'Dead' kidnapper sought Master's at ASU

By MIKE BURGESS
State Press

ASU student Rory Foster was supposed to be dead. But the man who police believed was killed in a car crash six years ago in Honduras was arrested by ASU police Thursday in connection with a 1981 kidnapping in Pasadena, Calif.

Foster, then 23, and a friend allegedly kidnapped an illegal alien at gunpoint six years ago in Pasadena and were arrested when they turned the man over to Border Patrol agents later that day.

On the day they were scheduled to appear in court, two death certificates written in Spanish stating the men had died in a car accident were presented and charges were dropped. The case had been forgotten until a Pasadena police detective recently received a strange phone call.

"Two weeks ago I got an anonymous phone call," said Det. Leon Olson of the Pasadena police department. "He said a kidnapper by the name of Rory Foster was alive and well, attending ASU, and getting his masters (degree) in computer sciences."

In order to get a warrant for Foster's arrest, Pasadena police had to go back and find the kidnap victim.

"It's just one of those bizarre stories," Olson said. "We got a $1 million dollar warrant for a dead man who is still alive."

After six years of hiding from police using various aliases such as Melvin Rupert and Chang Yung Fung, Rory Foster now is sitting in the Maricopa County Jail on a kidnapping charge, waiting for extradition to Pasadena.

"It all goes back to the fact that I was young and scared," Foster, clad in sky-blue jail fatigues, said calmly Friday during an interview.

Foster said he came to ASU last year on a full scholarship from American Telephone and Telegraph, where he served as a consultant.

"Back in 1981 I was a lot younger and I did something foolish and was caught shoplifting," he said. "It was my fault and I pled no contest."

Two weeks later Foster and a friend, Rene Delcid, were caught shoplifting but Foster claims he was not involved in this second shoplifting incident.

"He (Delcid) knew about my previous conviction of shoplifting and I was arrested because I was next to him," he said. "Rene told the truth, that it was his fault, and that when we went to court he would admit to the fact that I had nothing to do with it."

Foster said it was during that time Delcid discovered his wife was having an affair with an illegal alien named Carlos.

"At that point he became pretty irrational and he wanted to turn (Carlos) in to immigration," he said. "I, at that point, did not want to do anything, but he threatened to change his statement so that he would implicate me in the second shoplifting. That meant I would go to jail for probation violation.

"This was pretty much his idea and I was pushed into it. He kept convincing me that this is an illegal alien and he doesn't have any rights. We simply took him from Pasadena to San Clemente to immigration. It wasn't like there was a ransom."

Foster said Delcid, a Honduran national, told him he knew a way to escape the kidnapping charges.

Delcid, who Foster described as "crafty," was able to have bogus death certificates printed in Honduras, which then were sent to Pasadena, Foster said.

"Once the death certificates were filed, the case was dismissed," he said. "From that point on he was on my back. He had more on me."

"I had to support (Delcid because) he didn't work. I had this threat of him turning me in. I did that for a number of years. I was so worried about him turning me in until finally this year I couldn't put up with it anymore. It was hell with him around."

"He was the one who turned me in."

Meanwhile, Delcid is believed to be using the name Carlos Medina and living in Honduras.

Nelson returns

A weary ASU President J. Russell Nelson, still recovering from jet lag, declined extensive comment Sunday after returning Saturday from his 17-day visit to China.

"I thought it was a worthwhile trip in terms of relationships between ASU and Chinese institutions," Nelson said.

ASU Foundation, a non-profit organization, provided four $3,600 plane tickets for Nelson and his wife, Jack Pfister, the president of the Arizona Board of Regents and history professor Stephen Mackinnon, who served as translator. Chinese institutions provided the accommodations.

Babbitt: lack of money not 'big issue'

By VICKIE CHACHERE
State Press

PHOENIX — Bruce Babbitt has brushed off reports his campaign is in financial danger, saying, "I don't think money is going to be the big issue in 1987."

Babbitt, in Arizona to spend the weekend with his wife and two sons, denied speculation his campaign will collapse because of inadequate funds, adding he will run a low-budget campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The former Arizona governor said he is netting about $100,000 a month in campaign funds while his rivals collect about $1 million.

Babbitt's staff estimates it needs to raise about $1 million during the next four months to keep the campaign alive until the crucial Iowa Caucus on Feb. 8 and the New Hampshire primary on Feb. 16.

Campaign workers say that if Babbitt fares well in both states, the resultant media attention will bring an influx of campaign donations.

Babbitt said the main reason his fund raising is lagging is because four of the other five Democratic hopefuls all currently hold public office.

"It's a lot easier to collect money when you are in office," he said.

Other candidates, such as Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis and Illinois Sen. Paul Simon, also have the advantage of coming from large states with strong political traditions.

Between July 1 and Sept. 30, Babbitt collected about $273,000 and spent $504,000, Deputy Press Secretary Vada Manager said.

Babbitt's total war chest for the year is $1.4 million, while he has spent $1.8 million. The campaign will receive federal matching funds in January.

Babbitt will join the other candidates in Miami today for a debate of foreign policy issues sponsored by the Democratic Leadership Conference.

Manager said many of the campaign's first-quarter funds came from Arizona, but Babbitt fund raisers now are concentrating on collecting money in California, the Northeast and Florida.

"There is just so much political money to be found in New York," he said. "It's just a traditional political state."

He said the campaign also is trying to recruit former candidate Joseph Biden's fund raisers. The Delaware senator had raised about $3 million before he dropped out of the race Sept. 24 because of allegations of plagiarism.

Aftershock jolts California with more damage and 1 death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sharp aftershock from last week's severe earthquake jolted Southern California before dawn Sunday, causing at least one death and more than 200 injuries, damaging buildings, knocking out power and sending jittery residents into the streets.

The quake, centered in suburban Rosemead about eight miles northeast of downtown Los Angeles, registered at 5.3 on the Richter scale of ground motion, said Don Kelly of the U.S. Geological Survey in Golden, Colo.

At the California Institute of Technology the quake was measured at 5.5, according to a spokesman, Robert Finn.

The 3:59 a.m. quake was the 22nd aftershock registering more than 3.0 since Thursday's quake, which measured 6.1 on the Richter scale and caused six deaths and more than $75 million in damage.

Sunday's shock, centered about two miles west of Thursday's, was felt 40 miles west of Los Angeles in Ventura County and 100 miles south in San Diego.

Curfew imposed in Tibetan capital after demonstrations kill at least 6

LHASA, Tibet (AP) — Chinese authorities imposed a curfew Sunday and tried to stop at least one busload of foreign tourists from leaving this Tibetan capital after pro-independence demonstrations that killed at least six people.

Dissidents proclaimed the six as martyrs. They put up signs saying those who died in Thursday's demonstration "died for all the Tibetan people, not for themselves."

Nineteen policemen were seriously wounded in that demonstration, held to protest the arrests of participants in an earlier, Sept. 27 demonstration.

Buddhist monks at the Sera Monastery outside Lhasa said they hoped to stage another protest on Wednesday, the 37th anniversary of the day that Chinese communist troops moved into Tibet to annex it in 1950.

Reagan: U.S.-Canadian trade pact beneficial to both nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan hailed a tentative U.S.-Canadian trade agreement Sunday that would eliminate all tariffs between the two countries as a historic pact beneficial to both nations' economies.

"Now, in addition to sharing the world's largest undefended border, we will share membership in the world's largest free trade area," Reagan said in a statement released at the White House.

Treasury Secretary James Baker III and Canadian Finance Minister Michael Wilson said at a joint news conference they were confident the agreement would be approved by the U.S. Senate and Canada's parliament. Both described it as a "win-win situation," good for both countries.

U.S. Trade Representative Clayton Yeutter said some tariffs would be dropped upon implementation of the treaty and others would be phased out over five to 10 years.

Report accuses State Department of covert 'white propaganda' effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — An office within the State Department engaged in an illegal, covert "white propaganda" effort to generate support for the Reagan administration's policies in Central America, according to congressional investigators.

Since it was created in 1983, the department's Office of Public Diplomacy for Latin America and the Caribbean at times arranged news media interviews for leaders of Nicaragua's Contra rebels and generated opinion articles opposing Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government for placement in major media outlets, while carefully concealing its own role in the publicity effort, according to investigators for the General Accounting Office, Congress' investigative arm.

For example, a March 11, 1985 opinion column in the Wall Street Journal on the offensive threat posed by Soviet attack helicopters in Nicaragua was attributed to Rice University professor John F. Guilmartin Jr. GAO said Guilmartin's status as a paid consultant to the public diplomacy office and the office's collaboration on the article apparently were not disclosed to the newspaper.

Reagan expected to use address to lay out Contra aid timetable

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will use a major address to the Organization of American States this week to lay out a timetable for U.S. aid to Nicaragua's Contra rebels, a senior administration official said Sunday.

The speech, set for Wednesday, comes exactly one month before the Nov. 7 deadline for a Central American-sponsored peace plan takes effect.

Reagan also will use the speech to note "guideposts" for judging Nicaragua's compliance with the peace process, said the official, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

The president offered qualified support for the regional plan when it was first announced. But he has become more and more critical of it in recent weeks, calling it "fatally flawed" and making demands of the leftist Nicaraguan government that are not included in the regional peace plan.

Stadium skyboxes considered to help attract NFL

By DANA LEONARD
State Press

Preparations to welcome a professional football team to Sun Devil Stadium are in the works, including the necessary skybox seating, ASU officials say.

"We've looked at skybox seating in the context of a number of other improvements to the stadium, driven primarily by the desire to make the facility available to professional football," said ASU Athletic Director Charles Harris.

An NFL team in Arizona is "inevitable," he said.

"Professional football is going to come to Arizona, and in all likelihood it will be in the greatest and largest urban market, which is Phoenix," Harris said. "And one of the places they're clearly going to look at is Sun Devil Stadium."

The NFL has expressed interest in a Phoenix franchise for several years, Harris said. The NFL has announced plans to appoint a subcommittee by the spring of 1988 to determine its next two franchise sites.

Standards established by the NFL for properties would require modifications to Sun Devil Stadium, Harris said, and the issue is seating.

Adding backs to seats and installing skybox seating is necessary to make the stadium pro football-compatible for the standards.

Jim Knothe, associate director of Planning and Construction, said his office is conducting a study to determine the feasibility of adding "seating alternatives" to the stadium.

Results of the study are expected within the next month, he said.

Harris said there are two or three plans in adding skyboxes. They could be built all the way around the rim of the stadium, or built in sections around the rim or enclosed in the lounge area.

If the lounge area is used, existing seats will be lost.

ASU Public Events Director Jim O'Connell said the skyboxes "should be constructed so as to add, rather than take away seating."

Although NFL standards do not require all seats to have backs, Harris said adding seatbacks to some of the seats would cut down on available seating.

But modifications in the south end zone could add 10,000 to 12,000 seats, he said.

Because the planning and construction study has not been completed, cost of the project is not known.

The skyboxes would likely be leased by corporations at a cost now undetermined, Harris said. Leases are generally long-term — about five years — for financing purposes.

Seating is only one of many issues that need to be investigated if an NFL team uses Sun Devil Stadium, Harris said.

Sun Devil football could theoretically be disrupted if a pro team move into the stadium, Harris said. But "... we are trying to protect the interests of the University, which is to at least in part preserve the income stream that supports the entire athletic program."

Plans for building skybox seating at U of A have been in effect for about a year, said Michael Haggans, U of A planning services director.

But he said the Wildcat project is not intended to accommodate professional football.

The U of A project, currently up for bids, will house 37 "scholarship suites" which will be leased to corporations and individuals for $21,000-$25,000 per year, Haggans said.

The suites will add 500 seats to Arizona Stadium.

Haggans said the expected cost of the project is $5 million.

Proceeds from the boxes will be used to establish athletic and academic scholarships for U of A students and to repay the construction debt.

Haggans said some parties have expressed interest in leasing the suites, but he said he is unsure how many inquiries have been received.

Charles Harris

The Arizona Board of Regents is reviewing a policy that will allow alcohol in the boxes. A decision is expected at the Oct. 14 meeting in Flagstaff.

Two ticketholders split $1 million prize money in Arizona Lottery draw

PHOENIX (AP) — Two tickets had all six of the winning numbers in Saturday night's Arizona Lottery "The Pick" drawing, and will split the $1 million prize.

Lottery officials said a check of their computer system Sunday morning showed that each of the winning tickets is worth $534,040.36. The winning ticketholders will get their money in equal payments over the next 20 years.

Officials said there was only one ticket that contained five of the winning numbers plus the bonus number, and that ticket is worth $81,261.00.

There were 142 tickets that picked five of the six winning numbers without the bonus number in the drawing, each worth $686.70.

There were 5,306 winning tickets containing four of the six winning numbers, and they are each worth $30.60, according to lottery officials.

The winning numbers in this week's drawing were seven, nine, 10, 12, 21, and 28, with a bonus number of 36.

Councilman Ream vs. the 'A'

Tempe City Councilman Bill Ream is a man with a unique perspective.

Ream recently resurrected his two-year-old gripe over frequent guerrilla paint jobs that periodically hit the 50-year-old Tempe landmark: the 36-by-36-foot 'A.'

Apparently Ream, whose office looks out over 'A' mountain, doesn't like garish colors disrupting his daily routine of window gazing. So the gold-or-white traditionalist did something about it; he threatened to have the 'A' removed.

Ask your average ASU student, Tempe citizen, or even city employee, and you'll probably find they're ambivalent to and perhaps amused by the the suspense of not knowing what color the monolith might be tomorrow. Council member Pat Hatton questioned whether the 'A' was a problem, calling it a "fun thing."

But fun to some is just a disruption to others, at least for Ream. Perhaps he and his fellow inverted-pyramid dwellers find changing mountain hues inconsistent with the new, improved downtown they're diligently developing — replete with pink, green and the other Miami Vice pastels so in vogue today.

More likely Ream just sees a bunch of college students showing disrespect for their civic elders. According to Ream: "If we are going to give the University free rent, then they should give us some consideration for the property."

That makes sense, Bill. You let a University sit in the middle of your city, and all they do is fatten the city coffers and occasionally paint a concrete slab. That's gratitude for you; better evict that tenant quick.

Sarcasm aside, Ream does bring attention to a problem that should be re-addressed from time to time: Whose responsibility is it to maintain the 'A's' color? Which is why a student government subcommittee has been formed to propose specific plans to the City of Tempe. Suggestions may emerge which will make the maintenance easier for whoever ends up with the task — currently handled by the Student Athletic Board — and may recommit student groups to volunteering their services.

These positive benefits may have been Ream's original intention, but somehow we doubt it. More likely this is another instance of Ream making irresponsible off-the-cuff comments and attempting to implement government through intimidation. If this is the case, the University community should look at future Ream grouses and veiled threats as exactly that.

Threats

Anonymous critics lack courage of their convictions

Ed Schubert
Columnist

I sat across from Musa in the office of the Islamic Cultural Center near campus as he prepared to play a threat the center had received on its answering machine. He pressed the "play" button and a menacing voice filled the room:

-screech- "Dogs of Allah, you are barbarians. Your religion is sick. You sponsor terrorism, and you will die!" -click-

"There's more," Musa said.

-screech- "Abu Nidal, you are in trouble. Libyan, Syrian, Iranian spies will be dead!" -click-

Musa shrugged philosophically. Muslims in the United States are used to these sorts of threats. Anyway, someone stupid enough to phone in a death threat and leave it on tape — twice — is, hopefully, too stupid to be dangerous.

This happened well over a year ago, but the incident came to mind recently when a similar anonymous threat came to the attention of the State Press.

In a summer edition (July 21), education professor Roger Axford wrote a letter supporting the Mecham recall, stating that during a recent visit to Europe a number of people he met had asked him if Arizona was "going fascist."

He received the following, anonymous message through the campus mail:

DEAR DRAFT DODGER AND TRAITOR:
JUST READ YOUR LETTER TO THE EDITOR. I TOO JUST RETURNED FROM EUROPE AFTER TWO MONTHS IN THE MAJOR CAPITALS. I DID NOT FIND ONE PERSON WHO EVEN MENTIONED ARIZONA BUT THEN I DON'T RUN AROUND WITH QUEERS, COMMUNISTS AND SEWER RATS LIKE YOU.

A clarification or two is in order here. Dr. Axford was imprisoned as a conscientious objector during World War II. A pacifist by conviction since the age of nine, he mailed his draft card back to the defense department shortly after receiving it. He was arrested, tried and sentenced to more than two years in federal prisons, where he and other COs worked for improved race relations and better prison conditions.

Now, I can't support Axford's position. It seems to me that if ever there was a morally just war, it was the war against Hitler. But I respect Axford's position, and I don't consider him a draft dodger.

In my book, a draft dodger is someone who tries to avoid both war and the penalty for avoiding war — a non-religious person who joins a seminary in quest of a clerical deferment, for example, or someone who quietly slinks across the Canadian border. Axford, by contrast, stood up and took his medicine — and who's to say his incarceration wasn't a more grueling experience than that of the average soldier?

Ironically, Axford's anonymous critic — let's call him Mr. X — has more in common with a draft dodger than does Axford himself. Both Mr. X and the draft dodger want to hide their identities — the draft dodger hiding in the seminary doesn't want his ecclesiastical superiors to discover he really has no interest in religion, and Mr. X is unwilling to reveal so much as his name. Both men are hiding; both men are cowards.

This is not to suggest that anonymity always equals hypocrisy. Every semester the State Press talks with Iranian students who are critical of the Khomeini regime, but request anonymity out of a perfectly valid fear of retribution against their families in Iran. But I doubt that Dr. Axford's pacifist organization, the Coalition for World Peace, is going to send out hit squads to snuff the opponents of pacifism. Nor is the Islamic Cultural Center likely to send truck bombs careening into the homes of the critics of Islam.

So I would suggest to Dr. Axford's anonymous critic and to the anonymous reviler of Islam: If you have something to say, why don't you write to the State Press and put your name behind your sentiments — just like everyone else?

If you have the guts, that is.

Unfair to the NRA

Editor:

I object to your recent editorial satire in the State Press that associates the NRA with Evan Mecham and hate groups like the KKK. I would like to point out that the NRA is a national organization dedicated to the defense of the Second Amendment freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

The NRA does not advocate hate. Its members are not required to be of any race, religion, or hold any sexual preference. To be a member, all that is required is that you be a law-abiding citizen and have a desire to keep and defend the Constitution. It is grossly unfair and inaccurate to characterize members of the NRA with the likes of a terrorist. It is also grossly unfair and inaccurate to characterize them as bigots.

I would also like to point out that as a national organization, the NRA does not decide who is the governor of the state of Arizona: that is up to the people of the state. In general, the NRA prefers that state leaders be open minded about the facts of gun control. It does not choose state candidates for office, nor does it put them in power. The fact remains that Gov. Mecham is in office by vote of the people of this state and not by NRA decree.

This satire has slandered the NRA. It is evident that Mr. Ritter (in his cartoon of Oct. 2) does not have knowledge of the NRA or the work that it does.

The NRA has and will continue to fight for the Second Amendment rights of all law-abiding citizens.

The NRA will continue to provide firearms safety courses to the citizens of the United States.

The NRA will continue to provide training and support to our law enforcement agencies.

The NRA will continue to push for stiffer sentencing of criminals who use firearms to commit crimes.

In conclusion, I ask Mr. Ritter for an apology to the membership of the NRA. I am sure he did not consciously associate the NRA with terrorists and bigots. I am sure he portrayed the membership unfairly and should, in the future, portray the NRA in a fair and honest manner.

police report

By MIKE BURGESS
State Press

Phoenix police still are searching for the killer of a 67-year-old Tempe man who was found dead inside a walk-in freezer last week.

Police said William Mosely, a security guard at a south Phoenix grocery store, apparently was killed while resisting a robbery. The suspect made off with $2,000 and Mosely's .44-caliber gun, police said. Mosely, who worked at the store for two years, was the father of seven, including KTVK-TV (Channel 3) sportscaster Bill Mosely.

In other incidents:

•A 24-year-old Mesa man was killed early Sunday after he was struck by a car that jumped a curb and smashed into him, Tempe police said.

Jerry D. Curtis of the 400 block of south Dobson Drive was pronounced dead on arrival at Scottsdale Memorial Hospital, said Sgt. Jim Norwood.

Changes planned for 'freshman experience'

By TERRI SEABERT
State Press

University administrators are digesting the recommendations made in a year-long study of the "freshman experience," and they say changes are sure to come in the way ASU beginners are treated.

"The study by the Task Force on the Freshman Year Experience has made some logical recommendations," said Carl Harris, an assistant to Vice President of Student Affairs Betty Asher. "The entire report is one that reflects attitude, and ASU's attitude can be improved."

The 15-member task force of faculty, students and administrators was appointed last year by ASU President J. Russell Nelson, who sought to make the freshman year a pleasant experience.

The task force's report, which was released in May, calls for many changes. Asher has given Harris the responsibility of executing those changes.

Harris said his report to Asher will be completed by next week, and it will explain who will be doing what with the recommendations.

He said recommendations from the task force include:

- Improve the readability of the ASU catalog.
- Create a student affairs directory.
- Develop a resource coordinating council that will assist students in negotiating between offices.
- Create a new pamphlet titled "Surviving Your Freshman Year."
- Create a student hot line.

Harris said many of the recommended changes can be made "almost immediately."

But he also said he disagrees with some of the proposals. "I have some concerns about a student hot line," he said. "You can't have one person answer everything."

Harris said Undergraduate Admissions already answers student questions over the telephone. He added, "The creation of better marketing of existing hot lines, instead of new ones, would be a better idea."

Harris also said students do not need another pamphlet or more paperwork.

"Our big need is not that freshmen need another pamphlet," he said. "Instead we need to roll all the pamphlets into one publication."

Harris said the purpose of the study was to try to "access the environment that a new student faces and improve the way the institution operates."

"Some people care, but some people care more than others," he added. "You just can't come in and teach for two to four hours and just leave."

Christine Wilkinson, director of undergraduate admissions and a member of the task force, said the purpose of the task force study was "to increase the retention in school and to help students really feel comfortable with the University."

When Nelson appointed the task force, he emphasized three main points that he said were needed to help improve the freshman experience:

- The need for a freshman year experience that is helpful and caring. The University should play the role of friend, adviser and supporter of freshman students, he said.

- Improvement in the advising of freshmen.
- The need for special courses, seminars and programs for freshman that will help them adjust to life at the University.

"Anytime you provide a caring, personalized environment for students, it engenders in them an interest in staying in that environment," Asher said.

One of the problems freshmen face at a large university like ASU is they have to "maneuver through the systems and the bureaucracy," Asher said.

She added that students should make sure they get involved in some kind of organization or club.

"It's hard to bond with a 40,000 (student) institution, so if they can get a feeling of identity with their classes or with an academic department, or club, it gives them a feeling of being at home," Asher said.

General information also helps the freshman student, she said. "The information exists for them but they may have to get to 12 different places to find it," she added.

The Task Force's report focused on developing strategies that would improve the freshman year at ASU and also reduce the number of dropouts.

For example, it urged that information available to freshmen be consolidated into one place.

The Task Force used institutional studies, student opinion surveys and information from ASASU and the Faculty Senate to compile its recommendations.

The panel also looked at ASU's dropout rate, saying the problem of retaining students is faced by every university.

The report said freshmen leave ASU mainly for personal reasons, full-time jobs, work conflicts and money problems.

The task force also looked at student attitudes in a series of open meetings in the residence halls. Representatives from fraternities and sororities also were interviewed.

It found that academic advising is a critical issue. Students who have positive feelings about advisement tend to have positive feelings about the University, according to the study.

The study pointed out that some researchers suggest that advising is the most important element in providing experiences to freshman.

Already, the task force report is being studied all over campus.

"One of the academic pressures for students as freshman is that ASU attracts pretty high achieving students, people who often were getting very high grade point averages, without working too terribly hard in high school," said Andy Hoggs a counselor in the Counseling and Consultation Center.

"They come here and discover there are not people to pull the curve way down. In high school they studied for three to four hours a week. Now most of their classes are requiring 3 to 4 hours per class, per week."

Hoggs said that many freshmen come to ASU cross-country, know no one and are trying to "get a sense of belonging."

"That's hard to do with a University of 40,000 students," he added.

Courtyard to commemorate fallen Lt. Bradshaw

By TRACY SCOTT
State Press

Tempe will dedicate the Tempe Police Department courtyard to its first officer killed in the line of duty, Lt. John Bradshaw. "Bradshaw Memorial Plaza" will be the name given to the courtyard now under construction in front of the new city police station at 120 E. Fifth St., the city council decided last week.

Tempe Police Chief Art Fairbanks said,

"I'm very pleased that they are going to name that after him."

Bradshaw was shot Sept. 20 by Tempe elementary school teacher Martin J. Curran during a high-speed chase.

The courtyard also will serve as a memorial to future officers killed in the line of duty, but Tempe Mayor Harry Mitchell said, "I hope there's no more."

Even before the death of Bradshaw, the department was considering a monument for fallen officers, Fairbanks said.

"We knew that sooner or later, some time in the future we would (lose an officer)," he told the council.

But there have been other security officials slain while working in Tempe. Nightwatchman Albert Nettles died in 1919 and Night Marshal Milton Spangler was killed in 1921.

According to Tempe City Clerk Virginia

Thompson, Bradshaw is the first uniformed officer on record to die in the line of duty.

Fairbanks said, "Bradshaw was the first Tempe policeman to be killed in the line of duty, . . . but I wouldn't want to demean (the other men's) efforts."

Fairbanks said there was no organized police department in Tempe before the early 1900s, but he did not know when the department actually was established.

Lectures focus on contemporary relevance of Gandhi

J. MICHAEL HOEHN
State Press

"I believe Mahatma Gandhi was relevant and is still relevant today," said a participant in a series of lectures held at ASU over the weekend.

The lectures were held to commemorate the 118th anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi's birth and to discuss the importance of his teachings today.

Gandhi is widely held as the "father of India." He helped free India from British rule in the early part of the century.

Nemi Jain, a professor of communications and sponsor of the lectures, said, "I believe the best way to commemorate someone is to celebrate the values they lived for or died for."

Three lectures were held and Jain said the purpose of the first discussion was to examine the relevance of Gandhi's ideas to the American civil rights movement.

"We wanted to look at the similarities and differences between (Martin Luther) King (Jr.) and Gandhi," Jain said.

Bernard Jackson, coordinator of the ASU educational support program, said King's non-violent attitudes during the civil rights explosion were based on Gandhi's teachings.

Another lecture analyzed the way Gandhi used the mass media to communicate his ideas.

"The lecture focused more on the communication style and techniques used by Mahatma Gandhi in non-violence," Jain said. "We discussed how the American Indians have valued non-violence."

GO FROM COLLEGE TO THE ARMY WITHOUT MISSING A BEAT.

The hardest thing about breaking into professional music is — well, breaking into professional music. So if you're looking for an opportunity to turn your musical talent into a full-time performing career, take a good look at the Army.

It's not all parades and John Philip Sousa. Army bands rock, waltz and boogie as well as march, and they perform before concert audiences as well as spectators. With an average of 40 performances a month, there's also the opportunity for travel — not only across America, but possibly abroad.

Most important, you can expect a first-rate professional environment from your instructors, facilities and fellow musicians. The Army has educational programs that can help you pay for off-duty instruction, and if you qualify, even help you repay your federally-insured student loans. If you can sight-read music, performing in the Army could be your big break. Write: Chief, Army Bands Office, Fort Benjamin Harrison, IN 46216-5005. Or call toll free 1-800-USA-ARMY.

Students studying on Orange Mall sit amidst debris and trash. The litter problem this semester is worse than usual, according to ASU grounds manager David Webb. Steve Mounteer/State Press

Trash

Excessive litter on malls sparks clean-up effort

By SCOTT LUCK
State Press

Excessive campus litter this semester has led to the ASU grounds manager's request for student participation in a campus clean-up effort called "Project Pitch In."

"There's such an unbelievable amount of trash (on campus)," David Webb said. "It's really quite a hassle."

Grounds maintenance personnel have had to devote so much time to picking up refuse, Webb said, that landscaping duties have been neglected.

Webb attributes the over-abundant trash to absent-minded students who do not realize they litter. Often, he said, students will pick up a newspaper and let flyers fall out without even noticing.

Webb said he wants students to place litter in one of 500, $250 receptacles that have been placed on campus this year.

He said the construction on campus probably has contributed to the litter problem. "We're already torn up as it is, and the trash just adds to that," Webb added.

The grounds maintenance department is currently hiring students to work 20 hours a week cleaning up litter around campus.

The sun also rises for Tempe's jammon' man

By TOD McCOY
State Press

Just as Venus rises on the horizon, one of the hottest reggae acts in Tempe will rise like a morning star to make a fresh start in the music world.

Walt Richardson and the Morning Star Band, who dropped out of sight last June to record a new album, will appear at 9:30 p.m. Saturday at Minder Binders, 715 S. Hayden Road, to launch a local tour and promote their new LP.

This will be the first concert that Richardson and the band have played together since last summer's Morning Star blowout at Minder Binders.

This time Richardson will be promoting "Double Bridge," which is due out by December. It will feature a mixture of originals written by Richardson, ranging in sound from reggae to pop.

"It's a crossover," said Richardson. "It has a pop-ish feel on one or two songs, an up-tempo acoustic, and the others have a cross between a folk and calypso (sound).

"That is, . . . in playing the instrument itself, it lends to a folk kind of a sound, but it also rides on top of a calypso feel. Kind of like music from Jamaica."

Richardson said the stage show will remain primarily the same, including cover songs and pieces from his previous album, "Morning Star."

"People will be able to recognize a lot of the show," he said, "but it's going to have a different personality with it. It's going to have a really nice, unique personality."

The band plans to take their show to a few nightclubs in and around Phoenix, beginning with Saturday's show.

Music lovers who have become devoted groupies to the Morning Star band, however, may notice a few lineup changes.

The new members of the band include drummer Merel Bregante, bassist Al Ortiz, lead guitarist Richard McDonald and keyboardist Henri Richardson (Walt's brother).

The original members, percussionist Emilio Caquias, guitarist/vocalist Hannes Kvarran, percussionist Aziz Chadly, and the vivacious and spirited Ken "Spiderman" Singleton, will be rotating and sitting in on the gigs from time to time.

New songs on the album include "Bayside Queen," a song about long-distance relationships, "Mill Avenue," about Tempe's one and only, "My Land" and "Illusions of the Beast."

"There is a message behind ('Illusions of the Beast,')" Richardson explained. "It's just seeing through any kind of illusion so that you are not deceived. That's what the song is about."

The band has plans to tour Arizona, and will also stop in Colorado. Plans for a national tour are in the works for 1988, as well as for releasing the album nationwide, according to Rachelle Marmor, Richardson's business manager.

"The album is in the manufacturing stage right now," she said. "It's being mastered, pressed — all the stuff needed to put it on album and cassette."

Future plans for the Morning Star Band include another album, for which songs have already been written. But for the time being Richardson is concerning himself with the present.

"I get a chance to play a lot more of the songs that had been written for awhile, and I'm just now getting them out there and sharing them with people," he said.

"That's what it's all about. Sharing the newer music that I've had for awhile."

Singing songs of Sondheim — LOT style

Desiree (Marie Flowers-Jones) and Frederik (Tony Hodges) share memories of the glamorous life in Lyric Opera Theater's "A Little Night Music."

By GREGORY ROBERT KRZOS

State Press

One of Broadway's babies has bounced into the Lyric Opera Theatre.

"A Little Night Music," the Tony award-winning Stephen Sondheim musical, will rattle LOT audiences as the opening show of the company's special silver anniversary season.

Although the show opened on Broadway in 1973, it has remained popular since its initial musical birth. Director Brian Hall calls the show "a social comedy," and insists audiences will enjoy the Sondheim piece.

"What I find most interesting about it is that it is shaped like a french comedy, which means it has many many little fast, funny scenes that usually end with some kind of punchline," Hall said. "It's a comedy of errors too, because the whole point of it is that we start out with all of these people who think that they're in love with the person they're with, but they're eyes are opened throughout the evening and they discover deeper commitments — how fascinations and being in love with love is not the same as being in love with a real person."

The story, set in turn-of-the-century Sweden, the comical production follows the exploits of Fredrik, a lawyer; Anne,

Kirk Cameron and Dudley Moore try to sort out who will take out Cameron's date in "Like Father Like Son."

'Beaver, out of your father's body

By JESSIE SIMON
State Press

Well, Auntie Em, there's still no place like home. And home is still where the heart is. But in Tri-Star's new comedy, "Like Father Like Son," the heart, the body and the brain are not always where they should be.

Dudley Moore and Kirk Cameron star as father and son who, through the experimentation of the son's mischievous friend, Trigger (Sean Astin), accidentally switch minds.

The film moves at a quick pace through the highly laughable trials and tribulations of medical genius Dr. Jack Hammond (Moore) trying to function as a 16-year-old, while his son — anti-medical school Chris (Cameron) — tries to behave like his father, a respected surgeon and man sought after by his colleague's wife.

Both Dr. Hammond and his son are on the brink of achieving a goal: The doctor is on his way to being appointed Chief of Staff at a leading hospital, and Chris is on his way to a heavy metal concert with Lori (Cami Cooper), the blond, blue-eyed girl at the heart of every young man's palpitations.

These goals are a lot like Dorothy's desire to back to Kansas — they are not without some barrier. And as in the Land of Oz, everything goes according to plan until the balloon takes off without her — here Dr. Hammond and Chris leap into each other's bodies.

The ensuing wackiness is what you'd expect if your father tried his hands at being in your 16-year-old body, and you — the teen in the adult body — had to reign with the credit card and the bar scene.

But the comedy doesn't start with the transfer. Chris has problems that any high school student experiences with girls, friends and dead frogs. His father isn't problem-free either, although in his case it is just women.

With the female of the family passed away, the doctor has the typical family misunderstandings. Although it is not developed, it is implied the doctor does see where his son is coming from as much as Chris cannot comprehend his father's needs.

"Like Father Like Son," directed by Rod Daniel ("Teen Wolf"), also has a serious message. Through the fun and hilarity, the two finally understand each other.

his young and virginal wife; Henrik, his seminary-bound son; Desiree, his former mistress and three days of surprises and "romantic errors."

"The couples believe in the beginning that they are in lovewith the people they have, and very soon they find out there's something wrong," Hall said. "As the play proceeds, you follow all the maneuvers and manipulations the people do. For instance, the wives are trying to lay a trap for their husbands."

Hall's ensemble cast obviously play an intricate part in the entire production.

Making her LOT debut is music doctoral student Marie Flowers-Jones, taking on the role of Desiree, the beautiful maiden who sings "Send in the Clowns," the show's most popular tune.

The remainder of the cast seem well-placed in their perspective roles — theater TA Tony Hodges plays Fredrik; Tanya Jean Kluck is his wife, Anne; Curt Peterson, Fredrik's son by a former marriage; Count Malcolm and Charlotte, two villain-types played by Robert Best Jr. and Michele Milford; Rounding out the cast are Patricia Irby as Maid Petra and Desiree's Grandmother, played by Margaret McCormack.

"It's a very romantic show," Hall says. "It has a lot of social comedy and a lot of social points to make on how people treat each other. There's a message in everything."

Moore and Cameron bring life to this film and make it an enjoyable trip into fantasy. Through some fancy editing, Moore's brilliant facial expressions, and Cameron's teen idol status, "Like Father Like Son" enchants the "Freaky Friday" story into a current foot-loose and fancy-free fantasy.

In the end of "Wizard of Oz," Dorothy wakes up in her own bed with her own family, back in the real world. The same format must work here.

Cameron, who has a regular spot on the TV's "Growing Pains," makes his feature film debut.

As far as staging the Sondheim comedy, Hall apparently sees no problem with the production's 33 set changes in the first act.

"Our designer (Charles Davies) has come up with some neat things.

"We're supposed to have a very mysterious and interesting set, (including) a false floor on the stage so scenery could be moved in the tracks of the floor."

Hall says this as a benefit, allowing his cast to "move on and off and in and out without having to make standard entrances and exits.

"My concept is that this is a pop-up book that some how or another moves, and you feel the pages are being flipped. It is something that we've never really tried on stage.

"It lends a kind of dancing quality to the scenery."

Hall admits that Sondheim is a particular favorite of his.

"It's hard for someone who's working in the business not to be a fan of his," he said. "I would think more than being a fan, I admire him. There are certain things he's done, that of course, nobody else can do."

Perhaps Hall is talking about the three Tonys Sondheim won in a row for "Company," "Follies," and of course, 1973's "A Little Night Music."

"A Little Night Music" plays at 8 p.m Wednesday. The show runs through Sunday. Curtain times are 8 p.m., except Sunday's 3 p.m. matinee. Tickets are $9.50 for adults, $5 for students.

Metro Deli: A slice of New York's humble pie makes a meal

By SCOTT C. SECKEL
State Press

Attention all who eat: the gods have blessed you with that rarest of gems - a great place to do it! Metro Deli, at 415 S. Mill Ave., is a true New York deli with excellent food, fantastic service and a relaxed atmosphere.

Located in an old building with a high ceiling, Metro Deli is a nice looking place with a black and white tile floor, chrome and black leather chairs, navy tablecloths, old photos of New York and Phoenix, a stainless steel counter, and ceiling fans to blow away the hot Tempe blues. A deli case filled with meats and salads stands in a corner.

The speciality at Metro is the "Uncle Sharky" burger ($3.50), a chunk of fresh thresher shark (flown in from the coast by Federal Express every day), charbroiled with melted cheese on top. This big chunk of Jaws arrived hot. Possibly a different type of cheese would work better than the American or cheddar that is offered, like a provolone, that wouldn't vie for so much attention with the tasty shark.

All burgers come with lettuce, tomato, onion and a cole slaw that does not swim in sauce.

The Sun Devil gourmet burger ($3.50) was charbroiled and heaped with chili and cheese — really good and big, like everything else on the menu. Prices are very fair and the dollar is respected here. An order of fries is $1.25 but it is an enormous portion — either order for two or make a meal out of these thick deli fries on their own.

The clam chowder ($1.95) was creamy and smooth. The clams were a little small but there were chunks of potato — no displaced Yankees would be unhappy with it.

Cheese crisps are flaky and lightly baked but a bit bland.

Classic deli eats like herring, lox and cream cheese, franks and beans, matzo ball soup, corned beef and cabbage and borscht with sour cream are also available.

The service is top-notch. Waitresses are friendly and attentive. They ask how food is more than once, clear plates promptly, supply ashtrays without being asked and refill coffee cups before one is left staring at a dry bottom.

Metro Deli has a study room in back without speakers, which is novel and thoughtful. Beware of the endless booming of Graffiti's next door, however.

Open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and until 3 a.m. Wednesday through Saturday, the Metro serves breakfast all day and night.

Victory could solve quarterback mystery

By CAROL BOOS
State Press

If the Sun Devils had lost to the University of Texas-El Paso Saturday, it would have been a really bad day. But in the eyes of head coach John Cooper, it was still a bad day, even with ASU's 35-16 victory over previously undefeated UTEP.

"The only good things I saw tonight was the fact that we won and that we played a lot of players," Cooper said.

Cooper is also faced with a decision concerning the starting quarterback job, which appears to be up for grabs again.

The Sun Devils started with junior Daniel Ford at quarterback, but after completing 2 of 6 passes and throwing an interception, redshirt freshman Paul Justin took over with a little more than three minutes left in the half.

The 6-4, 186-pound native from Schaumburg, Ill., led the Devils on a 62-yard drive in just two running plays. He also completed his first two passes for 36 yards and led the Devils to two more touchdowns before John Walker took over in the fourth quarter.

Justin ended the night by completing 4 of 6 passes for 52 yards and one touchdown.

Cooper said the job is wide open.

"It's a toss up," he said. "I thought Justin performed well and we're happy with the way he played," Cooper said.

But injuries darkened the picture, as the Devils prepare for their conference opener Saturday at Washington.

Darryl Harris suffered a knee injury during the first half, Robby Boyd suffered an ankle injury, and free safety Bernard Jones suffered a neck injury.

Jones lost feeling in his limbs for a short period of time following the incident, but preliminary tests show he will not be permanently injured. Jones remained in intensive care at St. Joseph's Medical Center, and a CAT scan was scheduled Sunday.

Cooper said the team playing Saturday was not the same Sun Devil team he is familiar with, and he was not particularly pleased with the overall performance. In fact, for the first time this season, Cooper called the team in to view game films on Sunday afternoon.

"We wanted to substitute as early as we could and get the starters some rest," he said. "We got just about everybody suited up into the ball game, but once we started substituting, the play was particularly sloppy."

"We had a lot of penalties...and that's just not characteristic of our football team."

The Miners were out of character too.

After outscoring their opponents, 113-19 and not allowing a touchdown pass all season, the Miners gave up their first one on a Justin-to-Williams pass during the third quarter.

Miner quarterback Pat Hegarty, who had been averaging 209.3 yards a game, passed for 307.

"They (ASU) are big and strong up front," UTEP head coach Bob Stull said. "They are also very quick. We are not discouraged, but we are still upset. Our effort was there but we don't like to lose."

Susan Schuman/State Press

ASU fullback Channing Williams, No. 44, breaks into the open field as Miner Darren Lewis, No. 21, moves in for the tackle. ASU defeated UTEP, 35-16, Saturday at Sun Devil Stadium.

ASU sophomore David Winsley, who had carried the ball only two times in his college career, added to his stats with 19 carries for 85 yards. He was the Sun Devils' second leading rusher behind Channing Williams, who carried 7 times for 92 yards, including a 49-yard touchdown run to give ASU a 21-10 lead over the Miners and a 3-yard reception from Justin.

Williams fell within 10 yards of reaching the 100-yard mark for the second time this season, but said it doesn't bother him. He said what bothered him more was a lack of team enthusiasm.

"I'm not disappointed, though we could have been a little more enthusiastic. It's hard to get up for a team like this," Harris carried eight times for 26 yards before his injury.

Drew Metcalf was the Sun Devils leading tackler with nine tackles and one pass break-up. Eric Allen had 8 tackles with two pass interceptions and two pass break-ups.

Anthony Parker saw his longest returns of the season with a 26-yard punt return and a 32-yard kickoff return. Parker set a school record with 148 punt-return yards, including a 65-yard touchdown against Southern Methodist last year.

ASU's defense had seven sacks for 48 yards, while UTEP had one for a 7 yards.

Cooper does not feel as good about his team.

"We got a long way to go to be where we want to be," Cooper said. "We've got to improve a bunch before we go to Washington this week."

'Skywalker' excites crowd in first test for Devils

By GARY JACKSON
State Press

"Airborne was the best thing I could do," ASU backup tailback David Winsley said about his skywalking first down that broke the sound barrier in Sun Devil Stadium.

Winsley scored two touchdowns and gained 85 yards on 19 carries en route to a 35-16 victory over Texas-El Paso on Saturday.

Winsley went into the game for Darryl Harris, who injured his right knee, with less than a minute to go in the first quarter.

"I knew I was going to play, but not as early or as much as I did," Winsley said.

Before the game, Winsley said he set a goal to score three touchdowns; a bold statement considering his first and only appearance for the Sun Devils, when he gained 13 yards on two carries against the University of Pacific.

After Flanker Tony Johnson made a miraculous catch that brought ASU to the UTEP 18-yard line, Winsley scored his first and the Sun Devil's second touchdown on a three-yard run.

During that drive, Winsley was called to carry the ball on fourth down and one yard to go on the UTEP nine yard line.

The 5-foot-6, 183 pound tailback received the handoff and went airborne for a two-yard gain, giving ASU a drive-saving first down.

"The play was not planned," Winsley said. "I saw the linebacker come up and I did the best I could do to get the yards."

For the first down, Winsley used every bit, and more, of his 34-inch vertical leaping ability.

In the Sun Devil's first possession of the second half, Paul Justin completed two passes, each for 18 yards, to move ASU to the Texas 17-yard line. Winsley and Channing Williams advanced the ball to the 3-yard line on short-yardage gains.

On second and goal, Winsley carried the ball, along with several Miners, into the end zone for his second, and ASU's fourth touchdown.

Winsley said he couldn't give the ASU line enough credit for opening holes in the Miner defense. Still, when there was no light at the end of the tunnel, Winsley's adrenalin created the spark that showed the way.

Winsley bounced, jumped, dove — and even ran over, around, and through defenders. "I ran like every play was my last," he said.

"Winsley is a very exciting player,"

Spikers find no solace on road, lose 2

By JOAN McKENNA
State Press

Murphy's Law seemed to hang over the ASU volleyball team's road trip to California this weekend, which ended with the Sun Devils losing a 3-0 match to 18th-ranked USC Sunday afternoon.

Whatever could go wrong did as the team suffered a 3-0 loss to UCLA Friday night, 108-degree temperatures Saturday and an earthquake aftershock Sunday.

USC spokesperson Nancy Ferber said the Trojan match produced several shifts in ball control in a three-game match that stretched one hour and forty minutes.

The Trojans dominated the first game after pushing the score to 8-5. USC won it, 15-10.

ASU lead the second game before USC bounced back to take it, 15-13.

Ferber said the third game was an all-out fight. ASU was up 13-11 before the Trojans (7-4, 4-2 in the Pac-10) rallied to win, 15-13.

Ferber said she thought middle blocker Sue Nord did an excellent offensive job, scoring 16 kills for a .571 hitting percentage.

In Friday night's match, the sixth-ranked Bruins (11-3, 5-1) dominated ASU with scores of 15-3, 15-8, 15-6.

ASU head coach Debbie Brown said poor execution was the problem.

"We didn't play very well at all," she said. "We didn't pass well or hit well."

The coach said the match should have been tougher for the Bruins. "UCLA certainly played well, but we helped them a lot."

"If we had played well, they would have still been tough to beat." But she said playing poorly made it impossible.

The Sun Devils have been hampered by failing to hit to their full potential, partly a result of injuries. The team's hitting percentage against UCLA was .029. ASU's season average is .244.

But defense had saved the Sun Devils in the past, like Tuesday's victory over Northern Arizona in which 22 blocks and 46 digs compensated for a .168 percentage.

Blocking fell short of the mark in UCLA's match.

"We didn't block hardly any balls," Brown said. But she said middle blocker Dawn Meidinger did a good job

UTEP quarterback Pat Hegarty prepares to throw during Saturday's game against ASU. Hegarty completed 27 of 45 passes for 307 yards and had two interceptions.

Hegarty "reads" Devils

By CHARLIE DIAZ
State Press

Forget the jokes about the strong, fast, illiterate college football player. Pat Hegarty can read.

Hegarty, the University of Texas at El Paso's junior quarterback, "read," or recognized, that ASU's defense Saturday night was designed to prevent long passes.

So Hegarty, who has a 3.7 grade point average, used intermediate and short pass patterns. He completed passes to nine different receivers and threw for 307 yards, the most passing yards ASU has given up this season.

After three games, ASU was allowing only 110.7 passing yards.

"In our routes, we read what's happening (in the defensive secondary)," Hegarty said. "So, whatever they're giving, we're taking."

Hegarty's crisp passing and quick feet kept UTEP in the game early. The Miners trailed ASU, 7-3, after a quarter and were still competitive at halftime, behind 21-10. Hegarty ran one-yard for the Miner's touchdown.

But even Hegarty wasn't enough for the Miners, as he was sacked seven times by the Sun Devil defense in ASU's 35-16 win.

ASU also intercepted two Hegarty passes, although both came in the final 4:30 of the game when the Miners were virtually forced to pass.

"UTEP has a good football team," ASU head coach John Cooper said of the 3-1 Miners. "Their quarterback did an excellent job of picking out his receivers and getting the ball to them."

"But we outmanned them at the line of scrimmage."

ASU defensive end Trace Armstrong was in on five tackles, including three sacks of Hegarty that cost UTEP 21 yards. He and the rest of the Sun Devil defense pressured Hegarty constantly.

An athlete like Hegarty, who was an honorable-mention All-American at Saddleback Community College as a sophomore, creates problems, Armstrong said. Defensive linemen, never known for their reserve, must be patient, he said.

"You get a guy who can get you out of position and he's going to have a good day," Armstrong said. "I think he really played well when you consider how much we pressured him."

"He didn't throw an interception till the end. That's a tribute to him."

offensively.

"Dawn played as well as she ever played offensively. She moved the ball around well."

Brown said overall "the team played tentatively, not aggressively."

She said there is only so much advice she can give during a timeout. "I could have told them a number of things, but in the end it came down to their execution."

ASU's hitting percentage improved to .261 against USC, but the Trojans posted a .305 percentage. The Sun Devils had five team blocks, three by Meidinger, but USC outblocked ASU with 13.

But the roadtrip did have its good points. The Sun Devils had the opportunity to watch international level volleyball. The team attended the USA's match against Japan Saturday night. Japan won in three games.

Brown said USA's execution was not up to par. But she said the Sun Devils were able to learn from the national team's overall form.

Team discipline is above blame for ASU's problems. Brown runs a tight schedule when ASU is on the road.

The Sun Devils will have five days to figure out the answers before their next match against Washington State (10-9, 1-4), Friday night in the UAC.

The conference rival Washington Huskies (14-4, 2-3) come to Tempe Saturday.

Winsley

Coach John Cooper said. "He's really compact and he has good strength and quickness."

"I had few jitters," Winsley said about being put into the game sooner than expected. "I was more happy than anything."

"The coaches knew, and I knew I could contribute to the team," Winsley said.

"I like him because he has excellent work habits in practice and he doesn't fumble the football," Cooper added.

Winsley, a 1986 graduate of Flagstaff High School, was first-team all-state, all-Arizona, all-division and all-conference as a junior and senior. His rushing yardage and touchdowns per season were among the top five in state history both years. He also runs a 4.26 (40 yards).

Winsley sat out the 1986 season to concentrate on academics due to Proposition 48. "It might help some athletes, but it somewhat hurt me," he said.

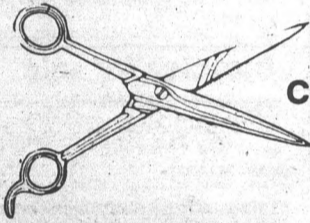

Of the upcoming game against Washington in Seattle, Winsley said the team must be mentally prepared.

"The Huskies have their backs to the wall — We have to go in fired up and not lackadaisical," he said.

Winsley said he hopes to help the team any way he can when Offensive Coordinator Jim Colletto puts him in.

Without a doubt, ASU fans are looking forward to seeing more of David Winsley.

Tigers beat Blue Jays for AL East title

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers took advantage of one of the great collapses in baseball history to win the American League East title Sunday, beating the Toronto Blue Jays 1-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Frank Tanana.

The Blue Jays lost their last seven games of the season, including three in a row in this season-ending series in Detroit, squandering a lead over the Tigers that was 3½ games on Sept. 26.

The Tigers, who got a home run from Larry Herndon in the clincher, finished the season two games ahead of the Blue Jays and avoided a one-game playoff that would have been held here Monday if the Blue Jays had won.

Tanana, 15-10, pitched his third shutout, walking three and striking out nine. Herndon put the Tigers ahead once and for all in this season of struggle with a one-out, solo homer in the second inning off Toronto's ace, Jimmy Key, 17-8, who allowed only three hits, struck out eight and finished with the AL ERA title at 2.76.

The Blue Jays held their 3½-game lead over Detroit after winning six in a row, including the first three games of a four-game set against Detroit in Toronto last weekend. But Toronto lost the last game of the series, then three straight to Milwaukee before coming to Detroit.

All seven of the games the Blue Jays and Tigers played in the final two weeks of the season were decided by one run, and two went extra innings, including Saturday's 3-2, 12-inning victory that put the Tigers a game ahead of Toronto.

Toronto played six of games without All-Star shortstop Tony Fernandez and catcher Ernie Whitt missed the last three games with two cracked ribs. Fernandez suffered a broken elbow on Sept. 24 when he was hit while making a pivot on a double-play attempt.

The Tigers begin their second American League playoff in four years on Wednesday in Minnesota against the Twins, who already had clinched the AL West. The Tigers also won the division, and the World Series, in 1984.

This was a championship in stark contrast to the Tigers' 1984 division title, but for the Blue Jays, it was just another in a growing list of failures.

Detroit started the 1984 season by winning 35 of its first 40 games, won the AL East with a record of 104-58, swept Kansas City in the playoffs, then beat San Diego in a five-game World Series.

It looked so easy, yet Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson says this is a better club — deeper in pitching, better balanced.

This, however, was not a team that had it easy. Kirk Gibson missed the first 25 games with a rib injury. Alan Trammell missed some early playing time with a sore foot.

And third baseman Darnell Coles, later traded to Pittsburgh, committed 15 errors by May 19, once throwing a ball over the Tiger Stadium roof in disgust during infield practice before he was benched.

On May 5, the Tigers were in sixth place, 11 games out. But from May 11-18, they won six straight, and by the All-Star break they were 11 games over .500 in third place. Detroit worked its way into second place for the first time this season on July 21.

Coles, replaced by Tom Brookens at third, was traded. Bill Madlock joined the club on June 4 after he was released by Los Angeles. He had a .301 batting average with six homers by the end of August. Pitcher Doyle Alexander, a former Blue Jay, was traded from Atlanta on Aug. 12 and won all nine of his decisions with Detroit.

The Tigers were on their way. Detroit won the division with 98 victories, the most in baseball.

"This year, whoever wins the division is the best team in baseball," Anderson said before the clincher. But, even with a team that he considers better than the 1984 Tigers, he was taking nothing for granted. "Of course, that doesn't mean they'll even get out of the playoffs."

"We've had a heck of a year," Blue Jays third baseman Rance Mulliniks said after Saturday's 3-2, 12-inning loss. "If we come up short, so be it. . . . There probably will be people saying 'You choked, you blew it.' But I don't pay any attention to that."

This was not just another disappearing act, though. It was the worst. Not since the Boston Red Sox folded in 1978, after leading the New York Yankees by 14 games on July 17, has there been such a story of futility in the American League.

Not since the '78 Boston Massacre has any head-to-head matchup produced such melodrama as the Showdown in Motown.

Tanana, 34, worked in and out of trouble on Sunday. The Blue Jays stranded two runners in the first, two more in the third, and an apparent mixup in signals may have cost a run in the fourth.

With one out in the Toronto fourth, Cecil Fielder singled. Apparently thinking the hit-and-run sign was on, Fielder was thrown out coasting into second base as Manny Lee held the bat on his shoulder. Lee followed with a triple, but he was stranded when Garth Iorg popped out.

Herndon got his ninth homer on a pitch from Key in the second after Trammell was out trying to bunt for a base hit. Herndon hit a 2-1 pitch high into the air toward left field. At first, it looked like Toronto left fielder George Bell was under the ball short of the warning track, but when it came down, it was in the first row of seats.

ASU flanker Tony Johnson, No. 17, catches a pass despite pressure from UTEP defenders Troy Reffett, No. 5, and Emilio Pittman, No. 13, during the Sun Devils' 35-16 victory Saturday.

Good, bad, ugly in NFL 'scab' games

NEW YORK (AP) — There was some good football, some mediocre football and enough bad football for a full show of "Football Follies."

It was Strike Sunday in the NFL, a kaleidoscope of picket lines, empty seats, strange plays, unlikely heroes and goats.

In most places, the "crowds" were hardly that, kept away by pickets or the prospect of B-team football.

And even where members of the A-Team showed up, they didn't fare that well. The Colts' Gary Hogeboom toyed with Buffalo for a victory, but St. Louis and New England, with veterans back, lost to Washington and Cleveland, which had none.

Just 4,074 fans showed up in Philadelphia's Veterans Stadium, where 1,500 picketers blocked all but one gate and some egg-throwing and car-smashing was reported. Inside, the new Chicago Bears looked just like the old ones, registering 11 sacks in a 35-3 win over the Eagles' replacements.

There were 4,919 fans in 80,368-seat Pontiac Silverdome to watch the ersatz Tampa Bay Bucs come back from a 17-0 deficit to beat the Detroit Lions 31-27. And just 9,860 were in Buffalo's 80,000-seat Rich Stadium, where the Colts routed the Bills, 47-6.

Atlanta, New England and New Orleans also had their smallest-ever crowds and there were just 27,728 in Washington's RFK Stadium, the first time in 160 games over 22 years that the Redskins didn't sell out.

A few of the heroes were old, but most were new.

Among the old was Bruce Clark of New Orleans, who had two sacks against the Rams, and Hogeboom, the Colts' regular quarterback.
