

CZECH ORGAN MUSIC

FRANTISEK VANICEK
ORGAN

October 26, 2014
2:30 p.m.
ASU Organ Hall

MUSIC

ASU Herberger Institute
FOR DESIGN AND THE ARTS

ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY

CZECH ORGAN MUSIC

Toccata in C Major, BuxWV 137 Dieterich Buxtehude
1637-1707

Wenn wir in höchsten Nöten sein, BWV 641 Johann Sebastian Bach
Prelude and Fugue in C Major, BWV 545 1685-1750

2014 – Year of Czech Music

Toccata in C Major B. M. Cernohorsky
1684-1742

Prelude and Fugue in C Minor J. Zach
1699-1773

Toccata and Fugue in D Major J. N. F. Seger
1716-1782

Fuga F.X. Brixi
1732-1771

Vigilie B. Martinu
1890-1959

Sonata J. Strejc
Preludium – Aria – Toccata 1932-2010

František Vaniček (*1969) graduated from Pardubice's Conservatoire (J. Rafaja) and Prague's Academy of Arts (J. Hora), continuing his studies abroad at the Utrecht Academy of Art. In 1991, he won 2nd prize in the Schweitzer International Organ Competition in Deventer, Holland. In the same year, he obtained the prestigious Premier prix from the Czech Musical Fund for his representation abroad. Since 1989, he has given several hundred solo organ concerts in Japan, the USA, Australia, Singapore, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Poland, Slovakia, Denmark, Sweden, and Norway.

Audiences and critiques appreciate greatly his "famous and admirable way of playing" (De orgelvriend, 1991), and his "fascinating organ playing" (Frankfurter Neue Presse, 1999). He is an "eminent artist" (Corriere di Torino, 1994) who creates "organ music to perfection" (Passauer Neue Presse, 2009). Since 1995, he serves as Organ Professor at Hradec Králové's University (doc. PhDr., MgA, PhD) www.organist.cz

Please join us for other concerts in this year's ASU Organ Series:

Sunday, Nov. 9 2:30 pm

Handel and Bach

Goldman professor of organ Kimberly Marshall presents organ works by the German titans of the Baroque.

Sunday, Nov. 23 2:30 pm

Golden Age of the Italian Baroque

Italian organist Fabio Ciofini takes us to 17th- and 18th-century Italy with a concert featuring the Traeri organ, including performances by Alessandra Montani on baroque cello.

Saturday, December 6, 2:30 and 5 pm

Sunday, December 7, 5 pm

12th Annual Organ Christmas concert

Kimberly Marshall and the ASU Organ Studio pull out all the stops to celebrate Christmas! The glorious music and festive Organ Hall are sure to get you in the holiday spirit!

EVENT INFORMATION 480.965.TUNE (480.965.8863)
herbergerinstitute.asu.edu/events/