Bob Sheppard After receiving a Masters Degree from the Eastman School of Music, saxophonist Bob Sheppard became established as one of the most highly respected and well known improvising artists on the music scene today. Complimenting his success as an international jazz artist, Bob is also in high demand in L.A. for session work, having recorded more than 100 television and movie soundtracks. In addition to being an accomplished saxophonist he is an impressive multi-instrumentalist playing flutes, clarinet and bass clarinet. His compositions are equally noteworthy and are further evidence of his consummate musicianship. Bob is currently a member of the Peter Erskine Trio and over the past 20 years performed with many jazz greats such as: Freddie Hubbard, Mike Stern, Randy Brecker, Horace Silber, Lyle Mays, Nat Adderley, Toshiko Akiyoshi/Lew Tabackin Big Band.

Most recently, Bob appeared during the summer of 2000 as a featured soloist with Joni Mitchell's "Both Sides Now" Tour and Steely Dans "World Tour 2000", and has completed work on a new solo album to be released in 2001.
