Folly" — The Kuklapolitans want Ollie to work outside when he enters an ice sculpture contest. His burst of creativity produces a chilly atmosphere in the basement — as well as ice replicas of Fran, Fletcher and Kukla, but the final result is frozen "stint."

8:30 p.m. THE WORLD WE LIVE IN — "Life In A Tropical Forest" — Zoologists explore a remote Panamanian rain forest — that similar to our own Everglades — for clues of man's evolution. Predators and their prey vie for space and food in an intricate system that links the highly developed howler monkey with specialized insects and the lowly fungus that forms the base for a lush vegetation in this incubator of primal life.

9 p.m. MASTERPIECE THEATER: THE FIRST CHURCHILLS — "The Chaste Nymph" — It is 1675 — John Churchill, an impoverished young soldier begins to make his mark. He is appointed to the court of Charles II as Groom of the Bed Chamber to the king's brother, James, Duke of York. Churchill is attracted to another new arrival, the pretty Sarah Jennings, Maid of Honor to the Second Duchess of York. This is the first program in a new series.

10 p.m. FANFARE "Earl Scruggs: His Family and Friends" — Joan Baez, Bob Dylan, The Byrds and others perform a musical tribute to country music star Earl Scruggs. Songs include: "Love is Just a Four-Letter Word," "Foggy Mountain Breakdown," "Nashville Skyline Rag," "If I Were a Carpenter."

MONDAY

10 a.m. & 4 p.m. SESAME STREET — "The Letter U" — Problem solving: What will probably happen? Ernie can't go to sleep waiting for his upstairs neighbor to drop the other shoe. The numbers 4. Sort things: What group do they belong to?

12:30 p.m. & 4:30 p.m. HODGEPODGE LODGE — "Pigeons" — Mr. High brings three of his special pigeons to see Miss Jean.

1 p.m. & 4 p.m. WHAT'S NEW? — "Sea Shell Safari" — Number 1 — Patricia Edwards, authority on shells and writer of children's books on the subject, guides viewers on a seashell safari to and around Sanibel Island, Florida, one of the best places in the world for collecting.

1:30 p.m. & 7:30 p.m. SMART SEWING — "Good Fit" — The meaning of a good fit is defined. The basic positions for seams and darts are shown with a demonstration to illustrate how common fitting problems can be corrected during the first fitting.

6:30 p.m. THE WAY IT IS — "Home Remodeling" — Some of the prevalent home remodeling schemes are discussed and interviews are used to describe the results if an unsuspecting home owner is taken by the glib tongue of an unethical home remodeler.

9 p.m. REALITIES — "Free At Last" — Preparations by the late Dr. Martin Luther King and his aides for the Poor People's March that took place last April, 1968, are woven into a penetrating chronicle of protest in America."

Mt. Lemmon site for ski club trip

The Snow Devils Ski Club will head for Mt. Lemmon Ski Valley Sunday as they host their first trip of the 1971 season.

Mt. Lemmon, near Tucson, expects good to excellent conditions with 18 inches of new snow and a base of 12 inches, said Wally Elsaesser, club spokesman.

Skip Palmer, Mt. Lemmon ski area manager, said skiers will find many changes in the area this season. New runs including Fiddler's Green for advanced skiers and Heidi's Meadow for beginners were prepared during the past summer.

Beginners have been favored this season by the addition of a new beginners lift to move novice skiers to the top of Heidi's Meadow.

Palmer said skiers can choose from the Iron Door Lodge or Shaft Bar for post ski activity.

The Snow Devils have chartered a bus which is scheduled to leave from the Ski Haus, 705 S. Forest Ave. at 6 a.m. Sunday.

Elsaesser said the club will provide transportation, rental skis, a lift ticket and lesson along with an evening meal for $18. The charge for skiers with their own equipment is $15.

Persons interested in the trip may call the Ski Haus, 969-7442.

The National Ballet of Canada

Cultural events to occur before semester break

Four special events have been scheduled for Gammage Auditorium before semester break.

Acts include pianist Hilde Somer, the National Ballet of Canada, the Salzburg Marionettes and the "Doc" Severinsen Show.

Miss Somer will make her Gammage appearance Thursday at 8:30 p.m. complete with Pablo's Light Show from famed Fillmore East.

Tickets are available at the Gammage box office for $4, $3 and $2 for students, faculty and staff.

Miss Somer will perform the music of Russian composer Alexander Scriabin. The psychedelic lights add both a modern and traditional dimension to the music of the imaginative Scriabin, who was one of the first composers to use lights to add to a musical performance, according to David Scouler, managing director of Gammage Auditorium.

The National Ballet of Canada will perform "Swan Lake" at 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. next Saturday. Tickets are priced at a discount for students, faculty and staff, $5, $4, $3 and $2.

The production is under the artistic direction of Celia Franca, who founded the company 19 years ago.

Restaged in two acts by Erik Bruhn, the ballet emphasizes the contrast between the reality of the castle scenes and the fantasy of the lake scenes.

The Salzburg Marionettes will make appearances at 3 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. next Sunday. They will stage "Snow White" at the children's matinee, and Mozart's "Magic Flute" at the evening performance.

All tickets are $4 and $3. No balcony seats will be sold.

"Doc" Severinsen, best known as Johnny Carson's mod sidekick on the Tonight Show, will bring his Now Generation Brass to Gammage at 7:30 and 9:45 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 23.

Severinsen has been touring the campus circuit with the Now Generation and the Brothers and Sisters, together now for four years.

Tickets are $5.50, $4.50, $3 and $2.

'Black Orpheus' to be presented

"Black Orpheus," directed by Marcel Camus, will be presented by the Cultural Affairs Board at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 6 in Neeb Hall.

"Black Orpheus," is the modern retelling of the Greek story of Orpheus and Eurydice, said George Hillman, CAB chairman.

This modern version is set in a Black community of Rio de Janeiro, said Hillman. The movie contains some of the most beautiful music and color photography ever put on film, he said.

Admission is free to students, faculty and staff.

Special collections

Wealth of unusual material in Hayden Library

By GAY LUEBKIN

In the rush to cram for exams and return overdue books, students might now overlook the wealth of unusual material in Hayden Library's collections.

The library has special collections on four of its five levels.

The fifth level houses the Arizona Collection, superintended by Curator Bert Fireman. The collection contains such diverse material as Poston silver and records from the Goldwater family stores dating from 1868.

Fireman terms the Poston silver "the most interesting item" in the Arizona Collection.

"Poston was a very important man in Arizona's history," Fireman said. "His mine represented the first Anglo mining effort in Arizona. Poston had the silver service made for his wife by Tiffany's in New York out of silver from his mine."

The collection contains books, pamphlets, letters and photographs concerned with Arizona history.

Included are extensive files, photos and letters of George W. P. Hunt, Arizona's first governor.

"Hunt's photographs are a wonderful way of preserving Arizona's history," library assistant Susie Sato said. "Hunt was a real camera bug. He traveled extensively around the state and took pictures everywhere."

The photo collection also includes U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater's photographs of early Arizona and pictures of his 1964 presidential campaign.

Fireman's editor, Connie Boyd, recalled two photos that weren't what they appeared to be at the time of their acquisition.

"We had two old photographs that we thought were prizes. Half-naked Indians and that sort of thing. When we had two Indian friends come up to help us identify the tribe, we discovered they were photos from an old movie set," Mrs. Boyd said.

Fireman said the most important aspect of the Arizona Collection is the 800 boxes of former U.S. Sen. Carl Hayden's political papers.

"These papers represent the raw material of a unique, and possibly never to be duplicated, length of public service," he said. "This material touches on a multitude of problems that affected Arizona in this period—grazing, irrigation, mining and others. Hayden's participation had a good deal to do with solving those problems."

The fourth level of the library contains the Government Documents Room, a library within the library. Presided over by Nancy Sanders, the room has information on everything from how to bake bread Army-style to the "National Status of Garbage Feeding."

The Documents Room receives 90 per cent of all information put out by the federal government, according to Miss Sanders.

The oldest document to be found there is the "Annals of Congress-1789" which is the forerunner of the Congressional Record.

Other old documents are census records dating from 1790 and records of the United States' foreign relations dating from 1861.

"The most unusual documents we have are our recipe collections from the Department of the Interior. I say they're unusual because most people wouldn't think of finding them here," Miss Sanders said.

The federal government recently recalled a bulletin on how to make molotov cocktails and other bombs and booby traps that had been on the shelves since 1956.

"The detail in the books really amazed me," Miss Sanders said. "There were pictures, diagrams and how-to instructions."

Since people can still obtain articles like that elsewhere, the recall really seems unnecessary," she added.

The two most heavily used references in the Documents Room are the census and the Statistical Abstract of the United States, Miss Sanders noted.

"The government publishes more statistics than anyone else. The abstracts are extremely useful books," she said. "They have information on everything from religious bodies to the number of Negro elected officials in the United States; from personal wealth to poverty in Appalachia."

The Special Collection is located on level three. Curator Karl Johnson said, "The Special Collections Room is a location for rare and valuable material which demands special care and

will touch ASU*

The date of Jan. 28 will be a big one for the unusually talented college football player.

That is the date of the 1971 National Football League college football draft. On that date, the 26 NFL teams will sit down in New York and divide up the nation's pro prospects.

It will be especially interesting to followers of the Arizona State grid team to see how the pro scouts rate the senior members of the 11-0 squad.

No one is keeping secret about one of those ASU players. All sorts of professional scouts have extolled the virtues of wide receiver J. D. Hill. One scout, Atlanta's Tom Braatz, has spelled out these virtues.

"... the best wide receiver in collegiate ball. He's a super athlete," says Braatz of Hill. Along with a number of pro prospects, Hill will be on display tomorrow in the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala.

Braatz knows the quality of ASU personnel. His Falcons drafted three Sun Devils at this time last year (Art Malone, Mike Brunson and Seth Miller).

Hill is a sure bet to go high in the draft. He was picked to two All-American teams (The Sporting News and Time Magazine) both of which were selected by pro scouts.

If those teams are any kind of indicator, another player that may be highly sought will be Jim McCann, the nation's number three punter averaging 42.2 yards in 48 kicks. Utah's Marv Bateman (45.7 average) is also highly regarded but Bateman is only a junior. Tulsa's Ken Duncan, the nation's number nine punter with a 41.0 average, is also mentioned in pro circles.

What can be the evolution of a top college punter entering the pros? It can be very unusual. Last year, for instance, the Houston Oilers draft Georgia's Spike Jones in the fifth round (which is very high for a person who performs between 40 and 90 times per year).

Jones, like McCann this year, was a second team All-American on the Sporting News selections. Houston finished eighth in the old ten-team AFL the year before and everyone thought the Oilers picked up a valuable piece of property.

The Oilers also happened to select Mississippi's Julian Fagan. But Jones worked out so well that Houston let the rookie go. New Orleans signed him early in September and Fagan finished as the top punter in the NFC (42.5 avg.)

Jones, who was kicking the stronger AFC (stronger for punters), finished eighth (41.2 avg.)

What team's punting is faltering enough to draft McCann? The best bets are Buffalo in the AFC and Minnesota, Atlanta, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco in the NFC.

Other seniors from the Devil squad bear more mention than they are getting here. Mike Fanucci and Bob Thomas seem solid pro candidates. Bob Davenport, Mike Mess and Prentice Williams were outstanding defenders. Quarterback Joe Spagnola and guards Ken Coyle and Gary Venturo could fill special needs of some pro teams.

All the suspense will be over Jan. 28.

Badminton meet starts tomorrow

The University badminton club will host its fifth annual Arizona Open Badminton Tournament this weekend in the Women's Physical Education building.

Merle Packer, the tournament director, said this year marks the largest entry ever. There will be 166 individual players competing in the tournament from Arizona and California.

Nationally ranked players who will be competing in the men's division are Mike Walker, Gary Higgins and Charles Coakley.

The ladies' division includes nationally ranked double players Carlene Starkey, Helen Tibbets and Judy Kelly.

Local players with divisional rankings include Hank Anderssohn, Linda Whitney and Sue Annis.

There will be four flights, "A," "B," "C" and Novice. Trophies will be given in each flight.

Miss Packer predicted the nationally ranked players will come out on top.

Competition begins 7 p.m.

WAC cage scrap starts in earnest

ASU	Pos.	CSU
Stovall, 6-4	F	Rick Fisher, 6-5
Taylor, 6-5	F	Travis Lackey, 6-7
Bowling, 6-7	C	Mike Childress, 6-9
Kennedy, 6-1	G	Bob Canton, 6-1
Contreras, 6-2	G	Willie Edwards, 6-2

Tipoff time is 7:30 p.m. over KOOL radio (960 kc).

After 85 games of non-league action, the Western Athletic Conference will get down to the business of determining the league champion.

Actually, the action started last night with Arizona State meeting Wyoming and Arizona going against Colorado State.

Entering the WAC portion of the cage schedule, the surprise team of the circuit has to be Arizona State. Struggling all last year to a 4-22 record, the Devils have put together a 7-2 log going into last night's game.

The principal character in the Devil resurgence is Paul Stovall, the 6-4 by 225-pound forward from Pratt, (Kans.) JC.

He has had such an impact that he is one of only five players in the league averaging 20 points per game or better, leads the conference in field goal percentage with a glossy 56 per cent and leads the conference in rebounding with an average of 15.7 per game.

That last figure betters last year's WAC champ, Mike Childress of CSU. Childress is pulling down caroms at a 14.3 per game rate, second in the league.

The emergence of ASU in the basketball ranks can be seen in team statistics. Coach Ned Wulk's team is first in the loop in team offense (93.3 points per game), rebound percentage (.569) and scoring margin (12.9 points on the plus side).

Arizona State won the Motor City Classic over the holidays over host team Detroit and Stovall was named the Outstanding Player of the tourney.

Other individuals around the league have gotten off to fast starts.

New Mexico center Willie Long continues to hold the scoring lead with 22.2 point average. Long also is tied for third in field goal percentage, tied for fifth in rebounding average and ninth in free throw accuracy.

Mike Newlin, the WAC scoring champion the last two seasons from Utah, ranks second to Long this season with a 20.9-point index after 10 games. Newlin continues to climb in the WAC career

A view from the bench

After last night's Western Athletic Conference league opener, one thing is clear.

And that is simply that nothing is clear in the wacky WAC.

Once again there is no clear cut favorite for the loop title, there is no overwhelming power, there is no really weak team and there are some highly talented ball players on some excellent squads.

Arizona State coach Ned Wulk said there can be no favorite this year, the league has too much balance. When pressed though, he will admit that his Sun Devils can play with anybody.

Although Wulk won't make a pick, this observer will.

On paper, at least, New Mexico's rough Lobos appear to be the class of the WAC. They only return two players of note — the gifted ALL-WAC center Willie Long and the superb pointman Petie Gibson.

Lobo coach Bob King has come up with no less than five ballplayers who measure in the 6-7 vicinity. Of special interest are junior college transfer Mike Faulkner and sophomore John Mulligan.

The New Mexico bunch has the kiss of death going against them, though, since the various coaches picked them to win the conference crown. For example, Arizona was picked to win last year, but finished out of the money.

But the Wildcats have as good a shot at the title as anybody this year, IF . . . For openers the dissension that wrecked last year's squad will have to be averted. Indications are that it hasn't been, on the contrary it has been intensified.

It may be head coach Bruce Larson's last year at Tucson anyway, the rumor mill has him headed toward Brigham Young University with Stan Watts stepping down for health reasons.

And the Cougars could very well be the surprise of the conference if they are able to concentrate on basketball while on the road. They have not been overly impressive in chalking up an 8-4 mark, but they will undoubtedly be heard from.

BYU's neighbor to the north, Utah, had been tabbed as co-favorites along with the Lobos. In a departure from normal procedure, coach Jack Gardner took his Redskins on the road in preseason play. They stumbled back from the Quaker City Tournament in Philadelphia dragging a 4-6 record.

Unfortunately for the rest of the league, Gardner still has Mike Newling, Ken Gardner, Jim Mahler and Early Laster to call on and that spells trouble.

Texas-El Paso, (5-4) may be the only team this year that doesn't have the real good shot at the crown. They took honors last year behind Nate Archibald and Co., but just don't seem to have the manpower or height to cope with some of the other powers.

Bob Boyd, whose USC Trojans have beaten BYU, ASU, UTEP and Utah this year, labels the Miners as the best of the WAC. Colorado State, the Sun Devils' foe tomorrow night in Fort Collins, has developed into one of the real powers in the country. They have been rated as high as 15th and were undefeated until an achilles tendon injury shelved leading scorer Rick Fisher and they proceeded to lose the last two games.

Wyoming's Cowboys are bigger, slower and not as tough as previous teams. They haven't impressed anyone, including coach Bill Strannigan who doesn't hide his displeasure.

And then of course there are the Sun Devils. Nobody has picked A-State for anything above third. I wouldn't bet against them taking all the marbles, maybe even a championship.

There is no question they have the talent, the enthusiasm and something no other team has — Paul Stovall.

With the fans flocking back to Sun Devil Gym again, Arizona State will be an unfriendly place to visit. Last year the Devils' lair was often as quiet as a night in Tombstone.

Nevertheless the streaking Sun Devils have been impressive and could continue to be.

It will be a fascinating race.

scoring presently ranking eighth with 1,480 points.

By the end of January, Newlin may have climbed as high as second behind former Wyoming great Flynn Robinson.

Eddie Trail, Newlin's sophomore teammate, led the WAC in free throw shooting with a brilliant 88.6 per cent. Another sophomore, John Johnson of New Mexico, is a close second with 87.8 percent.

Free throw percentage is one area that ASU has not been successful. The team ranks next to last in the eight-team WAC with a .670 per cent and no one on the squad has cracked the top 10 individually.

Unusual material in Hayden Library

handling to ensure its preservation for future researchers." Valuable material in the room includes the 200-volume collection of "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," printed in 10 languages including Persian, Russian and Japanese.

"The 'Rubaiyat' is universal. Our books represent the ways people through the years have felt the work should be presented to the people," Johnson said.

The earliest date represented in the collection is a copy of "Lives of the Philosophers" printed in Venice in 1475.

"The Special Collections' way of thinking is a totally different concept from that of ordinary library thinking," Johnson said.

"Usual library procedure is to try to obtain as many books as possible. We don't try for volume—we deal with those things which are aesthetically pleasing.

"Many of the books in the room have been gathered because they are beautifully drawn or have beautiful or unusual bindings," he said.

Seven hornbooks dating from 1600 to about 1750 are the most unusual objects in the room, Johnson said.

"Our white hornbook made out of ivory for the children of a nobleman is outstanding," he said.

The transition from handsomely-bound books to little boxes of microfilm is made by going down two flights to the Library's first level.

The microfilm collection contains a complete set of The New York Times dating from September 1851, the London Times from January 1785 and the Wall Street Journal from January 1889.

The microfilm collection also contains Russian, Chinese and Japanese newspapers.

A large section of the microfilm area is devoted to the Educational Resources Information Center, called ERIC by the microfilm staff.

"ERIC is a resource bank for everything pertaining to education," graduate assistant Steve Cearfoss said. "It's put out by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. ERIC is a file of educational materials concerning minority reports, Black and Chicano studies, teaching methods and so on. The file is immense."

Also in the collection is a large file on "Jeffersonian Americana."

"This file contains information on everybody who was anybody at the time," said Cearfoss.

"There are all kinds of fascinating tidbits of American history of the Jefferson period."

The oldest records on microfilm are "Hansard's Parliamentary Debates dating from 1066 to 1918, Cearfoss said.

Also among the collections' works are the archives of the Nazi party from 1933 to 1945, which were captured by the allied armies, and the headquarters' papers of the British army in America.

Microfilm librarian Lois Schneberger said the section is in the process of cataloging its map collection.

"We have 25,000 to 30,000 maps," she said. "We are making use of the computer and we have a computer-produced catalog for the collection."

"The mainstay of the collection is topographic coverage of the United States and we hope to expand that to world coverage," she said.

Experimental math class plans computer dating party

By JOHN RUKKILA

A February computer dating party with live entertainment, catered food and much frivolity is the plan of a student project in an experimental math class, said math professor Dr. Alan Feldstein.

Six students in Dr. Feldstein's class wrote the computer dating program and have planned the party for 125 men and 125 women. The party will be at 8 p.m. Feb 5 in the MU. A-216 on the second floor of the math building.

After a ticket is purchased this dating game is uniquely different from any other. The ticket holder is directed to the computer terminal in the basement of the math building where a supervisor ushers him to a seat at a time sharing terminal connected to an unseen computer.

There are no forms to fill out. The terminal with its typewriter keyboard and printout sheet is where all the questions are asked.

The supervisor punches a button and the prospective dater then corresponds directly with the computer through the terminal.

The computer prints out a welcome statement and then explains that its object is to ask a series of questions, the answers to which it will match and sort for compatibility characteristics to find ideal partners.

Next the computer gives an explanation and examples of how it can be communicated with by simply typing the numbers 1 and 2 on the terminal keyboard.

When the dater is confident that he can respond to the computer questions the supervisor pushes a button and leaves the room. Next the dater types his social security number for confidential identification and the computer proceeds to type out questions.

At the end of the questions, the computer explains it will review the answers along with similar details from other respondents and choose the one person it thinks would most interest the dater.

In closing, the computer extends an invitation to its party where all the selections will be revealed and "a good time will be had by all."

The dater tears off and keeps the printout sheet with the questions. Hopefully everybody comes to the party so that no one ends up with just another social security number.
