More elbowroom on Hill

Dems to help labor, official says

By Mary Connell

The new Democratic administration will give labor leaders more elbowroom on Capitol Hill than at any time in the past eight years, said a top U.S. labor leader.

Jerry Wurf, international president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), said any change from recent Republican presidents would be an improvement for labor.

AFSCME, the fastest growing and third largest union in the country, represents more than 4,000 Arizonans and more than one million Americans.

Wurf has been mentioned as a possible successor to George Meany as head of the AFL-CIO.

He was interviewed Friday during the Southwest Labor Studies Conference at ASU.

"Oh man, there's no place to go but up," Wurf said. "I have very high regard for Mr. Carter. Our union (members) were very early supporters of Carter."

Lobbyists push

Labor lobbyists are gearing up to push their shopping list of demands on the President and a Democratic Congress elected with a mandate to be friendly and fair to labor, Wurf said.

"Obviously he (Carter) doesn't expect us to be stooges for everything that he puts forward and we on the other hand will not accept blandly anything that he puts forward," Wurf said.

"But we certainly expect, and no doubt will get, a larger measure of concern, equity and justice from the administration headed by Carter, than we would from one by Nixon or Ford."

Labor's most explosive legislative goal, repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act permitting states to ban compulsory union membership, has good chances of passing Congress, Wurf said.

"Many members of Congress are committed to it (repealing the right to work law), and the President is committed (by campaign promise) to signing it," Wurf said.

Arizona prohibits requirement

Arizona is among 20 states that prohibit requirements that workers join unions as a condition of holding their jobs.

Wurf said he supports Meany's efforts to increase the minimum hourly wage from $2.30 to $3.00, broadening the union's right to strike, and a comprehensive national health insurance program.

The insurance program is very valuable, he said, but may run into difficulties in Congress.

"We're quite concerned about national health insurance, but not only as it effects individuals who need health care," Wurf said. "About 150,000 members of our union work in public hospitals and a change in health care would have a very serious effect upon their futures."

Carter's economic stimulus plan has some valuable points, but the plan should commit more money, Wurf said.

Debate with Vance

"I debated this point with (Carter's) budget director (Cyrus) Vance on TV some time ago," he said. "I feel the components of the plan are quite good, but the amounts really ought to be drastically increased."

Tactics used by the Teamsters Union, competing with the AFL-CIO in organizing workers cannot continue, Wurf said.

"I wouldn't say they use mobster tactics; that's a pretty strong statement," Wurf said. "Their tactics have a measure of success and a measure of failure, but it's clear that there is a perception going up about them for which they'll soon pay a high price."

Action by union members and stricter law enforcement are the only ways to clean up unions using mobster tactics, Wurf said.

"The members have to clean it up," he said. "The law has to act against them the way it acts against every member of our society who doesn't conform to law."

Wants teamster competition

Wurf said he wished the AFL-CIO would compete more with the Teamsters, who currently are organizing casino workers in Nevada, police forces in Wisconsin, and other previously nonunionized worker groups.

The AFL-CIO ought to do more about organizing, and when they do, they'll be dealing effectively with the Teamsters."

Workers in AFSCME have more difficulty getting wage hikes than other union members because raises for public employees cause higher taxes, Wurf said.

"We present them (the taxpayers) with the facts and hope that fairness and reasonableness will prevail," Wurf said.

Tax system unfair

"The taxpayers have got to learn first of all that the tax system is unfair and that those who pay the most frequently get the least," he added.

"When taxpayers begin to understand that they're being ripped off as are public employees, I think we'll get a (larger) measure of equity."

Asked if unions have lost their clout as compared to the past, Wurf said, "It's hard to say. You know, it's like saying to a man 'How's your virility?'

"But unions have an impact on our society that varies with the quality and nature of the society," he added. "Unions could have more clout and should have more clout if they were better organized."

Graduate seeks $600,000 in suit against Saga Food

By Jeffrey Chew

Lanny Hair said he only drank about six cups of coffee at the MU in his three years at the University.

The last of those six cups put Hair in the hospital two years ago. The cup he drank at the Sidewalk Cafe was filled with lye — used as coffee pot cleaner.

Hair filed suit seeking at least $600,000 in damages against Saga Food Services, the MU's food concessionaire.

A 1975 graduate with a degree in insurance, Hair runs his own insurance business in Phoenix.

Drinking the lye ate away the valve between his stomach and esophagus, Hair said. He now must avoid bending over and carefully limits his diet.

He said he believed that what he poured from the urn was nothing more than coffee.

"I thought it was a cup of coffee and I found out later it wasn't coffee," Hair said.

"It looked like coffee because the residue was picked up off the side of the tank. I couldn't tell them apart by looking at them. There was no sign on the coffee urn at the time to tell me it wasn't in use."

John Kugler, Saga Food Service director, said he did not know if the coffee urn Hair drank from contained the coffee pot cleaner.

Kugler said, "We usually put up a sign saying 'Do Not Use.' I really don't know if there was a sign or not."

"I haven't even seen a copy of the suit yet," he added.

"An agent of our insurance company (Marsh and McLennan Inc.) in Phoenix, Employer Insurance of Wausau, is handling the suit," Kugler said.

Bill Swick, claims director for Employer Insurance of Wausau, said, "I cannot make any comment at this time. It's company policy not to comment on a pending lawsuit."

Hair said he delayed filing suit because he hoped to get a settlement from Saga's insurance company.

"They forced me into litigation," he said.

"I can no longer drink alcoholic beverages and can't drink carbonated beverages with caffeine because my stomach chemistry can't handle it any more," Hair said.

"I can't bend over or sleep in a regular bed. The bed has to be elevated at the head. I also have to eat 5 small meals a day and can't eat any large meals."

"I used to work on a professional racing crew and had to quit that because I can no longer bend over or I'll throw up," he added.

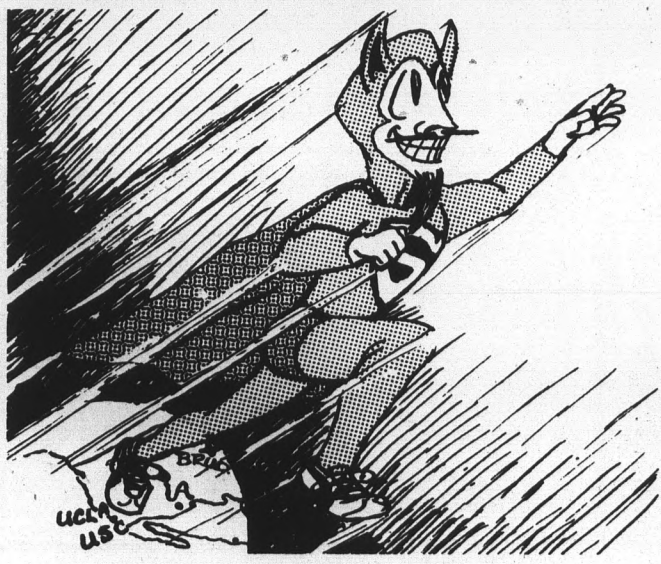

Hair remembered his experience the night he drank the cleaner.

"I got a hell of a bad taste in my mouth and I threw up on the way to the Health Center at ASU," he said. "They gave me an antidote at the Health Center and then on the way home I threw up the antidote."

Hair said he called the Health Center after arriving at home and the center referred him to John C. Lincoln Hospital.

BREAK-IN CAUSES BUGGING SEARCH

PHOENIX — The Arizona Corporation Commission called in the Department of Public Safety Monday to search commission offices for listening devices. Files were inventoried in the Securities and Incorporating divisions to determine whether any were lost, said commissioner Jim Weeks.

ERA backers to hold rallies to gain legislative sympathy

Arizona backers of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) hope rallies over the next several weeks will convince a largely unsympathetic state legislature of the measure's public support.

Several groups have united to pressure lawmakers into supporting the amendment through a mass movement to educate the public.

The amendment was defeated last spring by the House, despite Republican party surveys which indicated 63 per cent of the public favored the ERA.

Supporters also hope to combat the efforts of anti-ERA groups in Arizona and throughout the country which have threatened the amendment's passage.

The ERA is now before the Senate Judiciary Committee but will not be on the agenda for several weeks. Chances for passage appear slim.

ERA supporters will continue to pressure legislators, Paula Savich, a spokeswoman for the Young Socialist's Alliance said Saturday.

Savich was one of the ERA supporters who spoke at the rally Saturday at the state capitol.

March 6 was proclaimed ERA Day by the Phoenix City Council last week. A fluctuating crowd of 300 people attended the rally sponsored by Feminists United For Action (FUFU), an ASU group.

The demonstrators circled the lawn in front of the buildings with signs, but their chants fell on an almost empty building, since most of the workers had the day off.

Anne Russo, director of FUFU, said she was pleased by the large turnout at the rally, especially since the group had only been formed a month ago. FUFU's first demonstration was to protest Justice William Rehnquist when he spoke at ASU last month.

"We want to show our disgust and disappointment in the Supreme Court decisions concerning maternity rights and abortion," she said.

Russo said ERA groups are striving to get sympathetic legislators in office.

"Legislators in Arizona have been unresponsive to overwhelming support of the ERA in Arizona," she said.

"These demonstrations may embarrass the legislators, but they should be embarrassed," Savich said. "We supported them and they turned and stabbed us in the back."

The ERA must be ratified by three more states before March 1979 before it goes into effect.

"Time is crucial," Russo said.

"Anti-ERA forces are very well organized all over the country."

She said teach-ins and rallies are necessary to educate many people who do not understand the amendment, or who are being misled by "absurd arguments."

"As long as we remain silent, anti-groups have an open field to spread lies about what the ERA means. We can't afford to give an inch," Savich said.

Savich accused the legislators of being controlled by politically influential corporations in the state.

"The legislators in this state are controlled by political parties that are controlled by wealthy bankers and businessmen," she said.

Harry Braun, representing the Society for a New Earth at the rally, an environmental group, said the tremendous corporate power that is exploiting the earth is also responsible for the delay of equal rights for women.

Student facility

With college athletics becoming increasingly dependent and autonomous from the center of college life, the need for student and faculty recreational programs is growing more and more apparent.

Recreation and exercise are becoming more popular, as sport for the consumer is growing in leaps and bounds.

But ASU is suffering during this fitness explosion because it lacks an adequate sports facility. Forget Sun Devil Stadium, the Activity Center, Packard Stadium or Joe Selleh Track. They are for the "professional" athletes on campus and their use by students is reserved for spectating.

Down at the UA, students have taken the problem of no student facilities into their own hands.

Last spring after a special vote, UA students okayed the request for a special $10 student fee to go towards the building of a recreation complex. The original fee was $10, but price estimates for the facility increased to a total cost of about $8.2 million. In the next few weeks, UA students will be asked to vote again on the fee — this time $16 instead of $10.

But the price increase is of little consequence, as the important point is UA students have pursued an extremely worthwhile project.

News around campus reports that a special committee is being set up to investigate the possibility of ASU landing a rec complex.

If those reports are true, the persons responsible deserve a large measure of credit for their insight and willingness to work for something desperately needed.

As college athletics continue to grow in a gross and uncurbed manner, the student is being ignored in the push for physical fitness.

A comprehensive facility including swimming, handball, gym, etc., would be part of the answer in slowing the spiraling growth of college athletics, by focusing more attention on the student's needs and away from those of the overfed athletic department.

Parking mess

All of you who have had hassles with parking at ASU can vent your hostilities at 1:00 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the MU Coconino Room when the special Ad Hoc Parking Committee presents its new parking plan for ASU.

Members of the committee will be there to answer questions from students. Students should attend so they can better understand the parking mess already evident on campus, and the plans to help correct the problem.

Also, the committee is still open to suggestions to improve the parking situation, and this is the student's chance to finally meet "the administration" head on. For your own edification concerning the problems of parking at ASU, it would be wise to attend.

Porn bad to pompous

Editor:

The letter authored by Stephen Schack and Presley Surratt concerning Hustler magazine deserves closer examination.

The charges presented are ridiculous. At one point Schack and Surratt ask: "So what is to save us from the onslaught of even more humanly demeaning and obnoxious materials?" My answer is obvious: Don't read magazines of the caliber of Hustler. The remark that pornographic material may "create an atmosphere of anarchy" is so farcical it doesn't even warrant a rebuttal.

Finally, to beseech the masses, they claim that if publications like Hustler are permitted to exist, "our society will continue to drift into the grips of a savage neo-barbarism." Come, come now, Schack and Surratt, if such an allegation reflects the truth in even the slightest manner why is the world striving for arms limitation and the like rather than tackling this horrible pornography?

The reason being that pornography is an earth-shattering dilemma only to those self-righteous souls who relish in seeing how pompous they can project themselves to be.

Thanks to State Press

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the State Press. In light of all the recent criticisms by the State Press of the athletic department and ASU sports in general, I would like to borrow some print space for thanks.

The State Press has unfailingly covered the activities of our team, reported them truly and quickly, and constantly provided the school and those interested with the information of the events of this athletic team.

We are currently ranked third in the nation, first in the WAC conference, and have nine nationally (top ten) ranked members on our team. We are proud to compete for the ASU emblem and do so with as much academic and athletic zeal that we can.

Again, State Press, thanks for taking the incentive to cover and publicize all our meets, providing enlightening interviews of the winningest team on this campus.

Hustler not responsible for morals breakdown

Editor:

It is difficult to believe that anybody could actually think that Hustler magazine is capable of "inaugurating the beginning of the end for civilization." However, Stephen Schack and Presley Surratt are evidently quite absolute in their opinion.

They imply that Hustler, and other pornographic materials, are responsible for breaking down the moral barriers in our country. Well, regardless of the circulation such materials may have, it is ridiculous to think that our moral barriers have been breaking down only since such materials were born.

Morals, and the pressures to conform to them, exist because there are always people who don't conform. Moral barriers have been falling for as long as there have been moral barriers.

Morals are not eternally universal — they are developed by, and belong to, those who live by them. Each person's moral structure is unique. Considering the popularity of various pornographic releases, it would appear that there is quite a number of moral structures which permit pornography in our society. Our society created Hustler — Hustler has done nothing to corrupt our society. Pornography is not forced upon us — it is merely made available to us by those who realize that there is a demand for it. Larry Flynt (editor of Hustler) thought he could make a buck with his product; he saw a demand for it.

Schack and Surratt suggest we ask ourselves whether Hustler would have been condoned by society 10 years ago. The answer is obviously that it would not have been condoned — therefore, it did not exist. But its very existence today reveals that there is indeed a place for it in our society — regardless of anybody's utopian ideals.

When Schack and Surratt ask, "What is to save us from the onslaught of even more . . . obnoxious material?", I can't help but think that society has a way of taking care of such things on its own. As long as there is any sort of demand for pornography, it will exist — if there isn't, it won't.

Committee to show slides

Feedback on parking wanted

By Carol Palumbo

The University community will have an opportunity to review recommendations of the Ad Hoc Parking Committee today and tomorrow in the MU Coconino Room.

A slide show, produced by the Parking Committee, will begin at 1 p.m. Also available will be a summary of the committee's report.

The December report recommends a raise in parking decal prices, traffic fines, towing and impoundment of vehicles, and changes in faculty and staff lots.

A free parking lot behind the Activity Center, installation of parking meters and incentives for carpoolers are among other recommendations.

"We are interested in campus-wide feedback on the codes and proposals that will affect the entire University for years, even decades," said Doug McNeal, a member of the Parking Committee.

Robert Fails, a business administration coordinator who heads the Parking Committee, said he has not contemplated possible actions if committee recommendations are rejected.

"It will be up to the administration to decide what to do," Fails said.

Joe King, chairman of the Staff Personnel Committee, said his committee objects to the 500 per cent increase in staff parking fees. The Parking Committee recommended that staff parking fees, currently $5, be increased to $25.

"We realize that something must be done but we feel it should be taken in steps. An increase from $5 to $10 the first year would be more realistic," he said.

Prof. Jerome M. Aronson, chairman of the Faculty Senate

Financial Affairs and Physical Plant Committee, said his committee has not come to any specific conclusions yet but is not too happy with the report.

"We feel the report offers nothing in the way of improvement. The number and location of parking spaces will not be changed and it is doubtful that changing the fee structure and the cost of violations will help solve the problems," he said.

Dr. Ann Hardt, chairman of the University Services committee of the Faculty Senate, said her committee sees the Parking Committee's recommendations as an improvement to the present system.

Her committee has made a number of recommendations that will be put before the Faculty Senate March 21.

Hardt said the recommendations will include a loading zone to be provided near all buildings, because many of the faculty and students must now carry heavy loads from distant parking lots.

Super Sun Devil Saturday was sensational. ASU came out on top in track, baseball and concluded the basketball season with a spectacular win to knock UA out of first place in the WAC.

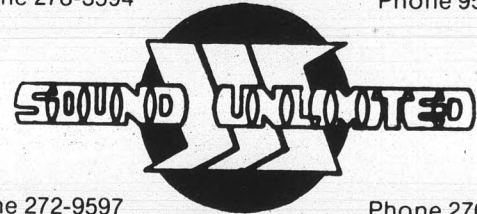

The day got off to a good start with the men's track team beating the five-time national champion UCLA Bruins, 76-69, before a capacity crowd of 5,206 at Sun Angel Stadium.

The afternoon continued with the Sun Devil baseball team beating Southern Cal 8-4 for its 14th victory in 16 games.

The topper was in the Activity Center as a full house watched the Devils win in overtime. Tied 76-76 at the end of regulation play, the noise was deafening as the Devils took control and held on for a 95-89 victory over the discouraged Wildcats.

Dance concert mixed energy and movement

Energy, enthusiasm and a driving force to the brink of exhaustion characterized the splendid performances before a half-filled house at the University Dance Theater's Annual Spring Dance Concert Friday in Gammage Auditorium. The concert featured Variations and Conclusion from "New Dance," with choreography by Doris Humphrey, a former professional dancer.

"New Dance" gave prominence to excellent rhythm, sharp staccato movements, mixed with flowing traces that constantly toyed with the audience's eyes.

Impressive performances included a duet by Joel Kirby and Michele Massoney, concentrating on bold depth and height perceptions that displayed the importance of leg and arm movement in Humphrey's dance theory.

ASU in Saturday sweep

ASU's Super Saturday turned out three impressive victories before record crowds. The Devils led off the afternoon by nipping UCLA in track. The baseball team then followed by beating USC. The basketball team capped off the day with a heart-stopping win over UA.

The Sun Devils defeated the Wildcats in overtime, 95-89, before 14,586 fans, to prevent UA from winning the WAC. The win enabled ASU to record its seventh straight winning season with a 15-13 overall record and 6-8 in the WAC.

Utah defeated BYU, 67-53, Saturday to win the WAC, but UA was still invited to the NCAA tournament as an at-large team and will play in the Mid-West regional against Southern Illinois.

The key to ASU's win was rebounding and free throw shooting. The Devils out-rebounded UA by a whopping 51-36 margin. Mark Landsberger collected 22 rebounds to end the season with a 14.4 average and break the school record of 14.3 rebounds a game held by Tony Cerkenik. The statistic was impressive because UA ranked second in the nation in rebounding.

Free throws were the other important statistic. The Devils shot 21 of 30 free throws while UA only made five of 12 from the line. Each team shot 51 per cent from the field.

Senior "Silky" Holliman scored with 15 seconds left in regulation to tie the score at 76 and put the game in overtime. The Devils then scored 19 points in the overtime to the 'Cats' 13 points, to win the game.

It was the most balanced scoring attack by ASU this season as the Devils had seven men in double figures. Tony Zeno came off the bench to lead all scorers with 20 points, hitting 10 of 16 shots.

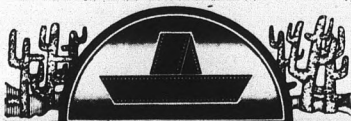

Senior Dulaine Harris, playing in his last game for ASU, hit seven of nine shots. Holliman ended his career by scoring 10 points and handing out 11 assists. Rick Taylor was also hot from the floor as he made six of nine shots for 12 points. Johnny Nash and Blake Taylor also scored 10 points each for ASU.

UA had four men in double figures with Jerome Gladney leading the way with 17 points. Gary Harrison scored 15 points and Phil Taylor and Herm Harris added 14 each.

The Sun Devil baseball team won the three game series with USC by winning Saturday, 8-4. The game was played before the

MU FILM COMMITTEE PRESENTATION

By Joseph M. Berning
Member American Gem Society

FATHOMING THE DEPTHS OF AQUAMARINE

Aquamarine means sea water. What an apt name for the lovely bluish-green to greenish-blue gemstone it describes. Easily found in large, flawless crystals, its very appearance produces a cooling, soothing effect.

During the age of the Roman Empire, aquamarine was considered a reliever of sea sickness and stomach disorders. It was also attributed the power to produce happiness, serenity and purity. Later symbolism attached to it when worn as a birthstone or talisman are the power to quicken the intellect, cure laziness and produce courage.

Just like the sea, the deeper the stone the deeper the color. Aquamarines need to be fairly large to exhibit good color. Many fine stones today are heat-treated to intensify color, and the process is permanent.

Aquamarine is a variety of the mineral beryl. The other important variety of beryl is emerald. Chromium, the element which produces the green color of emerald also produces other characteristics which distinguish the gem from its sister stone. Aquamarine is more abundant in nature than emerald and therefore is less costly.

Various museums display exciting pieces of aquamarine. Some are ancient carved objects. Other famous gems are the 550 carat Prince Murat's Beryl and the Eyan Aquamarine at the Smithsonian Institution. In 1910 a 245 lb. crystal was found in Brazil. The American Museum of Natural History has a 13 lb. uncut piece of the outside portion.

We carry this gemstone at Joseph M. Berning Jewelers. Prices range from $40 to $1000. Our aquamarines are set in rings, earrings, necklaces, etc. If we don't carry what you want, perhaps we can obtain it or even design something to your specifications.

ASU sets 11 marks as UA claims title

The ASU swimmers and divers finished second in the WAC championships in Tucson, behind defending champion Arizona. UA totaled 524 points to ASU's 422, with the rest of the conference far behind.

Eleven school records were set during the three day meet, including a WAC record by Kurt Michelson as he successfully defended his 100-yard breaststroke title with a 58.7. ASU's other swimming champion, freshman Franz Szymanski, won the 200-yard backstroke setting a school record with a 1:54.1.

The ASU divers won both the one-meter and three-meter events. Dan Lasarge won the one-meter event and Tim Stiles took the three-meter board.

Freshman Shannon Varner set two school records, finishing fifth in the 500-yard freestyle and fourth in the 1650-free. Michelson also set a record in the 200-yard breaststroke, finishing fifth.

Blake Johnson set two school records, finishing second in the 400 individual medley and fourth in the 200-yard individual medley.

Tom Townsend broke the school mark with a 50.6 in the 100-yard fly finishing second to a former NCAA champion, Jeff Roland of Utah.

Steve Hardy, a member of the Canadian Olympic Team, set a school record in the 100-yard backstroke when he finished third with a 53.5.

Brian Mosher and Tom Lungard set marks in the sprints. Mosher swam a 1:41.8 in the 200-yard free and Lungard led off the second place 400-free relay with a sizzling 46.1.

All three relays set school marks as the 400-free and 400-medley relays finished second and the 800-free relay finished fourth.

The Sun Devils travel to Cleveland, Ohio in three weeks for the NCAA championships.

Devil takes tourney

Jeremy Cohen, an ASU senior, won the 52nd Annual Arizona Open Tennis Tournament Sunday. This is the third year in a row he has won the singles title.

The tourney was held at the Tucson Racquet and Swim Club.

To reach the finals Cohen defeated ASU teammate Eric Sherbeck 6-7, 6-3, 6-1. In the finals Cohen defeated the No. 1 UA player, Randall Clark, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

The Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association poll has the Sun Devils ranked No. 13 in the nation.

Trinity is ranked No. 1, followed by UCLA, USC, Stanford and Princeton. Arizona was ranked No. 17.

Matmen finish No. 2

The Sun Devil wrestlers, riddled by injuries, finished second to BYU in the WAC championships in Tucson.

Devils Roye Oliver at 150 lbs., Dan Severn at 177 lbs. and Bruce Young, 190 lbs., won three individual championships.

Oliver had a tough match with UA's Dave Musselman, winning 4-3. Oliver pulled a reverse on Musselman with 40 seconds left in the match to break a two point tie.

Billy Rosado finished second at 118 lbs. and heavyweight James Mitchell was also a runner-up.

BYU totaled 86 points followed by ASU, 76; UA, 44; CSU, 43; Utah, 31 and Wyoming and New Mexico with 17.

largest nonconference day crowd in Packard Stadium's history — 6,154.

Scottsdale Community College transfer Jerry Vasquez, a nonscholarship player, pitched five and one-third innings of five-hit shutout relief to lead the Devils. USC scored three runs in the top of the first inning but ASU came back in the bottom of the inning to score five runs and never trailed again.

The win put ASU's record at 14-2. It was also the 14th time this season it's scored seven or more runs and the 13th time it's had 10 or more hits.

Before the largest crowd in Sun Angel Stadium history, the Sun Devil track team knocked off five-time national champion UCLA, 76-69. ASU had previously lost eight straight meets to the Bruins since last defeating them in 1968.

The meet came down to the final event, the mile relay. ASU ran away with the event by running a 3:06.5 to UCLA's 3:13.9, breaking the track record of 3:07.0 set by USC last year. It was the first time in UCLA history that they didn't run under 3:10 in that event as ASU's team of Herman Frazier, Tony Darden, Clifton McKenzie and Gerald Burl proved to be too much.

ASU also broke the track record in the 440-yard relay with a 39.29 mark. The team was made up of Steve Williams, Burl, Darden and Frazier.

Perhaps the key to the whole meet however, was the strategy of ASU coach Baldy Castillo. He pulled Frazier from his 400-meter specialty and ran him in the 100-meter dash instead.

The strategy was a big success as ASU swept the 400-meter dash with Darden taking first, 46.13, Burl, second, 46.49 and McKenzie diving for third with a 47.05. In the 100-meters, Frazier beat UCLA Olympian Millard Hampton to take first place with a 10.36 and broke Carl McCullough's school record of 10.38. Williams came in third for ASU with a 10.67.

Junior Kyle Arney also set a school record in the high jump, by leaping 7 feet 3½ inches in his first outdoor meet as a Sun Devil, breaking Paul Underwood's record of 7 feet 3 inches. Freshman Dannie Jackson took second, jumping 7 feet. He also finished second in the long jump at 24 feet 8 inches.

Other big winners for ASU were Ed Blakely in the mile (4:10.7) and Mike Elder in the two-mile (8:56.2).

THE DEAN OF BEER'S FINAL EXAM.

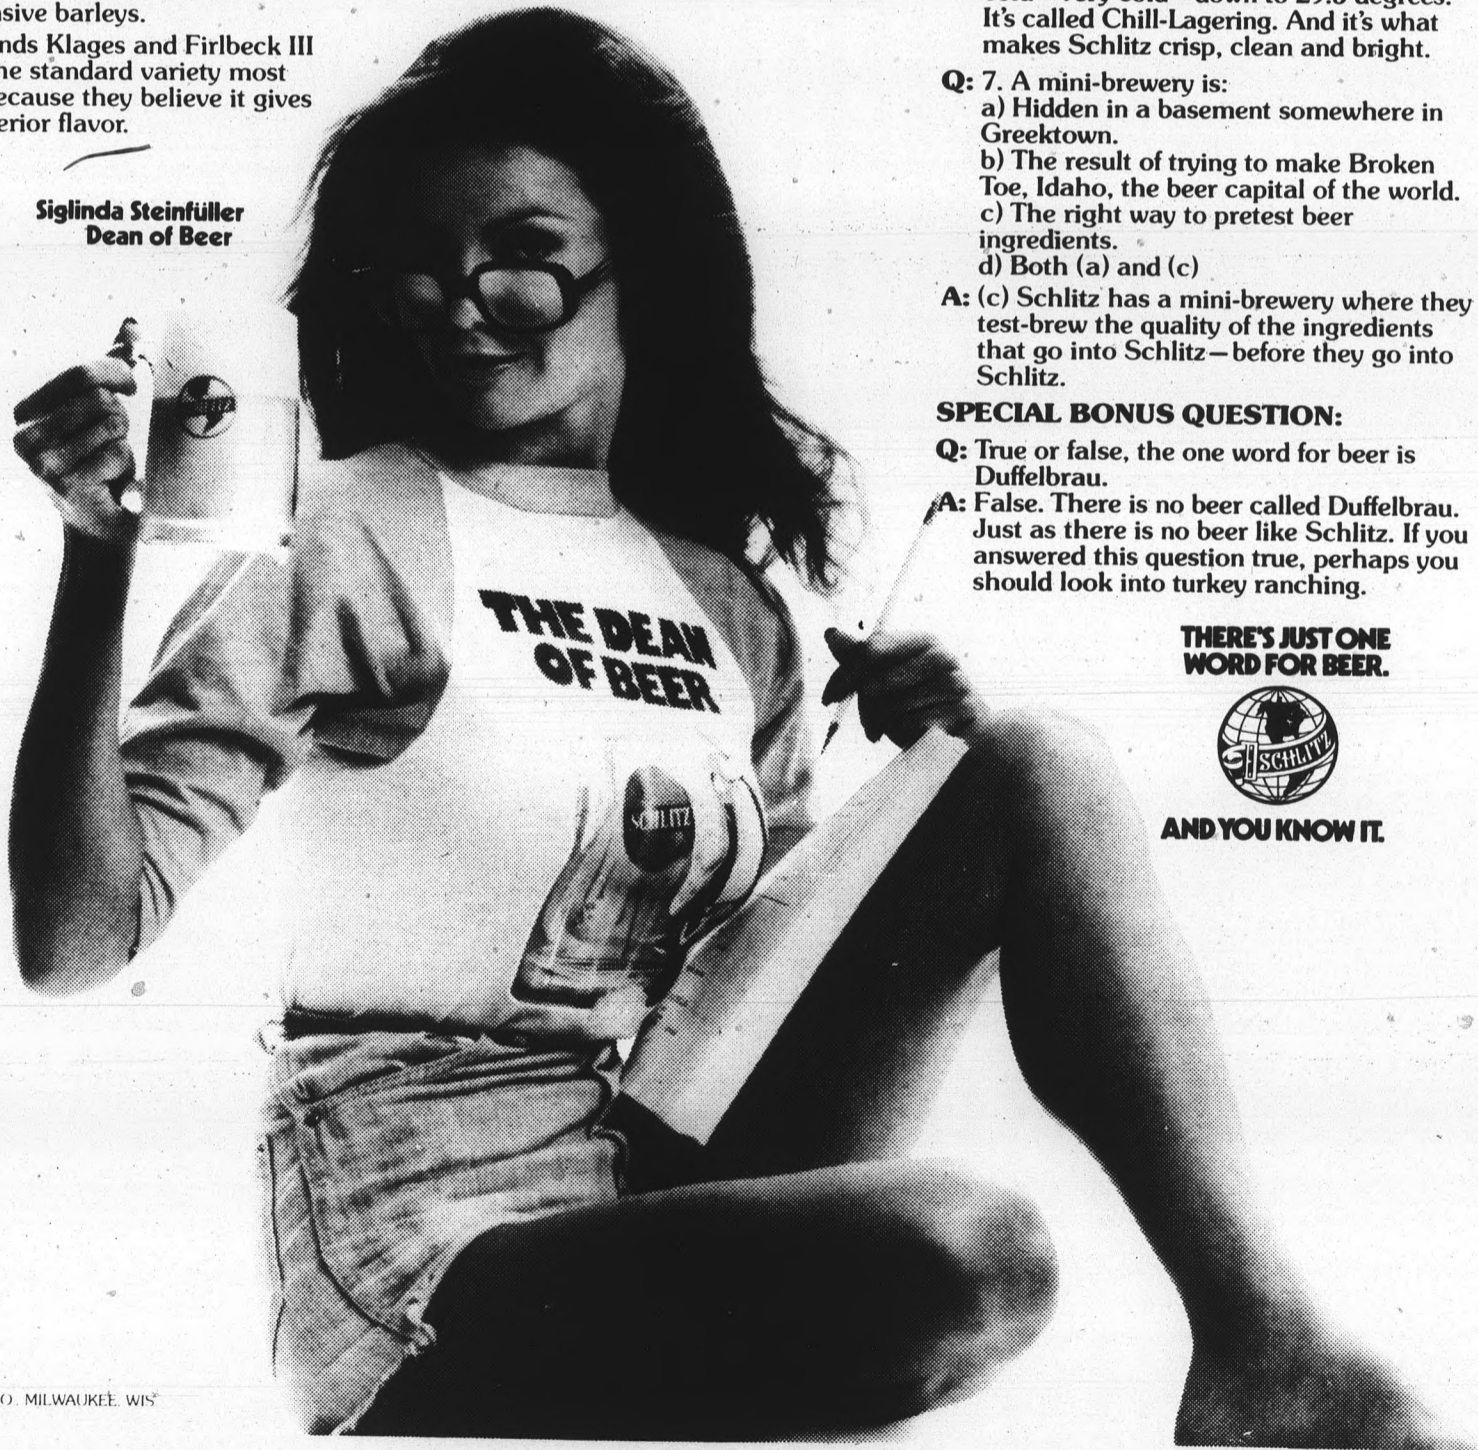

(Or, was yeast really responsible for the fall of the Roman Empire?)

As your Dean of Beer, it is my scholarly opinion that just knowing the one word for beer is not enough. You must also know the reasons why. Because only then will I, Siglinda Steinfüller, be satisfied that you have graduated from Remedial Beer Drinking.

QUESTIONS:

- Q: 1. The best water for beer comes from:
 a) Big Duck Mountain.
 b) Underground from Tijuana.
 c) A small store in Macon, Ga.
 d) None of the above
- A: (d) No matter what you hear about "naturally pure" waters, virtually all brewers filter and further purify their water. But Schlitz doesn't stop there. They filter their water and then filter it again. So when they're through, it's purer than the purest springwater.
- Q: 2. Klages and Firlbeck III are:
 a) Composers of famous beer drinking songs like "I Left My Shoes in Heidelberg."
 b) Owners of the world's largest unknown brewery.
 c) Serving time in Sonoma, Calif., for impersonating Arnold the Wonder Seal.
 d) More expensive barleys.
- A: (d) Schlitz blends Klages and Firlbeck III barleys with the standard variety most brewers use because they believe it gives their beer superior flavor.

- Q: 3. Hops are notorious for:
 a) Their lack of intelligence.
 b) Always getting to work late.
 c) Losing their keys.
 d) Being difficult to keep fresh.
- A: (d) The freshest hops make the best beer. That's why Schlitz vacuum-packs and refrigerates their hops. So they're as fresh at brewing time as they are at harvest time.
- Q: 4. The best adjunct to beer is:
 a) Rice.
 b) Corn.
 c) Either rice or corn.
 d) What's an adjunct?
- A: (c) Every American brewer uses rice or corn to lighten the flavor of their beer. This is called an adjunct. But Schlitz knows how to use either grain interchangeably. So they're never at the mercy of an unfavorable crop. And neither is the taste of their beer.

- Q: 5. The biggest misconception about yeast is:
 a) Carrying some in your pocket is good luck.
 b) It is good for hernias.
 c) It was responsible for the fall of the Roman Empire.
 d) To ferment beer, all you have to do is drop it in the vat.
- A: (d) To make beer taste right consistently, Schlitz believes the yeast has to be evenly distributed during fermentation. That's why Schlitz gently stirs in their yeast. It's part of their Balanced Fermentation process. And they're the only American brewer who does it.
- Q: 6. Chill-Lagering is:
 a) A popular German country and western singer.
 b) A Scandinavian winter sport played without clothes.
 c) A new ethnic TV comedy about the owner of an ice cube factory.
 d) The right way to age beer.
- A: (d) When Schlitz ages beer, they age it cold—very cold—down to 29.5 degrees. It's called Chill-Lagering. And it's what makes Schlitz crisp, clean and bright.
- Q: 7. A mini-brewery is:
 a) Hidden in a basement somewhere in Greektown.
 b) The result of trying to make Broken Toe, Idaho, the beer capital of the world.
 c) The right way to pretest beer ingredients.
 d) Both (a) and (c)
- A: (c) Schlitz has a mini-brewery where they test-brew the quality of the ingredients that go into Schlitz—before they go into Schlitz.

SPECIAL BONUS QUESTION:

- Q: True or false, the one word for beer is Duffelbrau.
- A: False. There is no beer called Duffelbrau. Just as there is no beer like Schlitz. If you answered this question true, perhaps you should look into turkey ranching.

THEY'RE JUST ONE WORD FOR BEER.

AND YOU KNOW IT.
