Loan delays bus service

By DEAN BAKER

The "Bug Line", which was to start operation late last month or early this month has found a "bug" in its system. Operation will not begin for at least another three weeks, said Ed Sears, co-ordinator of the bus service.

The bus line has been delayed for the past month waiting for approval of a $15,000 loan from the Valley National Bank.

Sears said, "They (Valley Bank) still need to know one or two things before they approve the loan."

He said the bank wanted to make sure the "Bug Line" would be able to receive emergency funds from the City of Phoenix if the service could not repay its loan.

Sears said Phoenix was expected to make a decision on the matter before closing Wednesday.

"Bug Line" will serve students from ASU, Phoenix College and high schools along the bus route who want to avoid the problem of finding a parking space on campus, John Balfour said.

'Bug Line' from Phoenix to ASU

The service will leave both Christown and the University at 6:30 a.m., 7:30 a.m., 8:30 a.m., noon, 1 p.m., 5:30 p.m. and 9:40 p.m. every school day.

Balfour and Sears started work on the "Bug Line" idea last spring after studying a similar venture which succeeded in San Diego.

Operating costs for the first year are expected to reach $58,000. The cost of the two buses is an additional $22,000, said Balfour.

Phoenix gave $5,000 to "Bug Line" during the summer to help start the service. Associated Students has made arrangements with "Bug Line" to pay the bus service's initial costs in publicity in exchange for six months use of a bulliten board to be placed in each bus.

Students will be allowed to park their cars at shopping centers on the bus route, Balfour said.

"We have unlimited parking facilities in the southwest portion of Christown," Balfour said. Arrangements with Tower Plaza and Los Arcos also have been made for student parking.

No arrangements for parking have been made at Park Central and Thomas Mall.

The buses will make 13 stops on each trip. Balfour said the stops would be at Bethany Home Road and 19th Avenue, Thomas Road and 19th Avenue, along Thomas stopping at 15th Avenue, Central, 12th Street, 24th Street, 32nd Street, 38th Street, 44th Street, 56 Street and Scottsdale Road.

The "Bug Line" will travel on Scottsdale Road stopping at McDowell Road, Currie Road and finally at the University (Forest and 11th Street).

"Bug Line" earns its money through advertising. Students can ride the bus for free.

By BARRY HOCHFELDER

The Student Affairs Committee of the ASU Senate will continue its fight to change Arizona Board of Regents policy prohibiting the campus distribution of birth control, a representative said yesterday.

"The committee is not going to give up on it if the regents don't make a decision. We're just going to keep hammering into their heads that this is what we want," said Peggy Kurcaba, Liberal Arts Senator.

An unidentified regent told the committee, the board will probably table the issue and stand on its earlier decision to ban dispensation of birth control materials on Arizona university campuses.

Kurcaba said the committee plans to have discussions and films dealing with birth control and run a survey of student attitudes concerning birth control.

Petitions favoring the dispensing of contraceptives on campus have been circulated and will be sent to the regents Friday.

The regents will also be sent the ASASU Senate resolution urging the regents to reconsider their earlier ruling as well as letters from local agencies which Kurcaba declined to name.

The committee contacted the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) about possible legal aid but the agency said it would not handle the issue, Kurcaba said.

The next open regents' meeting is Oct 20 and the committee plans to present its case then, if allowed to do so.

Kurcaba said the committee plans a program operated by Planned Parenthood if facilities can be obtained.

"We're pretty sure we can get them," she said.

WEATHER

Forecast for the greater Phoenix area: Continued sunny today with a slight cooling trend and a chance of some high cloudiness. High today in the low 90's, low tonight in the low 60's.

World View

Nixon holds press conference

Vice President Spiro Agnew should be presumed innocent and shouldn't be tried in the press declared President Nixon in a press conference yesterday.

Nixon also said he will go to Europe in three or four months, and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will travel to China Oct. 26-29.

In his third press conference in five weeks, the President also said Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky should reconsider his decision to close special transit facilities for Jews leaving the Soviet Union. "We simply cannot have governments, small or large, give in to international blackmail by terrorist groups," Nixon said.

Segretti says he engineered sabotage

Donald H. Segretti testified before the Senate Watergate Committee yesterday that he engineered campaign sabotage against Democratic presidential candidates in half a dozen states.

Segretti said he received his orders from White House aide Dwight Chapin, but as far as he knew, President Nixon had no knowledge of the activities. He said his work included forged campaign literature, false press releases, phony newspaper advertisements, stink bombs, pickets and undercover agents who impersonated newsmen.

Judge warns jurors about news leaks

U.S. District Court Judge Walter Hoffman warned the federal grand jury investigating Vice President Agnew to disregard news stories about the inquiry because they "frequently are wholly or partially inaccurate."

Hoffman called the jurors to the public hearing yesterday after conferring privately for an hour and a half with Agnew's lawyers and the Justice Department.

Hoffman also gave the vice president's lawyers authority to subpoena Justice Department officials, newsmen and anyone else they feel could give them information on news leaks.

Parking problems

ASASU forms committee

A student committee, to study proposals for improving the parking problem at ASU, is being formed by Mike Arruda, Associated Students administrative vice president.

Arruda said he hopes the committee will be able to start meeting next week.

The student parking committee will work with the University parking committee which is now meeting for the second year.

Arruda said his committee will work on its own proposals for parking as well as working with the University committee headed by David Gourley, an ASU associate professor of marketing.

Creating special parking lots for smaller cars is one suggestion Arruda said he would like to see become a reality.

"There have been two master theses written on the subject of parking and they show we can have approximately 376 more parking spaces by just painting new lines creating small car parking," Arruda said.

He said ASASU counted the parking spaces this year and roughly figured there are 7,700 spaces on campus.

Another proposal Arruda hopes to see is a transit system similar to the "Bug Line."

"Bug Line" is a bus system being created by John Balfour and Ed Sears to transport university students from Phoenix to the campus.

Arruda said he would like to see a bus service run from "Sin City" to campus to alleviate student traffic. He also plans to propose a bus system to transport students from outlying parking lots to the center of campus.

"We have a lot more to work with than other schools when it comes to parking," Arruda said. He said students here park a lot closer to campus than they do elsewhere.

Arruda wants his committee to be a sounding board for student complaints.

"We need to concentrate on the students' problems, because that is where most of the flack is coming from," Arruda said.

There are still openings for individuals interested in working on the parking committee. Interested students should contact Arruda, MU 252D.

Arruda said the student parking committee will hold a forum to discuss parking proposals this month.

"Everybody acts on what they feel the student wants and they don't really know," Arruda said. "I just want people to know we're here to help them."

Young voters tighten race

A large number of young voters in Tuesday's Maricopa County Community College District Board election caused a much closer race than expected.

Dwight Patterson, the incumbent, won the election by 320 votes in an unofficial tally. He defeated Scottsdale attorney Theodore C. Jarvi, ASU student Tom Gammill, and Dr. William McCarl a Mesa Community College teacher.

Patterson said it was a very tight race because a lot more young people than expected voted.

Gas station operators threaten to close

By JIM BRALY

Motorists should still be able to buy gasoline, despite a threatened shut down by members of the Central Arizona Service Station Operators Association scheduled to begin Friday.

The association represents about 200 dealers out of approximately 1,000 in the Valley according to Cecil Thompson, president of the association. The dealers, who lease their stations from the major oil companies, are threatening to close in protest to Phase IV economic guidelines that prohibit them from passing on wholesale price increases to the customer.

"I believe that in our area, 90 per cent of the dealers will close. We are fed up with those guys (the government) not allowing us to make a living," Thompson said.

Spokesmen for these independent oil companies said their outlets will remain open despite the threatened shut-down by dealers. This represents about 40 stations in the Phoenix and Tempe area.

Two major oil companies were confident many of their dealers will remain open.

"As of this morning (Wednesday), the reports from our field representatives do not indicate significant numbers of dealer closings are planned. Obviously, the situation is changing every hour, but most stations will maintain normal hours of operation," said John Roundtree, spokesman for Standard Oil Co.

"A few dealers have indicated to us that they will close. We sure don't like it, especially since they do have the gas. It really louses up service to customers," said Al Argo, marketing assistant for Mobil Oil Corp.

Argo said Mobil has eight company-owned stations and about 80 dealer-operated stations in the area. The company-owned stations will definitely be open, he said.

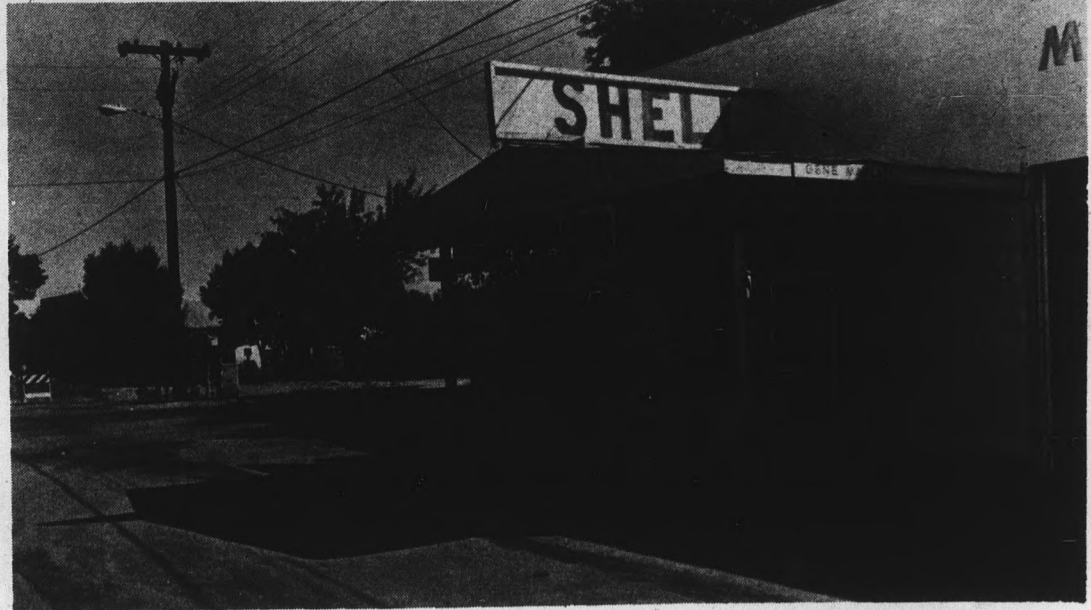

The purpose of the dealers in the Association is to force the government to lift the Phase IV guidelines.

"It (the Association) was formed to try and find some way of staying in business. However, any decision to close a station will be a personal decision by the individual dealers," Thompson said.

"If the government lifts Phase IV, we won't close on Friday. That's the idea of the whole thing," said Mike Dorsey, manager of a dealer-operated Mobil station.

Thompson has been in contact with Congressmen while trying to solve his problem.

"This morning (Wednesday), I talked to U.S. Representatives John Conlan and John Rhodes. They indicated to me they were doing everything they could to get this unfair restriction lifted," Thompson said.

Deserted stations along dusty roads may be more common if the predictions of Cecil Thompson come true. He is the president of the Central Arizona Service Station Operators Association and he says 70 per cent of the dealer-owned stations will go out of business within six months under current price controls.

"Shell Oil Co. told me to expect within the next four to six weeks an increase of four to five cents per gallon in the wholesale price of gasoline. They have the right, by the Cost of Living Council, to pass the increased cost on to us (the dealers). We do not have the right, legally, to pass the increased cost on to the customer," Thompson said.

"My prediction is that 70 per cent of dealer-operated service stations will be forced out of business within six months if Phase IV is not lifted," Thompson said.

SDX meets for election, dedications

ASU student chapter of Sigma Delta Chi (SDX), a professional journalism society, will meet at 12:40 p.m. Friday in the conference room of the Stauffer Communications Arts building.

Election and initiation of new members will be discussed at this meeting. Also to be discussed will be the dedication of the Stauffer building, and the part SDX will play in the dedication.

Planning

A program that would greatly benefit the University is now under the consideration of the deans and department chairmen of ASU. It is an interdisciplinary program giving a person a background in an area of need-planning.

Planning is at last being recognized as a necessity for controlled city and regional growth. To be well qualified in this field takes a broad background with understanding in many fields.

The planning emphasis program would list classes in related areas relevant to the person interested in planning.

The student would still receive a major in the field he is most interested in, but it is proposed that, after completing the extra classes, he will receive some kind of certificate recognizing him as having completed work in the planning area.

The planning studies would be drawn from classes already available at the University so money for the program would be minimal.

The program, set up under a center here on campus could serve as a voice for the University when it came to planning matters and problems of the environment.

And members of the community could look to the center for help when they have planning difficulties.

The planning program could also serve as a valuable model for other possible interdisciplinary programs.

People who only take classes in one discipline find themselves with tunnel vision of the world around them.

More interdisciplinary courses could help this situation.

This program is only a start of what could be a whole field of interdisciplinary studies that would add a new and needed facet to ASU life.

Letters

To who it may concern:
The following are the general objectives of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War organization in response to a State Press article about the organization on Oct. 2.

I realize that some of the objectives have been obtained partially (troop withdrawal in Article I) for instance. But there are still CIA, ambassadors and U.S. banking and business interests supporting South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand. The Pentagon assumes it has a right by international rule of law to intervene to preserve U.S. business interests at the expense of repressing a legitimate social reform movement by the majority of the peoples in S.E. Asia.

The congress did not declare war and the Pentagon along with the executive have broken the U.N. Charter. The executive branch along with international bankers and businessmen on Wall Street along with the Pentagon have taken the decision making on foreign policy away from the people and congress (particularly the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.)

1. To demand an immediate cessation of fighting and the withdrawal of all American troops, planes, and military and economic aid from Southeast Asia. We support as a basis for the cessation of these hostilities the various peace proposals of the People of Southeast Asia or such future plans as they develop based upon their right of self-determination and actual control of their own destinies.
2. To demand the immediate termination of all other operations by the U.S. Government, its agencies, and American business interests that are designed to suppress the rightful struggles for liberation and self-determination of the Peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America.

This includes the maintenance of dictatorial governments, economic domination, and the theft of the natural resources of other countries. The U.S. should make reparations in a program acceptable to the majority of the Indochinese people, for all the damage done by the U.S.

3. To demand that all active-duty serviceman and women, reservists and national guardsmen be afforded the same rights that are guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights that are presently denied by the Uniform Code of Military Justice. We endorse the efforts of our active-duty sister and brothers in their struggle to democratize the military.

4. To support all military personnel refusing to serve against their consciences in wars at home and abroad. We demand that Congress enact legislation for the repatriation of those brother and sisters who are in prison or in self-exile by reason of their refusal to serve in the unjust wars waged by the Pentagon this decade.

5. To demand there be no distinction as types of discharges and that a single type of discharge be issued, and that this be retractive. We also demand all veterans receive all rights and benefits under the VA; and that compensation for disabilities be based solely upon the degree of disability for veterans and their families, without regard to sex, race, rank or length of service.

6. To make clear that the U.S. has never undertaken an extensive, open investigation of American war crimes in Indochina. In its (illegal) war in Indochina, the principles of Nuremburg have been violated. As active duty and former GIs, we recognize that the responsibility and guilt of war crimes committed in the name of the Pentagon lies with ourselves and foreign policy makers at all levels from the National Security Council of the Executive Branch on down.

7. Resolved to fight racism, to show Americans that our society is permeated by racism, which is due to the mediocre cultural philosophy in our educational institutions. We demand that the U.S. Military recognize its complicity in domestic racism and at the international level towards the Third World Peoples.

8. Resolved to fight the treatment of the women in the military and in civilian jobs.

9. We support the democratic right of Americans to organize and strike to protect their income and safeguard their employment. We consider all legislation designed to suppress these rights, including mandatory arbitration, to be illegal and not in their interests of the American working people. We refuse to participate in the efforts being made to separate us from other working people, making veterans enemies by giving us the charade of employment priority. We condemn this a method of encouraging enlistment by the false promise of employment after service.

We also condemn the use of active-duty GIs, Reservists, and National Guardsmen as strikebreakers.

10. To dedicate ourselves to these general principles and objectives which directly relate to the imperialist economic and political suppression of the Under-developed Peoples (third world) by the U.S. and its sisters in Imperialism, the U.S.S.R. and Capitalist Europe.

At Music Theatre Idealism renounced for love

By CAROL PYNE

Romantic love, the military, and the status quo are spoofed in Gilbert and Sullivan's comedic opera, "Patience," performed by the Lyric Opera Theatre at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday in the Music Theatre.

The story centers on the tangled romantic life of a naive young dairy maid, Patience, who is "a real dingbat," according to Dr. Kenneth Seipp, Lyric Opera orchestra conductor.

Patience falls in love with a supposedly perfect idyllic poet 'Archiblad Grosvenor' but believes that her love for him is self-satisfying, rather than righteously self-sacrificing. Therefore, to sacrifice herself, she plans to marry a lascivious slob named Reginald Bunthorne.

Bunthorne manages to convince Patience that he, also, is perfect, which places her in a quandry until Grosvenor renounces his idealism and becomes an ordinary, imperfect and marriageable fellow.

John Stone Porter, the director of "Patience," emphasizes that this opera and its characters were "never intended to be taken seriously." Porter said, "Patience," is the nastiest of the Gilbert and Sullivan shows in the way that it rips apart human beings and the facades we like to put on ourselves."

People who don't ordinarily enjoy opera would probably be fond of "Patience" said Seipp. "Most people have gotten burned and turned off to opera because so many operas are written in foreign languages and because many productions cast singers without regard to their acting abilities," he said.

Marsha Hunter, of Phoenix, will be featured in the role of the dairy maid. The poet boyfriends will be Forrest Bachtel as Bunthorne and Thomas McCrossan as Grosvenor.

Other performances of "Patience" will be on October 10 and October 12-14. Tickets information is available at the Music Theatre box office, 965-3398.

Legislative internships offered for spring term

The Arizona Legislature and ASU are now accepting applications for the 1974 Legislative Internship program.

Twenty students from ASU, NAU, UofA, Grand Canyon College and Prescott College will be selected for the program to work in an office of either the Senate or the House of Representatives for the 1974 session.

Each intern will receive academic credit and a $1,000 stipend from the Legislature for the session, lasting January through May.

Any candidate for a Bachelor's or Master's degree at ASU who has completed all lower division requirements and most upper division requirements is eligible to apply.

Preference will be given to those who have demonstrated academic competence, an interest in Arizona Government and have majored in political science, government, public administration, economics, planning, history, geography, mass communications, sociology, psychology, business administration, education, law or English.

Interested students should pick up applications from the campus coordinator Dr. Duncan Patten, in Adm 203, and return them no later than Oct. 20.

Applications will be screened by Dr. Patten and final selection made by the Legislative Selection Committee, comprised of state legislators and staff.

Game parking fees pay lot attendants

Parking decals are invalid during football games in order to provide funds to support the cost of providing parking for the public, according to Dean Mousser, University Comptroller.

Football parking fees provide the University $12,000 to $15,000 per year. This money is used to pay for lot attendants and maintenance of the access roads, Mousser said.

"If any profit is made off of the football parking fees, it goes to a general University parking fund," Mousser said.

Students with "R" decals park near the stadium during the week and walk to classes, yet, they have to pay 50 cents for the same parking place during football games.

Mousser said the policy of charging everyone for parking during the game was established so the cost of attendants and access road maintenance wouldn't come out of general University funds.

The Tempe Junior Chamber of Commerce is contracted to provide the lot attendants, and the cost of maintaining the access roads accounts for the rest of the money, Mousser said.

"The roads in the Salt River bottom are dirt and they are hard to maintain. They must be regraded periodically," Mousser said.

Mousser said it is easier to park farther away from the stadium and walk to avoid the traffic.

"Anyone who doesn't want to park close for 50 cents can park farther away for free," Mousser said.

'A' Club hosts picnic at Tempe

"A" Club has officially declared Oct. 1-5 as "A" Club week. The Women's Physical Education service organization will host a picnic and membership drive at 4:30 p.m. today in Daley Park.

All physical education majors are invited to attend.

No penalty class drop ends Friday

Friday is the final day students will be able to drop classes without penalty for this semester.

To drop a course, students should obtain the proper forms from the Office of the Registrar in the Moer administration building.

Failure to officially withdraw from a course will result in a grade of 'E,' which will be computed in the student's grade point average.

Ex-student cashes in waste paper

Ecology and prosperity seem to be opposing issues to environmentalists.

The opposite is true for Scott Burns, a former ASU student now attending Mesa Community College.

Scott, 21, is turning waste paper into money, at the rate of $20 per ton.

Collection of old newspapers from about 50 homes and one apartment complex, plus all of the waste paper from ASU's Hayden Library provides Scott with anywhere from two to five tons of paper four times a week, according to his calculations.

According to Lois Schneberger, Special Services Librarian at Hayden Library, all the waste paper that would normally go to the dump, such as newspapers, ledgers and computer printout waste are saved for Scott to pick up, free of charge. This saves ASU the cost of disposing of them and allows Scott to make a well-earned profit.

"It's for my own prospering, but also for ecology," Scott said. "Over 50 per cent of all waste in this country is paper, and we need to clean it up."

Processing of waste paper can be done through two places in the Phoenix Valley: Consolidated Fibers, which ships all of its paper to Japan; or Ecology Papers, which ships its paper to California for processing. Scott deals with the latter in order to keep the paper in the country to combat the shortage.

Sun Imps oppose Wolfpups Saturday

The Sun Imps, ASU's freshman football team will meet New Mexico's frosh, the Wolfpups, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Sun Devil Stadium.

The game is being co-sponsored by the ASU Student Foundation and Tempe Diablos. A one dollar admission fee will be donated to the ASU intramural program.

The Sun Imps are returning to action for the first time since a 23-13 loss to Glendale Community College four weeks ago.

Head coach Bill Kajikawa said there is much difficulty preparing for freshman games because there is little information available about the opposition.

"We know very little about their personnel," Kajikawa said. "All we can do is run the films of their varsity team. Freshman teams are usually mot as of the varsity."

The certainty of players available for the game is not definite, since some of them will travel with the Sun Devil varsity to New Mexico.

"Everything is pretty fluid right now between the varsity and our squad, but I probably won't know exactly who I have until Friday," Kajikawa said.

The Imps shouldn't have any problem filling the quarterback slot. They have seven quarterbacks currently listed on their roster.

Tim Duffy, a 6-2, 185 pounder from Livermore, Calif. holds a slight edge over other quarterback hopefuls, Kajikawa said.

Trading duties at running back spots will be Stan Robinson, Darrel Moore and Fred Darrel.

The Sun Imps have three games remaining after New Mexico. Scottsdale Community, U of A and Mesa Community College.

The schedule is short in order to aid the freshman players adjust to university life, and proximity of opponents is also a factor, Kajikawa said.

"The objectives of the freshman football program are to instill tradition in the athlete, orient him to university life, and to teach him the fundamentals of the game," Kajikawa said.
